UN Awaits U. S. Report on Suez

Egypt Sticks to Decision To Operate Canal by Itself

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is expected to report to the United Nations before Easter its failure to bridge Egypt's determination to operate the Suez Canal single-handed.

Responsible officials said Tuesday such a report will be laid before the UN Security Council within the next few days.

In the meantime, the United States is reported ready to give American ships an informal "go ahead" to pass through the canal under Egyptian terms—but under protest against Egypt's attitude.

Such voyages would involve acceptance of Egyptian government pilots and would mean paying tolls directly to Egypt. Egyptian leaders, it is recognized, would be certain to hail it as clear evidence they are winning their nine-month old struggle to operate the 103-mile waterway without foreign assistance.

At present American shippers are heeding State Department "advice" that they stay away from the canal even though it has been reopened for vessels up to 20,000 tons.

To make clear it is dissatisfied with Egypt's attitude, the American government plans to maintain a freeze on about 37 million dollars worth of Egyptian assets in this country.

This money, it was said, would be held as a fund to compensate American shippers in the event the old Suez Canal Co. successfully sues American vessels which pay tolls directly to Egypt.

Diplomats connected with the unsuccessful American talks with Egypt said the direction of future negotiations was unclear. It is possible, they said, that future talks would be on an international level with countries joining to present Western views.

If necessary, they said, the American government would be willing to conduct new talks directly with Egypt.

Anti-Reds Hold Tight In Jordan

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Jordan's new government, which is expected to turn this Middle Eastern kingdom aside from its drift toward the Arab pro-Soviet camp, appeared to be in solid control Tuesday.

Tough Bedouin troops and security police, who supported 21-year-old King Hussein when he placed his crown on the line at the height of Jordan's six-day political crisis, maintained strict order.

All was quiet except in Jordan-held Old Jerusalem and Nabulus, where minor demonstrations were reported. A few persons were injured in Jerusalem where some Leftist students staged a parade and were attacked by members of the Moslem Brotherhood.

The new government of Premier Hussein Fakhri Khaldi, which took office yesterday, is expected to carry out a swift cleanup of pro-Communist elements who had infiltrated the government, schools and among during the regime of ex-Premier Suleiman Nabulsi. Which? See ANTI-REDS, Page 3.

Supervised Vote Planned Limited Balloting Set for UMOG

Rules for the Ujpest Man on Campus contest were amended Tuesday at a special meeting of the UMOG committee of Alpha Phi Omega, to limit balloting in the coming election.

Representatives of PanHellenic Council, Women's Interfraternity Council, the State News and APO members voted on the proposal.

From the ballots appearing in the State News April 23-25, students may cast only one vote for their candidate.

Balloting will be done in women's living units, where UMOG dorm chairmen will supervise the elections. APO members will be stationed at voting boxes in the men's dorms and the Union, where all off-campus students will cast their ballots.

This all-college election will determine the 19 semi-finalists who will compete for the Ujpest Man on Campus crown at the dance April 27.

Declares We'd Use It If Provoked

Addresses UN Committee Meet

LONDON (AP)—Soviet Russia got a warning from Harold Stassen on Tuesday against figuring the United States would never, under any circumstance, use its atomic weapons.

In a related development, British Defense Minister Duncan Sandys told the House of Commons: "The protective power of the Free World depends at present almost entirely on the nuclear strength of the United States."

"Nuclear disarmament if itself would be disastrous since it would give decisive superiority to Russia, which will always be able to maintain larger conventional forces," Sandys declared, under Laborite heckling, in a defense debate.

Stassen spoke as U.S. delegate at the 29th meeting of the United Nations Disarmament Subcommittee.

He told Soviet Delegate Valentin Zorin the United States certainly never intends to use nuclear arms in small border incidents. But he cautioned Zorin against the danger of any miscalculation that the United States would not act with nuclear weapons if the situation demanded it.

He cited history's miscalculations—such as Hitler's—which played major parts in starting past wars.

The issue of border incidents arose when the Soviet delegate raised the question of Article 51 of the UN Charter, under which a nation is entitled to defend itself against armed attack.

Stassen had said the United States would be prohibited from use of nuclear weapons inconsistent with the UN Charter.

In reply to Zorin's query, Stassen pointed to the "restraint shown by the United States in the Korean War and in other incidents."

There was further examination of the United States' five-year plan for a halt in nuclear production for weapons. The Russians were reported to be examining the plan very carefully.

In the House of Commons, Sandys insisted Britain must build up her own hydrogen bomb strength to help relieve the United States of its "sole responsibility" for defending the West.

Auto Theft, Fire Trouble Police

A car was stolen from the Kellogg Center parking lot and fire damaged a billboard in Bailey Hall Tuesday morning, according to Campus Police.

Claims AFL-CIO Charges Unsupported Teamsters' Executive Board Sets Conditions for Hearings

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—The Teamsters' top command declared Tuesday that AFL-CIO accusations of corrupt influences were unsupported by specific charges and that it would attend no hearings until "fundamentals of fair adjudication" are assured.

The Executive Board of the 1,300,000-member union said when a hearing under satisfactory conditions is held the entire board will answer the charges, not just President Dave Beck, target of Senate and AFL-CIO investigations.

The Teamsters also said that the National Labor Federation was without authority in suspending Beck as a vice president of the AFL-CIO Executive Council.

Beck was obviously pleased at the outcome of a one-day meeting of the board at this seaside resort city.

"The action of the Executive Board is clear and it is an understandable text," Beck said.

Student Help Needed for Fall Program

MSU's student guide program, which will help an estimated 6,000 new students make the adjustment to college life next fall, will need between 150 and 200 student workers.

The purpose of the program, which was initiated at Michigan State four years ago, is to provide the new student with assistance in finding different buildings on campus, and in learning the registration process.

New students will be required to attend a pre-registration meeting and tour conducted by student guides, during which registration, trial schedules and other typical problems are discussed.

Students who wish to serve as student guides next fall can call Joe Lake, ED 2-8551, for information or talk with their living unit president or resident advisor.

Union Man Testifies In Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mayor James T. Hanlon of Scranton, Pa., was twice quoted by a former Teamster's Union official Tuesday as asking him to "hold off" information linking union officials with violence until after election day.

Paul Bradshaw stuck to his story in the face of the mayor's denial.

Bradshaw, onetime steward of the Scranton Teamsters local, first quoted the mayor in testimony to the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee at a four-hour session.

Hanlon sent the committee a telegram of denial from Scranton.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) who said Hanlon could appear to testify under oath or file a sworn statement of denial, reminded Bradshaw that he was under oath and asked him to tell of the alleged conversation.

He had testified earlier that the recordings would implicate other union officials in the 1954 dynamiting of a home under construction with non-union labor.

Bradshaw has been convicted of felonious use of dynamite. He denied in his testimony that he set off the charge, but said he was present and "agreed to take the rap."

Bradshaw quoted John Durkin, business agent of the Scranton Teamsters local, as telling him once that he had "taken care" of the district attorney.

Bus Company Hikes Fare To Lansing

Starting Sunday, a 20-cent bus fare will go into effect for riders between Lansing and East Lansing.

The Inter-City Coach Line Co. requested the boost from 17 to 20 cents, but it was rejected by the East Lansing City Council for passengers riding from one point to another in this city.

The company had asked that a 20 cent fare be paid in place of the current 15 cent fare within East Lansing.

Lansing Councilman Max E. Murningham, chairman of the committee, said that had the company been operating on a 20 cent fare, it would have made a profit on its operations during the three months it recorded a loss under a 15 cent fare.

The transportation committee said the hike in fare was necessary because of losses incurred during December, January and February.

Vol. 49 No. 10 Wednesday, April 17, 1957 Page Two

We Must Defend Free World World Responsibility Falls on United States

Britain has drastically and realistically decided to chop her armed forces in half. She has made it official that her position as a world power has diminished. She has climbed off the wobbly tower in order to rebuild herself from the ground up.

Most of the gaps Britain is leaving must be filled. As the only nation strong enough to bear the burden, the U. S. will necessarily have to do so.

All this is only further evidence that the United States is THE power in the Western world—the nation with the military might and economic strength to beat off attackers of freedom.

At Britain steps out, the United States must step in. Thirteen thousand British troops will be drawn from Western Europe.

Help Comes

Beginning tomorrow night students will have an opportunity to learn something about first aid in a course taught by accredited instructors in the East Lansing Police Department.

Lack of space and instructors has prevented the University from offering an adequate program in this very vital subject.

Although this extra course will be able to accommodate only a limited number of students, it shows that someone is interested in the matter and it may serve as a stepping stone to a more extensive course in the future.

Several students have already expressed an interest in attending the class which will meet for two hours on Thursday nights, and its sponsors are optimistic.

However, the plan has three strikes against it. It's a night class, during spring term, for no credit. In view of this it seems unlikely that there will be an overflow of devoted pupils.

The East Lansing Police Department, Alpha Phi Omega and Spartan Women's League have exhibited excellent public spirit in initiating this course. They deserve our vote of thanks and our support in this matter.

There's no telling when you may be called on to administer first aid and save a life. A couple hours a week for a couple months is a low premium to pay for a life.

Students Grieve Their 'Education for All' Idea Conflicts With Budget

Editor's Note: This is the first of a three-part series by capital reporter Lynn Shepard, discussing the various points of view held by educators and members of the state Legislature on the increase in student fees.

By LYNN SHEPARD, State News Capitol Reporter

At least two strong voices have cast a dissenting opinion on the question raised by recent legislative demands for a more costly education in the state's tax-supported colleges.

The eastern college, in its simplicity, shall we modify its concept of an "education for all." The two negative viewpoints come first from the students and second from the educators, both products of the situation for all systems.

The student's objections are for the most part non-academic. None of us like to see our wallets emptied, but so forcefully expressed before our very eyes. Unfortunately, student grievances on these grounds will play no part in the issue's eventual outcome.

Instead, it is the educator who can possibly strike a compromise with the budget-minded Legislature. And this is a big "perhaps."

The "perhaps" develops as the matter of "education for all" is reconsidered. This somewhat ambiguous term needs a little historical explanation.

The eastern college, early adopted, likely as a model of the British Empire standard, the tag of the "rich man's son" institution. The present Ivy League traditions retain the hangover.

With the Westward movement came the "rugged individualism" which is still associated with the Midwest rural customs. Because banking was better in Philadelphia, few Ivy League adherents ever bothered to cross the Cumberland Gap. This fact made the cry for educational equality nearly unanimous.

The Land Grant College Act of 1862 started the present trend which has gained in momentum until today the concept has no effective opposition.

These pre-Morrill Act groups (the University of Michigan is a good example) were soon won over to the new doctrine and today stand beside MSU as joint defenders of the equal educational opportunities philosophy.

This is substantiated by the U. of M. President Harlan Hatcher's statement that the Legislature's position is "endangering the concept of public higher education."

But, the Legislature replies that student fees have remained low, while surrounding expenses in the educational program have risen with the rest of the economy.

With the student voice ignored and "education for all" argument thus weakened, the chances for sticking with the status quo are out of the question. And the only remaining alternative to save the day, some manner of modification to ease the sting is appearing increasingly more remote.

Letters to the Editor Arabia Editorial Attacked

To The Editor: Referring to the editorial about the pact between the U.S. and Saudi Arabia.

The State News beat around the bush to make one point about the so-called State of Israel. For the past week or so the State News has been publishing pictures reflecting the Arab military might. Why does not the State News show pictures of the results, mainly the Arab refugees and their conditions?

Due to the military might reflected in the State News, Saudi Arabia is raising its armistice forces from 15,000 to 30,000 compared with Israel's 250,000 plus. Israel is 1.8 million while Saudi Arabia is eight million.

If the U.S. will not help Saudi Arabia obtain arms, Russia is willing and if Russia does, then Saudi Arabia is branded pro-Soviet by ignorant persons who don't know the facts. Example—the person who wrote this editorial.

Saudi Arabia did not come to the U.S. and ask them to maintain the base in Dhahran but it is the other way around. The U.S. is paying France billions for military territory and to all European countries that have valuable bases. Leases cost money for the valuable information of the State News.

The State News has no right to defend, prosecute, judge convict and pass sentence on social customs of foreign countries. The word Harem in Arabic means Mrs. and giving "his harem a day off" is a very low and dirty remark. The State News should be of better caliber.

There are no qualified persons in the State News to even compare. There have been in contact with these customs for long enough to qualify them. In the future the State News should report the facts and let the readers be the judges.

The State News is the eyes, ears and tongue of the students at MSU therefore it should fulfill its job, reporting the news.

Meeting to Outline Honors Program

Eligible Students Can Apply Now for Entrance Next Fall

By LOIS ANDERSON
State News Night Editor

Potential Honors College students will have a chance to learn about the College program set up for next year at a meeting at 4 today in Fairchild Theatre.

President Hannah and Dr. Stanley J. Izberda, director of the Honors College, will explain the workings of the new program to eligible students.

They will also answer any questions prospective members of the college might have.

Third term freshmen and sophomores with a cumulative average of 3.5 are eligible to enter the College. ROTC and physical education are excluded in figuring this average.

According to Izberda, 220 students have been notified of the meeting by mail, and any one else who is eligible is invited to attend.

These students will receive an option form in the mail by Saturday. These forms will permit interested students to declare their intention to become a member of the Honors College when it begins its operation next fall term.

Students who don't receive such forms may pick them up in 100 Basic College Building, Izberda said.

Under the new program, students with 3.5 averages can enter the College any time from the beginning to the end of their sophomore year.

Transfer students will also be given the same chance if their record and recommendations warrant it.

Students who elect to enter will be assigned an advisor in their major field. In May or June they will get together with their advisors to plan a program for next fall term.

All requirements for graduation, other than total number of credits, will be waived for Honors College members. Rather, each student will work out a program of study with his advisor which seems best for him.

Students may attain credit in some courses by examination, independent study under a faculty member, waiving of prerequisites for advanced courses and permission for qualified undergraduates to take graduate courses.

Honors College students will have special areas set aside for them in the library. They also will meet together periodically for seminars.

One sign of the drift in future affairs may be seen in whether King Hussein now issues a firm invitation to James P. Richards, President Eisenhower's special envoy who is in the Middle East explaining the President's plan for military and economic assistance to governments which oppose Communism.

The new regime's fate may depend largely on the outside economic aid it receives.

Nabulsi, who is foreign minister in the new government, had not issued such an invitation. While premier he declared he would not sign any agreement for U. S. aid if he had to commit himself to fighting Communism.

Batter Up and Play Ball... Baseball Is Here Again

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Despite threatening weather, 25,000 fans turned out at Municipal League baseball stadium to witness the 1957 season with a full eight-game schedule Tuesday.

In the National League, the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Chicago Cubs 4-3 with Warren Spahn's strong pitching. The Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Cincinnati Reds 5-4.

Early action at Washington Monday, Tom Brewer was the winner. The Pirates, beaten eight in a row by Johnny Antonelli, got just three hits off the Giants' southpaw ace, but counted six runs in the eighth inning to win for Bob Friend. Only one run was earned in the frame, with third baseman Daryl Spencer booting two plays as the Pirates counted their best opening-day home, 33-405, since 1948.

Southpaw Whites Ford and Chuck Stubbins showed a crowd of 31,844 a dandy duel at Yankee Stadium before the champs pulled it out with Andy Carey's bases-loaded single in the ninth inning. Both struck out seven, with Ford giving six hits and Stubbins allowing the Yankees seven.

The Senators' Roy Sievers and Yankee's Yogi Berra swapped home runs in the seventh. Berra's single, a double by Gil McDonald and an intentional walk to Elston Howard, who had fanned three, set up Carey's winning blow to left.

Al Piharek, of the Baltimore Orioles, goes flying as he hangs into catcher Clint Courtney of the Washington Senators and is tagged out in the ninth inning Monday in Washington. Piharek tried to score from third on a high infield bouncer, but Eddie Yost's throw to Courtney beat him to the plate.

Bengals Drop Opener to A's, 2-1

Morgan Hurls Neat Four Hitter

Zerial Clouts Winning Homer

KANSAS CITY (P)—Big Tom Morgan proved his worth as a starting pitcher today by limiting the Detroit Tigers to four hits and giving the Kansas City Athletics a 2-1 victory before a crowd of 21,457 who sat through a misty rain for the season's opener.

Frank Lary, whose 21 victories last season was tops in the American League, bottled Morgan on almost every term until the sixth when Gus Zerial opened the inning with a home run over the left field wall. The A's followed this up in the seventh with a run scored on Jim Pisoni's single, a sacrifice by Morgan and a RBI single by Joe Demaestri.

The Tigers, who had been limited to two hits by Morgan for the first seven innings, almost got something started in the eighth. With one out, Harvey Kuenn shot a single to right. Al Kaline forced Kuenn on a fielder's choice but Chuck Maxwell then slammed a triple past Johnny Groth in right, scoring Kaline. Morgan put on the pressure and forced Ray Boone to fly out to end the threat.

Lary walked only one batter and fanned four but gave up seven hits. For Morgan, traded to the A's by the Yanks during the winter, it was more than a victory. For New York he was just another ball pen reliever. Although he insisted he could be a successful starter, today he proved he was right.

Gov. James T. Blair of Missouri threw out the first pitch of the season for the Kansas City Athletics, but he had to try twice to get the ball outside of the pitcher's box.

His first heave dribbled to the edge of the mound and stopped. On his second try he got it to Gov. George Docking of Kansas who was in back of the plate to catch the first pitch. Docking caught the second ball, but he had to jump for it—it was outside and high.

Tennis Squad Drills For Opener at Ohio

Michigan State's tennis team continued workouts this week in preparation for Saturday's Big 10 opener against Ohio State at Columbus, Ohio.

Coach Frank Beeman put his squad through light drills last week to get them used to the northern climate. The Spartans had returned earlier from their southern spring training trip in which they compiled a 2-5 record against the top teams in Florida.

With the weather warming up a little this week, Beeman had intra-squad matches to determine positions for the Ohio State match.

In Monday's matches, Bill Bisard took Capt. George Stepanovic in two straight sets, Luis Vela defeated Foster Hoffman, Mike Zaremba downed Ron Mesall and Bob Sassaack beat Tom Knight.

Coach Beeman said he will take a six-man squad to Ohio State, but he isn't sure yet who will make the trip. The team will practice for two more days before leaving Friday for Columbus.

In doubles, Beeman has named the combinations of Stepanovic-Vela, Bisard-Zaremba and Mesall-Hoffman to fight it out for the three positions. Thus far, it's a close battle between the Stepanovic-Vela and Bisard-Zaremba duos for the No. 1 doubles spot.

Bisard and Stepanovic will probably play at the No. 1 and No. 2 singles positions, with Zaremba, Mesall, Vela and Hoffman following in that order.

Stepanovic, Bisard and Vela are the only returning lettermen from last year's team that finished sixth in the Big 10 and had a 5-5 dual meet record.

Coach Beeman has been very pleased with his squad's performance in Florida and in practice the past week.

Scientists Mix Hope and Gloom In Researches on Radioactivity

CHICAGO (AP)—Scientists Tuesday reported a promising antidote for dangerous radioactive strontium from A-bomb or H-bomb fall-out.

And others declared the clam makes a fine fall-out watchdog. It grabs and holds fall-out atoms floating in water. It can measure low amounts of radioactivity which otherwise would be hard to detect.

Both reports were presented to the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology.

Strontium-90 has been called the worst poison from bomb tests. It stays dangerously radioactive for many years, and tends to concentrate in the bones after it enters the body.

Human elimination of strontium is stepped up when people are given infusions of vein of calcium—which also seeks out bones, said doctors of Montefiore Hospital, New York City.

The body gets rid of even more strontium when ammonium chloride is given by mouth along with the calcium treatment. The studies were made on humans suffering from metabolic and malignant bone diseases.

Clams concentrate 2,000 times more fall-out radioactivity than is present in an equal weight of the surrounding water, said J. K. Gong, W. H. Shipman, H. V. Weiss and S. H. Cohn of the U.S. naval radiological defense laboratory, San Francisco.

In a year, a three-inch clam filters about 6,000 gallons of water. Checking the radioactivity in the clam gives a sensitive indicator of fall-out without having to sample vast amounts of water.

LONDON (AP)—A group of British Atomic scientists estimated Tuesday night that "one normal high-yield nuclear test" may eventually give bone cancer to 20,000 persons throughout the world.

They said, however, their calculations were based on a hypothesis that has yet to be proved.

The estimate was contained in a technical report on radiation hazards issued by the Atomic Scientists Assn., a non-political body whose members include top university professors and experts on nuclear physics.

The scientists said damage may result to the present generation mainly from the release of strontium-90, a radioactive substance which enters the body in food and accumulates in the bones.
