

.. Down, Vets, Down - - No Special Tuition for You ..

The story on student tuition increases appearing in Thursday's State News contained a major error. The reported boost in fees to veteran students refers instead to veterinary medicine students.

Veterans are included in the classification of regular students, and there are no special increases in their fees.

Veterinary students have their fees assessed separately. These figures will be found in the chart at the far right of this story.

It was also incorrectly stated in the fees story that veterans in the 10-and-under credit class would have their fees increased greater proportionately than the rest of the student body. As mentioned earlier, this information would concern veterinary students rather than veterans, but even so, the statement does not hold true.

The error arose when neither the official Board of Agriculture release nor school catalog listed fee figures for veterinary medicine students falling in the 10-credits-and-under category.

A later check with university officials established the fact that regular fee rates do exist here and are published in the quarterly Schedule of Courses.

The reason that they are printed in the catalog is that very few students in the College of Veterinary Medicine are able to arrange their curriculum to suit such a program.

According to Assistant Comptroller Merrill R. Pierson, the new tuition rates are proportionately equal in all cases. This is to insure the needed funds for University expenditures, without creating a financial burden on any one group.

Beck 'Clams Up' Again

Pleads 5th Amendment To 52 Items

More Misuse Of Funds Found

WASHINGTON (AP)—A grim-faced Dave Beck took the Fifth Amendment again and again Thursday at a swiftly moving Senate inquiry marked by these other developments:

1. A Teamsters union leader testified he had no idea that Beck was using union funds until Beck paid back $100,000 in 1954.

2. The Teamsters Union's McGowan testified Beck had misused $100,000 of union funds, having sent it to 11,000 within the last two weeks.

3. The Senate Rules Committee notified Beck with a list of 52 ways in which he charged he has misused his authority, position and trust. The partly Teamsters boss answered a blanket Fifth Amendment plea refusing to answer questions on the grounds he might incriminate himself.

4. Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass.) declared the inquiry has uncovered an abuse of his position with the labor union apparently little regard being paid to the rights of union members. Kennedy said he has requested a subcommittee of the Antitrust-Commerce Committee to look into the Teamsters' financial practices. New York, Connecticut, Los Angeles and Montgomery Ward & Co. Chicago.

5. Testimony was given that two writers for the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, Nard Jones and Douglas Welch, were carried on the Teamsters payroll while writing a life-story of Beck entitled "The Driver's Seat." Beck was said to have given the union a check for $12,500, but had never received the money paid out to the writers.

6. Beck dodged a question by Sen. Goodwater (D-Ariz.) as to whether he would resign as Teamsters president if recommended.

7. Elusive Norman Gershowitz, a cousin of Beck's wife, finally was ordered before the committee, but his testimony was postponed until today at least to give him time to consult with an attorney. Gershowitz sought for weeks, finally was subpoenaed in Washington, and then refused to answer questions about money, wills and financial deals with Beck.

8. Sen. McGowan (D-Ariz.) committee chairman, challenged the Teamsters union to find out for itself whether the charges

Mitchell Asks Quick Action

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Secretary of Labor Mitchell said Thursday in a speech here that "an immediate reform" of some union constitutions is necessary to rid the labor movement of "corruption and gangsterism."

The secretary had a good word for the special Senate Rules Committee, which has uncovered widespread abuses in the Teamsters union.

The secretary called for speedy enactment by Congress of the administration's bill to require the registration, detailed reporting and public disclosure of labor-management health, welfare and pension funds.

VOL. 49, No. 32

The new publication chiefs, who won't even smile for their own cameraman as they got together after Wednesday's Pub Board meeting, are Jean Sanders, Wolverine business manager; Denise Scanlon, State News managing editor; Mel Reiter, State News editor-in-chief; and Tom Andrews, Wolverine editor.

Andrews Named to Head Wolverine

Reiter, Slade Reappointed

Mel Reiter, Brooklyn, N.Y., junior, and Denise Scanlon, Dearborn junior, were reappointed State News editor-in-chief and managing editor for all terms by the Board of Publications Thursday.

Howard Sutton, Lansing junior, was named business manager to succeed Art Sippola, Allen Park senior. Mary Martin, Flint junior, was appointed State News summer editor.

The new editor and business manager of Wolverine are Tom Andrews, Ferndale junior, and Jean Sanders, Chicago, Ill., junior. They replace Pat Moynihan, East Lansing senior and Jerry Youngs, Grand Island, N.Y., senior.

Bob Slade, East Lansing sophomore, was reappointed editor of Spartan and Mrs. Marilyn Sutton, Lansing junior, was named business manager to succeed Lou Fisher, Lansing sophomore.

John Wade, Lansing sophomore, was again named darkroom manager and Frank Brutt, Elmhurst, N.Y., senior, was appointed editor of the Spartan Engineer.

All the new appointments with the exception of Miss Martin, will become effective at the beginning of Fall term. Miss Martin will assume the editor's position at the start of the Summer quarter.

Texas Blasts Gens. Ike, Monty For 'Firing' Lee

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—A state senator leveled blistering criticism at President Eisenhower and British Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery in an hour-long speech in the Texas legislature Thursday.

Sen. Dorsey Hardeman ripped into the two leaders for their remarks at Gettysburg, Pa., Sunday in which both agreed the Union and Confederate commanders there should have been "sacked."

Hardeman said Eisenhower "was not worthy to unlace the shoes of Gen. Robert E. Lee" and he labeled Montgomery a "peanut type military commander."

Eisenhower and Montgomery reviewed the battle of Gettysburg during a tour of the Civil War battlefield. Later newsmen asked Montgomery whether he still thought Gen. George G. Meade and Gen. Lee, the rival Northern and Southern field leaders, should have been "sacked."

"I would not have fought the battle that way myself," said Montgomery. Eisenhower added, "if you had, I'd have sacked you."

"The history records will speak louder and longer than my feeble voice will be able to," said Hardeman, "and nothing can erase the able leadership of Robert E. Lee."

Howell Named Head Of Language Group

Prof. S. E. Howell, ass't professor of foreign languages, was recently elected president of the Michigan chapter of the American Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese.

Sutton had previously served the State News as national advertising manager, retail advertising manager and advertising director.

Miss Sanders has served on the Wolverine for three years as a member of the business staff and as office manager.

A news writer for information services, Miss Martin has worked a year on the State News as a reporter.

Mrs. Sutton has been promotion manager of the Spartan for two terms and Brutt has held the business manager's position for a term on the Spartan Engineer.

The Board of Publications, which appoints all the major positions on student publications, is composed of Dr. Paul Deutschmann, director of the School of Journalism, chairman; Tom King, dean of students; James Denison, administrative assistant to the president; Philip McGowan, controller; Dr. Leland Dean, of the School of Education; Reiter, State News editor; Miss Moynihan, Wolverine editor and Slade, Spartan editor.

Rogers In; But Burke To Appeal

Loser Says 100% Should be Cleared

John Rogers has officially won the senior class presidency, the Elections Review Board ruled Thursday night. But Pat Burke, defeated candidate, has asserted his intention to appeal the decision to the All-University Judiciary.

Finding only four ineligible voters in a 50 per cent check, the Board ruled the issue done and Rogers in office.

Burke, whose original appeal to the Board asked for a 100 per cent analysis of registrations, has asked that the Court repeal the Board's decision and order a clearing of all registrations.

Burke, in his appeal, stated the students should know the precise number of illegal voters rather than the inferred number.

In session Thursday night the Court accepted an appeal claiming election ordinances unconstitutional.

The appeal, submitted by Don Sheiton, Detroit senior, is based on the claim that the ordinances violate rights granted to students in the AUSG Constitution.

Chief Justice Bill Rees said an official decision will be delivered to the University Monday night. Last week a protest to the Review Board, when Sheiton was refused permission to vote, was overruled by that board.

New Chairmen Announced by Men's Council

Men's Council announced seven new appointments to its executive board Tuesday evening.

Those chosen to fill executive positions were: Louis Weckstein, Canton, Ohio, junior, chairman of winter term blood drive; Don Green, Jackson junior, chairman of the book drive; Ed Hancock, Corunna junior, personnel chairman; Dale Hanson, Snyder, N.Y., publicity chairman.

Also selected were: Karl Levenst, Grand Rapids junior, special events chairman; Bill Andie, Taylor Center junior, STUN chairman; and Bill Landacre, Farmington freshman, rush chairman.

Candidates for president are Serajul Islam, Pakistan grad student; Pathwick Bose, India grad student; Bokan Krayan, Iran junior; and Mohammed Hanifi, Afghanistan sophomore.

Alwood Sparks Comedy

'Old Pros' Save 'Girl Crazy'

By MARY MARTIN

A professional comic, some veteran MSU players and some good old corn saved "Girl Crazy," which opened in Fairchild Theater Thursday evening. The George Gershwin musical comedy continues today and Saturday. Reserved tickets can be purchased at the Union Ticket office or Fairchild Theater box office for $1. Current time is 8:15 each evening.

Dennie Alwood, Oak Park, Ill., junior, salvaged, sparked and stole the show in his characterization of Giebler Goldfarb, Brooklyn cabbie with a Yiddish accent.

Jean Ferguson, Marion, Ohio, senior, and John Jacobson, Port

Huron senior, cast as Kate, a Broadway singer and her gambling husband, Slick, were among the MSU standbys and the combination was a relief to the audience.

Timing, an almost miraculous sense of comedy and characterization and energy, enthusiasm and enjoyment made the performance worth the effort.

But Wilson, East Lansing senior, cast as Benny, the New York playboy and Connie Klenoch, Gladwin freshman, as Betty, the All-American couple added to the romantic atmosphere and sang some memorable tunes but came across as being too young.

The boy-meets-girl-loves-gets-girl plot was patterned with some of the oldest tricks in the trade which were hilariously received. Hypnotism, frantic chases, and the comic disguised as woman with grapefruit added to the pure brass and corn mixture.

The sets and lighting achieved the Southwestern effect with colors of maize, blue, pink and green which carried through into the costumes.

Some of Gershwin's most memorable tunes, "Embraceable You," "But Not For Me," "Sam and Delilah," were sung and danced to by a number of very exuberant, if not polished "cowboys and cowgirls." Their frequent contributions, though exciting, sometimes added to the general tumult.

Michigan Week activities and a proposed fair-city youth exchange project will also be reviewed at the meeting.

Views on Recreation Sought at Youth Convoy

The Michigan Youth Commission will seek the views of youth on Michigan recreational facilities at the Michigan Youth Advisory Council Conference to be held here Saturday and Sunday.

9 Musicians Win Awards

Nine music students were honored by the music department at the annual Honors Convocation Thursday.

Krispe Smazel, Grand Lodge senior, received the Delta Omicron, national professional music fraternity, award for highest scholastic average for the past year.

The anonymous award to the junior was "by ability, industry and determination, has best avoided himself of the opportunity offered by MSU to gain an education," was won by Joe S. Catey, Lansing.

Elizabeth Turc, Ann Arbor, won the faculty award for the junior with the highest overall scholastic average and professional instrumentals, vocal performance or musical composition.

The corresponding senior award went to Michael Grivel, Battle Creek.

The annual award in memory of former music department head, Lewis Richards, was given to Josephine Lonsdale, senior piano major from Benton Harbor.

Four Presser Foundation Scholarships were awarded to students who expect to become music teachers. Recipients were: John Gorman, Lansing sophomore; Joy King, Port Huron freshman; Carolyn Maxwell, Belting junior; and Marlene Sparapan, Kenosha, Wis., freshman.

Professor Wins Princeton Grant

Dr. Hans Nathan has been awarded membership in the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton for musiological research during 1967-68.

Dr. Nathan, associate professor in the department of literature and fine arts, will continue his studies in 18th century music. He was recently the recipient of a fellowship from the Guttenheim foundation in New York.

Festival Set To Kick-Off State's Week

The Music Department will present a Festival Concert Sunday at 4 p.m. in special observance of the opening of Michigan Week. Performers will be the University Symphony Orchestra, Louis Potter, Jr., director, augmented by a group of selected Michigan High School Musicians.

Guy Fraser Harrison will be guest conductor of the 125-piece ensemble. The program is to be given in the University Auditorium and is free to the public.

A Russian Overture will open the program. The String Section is to be featured in "Variations on a theme by Prokofiev" by Tannan.

The most joyous of Schubert's romantic "orchestral works," "The Spring Symphony," follows. Contrasting is the Debussy "Intermezzo," "The Walk in the Paradise Gardens" and the concert comes to a close with the ever popular "Finnlandia" by Sibelius.

Harrison, guest conductor, has had a distinguished career as organist, conductor and enthusiastic worker with young musicians. He is at present Conductor of the Oklahoma City Symphony Orchestra.

High School Students selected to play in the concert represent Jackson, Grand Rapids, Adrian, Battle Creek, Midland, East Lansing, Detroit, Ann Arbor and other Michigan cities.

Living Units Must Give Carry Plans

Living units taking part in Water Carnival who are planning either reviving or collapsible floats must turn in a written request to the rules committee. Dean Vane, chairman, said Thursday night.

A paper with specific description of maneuvers must be submitted to Vane by Tuesday in the Union Board Office.

Congress Considering Foreign Aid Spending

Currently, the national Congress is debating a controversial subject—our present foreign aid appropriation for the fiscal year.

Since its inception in full force in 1945, the U. S. has spent over 51 billion dollars in overseas aid.

In this year's budget President Eisenhower asked Congress to give its approval of a three and three-quarters billion dollar appropriation.

Presently both Houses are arguing the actual necessity of such a sum and the benefits which the U. S. would receive.

Recently a senatorial committee urged the President to make a drastic slash in the allotted funds. The reason given—to lighten the burden of the taxpayers during peaceful times.

However, before particular action can be taken a definite clearing up of a confused picture concerning the question of foreign aid must be established.

How much money should be set aside for this program?

What real importance does the program hold?

What would constitute a possible solution to the problem?

Following the war years the U. S. has filled the role as the main source of backing the rehabilitation projects throughout the world.

The U. S. has sunk the taxpayers' money in various programs to help eliminate the threat of Communism in Turkey and Greece.

Also the Marshall Plan was inaugurated to rebuild war-torn Europe.

With Russia investing money abroad, especially in the Middle East, the U. S. will have to counter the Russian policy.

This will mean an increase in the foreign aid above the amount the President is seeking.

Obviously, any proposed cut of this vital program seems ridiculous, for in the cold war the U. S. must send needed economic and defense aid to the countries defenseless against Communism.

Contrary to statements calling the U. S. handling of funds inadequate because of placing the money in defense, technical knowledge has aided India in becoming an industrial nation.

In a recent issue of TIME magazine an article appeared with a possible answer to the foreign aid controversy.

It outlined a program of government encouragement of private enterprise to ease the burden of the taxpayers.

The reason is that private dollars are more effective than government grants and loans.

A recent survey showed that $1 in private capital does as much as $3 in Government aid. The overflow of private investment reached $1.6 billion last year, more than double the 1955 total.

The big drawback is the fact that only 300 major U. S. corporations are actively taking a part in this plan. Many companies do not realize the opportunities abroad.

Many foreign-aid experts feel the first step in expanding U. S. investment in foreign lands should be a broadened Government sponsored program to seek out investment projects, and then sell their attractions to U. S. firms.

The setting-up of such a program should also include the socialist-minded nations. India guarantees foreign investors against nationalization for a prescribed period of years.

With more U. S. capital going abroad, the better are the chances to ease the foreign aid burden. For U. S. business itself, expansion abroad is simply business foreign-sight.

A noted executive stated, "By such a maneuver of sound business practice the U. S. will have a vast foreign market while aiding the undeveloped countries economically in attaining economic independence."

S'News Iry?

To The Editor:
In reference to your editorial of May 14, on expected decline of the educational level at MSU. This was a belated rebash of a discussion of the article in Holiday magazine, Ivy versus Bug 10.

Now, when you enrolled at MSU what were you looking for? If you wanted Ivy, why didn't you go East. Granted, State does not at present have an extremely high scholastic average, but I believe the school is working vigorously in that direction. A bigger student enrollment does not necessarily have to mean less brain power.

I suggest if you would like to see our educational level at MSU climb upward you campaign for more recognition of academic achievement: give more publicity to Green Helmet and Tower Guard and to scholastic honoraries.

Why not try to cultivate a high respect for Michigan State University and its philosophy of education for those with the aptitude and ambition to work for it, regardless of wealth or status.

Your attitude suggests that education for the masses will lead to the decline of education. When the masses become educated it is the duty of the more learned to reach new heights of achievement. This is the essence of progress.

Interpreting the News

Ike Stakes Name On Defense Budget

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

When President Eisenhower lays his military reputation on the line in favor of the national defense budget there isn't much the layman can do but accept it.

Indeed, Congress already has displayed a wariness about cutting defense money despite its stampede for economy.

There has been talk, however, that a two and a half billion cut in this field might be attempted.

The President says no "honest" cut of that size could be made, and that he wouldn't want to be responsible for the country's safety if it were.

In these words he takes the position that, where cuts were possible four years ago when he was making his bid to balance the budget, that situation no longer obtains.

At that time the question was asked in some circles whether the administration was taking a chance with national security on advice from those who were in economic-minded.

At the time of the original defense cut the possibility of shooting war with Russia seemed more acute than it has since the Geneva conference, where the Russians displayed at least some understanding of the risks of war in the Atomic Age.

Now the emphasis is on keeping these risks steady alive as a deterrent through feverish development of more and more modern weapons.

In the original concept the ability for strategic retaliation overshadowed the maintenance of large and powerful ground forces. Now there has been some shift toward not larger but more powerfully armed ground forces.

Tactical atomic weapons, field guns and short range guided missiles—replacing old-fashioned artillery and tactical air support. The changeover is expensive, and will have to be paid for. The President seems likely to win on this point.

Where he runs his big risk is in laying his great personal popularity, and weakened legislative influence with Congress, on the line for other government spending.

Resentment against high taxes among run-of-the-mine people this year has exceeded anything I have seen before. There is a widespread feeling that the government is doing a great many things at home that it does not need to do and should not be doing—that there are too many public employees doing too little work on too many pork-barrel projects.

There is a widespread feeling that too many public employees are spending too much time devising expensive booby-traps to excuse their presence on the payroll.

These feelings exist regardless of whether they are based on fact.

So does a feeling that, while a foreign aid program may be necessary, there is something wrong with the current one. The President is expected to make his appeal on this point soon.

In these fields the President is not the expert witness that he is in the military field, and his chances of defeat are far greater. At the moment his appeals have left Congress unmoved and the cutting continues, although the returns from the public are not yet in.

Vickers' Letter Ambiguous

To The Editor:

I would like to preface comment on John M. Vickers' letter in the State News and subsequent events with a brief statement. For some time I have been fortunate to consider John Vickers, his wife, and—more recently—their newborn daughter close personal friends. During this time, John and I have argued as friends will, about many things.

But on one point we have always been in complete agreement: There is no such thing as an "inferior race" and racial segregation is completely indefensible on all moral, ethical and biological grounds.

When he read the State News editorial claiming fraternities' continued retention of discriminatory clauses was justified, Vickers was angry, just as were many thinking people, white and Negro alike.

Feeling that there is no excuse for some fraternities to continue on their way, oblivious to what is both morally right and the law of the land, he took pen in hand to express his indignation.

What is unfortunate is that this premise was presented in an ambiguous manner. Unfortunately, also, was his selection of a metaphor to personality attitudes held by prejudiced people.

I suggest that those offended by Vickers' letter read it again and search for his real meaning.

The anonymous callers who have frightened John's family

In the past few days would be better advised to phone John for an explanation of his stand—an explanation he will be glad to give.

Those of us who know him well know that John Vickers is incapable of adapting an unreasonable, so-called "Southern" attitude against Negroes or any other group.

Benson Predicts More Farm Surpluses

Junking Of Soil Bank Denounced

Acreage Reserve Called 'Necessary'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson Thursday predicted a further pileup of costly farm surpluses if Wednesday's House vote to junk the major part of the Eisenhower administration's soil bank program is allowed to stand.

Benson denounced the House action, in which 38 Republicans joined 134 Democrats, as "false economy." Voting against the surprise move to cut off the 750 million dollar acreage reserve part of the soil bank program after this year were 141 Republicans and 46 Democrats. Thus the tally to end further soil bank subsidy payments was 192-187.

Benson addressed his words to the House Agriculture Committee, but he was aiming them at Senate ears, since the next move is up to that chamber.

"If the acreage reserve is not permitted to function for 1958 crops," he said, "there is every likelihood that surpluses will pile up still further, rather than diminish."

Benson added that if land returned to the soil bank this year is returned to production next year, the cost of government price supports "will in all probability be greater than would have been the cost of the acreage reserve for 1958 basic crops."

Benson contended the acreage reserve plan, in which farmers are paid to refrain from planting crops of which there is already an abundance, had not been given a fair chance.

"Last year," he said, "the Department of Agriculture publicly warned that due to the latest passage of the soil bank act, the acreage reserve could not be expected to have its intended effect in full for 1956 crops and that administrative problems were bound to arise."

He said production controls are not effective in reducing surpluses, and that over-production is likely to continue under the present system.

Dairy Committee Plans Conference

An MSU conference will study the nutritional and economic aspects of feed utilization by dairy cows May 23-25 at Kellogg Center.

The three-day program, sponsored by the North Central Dairy Committee and the Farm Management Research Committee, will consider five specific aspects of dairy feed utilization: research data, nutritional considerations, designing feed experiments and the application of dairy feeding efficiency research data.

MSU faculty members and other specialists in the dairy field will discuss such topics as measuring production levels and influence of production capacities, research problems in the economics of forage production, and organizing dairy feeding efficiency data in extension programs.

Greek Coeds Set Car Wash For Saturday

Society coeds will go into the car washing business Saturday morning from 9-12.

Proceeds from the Panfil sponsored car wash will go to the Walnut Street School for children with cerebral palsy, according to Marty Mapes, Battle Creek sophomore, chairman of the event.

Coeds will drive the cars through an assembly line where they will be scrubbed and polished. White wall tires will receive special attention.

The inside of the car will be swept and dusted and the windows shined.

Donations of $1 will cover the cost of the entire car wash.

Tickets are on sale both at the Union and outside Berkey Hall. They may also be purchased Saturday morning at the site.

The car wash will be held in the parking lot north of Macklin Stadium. The area will be roped off with colored plastic flags.

Music will be played over a public address system and free cigarettes will be supplied for the drivers while their cars are being washed.

Special arrangements will be made for drivers wishing to leave their cars to be washed and pick them up later.

In case of rain a table will be set up in the Union concourse to refund the tickets already purchased.

Army Says Haiti Quiet, Riots Over

Rumors Mount, Army Might Rule

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—Haiti's Army Headquarters announced Thursday night that all anti-government demonstrations have ended and calm prevails in the country after two days of high tension.

An army spokesman said, however, that soldiers were still trying to reopen the main coastal road into the seaport city of St. Marc, 45 miles north of the capital.

The army report said five Haitians have been wounded in clashes but denied earlier reports that a youth had been killed at St. Marc, where up to 10,000 farmers, armed with knives and rocks fought efforts to remove roadblocks.

When "a state of terror" was acknowledged in many principal cities, rumors mounted that the army might be forced to take over the temporary government.

Brig. Gen. Leon Cantave, the army chief, has declared such a move would be a last resort.

Rebels have charged that the present government by a seven-man executive council is rigging the presidential elections set for June 16.

All speeches, writings and gatherings likely to incite revolt have been banned. Heavy fines and imprisonment up to 10 months were threatened for newspaper and radio station owners permitting the distribution of inflammatory material.

Judges were warned of speedy arrest if they challenged the executive council's authority.

Beck Clams Up

Earlier Beck told newsmen he had no intention "in the world" of resigning. But then he said that if the union's executive board asked him to get out for the good of the union he would certainly have to give that "my serious consideration."

Bookkeeper McDonald, a surprise witness, swore at the hearing that there were no loans to Beck before 1954. But he said they Beck listed on the union's books now carry what he described as "previously unrecorded receivables."

Robert F. Kennedy, committee counsel, contends the evidence indicates that Beck "stole" the money, never intending to repay it until the internal revenue service began investigating his huge income. Kennedy said it was only then, early in 1954, that the Teamsters boss began treating his withdrawals as "loans" and began repaying them.

When Beck took the witness chair, a little redder of face than usual, the 52-odd ways in which he is alleged to have abused his office were flung at him.

The first question asked Beck concerned the whereabouts of the $50,000 Beck Jr., who has been sought by the committee for weeks.

"I decline to answer on grounds of possible self-incrimination," the witness replied. It was the 15th time he had invoked the Fifth Amendment before the committee.

The 52 alleged breaches of trust buried at Beck were in effect a summary of all the accusations which have been made against him in months of Senate hearings.

British Push H-Bomb Tests

Discount Fallout Effects Despite Japan Protests

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Macmillan declared Thursday the radioactive fallout from Britain's first hydrogen bomb explosion was "almost negligible."

The spurned opposition Laborite demands that the series of tests in the Pacific be called off, and declared Britain is now in a much better bargaining position in world disarmament negotiations.

"First indications are that the operation proceeded as planned," Macmillan told a crowded House of Commons. "Scientific records are being collected for accurate evaluation. When these have been received I will then consider what further information I can give to the House. I have nothing to add, except that first indications are that the local fallout was almost negligible."

He declined to give any further details of the type of bomb which exploded high over the Pacific Wednesday.

Labor Party leader Hugh Gaitskell quoted reports from Japan saying effects there of the blast were as great and even more prolonged than those from previous United States tests at Bikini atoll.

Other reports from Tokyo said Japan's meteorological observatory recorded no unusual air pressure waves or earth shocks such as were registered after the Bikini tests or those of the Soviet Union in Siberia.

Macmillan ran into a barrage of questions from Laborites demanding that Britain now call it a day and make a fresh bid for an international ban of all nuclear trial blasts.

But he stressed Britain's determination to go on with its tests pending any international agreement.

"I am bound to say that, in discussing matters of nuclear disarmament or control of tests in the UN Disarmament Committee, we shall now be in a position," Macmillan asserted, "very much better bargaining position."

The Prime Minister also rejected a Laborite demand that Britain register all future tests in advance with the United Nations. He said Britain already has introduced a proposal in the five-nation UN disarmament subcommittee for registration, limitation and control of nuclear experiments.

"If the government's proposals are accepted by the other powers concerned (the United States, Canada, France and Soviet Russia), then the disarmament subcommittee will no doubt discuss how they should be put into effect," Macmillan added.

Press reports said Britain intends to explode three or four types of H-bombs during the test series.

Ag Board Accepts Grants

Gifts and grants totaling $41,093.36 were accepted for MSU Wednesday by its governing body, the State Board of Agriculture.

Included were 11 grants for scholarship and loan fund purposes amounting to $12,563.36.

The grants also included renewal of an agreement with the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission, Washington, D.C., covering an $8,622 grant to be used under the direction of Dr. Donald J. Montgomery, professor of physics and astronomy. He will conduct research on the chemical properties of separated atomic isotopes.

Information valuable to Michigan producers of Concord grapes will be secured and disseminated under renewal of an agreement with the National Grape Co-op association, Westfield, N.Y. The $7,000 grant will be used under the direction of Dr. A. L. Kenworthy and Dr. H. H. Tucker in horticulture.

Also accepted by the board was a $5,000 grant from the W. A. Knapp Company, Lansing, to be used under the direction of Librarian Jackson E. Towne to purchase current publications of the National Retail Dry Goods association.

A $3,000 grant from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation, Battle Creek, was accepted, for the purchase of tape recorders to be used in teaching English at the University of Ryukyus, where MSU conducts an educational assistance program.

Congress Writes 2 Minor Changes Into Money Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fast action in both houses of Congress Thursday wrote two minor changes into a money bill and sped the year's first regular appropriation to President Eisenhower.

Final passage of the measure, $90,364,000 below what Eisenhower had asked, confirmed previous actions by which both House and Senate had dealt the President a budget setback.

The bill to finance the Treasury and Post Office Departments and the tax court for the year beginning July 1, contains $3,284,927,000.

This includes $691,467,000 for the treasury, a cut of $22,265,900 under estimates of the President; $3,192,000,000 for the post office, a reduction of $8 millions; and $1,460,000 for the tax court, the exact budget request.

Ahead of the floor action on that bill, the House Appropriations Committee recommended that the House use its budget-making as sparingly on its own funds for next year.

'Happiness Pills' Help Bertolia Hit

DETROIT, (AP)—The disclosure that Rene Bertolia, the Major League top batter, and several other professional athletes in Detroit are taking tranquilizing drugs to ease nervous tension drew both police and a warning today from the new team physician of the Detroit Tigers.

The 27-year-old Bertolia was leading both leagues in batting with a .333 mark before Thursday's game in Boston. He began taking the pills—upon the advice of a physician—during the Florida training season in March. A year ago the player, being positive, couldn't get the 200 batting mark and spent almost the entire season at the Minor League.

Dr. Luther R. Leader said the tranquilizing drugs that apparently have helped third baseman Bertolia may have a bad effect on other people. He warned against over the counter sale of the drugs often referred to as "happiness pills."

"Sometimes they aren't happiness pills at all," said the doctor. "The drugs are still in the experimental stage and personally I think that any new drug development must be considered in the experimental stage for five years."

"Each person must be treated individually," said Dr. Leader. "You just can't go around passing these pills out in wholesale fashion to everyone who either has, or thinks he has a problem of some kind.

We don't know yet what may be behind some of these anxieties that various people face—that goes for athletes and every one else. Extreme caution must be used in all cases."

Al Aber, Tiger southpaw relief pitcher, also has been taking the tranquilizing drugs to relieve muscular tension in his legs. At least six members of the Detroit Lions professional football team, including two-time All-American halfback Howard (Hopalong) Canada, took the pills during the football season.

"Often," said Dr. Leader, "the psychology effect is just as great as the medicinal effect. And none of these boys has been taking more than one or two a day—certainly not enough for it to reach the habit-forming stage."

Dr. Leader cautioned that excessive use of the drugs can turn them into a "crutch." And he feels people in general may be over-emphasizing the various tranquilizing drugs. A recent study by the University of Michigan showed "absolutely no ill effects" from the use of the common brands of the so-called tranquilizing pills in normal dosage. The study dealt mainly with reaction time and coordination for people using the drugs.

Coed Wins 5 Bouts

Beardsley Fencing Champ

Nancy Beardsley, winning all five of her bouts, capped the senior division championship Thursday night in the annual All-University Fencing Tournament, which Carol Harding (Hopalong) Canada, took the title during the football season.

Runner-up in the more experienced group is Sharon McNally, and following her are, in third place, Vicki Mien, and fourth, Mary Lou VanPutten.

Sarah Campbell placed second among junior entries, and Lou Campbell took the No. 3 ranking. Trophies will be presented Monday at 4 p.m. to the top two fencers in the senior division, and the junior champion and runner-up will be awarded ribbons at the same time.

Winners were determined by round robin and single elimination pairings.

Teens Should Learn Judo

CHICAGO, (AP)—Former heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey Thursday urged the nation's "floppin' kids" to take up boxing and judo to handle the savage attacks of young hoodlums.

Dempsey, president at a press gathering, signifying his sixth year with a Chicago electronics school (the V-Tech Institute).

"I am not advocating that every boy who learns to box should be a fighter," said Dempsey. "But today when you read newspaper stories after newspaper stories in the larger cities from coast to coast about teenage hoodlums severely beating innocent people just for kicks, I think it is about time that the law-abiding teenagers not only learn how to box, but learn judo as self-defense against this growing menace."

"Schools and clubs should provide means for giving boys boxing and judo lessons," Dempsey suggested.

The old Manassas Mauler said any teenage boy or any two teenage boys, who knew the art of judo and the art of self-defense could take on five or six of these lawless hoodlums and render them helpless in a few minutes."

3 College Champions Undecided

Title Means Berth In NCAA Tourney

NEW YORK (AP)—Three college baseball conference championships, each carrying an automatic entry into the National Collegiate Tournament, may be decided this weekend.

Four already have been settled and one tournament berth was left very much in doubt when the Southeastern Conference said it had no representative team to play in the tournament.

The NCAA Championship will involve from 24 to 32 teams, depending on the number of large entries invited by District Selection Committees. Twelve major conference champions qualify automatically. District playoffs will reduce this field to eight for the College World Series at Omaha, Neb. June 8-13.

Duke captured the Atlantic Coast Conference title this week when Maryland knocked North Carolina out of a choice to tie. The Blue Devils, whose coach, Ace Parker, figures they have a good chance for the National Title, are slated to play in the four-team District 3 Tournament at Gastonia, N.C. May 31-June 1, but the other three entries still are uncertain.

Georgia Tech, Southeastern Conference champion, declined to enter because too many of its players were ineligible as four-year men who had played varsity ball as freshmen. Runner-up Alabama has a far eastern trip scheduled. Mississippi State is a possible SEC representative.

George Washington, which won its second straight Southern Conference title with a 17-2 season record, hasn't indicated it will enter. The Colonials stayed out last year because of an examination conflict.

Other qualifiers so far are Texas (17-4), Southwest Conference champion for the 31st time, and Colorado State (15-3), qualifier for the National Tournament for the eighth time.

The Missouri Valley Conference title will be settled this weekend in a three-game playoff between Oklahoma A&M (12-3) and Bradley (11-1) at Peoria, Ill. The Big 10 and Mid-American Conference races also may be decided.

Iowa, which took the Big 10 lead with a doubleheader victory over defending champion Minnesota, could clinch the title in week-end games with Michigan and Michigan State, Ohio State, Michigan, Northwestern and Minnesota still are in the running.

Western Michigan, 1955 national runner-up, and Miami of Ohio tangled in two games that could wrap up the Mid-American race. They're 1-2 now with Ohio University third.

Arizona (33-9) and Notre Dame (10-6) look like probable at-large entries.

The '500' Russo Hits 143 m.p.h. In Practice

INDIANAPOLIS, (AP)—Paul Russo, who smacked into the Indianapolis Motor Speedway's unyielding concrete wall while leading last year's 500-mile race, wheeled his rebuilt Novi around the track Thursday at 143.7 miles an hour. He looked ready to shoot for the pole position in Saturday's time trials for the 41st Memorial Day Race.

Russo, stout muscular veteran of ten "500" starts, turned the fast practice lap in spite of a gusty wind that held most of the other drivers to more modest speeds.

James Bryan, last year's National Champion on the USAC big car circuit, made a couple of laps at 140 miles an hour in the same White Dean Special (with new engine) in which he won the 500 in last year's 500. He got back into the race and was running 19th at the finish. Bryan grinned after Thursday's practice and said, "It's too windy out there for us cowards."

Troy Ruttman, 1952 winner of the 500, said he would try for the pole Saturday but conceded that he might be unable to match the 10-mile speed of Russo's Novi.

Ruttman has the fastest practice lap of 144.3 in the new Zink special, a creation of A. J. Watson of Glendale, Calif., who built winners for Pat Flaherty last year and the late Bob Sweikert in 1955.

Ruttman was knocked out of last year's race in a series of collisions involving Keith Andrews and Sam Hanks. Andrews was killed at the speedway Wednesday practicing in a car owned by Giuseppe (Nino) Farina of Italy, former World's Champion.

Hanks also is entered again and is another contender for the pole position, the inside spot on the first three-car row. The veteran of 11 speedway starts has a new Salih-Epperly car, only 21 inches tall at the front end.

Throws Bat at Ump

'Terrible' Ted Acts Up Again

BOSTON (AP)—Ted Williams continued to have his troubles at bat Thursday.

The temperamental Red Sox star struck out his first three times at bat against Detroit, stranding a runner on third base with two out in the sixth inning.

On his first trip in the opening inning he was called out on strikes and Detroit's Jim Bunning made him swing at third strikes in the fourth and sixth.

Since he hit three homers in one game in Chicago last week when he boosted his average to .474, Williams now has made on-

Perranoski To Start Against Iowa

5 Spartans Have .300 Averages

By JOHN VANDEN-BEELD

On the mound today at 3:30 on Old College Field for the Spartan '9' against Big 10 leader, Iowa, will be Coach John Koba's strike-out artist, southpaw Ron Perranoski.

Perranoski has compiled a 7-2 record in the nine games he has worked. The fireballing pitcher has fanned an amazing total 71 enemy batters in 63 1/3 innings.

Making up the rest of Koba's line-up will be: Gary Warner, 2B; Ted Keady, RF; Frank Palamara, 2B; Al Luce, C; Dick McKenzie, CF; Dean Moore, LF; Bruce Davis, 1B and Jerry Korzek, SS.

Five of the Spartan swatters are currently rapping the ball over the 300 mark.

Palamara is leading the pack with a .356 percentage. Following closely behind is Keady at .344, Luce at .341 and McKenzie with a .340. Korzek rounds off the top five with a .302 average.

Korzek, who was recently released from the hospital is a doubtful starter. He was reported to have been suffering from glandular fever.

Catcher Luce has piled up a total eight four baggers over the regular season. Coach Koba stated that this is the highest number ever recorded by a player under his direction since he took over the reins of head coach way back in 1924.

Iowa, trying to remain on top of the Big 10 at 8 times, are slated to start as hurler Don Dobrin in today's game. Dobrin who closely follows State's Perranoski for strikeout leadership last year was tops in the conference in this department. He currently possesses a 4.0 record having allowed only 15 hits and four earned runs in 17 1/3 innings of Big 10 play.

The Hawkeyes are second only to the Wolverines of Michigan in team batting, with four hitters over .300.

Dick Leatherly is top man with .364, following him are Kirby Smith, .323, Les Zanotti, .314 and Fred Long, .306.

Last season Iowa swept a double header from the Spartans in their only encounter, 5-3 and 8-3.

Saturday the Kobsmen will encounter Minnesota in a twin bill at Old College Field. Koba has named relief artist Bill Mansfield as a probable starter. Others who may see action are John Griffin and Dick Radatz.

Minnesota holds a 3-4 conference record, having dropped a double header to the Hawks last Saturday.

The Gophers have been hampered by light hitting this spring only two batters, Doug Gillen and Max Schmitt, are over the .300 mark.

Saturday's game will get under way at 1:30.

Tigers Edge Red Sox, 2-1

Sox Score Lone Tally In 9th

Williams Struck Out 3 Times by Bunning

BOSTON (AP) — Detroit right-hander Jim Bunning checked the Boston Red Sox on five hits Thursday for a 2-1 victory. His shutout bid was foiled in the ninth inning after Ted Williams' fly ball was lost in the sun.

Williams, who struck out three times earlier in the contest, got a cheap double when centerfielder Al Kaline was momentarily blinded.

Ted went to third on an infield out and scored on a Jackie Jensen single.

Bunning, the 6-3 hurler from Carrollton, Ky., ended the game by coaxing Frank Malone into popping up.

Bunning's third strikeout of Williams, one of eight he induced in the Sox, stranded a potential tying run on third base in the sixth inning.

Jim Persall got Boston's and his second hit of the game in the sixth, went to second on a short pitch and to third on an infield out.

Bunning fired a fastball past Williams for a third strike to nullify the threat.

Frank Bolling's leadoff home run of the game, his fifth of the season, looked like enough to carry Bunning. Then the Tigers added a tally in the eighth which proved decisive.

Frank Home singled, advanced on a sacrifice and another single and scored on a force play.

Ford, Berra Ride Bench After Spree in Night Club

NEW YORK (AP)—New York Yankee Manager Casey Stengel benched his star battery of Whitey Ford and Yogi Berra for last night's game with the Kansas City Athletics at Yankee Stadium.

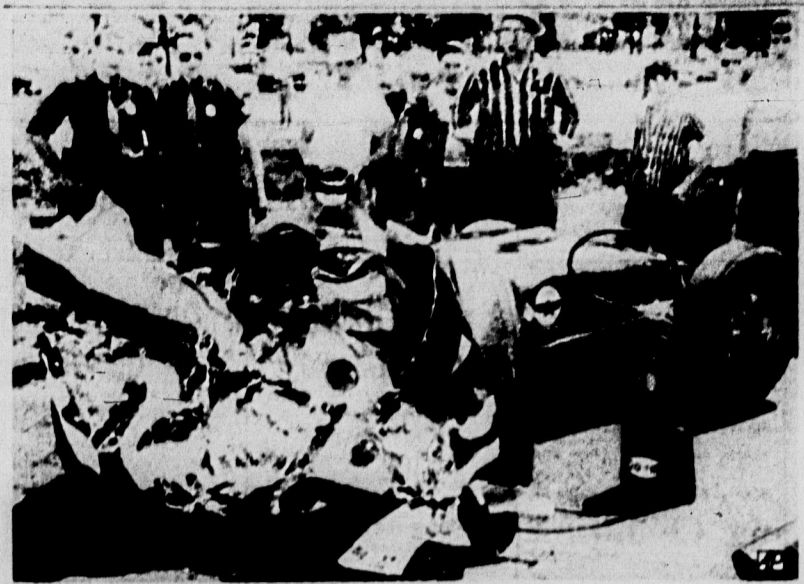

Both were present Wednesday night in a New York night club when a New York delicatessen owner claimed Yankee outfielder Hank Bauer slugged him during an argument.

Stengel also dropped Bauer to eighth place in the batting order, the lowest in his 10 years as a Yankee.

"I can't pitch a pitcher who stays out until two in the morning and then the whole world knows about it," Stengel said. "And Berra should have known better too," he added.

Stengel decided to start fastballer Bob Turley against the Athletics and Elston Howard, who came to the Yanks as a catcher but who has played almost exclusively in the outfield, as his battery mate.

Stengel indicated that another

Track officials and onlookers survey the wreckage of the car in which Keith Andrews, of Colorado Springs, Colo., was killed Wednesday while practicing for the Memorial Day "500." Andrews was crushed when the car went out of control on a turn and smashed into a new concrete wall. He was the first to die at the track since Bill Vukovich was killed in the 1955 Memorial Day classic.

Last Dual Meet of Season

Tracksters Meet With Notre Dame

By HAL BATEMAN

The Michigan State track team will close its dual meet season today when it meets Notre Dame at South Bend, Ind.

The Spartans, downed the Chicago Track Club 16 days ago, last finished second last Saturday in a triangular meet on Young Field against Ohio State and Penn State.

Notre Dame opened its dual meet season by losing to a strong Missouri squad, but came back to defeat Iowa handily.

The two squads met here last spring with the Irish winning easily, 86-54.

The Irish, indoor Central Collegiate champions, are a heavy favorite to win today's meet.

Head Coach Karl Schladerman will use the meet to help determine his entries in the Big 10 championships next week at Evanston, Ill.

Leading the Spartans in today's meet will be Dave Lean, who was upset in two races last week. The lanky Aussie, who holds the fastest Big 10 clocking in the quarter-mile, will be entered in the 440-yard dash and the 220-yard low hurdles.

In an effort to rest the busy

Lean, Schladerman will not run him in the mile relay.

Sam Elowitz, who has emerged as one of the top discus men in the conference, could be a double-winner in the shot put and discus.

Gay Dendow, who is under-famed outdoors at two miles, Carl Selwyn Jones and Fordy Kennedy, should be enough to offset Notre Dame's excellent strength in the distances.

Kennedy has the team's fastest time in the mile with a 4:53 while Dendow holds the fastest two-mile clocking with a 9:23.

Ted Tetzlaff, Bob Hughes, Jerry Munkil and Ken Dufie will run in the middle distances with Glenn Burgett, Don Marsh and Bob Elliott, interest in the sports.

Kelly Thompson is state's only hurdler besides Lean while George Best and Bill Oswalt should score in the pole vault.

Best showed his best form of the season last Saturday by clearing 11' 4" and Oswalt established a personal best with a 11 foot vault.

Don Lusk will give Kennedy good support in the weight events and Tom Ratz will carry the load in the high jump.

Notre Dame Coach Alex Wilson will field a team that possesses all-around ability. The top man for the Irish is NCAA Champion Aubrey Lewis, who is also a halfback on the football squad. He won his NCAA crown in the 400-meter hurdles.

He is one of the nation's top decathlon men and will show his all-around ability by running in the sprints, middle and long distance runs, the weight and the jumping events.

Ring Magazine rates Calhoun No. 4 and Giardello No. 5 among middleweight contenders, and the National Boxing Assn. has Calhoun fifth and the Philadelphia Italian sixth.

Giardello, who sports six years in age to Calhoun, has 22 knockouts in 33 fights and has lost only 12. He has fought against considerably tougher opposition than Calhoun, and two of his losses were to Charley Cotton at the start of Giardello's comeback. In December Giardello beat Cotton here.

"Our styles are just right for each other," Giardello says of Calhoun. "It will be a real fight. Calhoun's power doesn't worry me. I've fought power hitters before and have done well against them."

Calhoun missed a chance at Giardello in April because Joey had a cut eye. He says confidently he is "ready for anything Giardello throws," adding:

"Don't worry about me handling what he dishes out. The question is can he handle my stuff."

Pitcher Johnny Kucks, the other Yankee present at Martin's party, was not involved in last night's lineup.

Suggests Site

For Dodger Park

NEW YORK (AP)—Alb Stark, President of City Council Thursday suggested the Brooklyn Dodgers build an enlarged 50,000-seat stadium on the present site of Ebbets Field by closing a street and acquiring adjacent property. He said a five-acre plot across the street from the present park could house a garage to hold 5,000 cars.

Informed of Stark's suggestion, Walter O'Malley, President of the Dodgers, said:

"Mr. Stark continues to add confusion to what would have been a simple solution had he shown some initial support."

The Dodgers sold Ebbets Field to Marvin Kratter, a New York real estate investor last Oct. 30.

Netters Oppose Wisconsin, Iowa

By RUCK JERZY

With the Big 10 Champion-ship just one week away, Michigan State's tennis team travels to Madison, Wis., this weekend for matches with Iowa and Wisconsin.

Coach Frank Beerman's netters will have to defeat both the Huskies and the Badgers, which will be a record in their career.

Thus far this season the Spartans have only beaten Ohio State while losing to Northwestern, Illinois and Michigan. A match with Indiana was called because of rain with the Hoosiers leading 4-2.

In a four-match contest, Michigan State has defeated Wayne and Western Michigan. These

Last week, Iowa upset Indiana, 8-1. The Hoosiers have finished second in the Big 10 the last two years and were considered Michigan's top threat for the crown.

Wisconsin, with a ninth place finish in the Big 10 last season, has more victories, returning and should be stronger than last year's squad. The Badgers and Michigan State are not meet in 1956.

Beerman plans to stick with the same lineup for the Wisconsin match. At No. 1 singles, it'll be Bill Board, University junior, 20, a 21-year-old veteran and father of three children, has a 3-2 dual meet record.

His last victory over the Huskies was an upset win over Edmond, Jerry, Portland, Ore., last year.

Capt. George Stepanovic, the lone senior on the Spartan squad, will man the No. 2 singles. The big Wausau netter has compiled a 4-3 record.

Mike Zaremba and Ron Merrill will play No. 3 and No. 4 singles respectively for MSU. Zaremba, a junior from Milwaukee, and Merrill, a sophomore from Indianapolis, Ind., are both newcomers to the Spartan squad. Zaremba is 17-5 for the season and Merrill is 3-3.

Rebounding out states lineup at the No. 5 and No. 6 positions will be Lyle Vela, Bethlehem, Pa., junior and Foster Hoffman, senior.

General Duke X-Rayed

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP)—Camden Farms General Duke, the hard nose three-year-old forced out of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness because of a sore foot, arrived at Garden State Park today to undergo a series of X-rays.

Trainer Jimmy Jones had the horse shipped to Garden State so he could keep the General under his wing.

Billy Takes New York by Storm In Newest Crusade Against Sin

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Graham, born down on sin Thursday night, particularly in New York City, and he again brought hundreds of people to their knees.

It was the second night of the evangelist's crusade to start a spiritual reformation in this city and about 12,000 people gathered at Madison Square Garden for the service. The Garden can hold about 12,000 for the crusade.

Graham pounded at the old doctrines of sin, repentance and salvation in his sermon. He said New York is crying for cleansing from its evil.

Jesus puts his finger on the trouble in New York when he says that we are morally sick," he said.

I am appalled when I hear of the murders, the rapes, the assaults and robberies that are commonplace in this city — nearly a million crimes committed here last year.

But he said what troubles New York troubles the whole country.

In his dramatic conclusion Graham appealed for people to come forward and accept the teachings of Christ — and from all over the home, garden, people stepped forward.

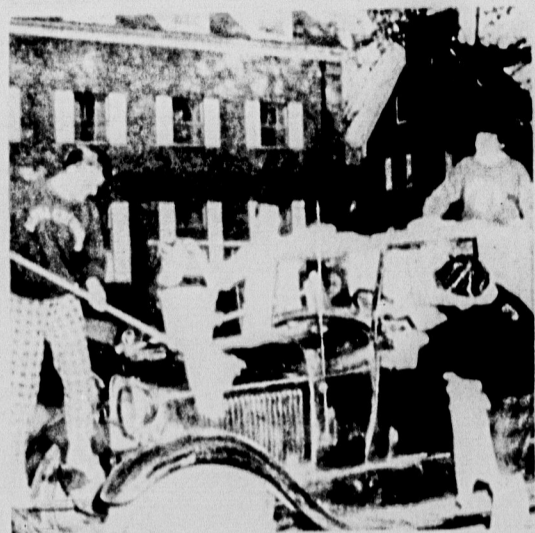

All together, 843 individuals responded to the call. They included soldiers, sailors, old women and old men, young people, Negroes and whites.

Wednesday night the number was 701, a card check Thursday showed, the largest first night response Graham had ever recorded in any of his crusades.

The turnout Thursday didn't match the virtually full house of the opening, when about 18,500 were present. But Graham said the size of the second night audience was highly gratifying.

It is the largest second night congregation of any of my crusades," he said. "The first 10 days of crusade are always the most difficult."

There is not quite the spirit in the early days that develops as we go along. But he said he felt the enthusiasm here already had reached a peak that normally comes only after two or three weeks.

To Aid Mongolia

Russia, Red China Join In New Economic Plan

LONDON (AP) — Russia Thursday night announced a massive economic and program to strengthen Outer Mongolia, which is sandwiched between Red China and the Soviet Union.

IFC Advisor To Speak

IFC Advisor John Henderson, assistant director, economic division of student affairs, will be the speaker at the IFC-Pantel banquet Sunday afternoon at 7 p.m. in the Ball Room of Kellogg College.

Henderson will speak about the progress made in the university's economic development and among themselves in the past year. He will also give his view on the future outlook for fraternities and sororities at MSU.

Ron Grow, Lansing, Mich., will be the master of ceremonies and the Playboys band will furnish the entertainment.

Speakers for the IFC and Pantel leadership conference Tuesday night have been announced. Mrs. Claire M. Moore, dean of women at Northwestern University, will talk to the crowd.

Dr. J. Dale Fawcett, vice president of Western Michigan University, will speak at the IFC banquet. Fawcett was formerly advisor and counselor for men here from 1946-50.

2 Shows Set By Senior Group This Weekend

The Senior Council Touring Talent Show will give two performances this weekend. Tonight at the Mt. Pleasant Home and Training School, and Saturday at Kalamazoo State Hospital.

The group will then have two more shows. Wednesday night at the Caro State Hospital for Epilepsy and May 28 the wrap-up show in the Union Ballroom at 8 p.m. Admission will be free.

The show has already appeared at the Lansing Boys' Vocational School, Jackson State Prison and the Battle Creek V. A. Hospital.

One new member has been added to the show since it started. Lee Sutphen, Belding sophomore, will be singing the music of Rogers and Hammerstein.

New acts are in the show, four singing acts, bobby barter, a tap dancing act, accordionist, guitarist and comedian.

The cast has will leave Friday afternoon at 3:15 and Saturday morning at 10, both times from the West Side of the Union.
