Britain to Cut Armed Forces

New 5-Year Plan to Slash Half of Defense Personnel

LONDON (P)—Hard-put Britain Thursday announced a revolutionary five-year defense plan that will nearly cut in half its armed forces, and place the nation's security under the umbrella of American nuclear power.

A policy declaration in a long-awaited white paper set forth the Macmillan government's radically advanced concepts for reorganizing the country's air, land and sea forces to the needs of the atomic age and Britain's ability to meet the costs.

Aspects of the new policy reportedly have divided the Cabinet and military planners.

The program provides for cutting back defense spending by more than 500 million dollars—or nearly one-eighth of the whole defense budget—in the next fiscal year ending March 1958. Within five years the armed forces will be cut from 690,000 to 375,000 men.

It also calls for reducing Britain's garrisons around the globe, a complete withdrawal from South Korea and the ending of the draft in 1960 when the next general election normally would fall due. The British have a single battalion in Korea.

In starkly realistic terms the white paper recognized "there is at present no means of providing adequate protection" for Britons against a nuclear attack. Even if only a dozen enemy bombers get through Britain's air defenses—as would seem "inevitable"—they could inflict "widespread devastation," the document stated.

The white paper declared that in these days of mass destruction weapons "no country can protect itself in isolation."

It added: "The defense of Britain is possible only as part of the collective defense of the free world. This conception of collective defense is the basis of the North Atlantic, Southeast Asia and Baghdad Alliances. The free world is today mainly dependent for its protection upon the nuclear capacity of the United States."

Britain's contribution to the nuclear deterrent possessed by the free world is "modest" compared with that of the United States, the document declared. Nevertheless "British atomic bombs are in 'steady production' and the Royal Air Force holds a substantial number."

A British hydrogen or neutron bomb has been developed and is shortly to be tested.

"Pending international agreement (on disarmament) the only existing safeguard against major aggression is the power to threaten retaliation with nuclear weapons," the declaration went on.

Accordingly Britain has decided to recast all its old strategic ideas in order to build up its nuclear deterrent power.

As to the Navy, "a considerable number" of battleships now in reserve are to be sold—possibly to Commonwealth countries—or scrapped.

The main elements of the Navy are to be regrouped around a series of sea trains—each comprising one aircraft carrier and several supporting ships.

Cruisers, destroyers and other types of smaller warships eventually will be replaced with a smaller number of more modern vessels, some of which will carry guided missiles.

In the Royal Air Force Britain will give high priority to developing nuclear weapons for delivery by manned bombers and long and medium range rockets. In view of likely progress of guided rocket and missile defense, the development of a supersonic manned bomber has been stopped because it would take about 10 years to produce.

A ground-to-air missile defense system is being rushed and will replace the manned warplanes of fighter command.

Prof. Gee Dies From Paralysis

Prof. Edward A. Gee, head of the accounting department, died March 22 from respiratory paralysis. He had been granted a leave of absence by the State Board of Agriculture.

Funeral services were held Monday, March 25, at the Estes Leadley Colonial Chapel. Burial took place at Evergreen Cemetery.

Clark Brady, chairman of the State Board of Agriculture (left), shakes hands with Harold Otman, vice president of the Michigan Dairy Memorial and Scholarship Foundation, Inc., after the Memorial dedication Thursday.

'Wisdom Conquers War'

This was disclosed Thursday in the House of Representatives by Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies.

"It may be thought that it is unfortunate we should adopt a re-equipment plan which appears to produce some divergence from the United Kingdom," he said. "But it is clear that having regard to the ANZUS and SEATO pacts and our geographical situation, Australia's participation in any future war must be in close association with the United States' forces."

ANZUS links Australia, New Zealand and the United States. SEATO is the larger Southeast Asia treaty organization in which Britain is also a member.

"We are standardizing on aircraft types which will enable the Royal Australian Air Force to co-operate with the American Air Forces with common lines of supply," Menzies declared.

He said the Air Force was planning to rearm with fighters of performance equivalent to the Lockheed XF104, which is already accepted by the U. S. Air Force, and with C130 transports, which are in operational service with the U. S. Air Force.

Night School Courses Open

Seven non-credit, informal courses will begin the week of April 8 at the MSU Evening College.

These courses will cover a wide range of subjects, from jewelry making to accounting to house construction. The non-credit, practical courses are all offered in response to requests from the local community.

Interested residents may enroll in Room 6 of Kellogg Center during the day. Information about the courses may be obtained by phoning ED 2-1511, Ext. 216.

Two courses will be taught on Monday nights. "Drawing and Design" will meet with Ralph Henriksen from 7 to 10 and "Flower Arrangement" will be taught by Mrs. Osa Barton from 7 to 9.

Meeting on Tuesday nights will be two other courses, "Jewelry and Metalcraft" with Mrs. Margaret Yuill, from 7 to 10, and "Investments and Securities" with Dr. Adolph Grunewald, from 7 to 9.

Two more classes are slated for Wednesday nights. "Ceramics" will be directed by Louis Raynor and "Home Building and Construction" with John Overhouse and Richard Sligh, both classes from 7 to 10.

Columbian Film Set for Saturday

Nicol Smith, well-known photographer-adventurer, will present the color film, "Columbia," in the Aud at 8 p.m. Saturday.

"Columbia" is the story of the fourth largest republic in South America which produces the world's emeralds, boasts the largest salt mine and has the most successful gold dredging operation in existence.

Smith, in addition to producing films of interesting areas the world over, is the author of several books. Included in these is his recent "Golden Doorway to Tibet." During the war he served as a secret agent for the OSS in France and Thailand.

Nasser Ignores Note Proposing Changes

Dag Says UN Talks Successful

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (P)—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld reported Thursday he got full cooperation in Cairo from President Nasser and made satisfactory arrangements there for the UN Emergency Force.

The UN chief told reporters he would be "unhappy to see the breaking up of the UNEF arrangement" until a fundamental change in the Middle East situation removes the need for the 10-nation, 6,000-man force. It now is posted in the Gaza Strip and on the Egyptian shore of the Akaba Gulf.

Hammarskjöld spoke in reply to questions at his first news conference since returning a week ago from a nine-day mission to Cairo. He said he did not skip a single Middle Eastern question in his talks there. He declared himself ready to go to Jerusalem or back to Cairo whenever that would be useful.

The Secretary General said he did not think it would be a good idea to call the Security Council in on the issue of how to operate the Suez Canal until possibilities of current Washington-Cairo negotiations have been exhausted.

In answer to a question on President Eisenhower's news conference statement that he expected Egypt would not bar the ships of any nation from the Canal, Hammarskjöld said: "I think it is a wise assumption."

Hammarskjöld denied Egypt has asked for a loan from the UN or the World Bank for canal equipment.

He said he had no reply from Egypt to Israel's question whether Egypt considered itself still at war with Israel. He also reported he had no replies from either Egypt or Israel whether they were willing to reaffirm, as a "non-aggression pact," a provision of their 1949 armistice agreement against wartime acts.

Asked to define UNEF's precise role, he said that in the Gaza Strip it was to "safeguard peace between the two countries which recently have been in open conflict." He said that at Sharm El Sheikh, commanding access to the Akaba Gulf through the Straits of Tiran, it was laid down in his Jan. 24 report to the UN General Assembly.

That report spoke of UNEF "assisting in maintaining quiet" pending decision whether Egypt has the right to resume her blockade of Israeli shipping through the Gulf.

He refused to go into detail on any agreement reached with Egypt.

But he said he and Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. Burns, UNEF commander, got full co-operation on proposals they made in their Cairo talks.

Ken Bent and his trick horse await the annual fancy riding horse exhibition beginning Friday evening, presented by Block and Bridle at 8 in the Livestock Pavilion. Saturday's program includes a matinee at 2 and an evening performance to begin at 8. Tickets can be obtained at the Union, Anthony Hall, the Meats Laboratory or from members of Block and Bridle for $1.

WIC Helps Dorm Officers

Training Workshop Scheduled for Coeds

A training workshop for new officers of women's dorms will be sponsored Saturday by "Women's" Inter-Residence Council.

Past dorm officers have also been asked to attend the workshop to pass along their suggestions and experiences to their successors.

These sessions were initiated a few years past. Often there are many difficulties encountered by people in their new offices and the training program has proved successful in mitigating a good many of the problems, a WIC member said.

An annual affair, the workshop opens at 9:30 a.m. in the Music Auditorium with registration and a general convocation.

Dorm food services will be discussed by Miss Helen Widick, manager of Mason and Abbott Halls, at the general meeting.

The coeds plan to split into groups according to their respective offices following and go to various dorms for lunch.

Resource persons from the administration will give their advice to the officer groups when they meet in the dorm recreation rooms during the afternoon session.

Resource persons will include: Harry Gruber of the Counseling Center; Charlene Schaeff, Ann Arbor junior, former president of Inter-Dorm Council; Mrs. Helen Green, business administration department; Loren Wight and Pat Bartlett, office of Controller and Treasurer; Dr. Frances DeLisle, director of the women's division; Miss Mabel Petersen and Dr. Laurena Deade, assistant directors of the women's division.

Frank Skinner, editor, University News Bureau of Information Services; Hans Grigo, Robert Ward, Jack Hodge and Norman Street, Department of Public Safety; Miss Jane Rider, assistant phys. ed. prof. and Jan Cooper, Saranac junior, Student Government elections commissioner.

Inter-Dorm Council President Linda Mollie, Allegan sophomore, is chairman of the workshop.

18,010 Register For Spring Term

Registration for spring term totaled 18,010 students at the close of registration, Wednesday night, according to Thomas Hamilton, vice president in charge of academic affairs.

An additional 900 to 1,000 students are expected in extension courses given off campus. This marks the highest enrollment ever for a spring term. It is an eight per cent increase over last year.

Ike's Talk Defends School Aid Plan

WASHINGTON (P)—President Eisenhower, plugging anew for his classroom construction program, said Thursday the nation's schools are more important than 'Nike' anti-aircraft batteries "and more powerful even than the energy of the atom."

In an address prepared for delivery at the centennial dinner of the National Education Association, Eisenhower asserted: "The hope of the world is that wisdom can arrest conflict between brothers. I believe that war is the deadly harvest of arrogant and unreasoning minds."

"The President, whose talk was carried nationwide on radio said further that the strength of America's arms "is always related to the strength of our minds." Then he added: "Our schools are strong points in our national defense. Our schools are more important than our 'NIKE' batteries, more necessary than our radar warning nets, and more powerful even than the energy of the atom."

"This is true, if for no other reason than that modern weapons must be manned by highly educated personnel if they are to be effective, and the energy of the atom can only be understood and developed by the most highly trained minds in the country."

Eisenhower's fresh appeal for Congressional approval of the Administration's four-year, $1,200,000,000 school aid program came just a few hours after the first action in Congress this year on a program in that field.

A House education subcommittee Thursday approved a five-year, two-billion-dollar program of federal grants to the states to help build classrooms.

The bill amounted to a compromise between the administration plan and a proposal by Democrats calling for a six-year, $5,600,000,000 program of aid.

Michigan would receive $15,867,000 under the bill.

The amount, based on the 1953-54 school year, would average $10.99 per school age child in the state.

Seeking Security or Lacking Drive?

Modern Youth--Just What's Missing?

Do the youth of today lack the drive and initiative needed to come up with new ideas used to advance civilization? Or are they falling into a rut created by present day society—looking for security first or fearing to take a chance or go out on a limb thus failing to be real seekers for new knowledge?

Critics of today's youth have from time to time forwarded opinions like these? But what do the youth think about these charges?

In a national cross section of college students the Associated Collegiate Press asked the following question to get the collegiate plant on this issue.

Some prominent businessmen have stated that modern day young men and women are too concerned with problems of future security and thus lack imagination and initiative. Do you agree with this or are you undecided?

Results of the opinionaire showed that coeds tended to disagree a bit more than their male contemporaries. And the majority of men and women both disagreed. Only about one quarter agreed.

Among those agreeing with the opinion of these businessmen the most commonly expressed thought is that people today are forced to conform to the mold behavior and don't have the chance they once had to express themselves.

Some typical comments were: "Americans of all ages seem to conform too much to accepted patterns, and desiring security is just a part of the fear not to conform," a Wake Forest College sophomore said.

Another lowerclassman at Syracuse University had this to say: "In a way it's true. For instance, conformity on campus has ruined much initiative, everything we do today has to be approved in advance."

"Some men are always afraid to take chances," a University of Denver freshman said. And from the University of Maryland came, "The almighty dollar is king."

Other college people believed that this generation's younger set are marrying at an earlier age and have to look for security. Still others felt that too many persons are concerned only with money instead of with helping mankind.

Others who were in disagreement thought that concern for future security arouses an interest in preparing for it. And some felt that modern youth is no different than that of the last generation.

MSU Team To Debate British

The British will tangle with the United States Monday at 8:15 in the Union Ballroom when two British debaters will face two MSU students in a humorous style debate. The debate is open to the public and no admission will be charged.

The topic for the debate will be "Resolved that Uncle Sam is the Mother-in-Law of the World."

We Need Help

The State News needs coeds to type and file. If you are interested call or see Mary Kay MacKenzie at the State News office any day from 3-5 p.m.

The British will defend the affirmative, with MSU taking the negative side.

Representing Michigan State will be Barney Burke, Cincinnati, Ohio, junior majoring in social science and Lewis Harper, Lansing junior majoring in agriculture.

Representing the British will be Gareth Morgan and Meirion Davies. Morgan is 23 and is in his final year at the University of Bristol where he is working for his degree in history. Davies is 24 and is doing postgraduate work at the University College of North Wales.

The two British debaters were selected to make the trip to the United States from candidates representing nine British Colleges.

U. S. Tries Suez Issue Revisions

Time Terminates For Negotiations

WASHINGTON (P)—The United States was reported Thursday to be making last minute efforts to win some revision of Egypt's plan for operating the Suez Canal despite initial rejection of the main American proposals by the Egyptian government.

The Suez issue was one of the questions discussed in a 43-minute conference Thursday between President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles.

Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser, according to information from diplomatic officials here, turned down three major changes which Dulles had asked in a note sent to Cairo last Sunday. Those changes were designed to protect the interests of user nations in the operation of the Canal to the greatest extent possible under the plan proposed by Egypt a week ago.

The Egyptian reply was received here Tuesday night. Dulles had said at a news conference Tuesday morning that he expected to know within 24 to 48 hours whether there was any chance for serious negotiation with Egypt on the Suez issue.

The 48-hour period expired Thursday and the word from diplomats here was that the Egyptian response really offered no solid basis for hope that serious negotiations were possible. Every indication was that Nasser was standing firm on his own terms for operating the waterway under complete Egyptian control.

However, there were also several signs that Dulles, who is personally directing the exchanges with the Egyptian government through Ambassador Raymond A. Hare in Cairo, has not yet given up all hope of getting some modification of the Egyptian position.

State Department press officer Lincoln White, for example, told reporters that the Suez question "is just where it was yesterday" and that the Egyptian reply of Tuesday night "was not considered as Egypt's final word."

Authorities saw possible significance in the fact that Nasser had not made public his Canal plan early Thursday morning, Washington time, as they had expected he would do.

Also it was understood here that Hare was in close touch with Egyptian officials on instruction from the State Department to stress the seriousness with which the United States regards this whole issue.

Christian Groups Plan Installation of Officers

The University YMCA and YWCA are to hold weekend meetings.

YWCA will have the installation of new officers Saturday at the Y house with spudnuts and coffee being served.

YMCA officers will be installed Sunday morning at 9, followed by attendance of religious services at the Edge-wood Peoples Church.

Other Leaders Awakening

Labor Unions on Trial After Beck Investigation

Without going into the pros and cons of the constitutionality or justice of congressional investigations, it seems pertinent to comment on the effects of the present Senate investigation into the affairs of one Dave Beck, president of the Teamsters Union.

Mr. Beck, it appears, is being accused of mismanaging union funds to the tune of more than $200,000 over a period of a few years. According to the Senate investigating committee, information exists that Mr. Beck mismanaged the money to his own benefit.

Mr. Beck has effectively guaranteed his constitutional rights via the "old faithful" fifth amendment. However, the rights of a few other are involved and at present they are on pretty shaky ground.

The investigation is still in process and the final record may or not be conclusive. It has not been proven that Mr. Beck is a crook and it may never be proven officially. There is little doubt however that the majority of American citizens have come to their own conclusions and the verdict would most likely be guilty.

This is a poor form of justice but remains the inevitable result of trial by the mass media which is exactly what congressional investigations insure.

By refusing to cooperate with the senate investigators, Beck has succeeded in poten-

Beck's Side

Dave Beck has been complaining that his side of the story remains ignored by newspapers, radio, television and all other media, but was quoted as saying that he will raise $1,000,000 to tell.

It seems that everyone immediately asked whose $1,000,000 Mr. Beck was talking about. A partial answer came last week following Beck's statement by John English, Teamster treasurer, who said he wasn't consulted about it, but, at any rate, "would oppose any use of the union's funds for that purpose."

Beck can probably raise the money by himself, plus the fact that he has many loyal and wealthy friends who would gladly contribute to the cause.

But why bother to raise the money? We sympathize wholeheartedly with Beck. So do other newspapers. There is no question that all newspapers have ignored Beck's side of the story—but only because he himself has ignored telling it, even to multiple use of the Fifth Amendment.

Keep it within space limitations, Dave Beck, remember the laws of libel and good taste which all newspapers must follow too. Remember this and you'll get your side told—if you have a side to tell.

tially violating the rights of every union member and organization. The smear he has brought will leave a black mark on the whole arena of organized labor.

One bright spot in this sordid picture of graft and corruption is the great awakening among other powerful union leaders it has precipitated.

Honest union leaders, who are in the majority, have long been aware of the need for more effective safeguards on union management. Actually most large unions are already operating under such safeguards. Independent auditing of union funds, democratic elections, annual fiscal and progress reports are standard practices in most of the powerful labor organizations.

Wherever the bad seed lies it is time someone dug it out and got rid of it. The labor union is a vital institution in the functioning of American democracy. It provides the proper balance of power in our economic sphere and has been instrumental in preserving America's special brand of capitalism, which despite its critics, is not entirely undesirable.

Millions of American men and women have a very practical interest in union activities; their daily lives are affected by the slightest action on one or another labor organization. Such organizations cannot remain without some control, any more than huge industrial concerns can operate unrestricted.

The question of control has already undergone violent considerations. The Taft-Hartley Law, a measure of slight government control, won and lost elections. Any new measures along these lines however would probably meet with less resistance from the labor camp. Responsible labor leaders are ready to accept new laws regulating their unions' activities, if for no other motive than self-protection.

Still there are many leaders, such as Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers and vice president of the AFL-CIO, who would rather see labor clean its own house. Reuther has continually advocated the voluntary acceptance of responsibility of moral leadership by the labor movement as a deterrent to government intervention. But even Reuther admits that some government intervention is necessary although on a minimum scale.

The unions will be under close scrutiny for the next few weeks until the clamor of the Beck investigation subsides. By that time something else will have caught the public's fancy and the pressure on labor will cease. Unless the government steps the unions will once again be on their own. But regardless of the pressure or lack of pressure the unions still hold tremendous responsibility and must never forget that.

On the Side

Something New

By LARRY GUSTIN
State News Editorial Page Editor

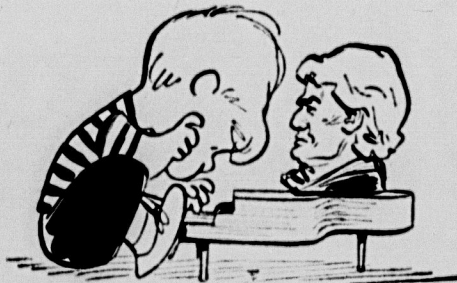

By now, after seeing the promotional cartoons scattered throughout Thursday's and today's State News, you probably know that a new feature is coming to the editorial page—starting Monday.

Charles Schulz' 'Peanuts,' one of the funniest, freshest comic strips we've seen will appear daily after making its debut Monday.

To those uninitiated in 'Peanuts' characters and their folkways, a few words of introduction are in order.

The main character is a little fellow named Charlie Brown, who is almost always referred to with his name in full, seldom as just plain 'Charlie.' Charlie Brown is the frustrated hero of the neighborhood who finds that almost anything he does meets with verbal disapproval from Lucy, the strip's glib heroine.

Besides Lucy and her sidekick, Violet, Charlie Brown must be especially wary of Snoopy, the dog who likes to imagine that he is a python, or perhaps a tiger in the African jungles. At other times, however, Snoopy, who thinks in English, is deeply moved by Charlie Brown's recitation of poetry.

SCHROEDER

There are other little people who often overshadow Charlie Brown, Snoopy and Lucy. For instance, take Schroeder, the child musical genius who has a bust of Beethoven, his idol, mounted on his toy piano.

Pig-Pen, the oddest looking of the 'Peanuts' gallery gets his name from the fact that he can become covered with a thick coat of toilet just by walking down the street. In one installment Pig-Pen got lost in the outfield during a baseball game because he blended in with the landscape.

One of the younger characters, Linus, is normally found sucking his thumb and holding his precious blanket with which he feels insecure.

There are others like Shmoo and Patty who make brief appearances now and then, sometimes figuring significantly in the scheme of things.

We think you'll enjoy meeting Charlie Brown and his friends and following their adventures, beginning next week.

Foreign Reporter Deserves Award

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

A newspaper generation which has covered two or three wars acclaims few of its members as heroes. There are too many of them.

On rare occasions, one emerges. He receives the plaudits of his fellows, than which nothing is more warming to the professional.

Such a one is Andre Marton, Associated Press correspondent in Budapest for 10 years and now a refugee from a Communist prison. He is seeking American citizenship, and American freedom for his two children just as he sought and failed to get it in Hungary.

Marton and his wife, though Hungarians, conducted themselves in the best American newspaper tradition, as diggers for truth, and were jailed for it. They were released during Russia's brief adherence to "democratization," and were able to tell the world of last fall's revolt against Red tyranny.

Marton stayed through the few days of revolutionary success, and then watched the return of the terror. He reported it, and finally left when he could see his usefulness about to end in another cell.

Marton was no crusader. Just a newspaperman, sticking to his job in the tradition of his fellows, armed with the belief that the truth shall make men free.

Latest Attack on Deadly Foe

New Type of Radar Apparatus To Hasten Tornado Detection

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Weather Bureau is planning a variation of the "radar speed cop" technique in a new attempt to detect tornadoes before their deadly funnels can be seen by the human eye.

The plan is to try to apply to the sleuthing of tornadoes—the most violent of all storms—the same kind of unique radar set that cops use to detect a speeding motorist on the highway. It's called a "Doppler Effect" radar.

Bureau tornado hunters plan to have the radar ready by June. That's normally the beginning of the maximum tornado season for the Central Plains area, one of the most tornado-prone sections of the whole country, although twisters have occurred in every state in the nation, and no particular month is immune.

Scientists at Cornell University are modifying the radar for the Bureau in this newest electronic attack on the tornadoic storms that annually kill an average of 200 Americans (794 in the record death year of 1925) and cause property damage in the high millions.

Whereas conventional-type radar used by weather forecasters track storms by means of electronic echoes from raindrops in a cloud, the Doppler would be used to get echoes from high-speed circular air blasts within or extending sideways from thunderclouds.

That is, it would be a kind of remote-control speedometer for a whirlwind.

Bureau scientists believe the speedier these air blasts are, the more severe the thunderstorm—and if there were some way of clocking them by electronic means, it might be possible to say immediately whether an oncoming storm was: 1. a rain storm; 2. a hail storm; or 3. a potential tornado.

Conventional rain-echo radar has provided some assistance to tornado hunters—especially in detecting storms that might brew—but Bureau men say it is less than perfect as a sure-fire means of identifying tornadoes. Occasionally, an air-blast pattern from a thunderhead will emerge as a hook-shaped affair which, because it is laden with moisture, can be seen on a regular radar scope. These hooks have often been characteristic of tornadoes.

It is this funnel-shaped affair which, with its roaring winds, causes the tornadoes terrific havoc. Horizontal winds in the column have been estimated as high as 500 miles an hour; the upsurging vertical winds have never been measured.

Such a one is Andre Marton, Associated Press correspondent in Budapest for 10 years and now a refugee from a Communist prison. He is seeking American citizenship, and American freedom for his two children just as he sought and failed to get it in Hungary.

Marton and his wife, though Hungarians, conducted themselves in the best American newspaper tradition, as diggers for truth, and were jailed for it. They were released during Russia's brief adherence to "democratization," and were able to tell the world of last fall's revolt against Red tyranny.

Marton stayed through the few days of revolutionary success, and then watched the return of the terror. He reported it, and finally left when he could see his usefulness about to end in another cell.

Marton was no crusader. Just a newspaperman, sticking to his job in the tradition of his fellows, armed with the belief that the truth shall make men free.

He arrived in New York just in time to receive the George Polk Memorial Award of Long</

Gen. Le May Promoted To Higher Military Post

OMAHA (AP)—Deeply tanned and appearing relaxed after his African vacation, Gen. Curtis E. Le May said Thursday he leaves his job as chief of the Strategic Air Command with mixed emotions.

Obviously pleased with his advancement to Vice-Chief of Staff of the Air Force announced in Washington Thursday, Gen. Le May said, however, that "I don't think any of us like assignments in Washington after enjoying duty in the field."

But he said it's a job that has to be done and he is "very happy" with the advancement.

"I accept the new responsibilities with no little humility and with full cognizance of the tremendous challenges that face the Air Force today," he said.

"My confidence comes from the fact that our people are big enough to face these challenges, solve the big problems and keep our country first in the air on a continuing basis."

He said he was "extremely pleased" with the progress of SAC. "I believe we have a hived about all the combat potential of which we are capable with the resources available to us," he said.

Gen. Le May pointed out that his eight-year assignment as head of SAC is rather unusual in the Air Force and this continuity undoubtedly has been advantageous in bringing SAC to its present state of efficiency.

He said he did not know of any specific projects to which he might be assigned in Washington, but in answer to a question he said if he had to choose the thing that is most needed it would be "to do something about the retainability" of Air Force personnel.

Le May has long considered the low re-enlistment rates the biggest handicap faced in keeping the nation's big bombers at the combat-ready status which has been the watchword of his command. Less than 50 per cent of SAC bombers are now manned and maintained by what the command considers fully trained professionals.

Legislators Want Raise

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A 50 per cent increase in the salaries and expenses of Michigan's state legislators was proposed Thursday in a bill introduced into the legislature.

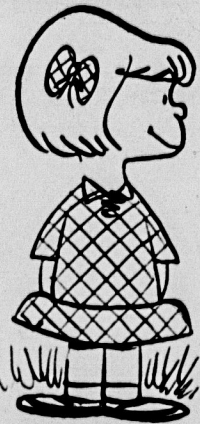

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Frank D. Williams (D-Detroit), would boost the yearly pay of 110 representatives and 34 Senators from $4,000 to $6,000. Expense payments would go up from $1,000 to $1,500.

The measure also would affect the Lieutenant Governor, who serves as President of the Senate. He also collects $3,500 as a member of the governor's administrative board.

Altogether, the increases would add up to some $360,000 a year, starting in 1959 when they would take effect.

Three other bills proposing pay boosts for state officials also came into the house in a deluge of 45 bills, the most introduced in a single day since the session began in January.

3 Students Print Weekly

Three MSU journalism students acted as the staff of the Hartford Day Spring newspaper during vacation.

Hal Bateman, Goshen, N.J., senior; Denise Scanlon, Dearborn junior; and Nihil Moore, Pattle Creek senior, took over the duties of Jack Sinclair, owner and editor of the Day Spring.

Bateman, former managing editor of the State News, acted as editor of the weekly publication. Miss Scanlon was his assistant.

Moore took over the advertising department. Sinclair is a former State News editor. His wife, Helen, is also a graduate of MSU.

Library Head Explains Ban on 'Wizard of Oz'

Reason for a long-standing ban on the "Oz" children's books by the Detroit Public Library were explained by the library director at a statewide library conference at Michigan State University.

Ralph Ulvering, director of the Detroit Library System which stocks more than one million books but not the "Wizard of Oz" stories, said the fairy tale authored by Frank Baum gives you the wrong approach to life.

He criticized the books for their "negativism" and said that instead of setting a high goal they drag young minds down to a cowardly level.

"There is nothing uplifting or elevating about the Baum series," Ulvering declared. "They do not compare in quality to fairy stories by Grimm and Anderson or to the thousands of other modern children's books we stock."

"The 'Wizard of Oz' stories, written a half century ago, have no value," he declared.

The library director said the library receives sporadic protests against the ban but "we stick to our guns."

He said complaints were the greatest when the "Wizard of Oz" movie was popular. "The kids didn't complain, though, it

JOHN D. EVANS, University of Pennsylvania, 1952

"I began working on a training program for General Electric in the summer of '52. Right now, I'm 'Employee and Plant Community Relations Manager' of my company's new plant in Burlington, Iowa. One of the advantages I found in working for a big company such as General Electric is that, because of its size, it is able to give me, and other college-graduate employees like me, a wide variety of training and experience in any one of 159 plants all over the country. Through an extensive on-the-job training program, it is providing me with the opportunity to become one of the top men in my field, and I know that as long as I apply myself to each job, I'll keep moving up. The way I look at it, General Electric is helping me help myself. That's why I say I'm working for a big company, but a big company works for me, too."

size. 27-year-old John Evans is just one example of the thousands of college graduates at General Electric, each being given the opportunity for self-development so that he may grow and realize his full potential. As our nation's economy continues to expand in the years ahead, thousands of young people of leadership caliber will be needed to fill new positions of responsibility in American industry. General Electric feels that by assisting young people like John Evans in a planned program of personal growth, we have found one way of meeting this need.

A Manager of Employee and Plant Community Relations at General Electric holds a responsible position; he handles employee benefits, health and safety, training, wage and salary administration, and community relations.

Chisox Beats Boston, 6-5

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—Bobby Phillips' leadoff triple and Ed Hatter's sacrifice fly in the 11th gave the Chicago White Sox a 6-5 triumph over the Boston Red Sox in an eight-inning exhibition game Thursday.

It was Phillips' third hit in a contest marked by seven miscues. The game's first five runs were unearned.

The winning pitcher was veteran Ellis Kinder, who allowed three hits in the final three innings and checked Boston with the bases loaded and none out in a seventh-inning out.

Kinder was preceded by Jim Wilson and Bob Keenan.

2 Nominated to Drive In 500-Mile Event

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Jimmy Hartley, who survived a three-month crash late in the 1956 Memorial Day Race, and Gene Hartley, who finished 11th, were nominated Thursday to drive in the 4th annual 500-mile event May 30. Both live in Indianapolis.

Deceased, 1876-1953 in his first start and ninth in 1955, was named to drive a car entered by H. H. Johnson of China Village, Calif.

Hartley will pilot the car owned by Joe Mosoglia Jr., Santa Monica, Calif., which was driven to ninth place last year by Jimmy Bouse of Oklahoma City. Hartley had started in five previous 500.

Fullmer, Robbie Sign Contract

CHICAGO (AP)—Middleweight Champion Gene Fullmer, and challenger Sugar Ray Robinson Thursday formally signed for their May 1 title rematch at the Chicago Stadium in which Fullmer may collect four times as much money as when he defeated Robinson at New York Jan. 2.

Anthony Decides Not to Slug It Out In Spieser Bout

DETROIT (AP)—On the eve of his most important fight, Tony Anthony says he has decided not to slug it out with freestyleing Chuck Spieser in their scheduled 12-round nationally televised bout tonight.

The 22-year-old New Yorker himself has chances for a shot at Archie Moore's light heavyweight crown are much greater if he fights his own kind of fight.

That says Anthony means that he'll be on the move most of the evening or for as long as the battle lasts.

Spieser, a Detroit, is a heavy favorite in this 12-rounder (10 p.m., EST, NBC-TV) that will decide Moore's opponent in a June 7 title match in Detroit.

A rugged plowder who sometimes takes two punches to land one, Spieser has won 26 of 24 bouts, 14 by knockout. His longest fight, 14, has come because he cuts easily.

The signing, held at the Tam "G" Shantler Country Club where Fullmer will train, called for each fighter to collect 30 per cent of an estimated $200,000 gate and $100,000 television fee.

In the New York fight all Fullmer received was 12 1/2 per cent of the gate with no share of the TV money. Robinson, on the other hand, collected 60 per cent of a $100,000 television fee and 47 1/2 per cent of the $189,000 gate receipts.

Fullmer's financial reward for taking a 15-round decision over Robinson was approximately $21,000, compared with Robinson's purse of $138,000.

The Chicago Stadium fight, to be televised nationally (ABC), with the 150-mile Chicago area blacked out, could give each fighter a share of approximately $80,000.

The 36-year-old Robinson was cagey in answering questions concerning Fullmer's alleged rabbit punching in the Jan. 2 bout.

"We don't do much fighting that time and I never really caught a breath," said Robinson. "I'll say that Fullmer was a rugged fighter when he took the title from me, but I won't say he was dirty."

"I'll have to make some changes in my style this time, but I can't say what they'll be until I fight Fullmer again."

Fullmer said he expected Robinson would fight differently and that the pattern of their May 1 bout may be a switch from their first meeting.

"I think Robinson will try much harder at the start," said the 25-year-old Fullmer, an apprentice welder in a copper mine. "So I can't say whether I'll fight the same style as before and I can't say that I'll try for a knockout which I didn't do in New York."

2 British Distance Runners Look Forward to 3:55 Mile

LONDON (AP)—Two British Olympic runners agreed Thursday to run a mile race that many experts predict will bring the dream clocking of 3:55.

Ken Wood and Derek Ibbotson are the runners poised for that amazing time — three seconds faster than John Landy's outdoor world record and 8.6 seconds faster than the best time indoors made by Denmark's Gunnar Nielsen, made in the United States.

The race will be run at Manchester's indoor stadium April 17. That's the reason for the 3:55 hopes. It's the sort of track that all runners dream about.

The track is set in a natural bowl, heavily banked and runners say it is like running downhill all the way. The track just pushes them along.

A month ago Wood clocked 3:74 in a "blunder" mile. An after-the-race check showed that the distance was 112 yards short of the required 1,760 yards.

But the clocking, nevertheless, was an almost unbelievable one. Wood raced about eight yards more than 1,500 meters. And the world outdoor record for 1,500 meters is 3:40.6.

If Wood had completed the mile at the same speed then he would have hit 3:55 or thereabouts.

Clemens Cops 2nd in 440, Relay Team Ties Wolves

By LARRY WROBLEWSKI
State News Night Editor

Receiving no national ranking in 1956, Coach Chuck McCaffrees' tankers, this year's Big 10 champions, vaulted into third place with 52 points in the NCAA meet at Chapel Hill, N. C., March 28-30.

CAPT. JIM CLEMENS bows out in glory ...

Michigan won the diadem by compiling 69 points to Yale's 61, snapping the eight-year championship reign of Ohio State and the Elis.

The Spartans were unable to cop an individual first place, but the undefeated foursome of Don Nichols, Paul Reinke, Rog Harmon and Frank Parrish were tied for the top spot by the Wolves in the 400-yard medley relay with a clocking of 3:50.

Capt. Jim Clemens, a top-notch freestyler, captured the second slot behind Indiana's Bill Woolsey, last year's winner, in the 400-yard freestyle grudge newly crowned 1500-meter champ.

Cards Rally In 7th Inning, Defeat Tigers

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals took advantage of Pete Wojcik's seventh inning wildness to score two runs and went on to defeat the Detroit Tigers 5-4 Thursday in an exhibition baseball game.

In the hectic seventh game, Detroit's second pitcher, twice threw the ball away on attempted pickoff plays and forced in one run by walking Bobby Del Greco with the bases loaded.

A Detroit rally against Host Wilhelm in the eighth fell a run short when the Tigers could score only once after loading the bases.

St. Louis, beaten 8-5 by the Tigers in 10 innings Wednesday, scored one run in the first off Jack Crumman on three singles and two runs in the third, also off Crumman, on four more singles.

The Cardinals' freestyle specialist, Woolsey retained his 220- and 440-yard titles by turning in times of 2:04.2 and 4:38.2 respectively.

Expect Approval of Directors Contract Signed to Transfer Royals of NBA to Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP)—Contracts were signed formally here Thursday to bring about transfer of the Rochester Royals of the National Basketball Association to Cincinnati.

The only thing needed now is the anticipated routine approval of league directors.

Les Harrison, President of the Royals, who came here to sign a contract with Tom Grace for use of the Cincinnati Garden, was accompanied by Jack Harrison, Secretary-Treasurer of the club, and Coach Bobby Wanzer. Grace is head of the Garden.

Les Harrison had announced in Rochester Wednesday that the club would be moved here for "economic reasons."

Wanzer told newsmen the Royals' team averages only 22 1/2-23 years of age and "should be together for a long time."

"For next year, that full season of experience for our young club is going to make a whole of a difference," he said. "Our big problem (during the past season) was that we lacked a real smoothie in the back court but we still led the division for six weeks."

Wanzer said the Royals No. 1 choice in the NBA draft meeting at St. Louis April 17-18 would be Charlie Tyra, University of Louisville star.

Les Harrison also said he had talked with Tyra several times and that "he's interested in pro-basketball."

Boston, Montreal Win To Advance to Finals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Boston Bruins downed the Detroit Red Wings, 4-3, and the Montreal Canadiens nipped the New York Rangers by the same score in overtime Thursday night to advance to the Stanley Cup hockey finals.

The red hot Bruins twice struck from behind, scoring three goals in the final period and defeated the champion Wings, 4-3, to gain a spot in the finals for only the second time in the last decade.

The Boston club overcame shockers that might have wilted less spirited teams, battling back after the Red Wings broke to a 1-0 lead and then coming on strong for the back breakers after the Wings again claimed the lead in the first minute of the final period.

Defenseman Doug Mohns scored the goal that put the Bruins—third place team in the NHL—ahead for keeps. It came at 10:21 of the third period. Five minutes later, old timer Cal Gardner, who scored the winning goal in a 4-3 Boston victory a few nights ago, blasted home the goal that turned out to be the one that counted most.

Metro Prystai pulled the Wings to within one goal with two minutes to play although Detroit used an extra attacker in place of goalie Glenn Hall—leaving the nets undefended—the NHL champions could not overcome the torrid Bruin forechecking.

Rookie Bud Boone, playing in his first Stanley Cup Series, scored Boston's first goal in the second period.

That was similar to the Wing's opening goal scored by Alex Delvecchio. His 20-foot blast was right at Bruin goalie Don Simmons, who caught the puck but dropped it in the nets.

Ted Lindsay shoved the Red Wings back into command in the first 36 seconds of the final period.

Six minutes later Leo Labine,

a surprising third period New York rally, advanced to the finals as old pro Maurice Richard scored in the extra session to give the Canadiens a 4-3 victory.

The Rangers, who had made the playoffs on the strength of filling the fourth and final berth in the regular season standings, pulled the crowd of 14,201 to its feet with a strutting three-goal comeback in the final regulation period.

Montreal had struck with almost unbelievably speed and ease, jamming three goals—two by Beliveau—into 3 minutes of the second period.

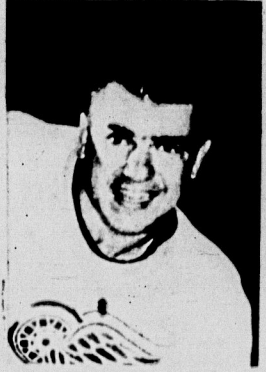

It looked to be all over with the Canadiens steamrolling to the opening game of the final series here with Boston Saturday. But then the Rangers awoke.

Parker Macdonald, a virtual unknown, got New York rolling with a 25-foot backhander off a pass from Red Sullivan that made it 3-1 at 5:28 of the third period.

Then Sullivan, hustling back from a penalty, converted Macdonald's goal-mouth pass at 12:21 and Harry Howell net it with a 25-footer from the side at 14:07.

That's the way the regulation game ended, sending the Canadiens, furious at having blown their lead, and the Rangers, aroused and perky, into their second "sudden-death" overtime of the series. The Rangers had won the second game of the series at New York in an extra session, also by a 4-3 score.

The New York goalie turned back 32 shots, while Jacques Plante handled 18 saves.

the fiery Bruin rightwinger beat Hall at the goal mouth for the tying score.

The Bruins were in command the rest of the way, jumping into a 4-2 lead on the goals by Mohns and Gardner.

ST PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Gai McDougald starred Thursday when the New York Yankees blanked the Philadelphia Phillies, 1-0. The shortstop made a great, lunging catch of a liner to save the game in the top of the ninth and then drove in the winning run with a sacrifice fly after Woody Held opened the bottom's final at bat with a triple.

The Yankees made just two hits. Robin Roberts held them to one, a bunt single by Hank Bauer, in eight innings. Rookie righthander Dick Farrell was on the hill in the fifth when the Yankees won with one out.

Whitey Ford, likely opening day pitcher for New York, twirled five-hit ball over seven innings and little Bobby Shantz finished up.

The shutout was the Yankees' sixth of the spring and set their exhibition record at 13-12. The Phils have won 14 and lost 11.

Rollins College Hands Kobsmen 9-3 Trouncing

Six runs in the bottom half of the sixth inning gave Rollins College a 9-3 win over Michigan State baseballers Thursday at Orlando, Florida. The loss was the fourth against five wins and a tie in the spring training trip for the squad.

The game was tied, three-all, before Rollins opened up with its six run barrage against starting pitcher Tom McCormick. Bill Mansfield relieved him in the last half of the sixth.

For Rollins, Harry Bennett went the distance to get the victory, and Boyd Kofke did the catching.

State collected its three runs on a total of six hits, and the Spartans committed nine errors.

For Rollins, the line score read nine runs on 13 hits, no errors.

Michigan State's assistant wrestling coach Gale Mikles won the NCAA 155-pound wrestling title in 1947.

Lancour Scores Upset In NCAA Tournament

POCAHONTO, Miss. (AP)—Harry Lancour of Michigan State upset the National Collegiate Boxing Tournament Thursday afternoon by upsetting the Pacific Coast 125-pound champion, Pete Cameros of San Jose, Calif. State.

Lancour, scoring with hard upper cuts to the body, pounded out a split decision with two judges giving him a one-point edge and the third judge scoring it for Cameros, also by one point.

The bout was the first of six on the afternoon card which opened the 26th annual NCAA Boxing Championships. Ten more fights were on the evening program.

The semifinal round will be fought tonight and the 10 championship bouts are set for Saturday night.

Bill Haynes, 147-pound Michigan State College fighter, outpointed Al Italian of San Jose in another split decision.

Two of the afternoon fights did not go to the full three rounds.

Weslyn Strout of San Jose State wound up a right hand in a softball pitchers motion and dropped Bill Maloney of Washington State in a 139-pound bout.

He's creating America's fourth coastline

THE grades this gentleman is making have to be good because America's largest construction project, the St. Lawrence Seaway, depends on them. When it is finished in 1959, America will have a fourth coastline 8,000 miles long. Ships will sail 2,300 miles into the nation's industrial heart. Milwaukee, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland and Buffalo will be seaports.

To get the job done, 3,000 bulldozers, power shovels, draglines, dredges and trucks must rip 180 million tons of earth and rock from the valley floor. This takes machines with guts. And that's why most of these huge machines use Timken tapered roller bearings. Timken bearings roll the terrific loads, keep wheels and shafts moving day in, day out, in steady, friction-free rhythm.

Keeping these machines rolling smoothly is just one way the Timken Company keeps America on the go. We're working hand-in-hand with all industry to make machines go faster with more precision, fewer breakdowns, minimum maintenance. We're helping to improve the machines that are improving America.

This desire for continued progress made us a leader—the world's largest manufacturer of tapered roller bearings and removable rock bits. And a leading producer of fine alloy steel.

Would you like to get in on the ground floor with a company that's on the go? If you're interested, we'll tell you more in our booklet, "Career Opportunities at the Timken Company". Drop us a card soon. The Timken Roller Bearing Company, Canton 6, Ohio.

Banquet, Conference Planned

Greek Week Aims At Understanding

By JEAN McMANUS
Promoting a better understanding between the independents and fraternity and sorority members on campus is the chief aim of Greek Week to be held from May 19-25 this year.

A full week of activities is scheduled by the Greeks including several events which will be open to all students.

A kick-off banquet is planned for Monday for members of IFC, Phi Kappa Phi and members of the fraternities. Monday the fraternities and sororities will hold their regular meetings. Officers of the different houses will meet Tuesday for a leadership conference. After a general meeting the group will be divided according to office to exchange ideas pertaining to better leadership within their houses.

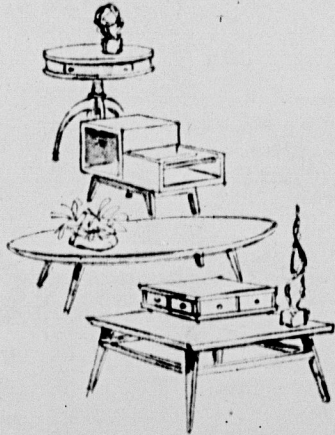

Exchange dinners are arranged for Wednesday night when each house will entertain several members from four or five other houses.

Independents are invited to sing Thursday night and Greek Feast Friday. Weather permitting the dinner will be served outside at one of the fraternity houses. Following the meal there will be entertainment and dancing.

Cowals will be dressed in Greek costumes to compete in the games and races planned for Athens' Hall on Saturday morning.

IAWA (International Associated Women Students) confer with President John A. Hannah at Rody Hall during their convention March 31. There were more than 500 women from 150 universities who attended the convention.

Postmaster Summerfield Asks Congress for Quick Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—Postmaster General Summerfield called Thursday for quick consideration "by the entire Congress" of his plan to slash postal services starting Saturday unless his department gets more money.

Summerfield made public a telegram he sent to Rep. Cannon (D-Mo.), chairman of the house appropriations subcommittee which Wednesday voted to cut 30 million dollars from the post office department's request for 47 million dollars in supplemental funds for the next three months.

The telegram to Cannon, who is also chairman of the full appropriations committee, said:

"We believe the seriousness of these required curtailments warrants consideration by the entire Congress at earliest date as to the advisability of this course. To that end I would appreciate it if you would expedite urgently the action and report of the appropriations committee to the House so that if further funds are voted they will be available before too much damage is done to the service."
