Reuther To Speak At Kellogg

Overflow Crowd Is Anticipated

Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, will speak in Kellogg Center Auditorium tonight at 8. The subject of his talk will be "Labor's Role for 1975."

Plans have been made to accommodate an overflow crowd. The auditorium holds only 355 people. Lincoln Rooms A and B will be opened if there is a larger crowd. This will let more people hear the vice president of the AFL-CIO even though they will not be able to see him. In 1955, the last time Reuther was in the area, he drew 3,000 to the Lansing Civic Center.

The talk is the fourth in a series sponsored by the labor and industrial relations center on the general theme, "Industrial Relations Patterns for 1975." The talks are free and open to the public.

Reuther has been awarded honorary degrees by St. Mary's College, Boston University, University of West Virginia, Wayne State University, St. Francis Xavier, and the University of Michigan.

Before the merger of the two groups, Reuther was president of the CIO from 1952-1955. His career in the labor field has included the CIO vice presidency 1946-1952 and first vice president of the UAW, 1942-1946. He was regional director and member of the executive board of the UAW from 1936-1942.

The exact nature of Reuther's remarks are not known but it is believed that he will comment on automation and the possibility of the formation of a Labor party.

Others scheduled to appear on the program are John S. Bugas, vice president in charge of industrial relations for Ford Motor Co., April 24, and John T. Dunlop, professor of economics at Harvard.

Boy Believed Lost in River

DETROIT (AP) — Police and volunteers dragged Rouge River Tuesday night seeking the body of a 2½-year-old boy who is believed to have walked to the water's edge and slipped into the river.

The search for little Bruce Cone, son of Mrs. Irene Cone, Redford Township, drew state and county police and a crowd of volunteers estimated by police at 150.

Rouge River, a narrow stream that runs through a park, is four or five feet deep at the point where the boy is believed to have gone into the water.

The boy's home is near the water's edge.

Police said small footprints were found on the banks of the river shortly after Bruce's mother reported him missing Tuesday afternoon. They said marks in the bank near the water indicated somebody had slid into the water.

3 Local Stations To Air Tourney

Michigan State basketball fans will be able to follow the Spartans in the NCAA tournament through radio.

Both Friday and Saturday night's games will be broadcast direct from Lexington by Bob Shackleton. Stations carrying the game will be WKAR-FM, WILS, WJIM and WKMH (Dearborn).

Friday night's game will begin at 10:30 (EST). Saturday's starting time will depend on Friday's results. If State wins, Saturday's game will once again begin at 10:30. If the Spartans lose, the contest will be broadcast at 8:30 (EST).

Should State win both nights, Shackleton will broadcast the semi-finals and finals from Kansas City March 22 and 23.

Dr. Denny to Speak To A E Pi's Thursday

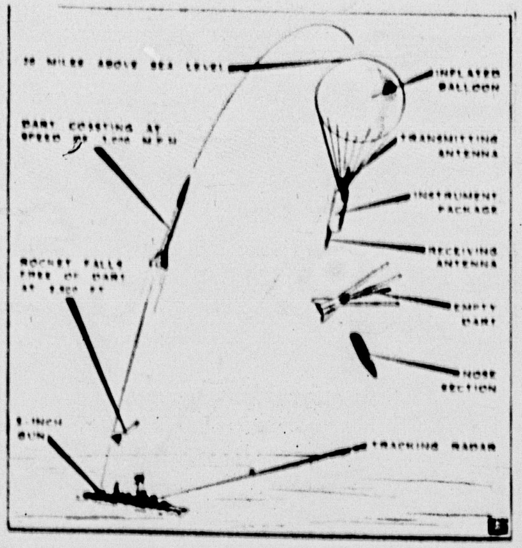
Dr. M. Ray Denny, associate professor of psychology, will speak on "Study Habits Prior to Finals" at the Alpha Epsilon Pi fraternity house Thursday at 6 p.m.



An anti-aircraft missile found to be too small for its intended use is what the Navy hopes to collect weather data with from altitudes as great as 20 miles high. It can be fired from the deck of a ship. Formerly the Loki rocket, it is now called the HASP, nickname for the high altitude sounding projectile.

2 by MSU Authors

Symbolism, Farce, Satire In Studio Theater Plays

Two original one-acts by MSU authors are featured on the three-play bill tonight in Studio Theater, room 49 of the Aud. Symbolism, farce and satire lend variety to the program.

George Latchford, East Lansing senior, will direct Dan Covill's "Your Weight and Fortune," a symbolistic drama of an individual's worth and future. Allan Aiken, Detroit freshman, Don Bumgardner, Pontiac sophomore, Jack Milton, Detroit freshman and Dick Brown, Willis senior, are in the cast. Judy Powers, St. Catherine, Ont., junior, acts as assistant director.

Covill has designed several Tax Shop productions, among them the current term's play, "Witches' Lullaby." He played in "Mad Women of Chaillot," and is directing the Theta Alpha Phi spring production, "Antigone."

"The Penniless Prince," a satire on children's plays, is being directed by Garth Errington, Detroit senior. Robert MacClenahen, author, worked in the technical side of theater while at State. He also wrote radio plays for "Spartan Playhouse."

Jan Rose directs "Let There Be Farce," the third one-act in the last of a series of six. Evelyn Bielsky, Wyandotte sophomore, Marilyn McGeorge, Detroit senior, and Jerry Bates, Detroit junior, are in the cast.

MSU Graduates' Painting Exhibits Featured Abroad

Paintings by three recent graduates of the art department are now being exhibited in various countries throughout the world.

Included in the show are works of Donna Diamond, now a staff instructor; Victor Croftchik, head of the Central Michigan College art department; and Arthur Darvishian, a member of the General Motors Corp. art staff.

The exhibition is being circulated under a program sponsored by the College Art Association to introduce works of American students throughout the world.

Parts of the exhibit have been shown in Greece, Turkey, Korea, Japan, Guatamala, the Philippines, Cuba and Haiti. Before it closes in 1958, the show will visit Australia, India, Africa, Vietnam, Iran and several South American countries.

Pakistan Students Plan First Anniversary

MSU students from Pakistan will celebrate the first anniversary of the Republic of Pakistan March 23 with a program of music, dancing, music and movies.

The celebration will take place in 31 Union at 8 p.m. Refreshments will be served afterward.

10 Students Suspended By Judiciary

All-University Judiciary Court action suspended 10 students, placed five on strict disciplinary probation and put three others on probation last week.

Three men were automatically suspended for having alcohol and women in their off-campus living quarters.

Three were dismissed from school for automobile theft, and two others were suspended on a charge of petty larceny for stripping student autos parked in campus lot 1.

Two men charged with breaking and entering in Olin Health Center, and admittedly stealing hospital excuse slips for false use, were also suspended.

Attendance at an unauthorized, unchaperoned off-campus party resulted in the court's placing five students on strict disciplinary probation.

Two students were put on probation following civil conviction on charges of drunk driving and one other was placed on probation for the theft and sale of textbooks.

'Ye Olde Coffee Hour' Slated for Seniors

Seniors will gather in Old College Hall this afternoon from 3:30 to 5:30 for "Ye Olde Coffee Hour."

Sponsored by senior council, the hour will feature table carving and free records. Senior class officers will be present at the affair, which will be the last coffee hour of winter term.

Philosophy Club Postpones Meeting

The Philosophy Club meeting scheduled for tonight at 8:30 in 33 Union will not be held out of respect to the death of Dr. De Haan who was a member.

Revolution Is Staged In Borneo

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Borneo, Indonesia's largest island, Tuesday overthrew national government authority and installed a revolutionary council led by Lt. Col. Hasan Basri.

The Borneo uprising was the latest in a series against President Sukarno's Central Government and his plans for a "guided democracy" that have troubled the young republic in recent weeks.

The national government now controls little except the populous island of Java. There have been rumors that Eastern and Western Java also may revolt.

Presidential palace sources said both the Government and Sukarno were notified of the rebellion in Borneo several days ago.

"Borneo, like all the others, Sumatra and East Indonesia, is demanding immediate autonomy and economic reform," one source said.

Grand Jury Indicts 46 Enlisted Men

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Forty-six enlisted men of the 101st Airborne Division, Fort Campbell, Ky., Tuesday were indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of conspiracy to defraud the Government of $15,094 by falsifying payroll records.

Ray L. Faisst, agent in charge of the Louisville FBI Office, said the names of the soldiers were used on payroll records in order to obtain pay not due them.

Howard Wayne Bullock, Los Angeles, Calif., 20-year-old payroll clerk in the division's finance office, was accused of placing the names on the records.

Faisst said Bullock did this on 80 different occasions between Oct. 20, 1956, and Jan. 10, 1957.

District Atty. J. Leonard Walker said Bullock contacted the soldiers directly or through a middleman to propose padding their paychecks for an equal division of the extra amount. Such amounts ranged from $60 to $200 or more, Walker said.

He said Bullock prepared payroll vouchers showing the soldier was due extra pay for a reenlistment bonus, back pay, or other extra allowance. The soldier would be required to sign the voucher.

Bullock was charged in each of 43 indictments while the others were named in one or more indictments.

Two pay clerks, Sammie Farrell Gilbert, 20, Chickasaw, Ala., and Harold Thomas Wright, 21, Fort Worth, Tex., were accused of soliciting soldiers to claim the extra pay, Walker said.

Forty-five thousand tons of fertilizer is shown going up in smoke at the Atmosphere Nitrogen Co. at South Point, Ohio, March 9. The smoke with concentrations of chlorine and oxides of nitrogen was not considered by chemists sufficient to cause injury.

Faculty Concert Shows Unity

By LYNN SHEPARD

The MSU Faculty Woodwind Ensemble made its Tuesday night concert a study in balance and tonal unity for a highly appreciative Music Aud listening group.

The ensemble, composed of flutist Russell Friedewald, oboist Paul Harder, clarinetist Keith Stein, bassoonist Edgar Kirk and French horn player Douglas Campbell, performed capably at all times, but especially in the closing number "Three Shanties," a humorous composition by Malcolm Arnold.

It would be pointless to attempt a comparison of merit among the ensemble's members, for, as implied earlier, the group's greatest asset was its overall balance and unity. Seldom can one assemble the individual talent present among these MSU musicians and be able to mold it into such an effective ensemble.

The program's repertoire included Mozart's "Divertimento No. 9," Anton Reicha's "Introduction and Allegro Op. 21," Franz Danzi's "Blaserquintett B-Dur, Op. 56, No. 1" and John Barrows' "March."

The opening "Divertimento" illustrated as well as anything on the program the delicate technical alacrity which all the Ensemble's members possessed individually. At the same time a skillful interweaving of parts showed itself throughout the four movements of the Mozart work.

Reicha's "Introduction and Allegro" served the same purpose, although, in general, the composition plainly could not match Mozart.

Persichetti's "Pastorale," a flighty selection in contrast to Reicha's minor themes, featured a give and take interpretation in which first the flute and oboe and then the clarinet, French horn and bassoon made a lively entrance.

"Blaserquintett B-Dur," written in the style of Mozart and his contemporaries, developed its "Allegretto," "Andante con Moto," "Menuett" and "Allegro" along those familiar lines.

Barrows' distinctly "modern" composition, the "March," used a brisk presto movement. The Ensemble here furnished the velocity in a closely knit arrangement of the "soft Sousaian" variety.

The Concert's closing number, Arnold's "Three Shanties," provided the biggest hit with the audience. All three movements, "Allegro Con Brio," "Allegretto Semplice" and "Allegro Vivace" produced an air of freshness which seems lacking in many of the classical offerings.

One of the most obvious observations of last night's performance was the realization of the time and effort which is necessary for success in this type of ensemble. Thus, it is only common knowledge to say that the group which becomes one instead of five is a worthy ensemble, indeed.

For Coed Dorm Officers

Leadership Workshop Will Be Held April 6

A leadership workshop for women's dorm officers will be held Saturday, April 6, under the sponsorship of the Women's Inter-Residence Council.

Both old and new officers are urged to come to the workshop in order that the old officers can pass on their suggestions and experiences to the new officers, according to Landa Malila, Allegan sophomore, chairman of the workshop.

Registration and a general convocation will open the workshop at 9:30 a.m. in the Music Aud. Miss Helen Widick, manager of Mason and Abbot Halls, will speak on dorm food services.

Following this convocation, the officers will divide up into groups according to their respective offices and go to various dorms for lunch.

After lunch, these groups will hold discussion meetings in the dorm recreation rooms. Each group will have a student chairman and resource person from the administration.

Players' List Announced For 'Antigone'

The cast list for "Antigone," Theta Alpha Phi dramatic honorary's spring term production, has been announced by Director Dan Covill, Bay City senior.

The leading role, Antigone, in the Jean Anouilh version, will be played by Carol Larsen, Detroit junior. Jack Brokenshire, Shaker Heights, Ohio, freshman will portray King Creon and James Hourigan, St. Clair Shores sophomore, will take the role of Haemon.

Jerry Flood, Bay City sophomore, doubles as the Chorus and and as assistant director. Betsy Gibson, Dearborn senior, is cast as the nurse. Eurydice will be played by Amy Salisbury, Hart freshman and the messenger by Thomasia Manikas, Ypsilanti sophomore.

Al Aiken, Detroit freshman, Pierre Bener, Lansing sophomore and Allen Greenfield, Bronx, N.Y., freshman are cast as the guards.

The modern version of Sophocles' classic will be presented April 24 through 27 in the Sudio Theater of the Aud.

Dwight Ebeling Named Union Board Prexy

New officers of Union Board are: president, Dwight Ebeling, Almont junior; vice president, Larry Wills, Saginaw, junior and secretary, Marilyn Douma, Petoskey junior. They replace Gordie Sinclair, Flint senior and Dee Jennings, Lansing senior.

'57 Club Petitions Available at Union

Petitions will be available through Friday at the Union desk for seniors interested in becoming members of the 57 Club.

The organization will be composed of 57 outstanding seniors, who will be chosen on the basis of activities and scholastic averages. A committee composed of faculty members and students will make the final decisions.

Results of the petitioning will be announced at Senior Swingout in June, according to Joan Bagby, co-chairman of organizing the club. Those who fill out petitions may place them in the ballot box, which is also at the Union desk.

To Have National Flavor

Horse Show Set for April 5-6

By LOLLI NEUBARTH

National flavor will spark the opening of the 9th Annual Horse Show sponsored by the Block and Bridle Club. The all-university event, scheduled for April 5-6, will present horses and riders which have won at New York, the International in Chicago, Toronto's National Exposition and many State Fairs.

Any MSU student is eligible to take part in the program. Dean Scoggins, entries chairman, advises students to make their entry by March 27 in order to have their name placed on the program.

Highlighting this year's show will be Arthur "Skip" Dowd, Birmingham freshman, who has been captain of the U. S. Junior Olympic Jumping Team for the last four years.

Dowd will show Earncraft, his thoroughbred gelding, in a dressage act rated one of the finest in the world. Competing against professionals, Dowd won his class at the Canadian National Exposition both in 1955 and 1956.

Also on exhibition will be Prince Darby of Linwood, a registered Shetland pony to be shown by Carol Payne. This pony was grand champion stallion in Michigan last year and won a fifth place ribbon at the International in Chicago.

Chairman Chet DeJongh, Lansing junior vet med student, has announced that a really fine show will be presented.

Arab, Morgan, Tennessee Walking Horse, Quarter Horse and Shetland Pony associations from Michigan have agreed to put their best steeds through their paces for the performance.

From Ohio will come Carl Bradford and his Border Collies. Observers will be spellbound to see the dogs put sheep into small enclosures at their master's command.

A special feature of Saturday's matinee will be a horse pulling contest between some of the best Michigan teams. Included in the contest will be both heavy and light weight teams.

Shows begin at 8 on Friday and Saturday nights and the Saturday matinee will start at 2 p.m. Tickets for the event are available at the Union Ticket Office or may be purchased from Block & Bridle Club members.

Test Vote Indicates Approval

McNamara Offers Senate Resolution

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Tuesday voted to bring up for immediate debate an unprecedented Democratic-sponsored resolution asking President Eisenhower's advice on how to cut his record peacetime budget.

Dividing along party lines the House on a 219-185 roll call vote cleared the way for action on the Democratic proposal.

The test vote indicated the resolution would be approved over Republican opposition after several more hours of partisan debate.

The resolution would have Eisenhower indicate where substantial cuts can be made in his plan for federal spending of $71,800,000,000 in the bookkeeping year starting July 1.

Eisenhower could not veto the resolution since it is phrased merely as an expression of House sentiment. But the President could ignore it as it does not have the force of law.

Meanwhile Sen. McNamara (D-Mich.) offered a resolution in the Senate which he said "would, in effect, send back to President Eisenhower" his proposed budget and ask him "to submit, as soon as possible, recommendations on how or where the budget should be cut."

Saying the 1921 Budget Act directs the President to send Congress his estimate of necessary government spending, McNamara declared:

"The duties of the President and the bureau of the budget are clear. I can see no alternative but for Congress to return the proposed budget to the President."

McNamara said such action is necessary because of what he termed conflicting public statements on the budget by Eisenhower, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and Budget Director Percival Brundage.

He pictured Humphrey as saying "yes we can" cut the budget, Brundage as saying "no we can't," and Eisenhower as softly echoing "perhaps you are both right."

Republican opposition to the House resolution centered around claims that it's the job of Congress to cut the budget.

On the test vote, 214 Democrats and five Republicans voted to consider the resolution. Two Democrats and 183 Republicans opposed the move. Rep. Halleck (R-Ind.) called the Democratic maneuver "a kind of crybaby act" and asserted it is the responsibility of Congress to chop the budget.

But Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts said Eisenhower has suggested many budget projects could be deferred. In the light of this, he declared, the President "has the responsibility" to tell Congress what spending can be postponed.

Eisenhower and Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey have both expressed hope Congress can reduce the fiscal blueprint the President submitted.

House Republicans applauded when Halleck challenged Democrats to cut the budget without help from the President.

"You people on the Democratic side have got the votes," he said. "Why don't you get in here and cut it?

"Under the Constitution, the responsibility is yours and mine. So, why don't we go ahead."

Halleck jibed at the resolution, sponsored by Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.) of the House Appropriations Committee.

"Of all the ridiculous and absurd things to bring in here when we have really important things to do, I think this is the worst," he said, calling the resolution "a kind of cry baby act."

McCormack said the resolution was necessary because "this is the first time in the history of this country that cabinet officers

A Better Test

Late Amendment Vote Holds Many Benefits

Congress [illegible] Monday night [illegible] a [illegible] of the Wednesday [illegible] vote and [illegible] setting of the election [illegible] the student petition.

The meeting [illegible] was an orderly [illegible] in contrast to the wild [illegible] the defeat of the [illegible] election bill last Wednesday.

The amendment [illegible] started with a spring term registration election in mind. That was the basis for the [illegible] Monday night.

But this recommendation was quickly amended to hold the election on the second Thursday of classes spring term. That was the final provision of the bill which passed by an almost unanimous vote.

The later election date holds some positive values, particularly in the matter of education of the student body.

Major complaints against the registration balloting centered around the facts that time is needed to show the students both the good and bad sides of the amendment and that there would be no publicity for two weeks prior to the election.

Both complaints are justifiable and are [illegible] solved by the later vote.

It was particularly feared by opponents of the bill that there would be no time to present the full story on the merits (or lack of them) of the amendment.

Now they will receive that time and it can only be hoped that the best will be made of it.

In addition, the later voting date will provide a better test of student reaction to the proposed change. Voting at registration is forced feeding and gives no true picture of the interest in the issue.

It is unfortunate that some provision could not be made that a majority of the students must vote on any amendment, as is required on amendments for assessments.

Thus half of the students would have to vote in the non-registration balloting to pass the amendment. If that many aren't interested, maybe the proposed change is not so good after all.

Forces against the amendment are sincere and dedicated to the task. Those in favor are more inclined to take an attitude of "it would be nice" rather than "we think it is good and should be law."

In addition there is some doubt about the matter ever coming to an election if moves are made via judicial appeals to throw out the student petition.

Such a maneuver would not prove anything but the fact that a single small faction is able to control what it wants to do on the campus.

Congress acted in good faith in allowing the matter to go to a vote without legal quibbling. There is more than a good chance that the proposal will be decided on a sound basis if it goes to a vote.

If no one is interested but the people against the bill, it will be justly defeated. If there is enough interest to offset that campaign, then the success of a popular election will be enhanced.

This will all go down the drain if the matter reverts to the status of a political football through an appeal on a moot legal technicality.

If the amendment does go to a vote and should it win, a good deal more work will be required of Congress to implement the election of the president.

The present election ordinances are considered wholly inadequate for such an election. Some even think they are poor for any election.

Rather than follow precedent and pass legislation to change the existing procedure (which results in amendments to amendments to amendments), a whole new election plan should be drawn up.

This would necessitate many meetings of the Election Committee and hard work by both the committee and the other members of Congress in hammering out a suitable system.

Worth a Thought

According to IFC President Bill [illegible] at least five or six fraternities on campus still have discriminatory clauses in their constitutions.

These groups [illegible] that [illegible] attempt to abolish these clauses would result in a split between the local chapter and the national organization.

These discriminating fraternities should take heed of the severance of all national ties by Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity at Dartmouth University last year.

The local chapter felt "It is incongruous for any organization founded on brotherhood to sanction discrimination on the grounds of race, color or creed."

We feel fraternities do not have the right to do as they please. No one has that right. The fraternity is part of the framework of society, existing as part of the college campus, controlled by college administrators whose salaries—in many cases—are paid by the taxpayer.

Last year an ATO spokesman at a Big 10 school was quoted as saying that his fraternity was more concerned with the question of a religious discrimination clause rather than the color question. A belief in Christ is the basis of the fraternity's founding and ritual, he said, and without it "there would be no ATO."

Up to now, Greeks have been crying that forcing a fraternity to go local will force it to die. But the action of Phi Sigma Kappa indicates that at least one such group realizes its social responsibility and is willing to step out on its own to aid the cause of brotherhood.

Letters

Canadian Players Expressive

To The Editor:

"To be or not to be, that is the question."

My eyes grew heavy as I struggled through the soliloquy which I had read so many, many times before. "Whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune or to take arms against a sea of trouble." I was violently being tossed about in a sea of vowels and consonants for which my only protection was the shell of learning which had so inadequately been prepared for me before my voyage. The words were there, but their meanings were hidden in the veil of a superficial presentation.

Monday night the words were there again, but this time they came to life in the light of a magnificent performance on the part of the Canadian Players. Words that previously had had no meaning took on a brilliantly new light as they were emitted from the mouths of this extraordinarily talented group.

However, these words echoed aimlessly through the many empty seats in Fairchild Theater, seats that should have been filled and might have been had the students and faculty known the worth and ability of these fine players.

I truly believe that a small article in the State News concerning the merits and abilities of future performers to appear on the Fairchild stage would be appreciated.

New Oil Pipe Line May Bypass Suez

By HOWARD BENEDICT
Associated Press Newsfeatures Writer

Western nations and the major international oil companies are studying dramatic proposals to bring oil out of the Middle East without using the Suez Canal and break the stranglehold that Egypt and Syria now have on the flow of oil from the Mideast to Europe.

The Iraq Petroleum Co. (IPC), owned by British, American, Dutch and French oil interests, has held men investigating the possibility of building new oil pipelines from Iraq through Turkey to the Mediterranean. Company officials are expected to meet in London early in April to study the field reports.

The pipelines under consideration would bypass both the Suez Canal and [illegible] Syria.

Arab saboteurs blew up the IPC's major pipelines crossing northern Syria last Nov. 3 after the Anglo-Israeli invasion of Egypt. The Syrian government has refused to allow repairs. The damage to these pipelines and the closing of the canal cut off delivery of 85 per cent of Western Europe's estimated two million daily barrels of Mideast oil.

Although the flow of oil through the Trans-Arabian pipeline which delivers Saudi Arabian oil to the Mediterranean was not disturbed, the rupture of service through the canal and the northern pipelines has been a clear sign to Western Europe that it needs alternate means of shipment to escape the near-monopoly enjoyed by Egypt and Syria.

This is the reason for the determined drive to find new routes.

The Iraq-to-Turkey pipeline projects receiving the most consideration are these:

1. A line from the oil fields near Kirkuk in northern Iraq to the seaport of Iskenderun in Turkey. This line would be about 500 miles long and would carry about 500,000 barrels of oil a day. The pipelines blown up in Syria originate in these fields.

2. A line from the Basra fields on the Persian Gulf to Iskenderun, a distance of nearly 1,000 miles. This line would carry 700,000 barrels a day.

3. Two lines from the Basra fields to Iskenderun, with a total daily capacity of 1,200,000 barrels.

These proposed lines all would run northwest to the Turkish border and swing left to Iskenderun, skirting the northern border of Syria. Estimates of the cost of building them range from 150 million dollars for the shorter line to more than 500 million dollars for the double line from Basra. Since there is much overlapping, it is unlikely more than one of the projects would be undertaken.

Also under investigation is a pipeline from the oil fields to the sheikdom of Kuwait on the Persian Gulf to Iskenderun. There also is talk of running a line from fields near Tehran in Iran to the Turkish seaport.

Oil company officials believe a pipeline to Turkey will be more practical than steps already taken to bypass the canal. These are:

1. Orders have gone to [illegible] world shipyards for huge new tankers, ranging up to 100,000 tons, which can carry large amounts of oil from Middle East fields to the United States and Europe. Many of them will be above 45,000 tons and too big to use the canal under any circumstances.

These super tankers will be able to carry oil at a lower cost per barrel and make the long voyage around Africa without prohibitive expense.

2. Israel is laying an 8-inch pipeline from Elath, its port on the Gulf of Aqaba, to Sodom [illegible] on its Mediterranean coast. [illegible] of Israel, with French help, hopes to build a larger pipeline along the same route. It is expected that tankers will transport oil for these pipelines from the Persian Gulf to Elath.

Some Western observers [illegible] skeptical about the Israeli pipelines, however, because the water route the tankers must take could easily be blocked by Egypt or Saudi Arabia in the event of war.

Solution of Yesterday's Puzzle

Deflation Campaign Launched in Spain

By LOUIS NEVIN

MADRID (AP)—Spain today launched a campaign of austerity and deflation.

It was set in motion by Pedro Gual Villalbi, 76-year-old Professor of Economy and Minister without portfolio in the new government Gen. Francisco Franco formed Feb. 25.

Gual Villalbi spoke with authority last night to business leaders in Barcelona, commercial capital of the nation.

The time has come, he said, to prune the industrial setup and lop unproductive branches. He said industrialization has been carried out at a giddy pace and has far outrun the nation's capacity to supply factories with power and raw materials.

"We are going to moderate the pace to bring the rhythm of our economy into line with our effective means," he said.

He said this campaign would be an obvious sacrifice for many in business, who now "will find themselves eliminated." He did not indicate what branches of business would be most affected.

Gual Villalbi hinted at a possible devaluation of the Peseta, officially rated worth a fraction more than nine cents.

He said the government hoped this would not be necessary, but if it is carried out "all necessary precautions will be taken to avoid failure of the operation."

He promised greater economic freedom and said some of the numerous industries owned wholly or partially by the national industrial institute will be turned over to private capital.

The minister is also chairman of the institute, which owns a group of industries ranging from ballbearing factories to a gigantic steel works now nearing completion in North Spain. The institute was founded to speed Spanish industrialization.

Officials Comb TWA Planes

Anonymous Phone Caller Tells of Planted Bomb

NEW YORK (AP)—Trans World Airline planes over a wide section of the nation were searched Tuesday after an anonymous caller telephoned the line in New York that a bomb had been put aboard one of its craft. Planes in flight were ordered to land at first opportunity.

All planes still on the ground at New York's LaGuardia and Idlewild airports were checked quickly by police. Others which had been in the air landed at Philadelphia, Cleveland, Detroit, Baltimore, Boston and Pittsburgh.

None of the plane searches turned up a bomb immediately, however.

The telephoned warning was received at Trans World's West 42nd street reservations office in New York. A youthful male voice reported:

"You have a bomb on your plane. You'd better get it off before your plane takes off."

The caller was said to have added that the bomb was on TWA's "next flight out of LaGuardia field" and then he hung up.

TWA quickly notified police and by radio alerted all other craft which had taken off shortly beforehand to make a "precautionary landing" at the first appropriate airport for searches.

The first craft scheduled to leave after the call for Flight 73, a four-engine Constellation due to leave at 1:45 p.m. for Pittsburgh.

Twenty-two passengers, who were advised of the situation, left the plane while police made a thorough search of both plane and its baggage. The plane took off 42 minutes later after the investigation failed to yield any suspicious object.

The radio alert to craft in the air led to a mixup when a plane landing in Philadelphia at 2:10 p.m. notified the airport that it was coming in. TWA said the pilot's notification to the airport was garbled and the control tower understood him to say there was a "bomb aboard."

Fire apparatus and emergency crews were ordered to stand by and city police rushed to the field.

The plane, a two-engine transport carrying only its crew of three, landed safely and was searched and cleared, TWA said.

Among other planes being searched at New York's Idlewild Airport was Flight 904 for Paris and Colombo, Ceylon. It had been scheduled to depart at 3 p.m. but was still on the ground half an hour later.

The airport police force was increased by a number of city police who helped search planes and luggage.

The airline said it believed normal flight operations would be resumed by around 5 p.m.

Auto Style Symposium Scheduled

A symposium on automotive design is scheduled for tonight at 8 in the Music Aud. Participating in the symposium will be several leading stylists and design critics.

The purpose of the symposium is to outline the increasing importance of styling in the automotive industry. Since a majority of American families own a car, the subject has wide-range appeal.

The speakers will include Gordon Buehrig, famous for the design of the Cord and the Duesenberg automobiles and presently an executive in the Ford Body Engineering program, who will present the historical aspect of the styling industry.

Donald Hoagg, chief designer of General Motors' special training studio and graduate of Pratt Institute, will present the contemporary approach to the problem and Richard Gragg, director of the Kalamazoo Art Center, will present the critic-historian's point of view.

Robert S. Alexander, industrial design instructor in the MSU Art Department and former car stylist, will act as moderator.

Protesting Student Gets Waylaid by Classmates

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma A & M College student David Craig, who had an "A" and "M" cut out of his hair in protest to legislation to change the school's name, is bald today.

He said a group of fellow students — who favor the proposed name of Oklahoma State University — waylaid him and sheared his hair, but failed to change his mind.

Reverse January Trend

Employment Levels Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)—Employment bounced back over the 63-million mark in February, reversing a downward trend that started early last fall, the government reported Tuesday.

The number of jobholders rose by 812,000 during the month to a total of 63,190,000. Still, this increase wiped out only about one-third of the abnormally sharp decline of 1,700,000 in January.

Unemployment dropped by 123,000 during the month to a total of 3,121,000, about 4.7 per cent of the labor force. This total included some 244,000 persons who were added to the unemployed rolls by a change in definition.

For the first time, the commerce and labor departments counted as unemployed those persons on a layoff of less than 30 days, or who expected to start a new job within 30 days. Those had previously been listed as employed, but labor union leaders said the practice gave a distorted picture of the situation.

The government said unemployment in February was about about the same as in the early part of 1956. It was about 400,000 lower than at the beginning of 1955, when there were many who had not yet returned to work after the business slump in 1954.

Employment in non-agricultural industries rose by 353,000 during the month to a total of 57,996,000, an increase of more than a million from the like period last year. Most of the monthly increase was among domestic workers and the self-employed, who had experienced sharp setbacks in January.

A marked improvement in the weather boosted farm employment by 260,000 in February to a total of 5,195,000. The farm work force however, was still at one of the lowest levels on record for February.

Factory jobs dipped slightly during the month to 17 million, although a small increase is usual in February. Continuing cutbacks were reported in some plants producing home building materials and in radio and television factories. There was also a decline in jobs in automobile factories.

A substantial decline in the food industry and a similar rise in the apparel industry followed the usual seasonal pattern, although the apparel gain failed to make up ground lost in January.

The factory work week remained steady at 40.2 hours. Earnings remained high, with weekly average paycheck of $82.41, a record for the month, and hourly earnings of $2.05, an all-time high.

Until the February figures were announced Tuesday the number of jobholders had declined steadily since the all-time peak of 66,752,000 reached in August of 1956.

Reception Scheduled For Term Graduates

All students receiving degrees at the end of this term are invited to a reception at Cowles House tonight at 7:30.

President and Mrs. Hannah, deans of various schools and members of the faculty will be present to meet graduates attending. Also present will be members of the senior council.

The informal affair will be the last get-together for winter term graduates, who will receive their degrees Friday evening at Commencement exercises.

FBI Chief Claims

U. S. Reds Remain In Russian Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover told Congress Tuesday that the claimed break with Moscow by American Communists was a "fraud" designed to "thwart government prosecution."

In a letter to the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, Hoover asserted:

"The Communist party before and after its 1957 convention is part and parcel of the world-wide Communist conspiracy. It is still responsive to the will of Moscow; it still works for the destruction of the American way of life . . ."

Sen. Jenner (R-Ind) said in a statement the Reds Monday issued a news release declaring that a new party constitution provides for expulsion of any member who engages in spying or advocating violnece.

He added that publication of this handout "at face value in so many newspapers . . . causes tremendous confusion" and said Hoover's analysis counteracts "this new campaign of subversion."

The Communist Party's 1957 constitution, made public Monday, contains this article, carried over almost verbatim from the 1948 constitution which was reaffirmed in 1950:

"Subject to the provisions of this article, any member shall be expelled from the party who is a strikebreaker, a provocateur, engaged in espionage, an informer or who advocates force and violence or terrorism, or who adheres to or participates in the activities of any group or party which conspires or acts to subvert, undermine, weaken or overthrow any institutions of American democracy through which the majority of the American people can maintain their right to determine their destinies."

Philosophy Prof Invited to Speak Here Thursday

Coming to Michigan State Thursday from Wheaton College will be Arthur Holmes, assistant professor of philosophy and Bible.

Prof. Holmes is being brought to East Lansing by Spartan Christian Fellowship, the local chapter of Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship, for a series of two lectures, Thursday and Friday nights.

Thursday Holmes will speak on the "Inspiration of the Bible" at 7:15 in 33 Union. Following his lecture there will be a coffee discussion hour in Old College Hall.

An "Evangelical View of Christianity" will be Holmes' topic for Friday evening. The lecture will be presented at 7:30 p.m. in Parlor A at the Union.

have repudiated the President of the United States."

Rep. Whitten (D-Miss.), an appropriations committee member termed the resolution "a courtesy" to the President.

"If Congress is going to cut the budget," he said, "Eisenhower should be given an opportunity to indicate where it can be cut."

That Eisenhower disagrees with Whitten was indicated when Republican Congressional leaders came out of a White House meeting with the President earlier Tuesday.

Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California told newsmen it is his understanding the President feels "he has submitted his recommendations and now the budget is the responsibility of Congress."

House GOP Leader Martin of Massachusetts echoed Knowland in criticizing the resolution, which Martin said would amount to "Congress abdicating its duty."

"Let's not pass the buck to somebody else," Martin said. "Let's let Congress do the job."

House Speaker Rayburn challenged this argument. The Texas Democrat defended the Cannon resolution at a news conference and predicted Congress will cut the budget "substantially."

Anderson Comments On Season

Forddy Anderson took a moment out from his busy practice schedule Tuesday to look back on the past season and the NCAA championships coming up this week end.

"Above everything else," Anderson said, "we take a terrific pride in representing both Michigan State and the Big 10 in the tournament. My one hope is that we may well represent our school and the conference."

The other note Anderson reflected upon was the terrific crowd support given the Spartans all season long . . . not only in the winning stages but during the depression.

"The students stayed up even when we were down," Anderson said. "After losing four out of five and stationed at the bottom of the conference, most fans would have given up, but a terrifically spirited crowd came out for our return game against Ohio State."

Anderson further noted that the crowd at the Ohio State game was just as enthusiastic and yelled just as loudly as it had done in the opening games against Purdue and Michigan.

When talk of the Indiana game came up Anderson was all smiles. "[illegible] best crowd I've ever seen," he stated happily. "Even Branch McCracken [illegible] basketball coach at Indiana commented to me that it was the best crowd he had ever seen, and coming from a man who's coached for more than 30 years, especially an Indiana man, it's a real tribute."

Anderson said that even at Bradley, where basketball was the No. 1 year round sport, spirit was never as great as at the Indiana game. He especially took pride in the nearly 20,000 students who remained outside in the snow during the entire game, students who were unable to get in because of the overflow crowd.

Anderson concluded by saying, "I've always believed that crowd support plays a big role in a team's success or failure. [illegible]"

Gilchrist, Majors In IM Coed Finale

By MARY HUTT

Gilchrist and PE Majors II topped North Williams and Chi Omega respectively, to lead the way in the semi-final round of coed intramural basketball play Tuesday night. These two teams will meet Thursday night at 7 in the Women's Gym for the final game of the tournament.

The Gilchrist team outclassed a spirited North Williams squad to take the game by a 30-24 score in a fast moving contest that was really closer than the score indicates.

Gilchrist piled up six points before Williams could score, but [illegible] of the first quarter [illegible] a slim 8-5 margin. Their scoring attack [illegible] in the second period, and the halftime score stood at 21-14.

Ellen Boughner of Gilchrist took individual scoring honors with an 18 point total, followed by Carol Harding who tallied 10 markers. For North Williams, [illegible] was top with 12 tallies and [illegible] netted six.

In a very low scoring game the PE Majors II squad defeated Chi Omega 16-8. Getting off to a slow start the Chi O's hit on two free throws for the game's initial points, but failed to hang on to their advantage.

The quarter score stood at 5-2 in favor of the Majors, but by the half they had increased their lead to 12-5.

Scoring in the final period was very even, the Majors getting four markers to three for the Chi O's.

At the top of the scoring column for the winners was Barb Jensen with an eight point total. Carol Jacobs was close behind with six points. Diane Daley of the losers scored seven of her team's eight tallies.

The Thursday night finals will mark the end of the 1957 season which got under way Jan. 21. Forty-two teams entered the competition, divided into seven blocks.

The block winners decided after each team had played five games were as follows: Block 1, North Williams; Block 2, Farpets; Block 3, Gilchrist; Block 4, East Landon; Block 5, Off Campus; Block 6, PE Majors II; Block 7, Chi Omega. Of these teams that were entered in the final tournament, only Gilchrist and the Majors II remain undefeated throughout regular season and play-off games.

The team record in scoring during the season was set by Gilchrist when they defeated Pi Beta Phi by a 46-30 margin. Although their 46 point effort remained the high mark, Gilchrist came close to their own record by beating West Landon, 43-5.

Dutch Hoey of the PE Majors II team led all other scorers by a wide margin for individual totals. Her highest score in a single tilt was 21 points.

Tigers Edged By Braves, 1-0

Pirates Still Undefeated; Boston Beats Yanks, 1-0

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—Warren Spahn, Gene Conley and Red Murff limited Detroit to two hits as the Milwaukee Braves scored a 1-0 victory over the Tigers in a spring exhibition game Tuesday. Each pitched three innings.

Spahn gave up a single to Harvey Kuenn in the third inning, Conley a single to Ray Boone in the fourth and Murff retired the nine batters he faced in the last three innings.

Johnny Logan hit three consecutive singles to lead the Braves' six-hit attack against Jim Bunning and Pete Wojey.

The Braves registered their run off Wojey in the sixth when Eddie Mathews walked, took second on Wes Covington's sacrifice bunt and scored on Frank Torre's apparent double down the left field line. Torre, however, forgot to touch first base and was called out.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, still unbeaten in four contests, used an eleven hit attack including a homer by rookie Dick Stewart to defeat the Cincinnati Redlegs 8-4 at Tampa, Fla. Veteran Jim Hearn and rookies Dick Bunker and Dick Farrell fashioned a 6 hitter as the Phils defeated Washington, 4-2, at cracks homer for Cards' . . .

Clearwater, and at St. Petersburg, the so-far punchless Red Sox scored a fluke run in the 13th inning to top the New York Yankees, 1-0.

In other games, Cleveland scored seven runs in the first inning and went on to whip the Chicago Cubs 8-1 at Tucson, Ariz. Wally Moon and Del Ennis cracked home runs for St. Louis in the Cards' 12-4 romp over Kansas City at West Palm Beach, Fla. Frank Torre drove in the run that gave Milwaukee a 1-0 decision over Detroit at Bradenton, Fla., and at Phoenix, Ariz., Gail Harris' 3-run homer in the last of the ninth enabled the New York Giants to edge Baltimore, 9-8.

The Phillies scored their winning runs after two out in the fifth, counting twice to take a 3-1 lead on four walks and a single.

The Red Sox, who have scored only four runs in 40 innings this spring with a lineup minus sluggers Ted Williams and Jackie Jensen, snapped a 26-inning scoreless drought to win against New York.

With two out in the 13th and the bases loaded, Bill Skowron, being tried at third base by Casey Stengel, stumbled after fielding an easy grounder. By the time he recovered, all runners were safe and Jim Piersall had raced home from third with the game's only run.

Moon homered with one on and Ennis with two on in the Cards' easy victory over the A's.

Bob Lemon's 3-run homer featured the big Indian uprising against the Cubs, and the Giants had five homers against Baltimore, two each by Harris and rookie shortstop Andre Rodgers and one by Red Schoendienst. Harris drove in five runs.

Roy Campanella, whose bad hand affected his batting last season, banged out his first hit of the spring as the Brooklyn Dodgers clobbered the Chicago White Sox 9-4 before 1,050 Tuesday night.

Godfrey Inks Tiger Pact

Walt "Red" Godfrey, junior ace for the Michigan State baseball team and captain of the 1955-56 cagers, signed a Detroit Tigers' contract Tuesday.

Godfrey played two years on the basketball team as a guard and pitched three years for the Kobs' men.

Last year Godfrey ranked 36th in Big 10 cage scoring by averaging 9.1 points per contest.

He amassed a 13 won five lost mark for the baseball team and compiled a 6-3 mark last season.

One of his wins last year was a one-hitter over the University of Illinois.

The Tigers have assigned the righthander to the Birmingham farm club in the Southern Association.

Cagers Face Fighting Irish In NCAA Tournament, Friday

N. Dame Triumphs, 89-77

N. Carolina Wins; W. Virginia Upset

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Michigan State will meet the Irish of Notre Dame in the second round of the NCAA tournament at Lexington, Ky., Friday night.

Earlier in the season Notre Dame drubbed the then weak Spartans, 89-77.

The Irish led all the way Tuesday night, defeating Miami University's Mid-American Conference champions, 89-77, in a first round NCAA tournament play-off basketball game.

In other NCAA tournament encounters Oklahoma City, the nation's ninth ranked team, dropped Loyola of New Orleans, 76-55.

Pittsburgh is also headed for Lexington after its 86-85 win over Morehead State. The Panthers meet the Wildcats of Kentucky.

Canisius upset Red Hundley and the Mountaineers of West Virginia, 64-56.

The nation's No. 1 team, North Carolina, had no trouble as it sailed past Yale, 90-74.

Three of the Irish starters went over the 20-point figure with 6-5 sophomore Tom Hawkins leading the way with 25.

The Irish were ahead 47-31 at the half and the closest Miami came after that was 10 points in the late stages of the game.

Wayne Embry, Miami's center, dropped in 25 tallies.

Don Hennon, 5-9 sophomore guard, paced the Panthers to victory with 31 markers.

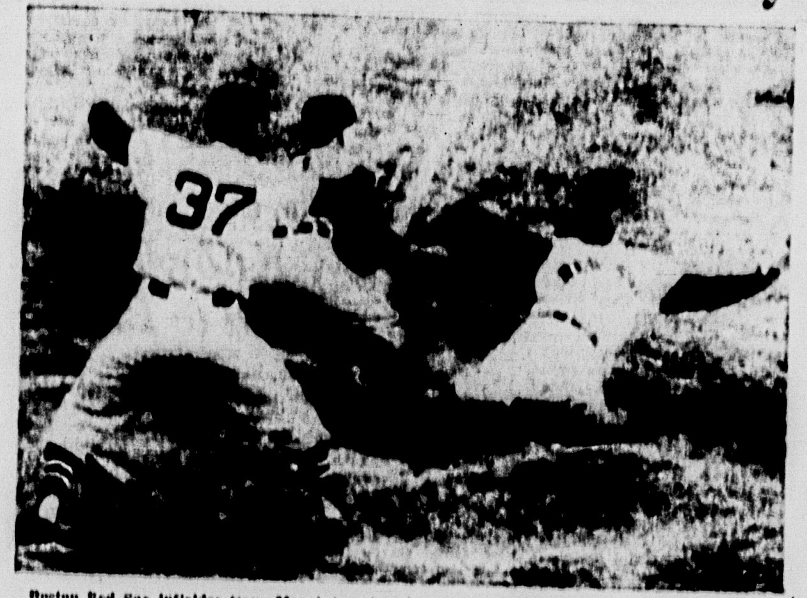
Pittsburgh led 46-41 at the half, Morehead leading only once just before the intermission.

With less than a minute and a half remaining Pitt was behind 84-83, when John Laneve put the Panthers in front to stay with a jump shot.

Steve Hamilton and Harlan Tolle shared scoring honors for the losers with 20 tallies each.

Canisius upset heavily favored West Virginia and left the floor at halftime leading 34-18.



Boston Red Sox infielder Gene Mauch is out at home plate as he attempts to score from second on Fay Thornberry's single into right field in first inning of an exhibition game with the Detroit Tigers at Sarasota, Fla., last Saturday. Detroit catcher Bob Wilson holds the ball as Jim Finigan (37) signals his teammate to slide. The Tigers won 10-1.

Overcame Many Faults

Bencie Hailed as Capable Sub For Tourney Bound Cagers

By LARRY WROBLEWSKI

Hailed by Coach Forddy Anderson as a very capable substitute for the NCAA bound Spartan basketball team is Chuck Bencie.

Gaining a berth on the Spartan quintet was no easy chore for the lanky 6-6 cager.

For back in high school the Gary, Ind., junior appeared on the court as a clumsy and uncertain player.

Observing the tall youngster in practice Coach Mike Sofiak realized that they would spend many hours together trying to correct his deficiencies.

Chuck followed the advice and guidance of his coach and steady improvement was noticed.

For in his final year of prep competition Chuck led his conference in scoring by averaging 22 points per game.

Led by Chuck's scoring punch his team copped the conference crown and he also was named to all-conference and all-state teams.

But in the spring months Bencie displayed his athletic talents on the baseball diamond for two years at the initial sack.

Having received acceptance into Michigan State Chuck enrolled in physical education.

He joined the freshman squad along with Larry Hedden and Jack Quiggle. This trio was to form the nucleus of the teams which would in two years triumph as the school's first Big 10 co-titlists.

With last year's regular center Duane Peterson graduated, Chuck was assigned the responsibility of the important slot this season.

Before the Spartans met Iowa State in their season's opener Chuck married his high school sweetheart, Sharon Osika.

During the Christmas holidays Chuck helped the team score two upsets over Nebraska and Oklahoma in a tournament at Kansas.

At mid-season John Green was attached to the squad and Bencie viewed the action from the bench. Chuck, however, doesn't mind playing behind Green just as long as the team continues to win.

Chuck's versatility was also utilized at the forward post.

CHUCK BENCIE
example of cagers' depth

With George Ferguson graduating in June Bencie may more than adequately fill the vacancy.

Nicknamed Ben by his teammates, Chuck described the cagers' successful rush to gain a NCAA berth and tie with Indiana for conference honors as the result of each player's performance.

Chuck credits Coach Anderson and last year's assistant mentor, John Benington, for aiding him in adapting to college basketball.

"Chuck did a beautiful job early in the campaign at the pivotal spot. And teaming with John Green give us strength at a position we were weak at," Anderson said.

In the future Chuck looks for a chance to coach basketball.

Though not a potent scorer Bencie ended the year with a 6.8 average by notching 122 points in 18 contests. But Chuck's defensive ability is his asset and contribution to the team.

5 Netmen Impressive In Matches

Five varsity tennis players won their matches last Saturday in Dem Hall against opposition made up of alumni and freshmen as the netmen prepare to travel to Florida for their annual tour.

Sophomore Bob Sassack proved too much for Joe Cushing as he took his first set 6-4 and was ahead 5-2 in the second.

Tom Knight using his strong serve and backhand topped Jeff Green in the first set 6-4, but trailed in the second, 1-4.

Whipping Bill Hotchkiss 7-5 in the initial set and leading 3-1 in the second was Ron Mescall.

Bill Bisard drew Coach Frank Beeman as his opponent and rifled shots past the coach to win, 6-2. The second set ended in a 6-6 deadlock.

The final victory was racked up by Foster Hoffman, who downed Fred Houser, 6-4 and led in the second, 3-2.

Mike Zaremba and Luis Vela were dealt defeats.

Rex Morris up ended Zaremba 6-4 and tied his foe in the second, 4-4.

Jack Shingleton soared past Vela 6-3 and commanded a 5-4 lead in the second set.

Coach Frank Beeman was very pleased with the varsity performances.

Swan Song

By JERRY ROBBINS
State News Sports Editor

HERE it is, the end of another term and the end of my reign as sports editor. It's been a wonderful six months as I've had the opportunity to witness what is probably the most successful sports season for Spartan teams in many years.

As I sit here looking out this same window that I've looked out many times in the past, I am trying to think of the many things I want to include in this final column.

I look back on the 1956 football team under the guidance of Duffy Daugherty. It was this squad that sky rocketed to the No. 1 position in football polls around the nation one week, only to tumble a week later as a result of a loss to the Fighting Illini.

The gridders turned in an outstanding season which was marred only by losses to Illinois and Minnesota.

Fall term also brought with it a championship cross country team which walked off with four major titles. Many have termed it the greatest in the history of the school.

Soccer got its first real start at Michigan State this year and from all indications is to remain as a varsity sport.

Michigan State's winter teams kept right on rolling during the winter months and brought more fame and recognition to the Spartan campus.

After one of the slowest starts in the history of the Big 10, Coach Forddy Anderson injected some unknown magic formula into his cagers and they bounced back after three straight losses to win 10 in a row, tie for the conference title and earn an 11th place rating in the AP basketball poll.

Amo Bessone's hockey team had its ups and downs but the pucksters were able to snap a 28 game losing streak held over them by Minnesota when the Spartan icers swept a two-game series on home ice.

In other Big 10 winter action, the track team walked off with third place honors, the gymnasts third and the wrestling team sixth.

The grand finale came when I had the opportunity to witness the Big 10 swimming championship at Minneapolis. The Spartans won the title, their first since entering the conference. This was also the first undisputed Big 10 crown a winter team has registered at Michigan State.

This was a sports writer's dream as I was able to watch a team I have followed for two years go into a championship meet as a dark horse and win out over such powerhouses as Ohio State and Michigan.

Special tribute goes to every varsity coach, Dr. Harold Tukey and Biggie Munn. The cooperation I have received from these individuals has been surpassed by no one.

In addition, it is only fitting that a rose goes to each and every staffer who has worked for the sports staff since last fall. It is because of the work these people have put forth that this paper has been able to provide such complete sports coverage here at Michigan State.

Yes, it's been a great reign, but now we make way for another sports editor. One, like the old speculator, who will sit here behind this same typewriter, look out this same window and try to think of ways to present the news to his readers.

Playboys Win, 4-0

Phi Tau (6) Nips Bailey In Overtime Game, 4-3

By BUCK JERZY

Harris Seymour's goal in a sudden death overtime period gave Phi Kappa Tau a 4-3 victory over Bailey Hall and pushed the Phi Taus into the finals of IM hockey playoffs.

The Phi Taus will have a day of rest while Lambda Chi Alpha and the Playboys meet tonight at 6 in the semi-final game at the Ice Arena.

Seymour scored the game winning goal after four minutes had elapsed in the overtime period. With a mad scramble going on in front of the Bailey goal Chuck [illegible] passed the puck back to Seymour and he let go with a 10-footer from the blue line.

The regulation game ended in a 3-3 deadlock after the Phi Taus came from behind twice to tie the score in the third period.

Bailey opened the scoring at 1:05 of the first period on Jim Wilson's goal with Phi Tau Gary Howard in the penalty box.

George [illegible] made it 2-0 for Bailey late in the same period. He scored after taking a pass at the blue line from Hugh [illegible].

Phi Tau bounced back with two quick goals in the second stanza to tie the game. Bob Pascoe scored on a solo dash and Ed Kelley knocked in a rebound for the other Phi Tau marker.

Bailey again took the lead at 7:30 of the third period on Jack Rothley's goal. He grabbed a pass from Harry Schaefer and beat Phi Tau goalie Ron Bray on a 20-foot shot.

A minute later Pascoe tied things up with his second goal of the night, with assists going to Kelley and Jim Auld.

This set the stage for the sudden death overtime period. Both teams put on brilliant offensive displays but it was all over when Seymour fired the puck past Bailey goalie Clark Butterfield.

Playboys 4, Sigma Nu 0

The fast skating Playboys took a hard fought 4-0 victory from Sigma Nu to stay in the running for the IM hockey championship.

With two goals and an assist Ed Farcey was the leading scorer. Ralph Moldenhauer also picked up a goal and an assist.

Moldenhauer was given credit for the first Playboy goal early in the first period without even touching the puck. On a goal mouth scramble a [illegible] defenseman knocked the puck in the net.

The Playboys clinched the game on a three goal third period. Farcey scored his first goal at 2:00 with Marty Weber getting the assist.

'Documents Destroyed' Say Oregon Teamsters

WASHINGTON (P) — A top official of the Teamsters Union in Oregon acknowledged to the Senate Rackets Committee Tuesday that some union records sought by the committee have been destroyed.

[illegible]

Under questioning Tuesday, Crosby testified he didn't know for sure whether the records of Teamsters Union Joint Council 37 from mid 1954 onward had been destroyed.

[illegible]

"Have they been destroyed?" Kennedy demanded, referring to the records.

[illegible]

Crosby then went on to report his belief that some of the records are gone.
