Union Man Takes 5th 23 Times

Ex-Baker's Officer Close Mouthed

WASHINGTON (AP)—George Stuart, resigned vice president of the Bakers Union, took the fifth amendment Thursday in refusing to testify before Senate Rackets Investigators.

Stuart said it "ought to be a criminal offense" if he told the senators his former occupation was that of an International Vice President in the union's hierarchy.

He said he now is "unemployed" and that he lives here in Washington.

Altogether, Stuart invoked the Fifth Amendment 23 times in 19 minutes in refusing to tell whether he had received $40,000 of his union's funds.

Stuart, a stocky, graying man, said he "honestly" believed that truthful answers to questions would lead to incriminate him. He then was excused from the witness stand.

Stuart resigned his union office last March. He had been accused by another union officer of misusing union funds, but said his resignation had nothing to do with the charges. He said he had been going into business in Kansas City.

The Senate Rackets Investigating Committee called Stuart as a witness after getting from a Chicago local union official a story of plush gifts bought with union funds and expense account padding while Stuart was trustee of a Chicago local union.

Anthony Borker, president of Chicago Bakers Union No. 1, testified too that he turned over $8,750 to Stuart for an "organization drive" but knew nothing of such a drive.

Confetti said he did whatever Stuart told him because he expected Stuart would have him out of the room.

When Stuart left as trustee in 1952, Confetti said, his local covered the international officer's expensive automobile (Cadillac) as a "suitable" farewell gift.

Stuart had been trustee of Local No. 100, since it merged into Local No. 1.

Confetti said the money he gave Stuart for the organization drive was first, on Stuart's instructions, channeled into his own savings account and then back out again.

Confetti said union funds were used to buy gifts or pay the personal bills of such officials as Stuart. And he said he believed the union paid for a trip Stuart made to Europe.

Air Force Cadets Get Appointments For Top Positions

The Department of Air Science has announced that Cadet Alan Ziss, Lansing junior, has assumed command of the Cadet Air Force ROTC Wing. Ziss is the Chicago Tribune Silver Medal for scholastic achievement and leadership. This will hold the post until the end of the '57-'58 school year.

Cadet Kenneth Thompson, Lansing junior, has been named sergeant as Deputy Wing Commander. He is a six-term member of the Spartan Guard and commander of Pershing Rifles, honorary military organization.

A third top position in the Cadet Wing will be filled by Cadet Leonard Gamber, Wayne State, who has been named Wing Executive Officer. Gamber is commander of the Phillip Lee Squadron of the Arnold Air Society and a member of the AFROTC Rifle Team.

2 Honoraries Plan Joint Picnic Saturday

Two freshman honoraries, Alpha Lambda Delta and Phi Eta Sigma, will hold a picnic Saturday. This marks the first joint function between the two groups. The picnic will be held at Potter Park in Lansing from 12 o'clock until about 5 p.m.

Cited for High Scholarship

201 Initiates Join National Honorary

One hundred eighty seniors as well as four distinguished faculty members and 17 graduate students were initiated Thursday night into Phi Kappa Phi, national honor society for recognition of highest scholarship.

Dr. Paul Henle, University of Michigan professor of philosophy, addressed the new members on the subject of "Paradigms and their reference to society today." He spoke of paradigms as examples or patterns followed in the fields of literature, physics, social science and religion.

Four faculty members were honored for their scientific research, teaching, publication of scholarly books and election to other honoraries in their respective fields.

Those cited were Miss Faye Kinder, voted outstanding teacher of the university last year; Edward B. Blackman, distinguished teacher in the department of humanities; Carl F. Huffman, author of 134 publications and Borden Award recipient for dairy; and Robert S. Bandurski, for his outstanding work in botany and plant pathology.

Marvel Allard, Grosse Pointe junior, received a $50 award for the student who had the highest scholarship as a sophomore.

Sophomores honored for highest scholarship as freshmen as representatives of class A, B, C and D schools respectively were Eugene M. Perring, 3897; Carolyn Boller, 3964, East Lansing; Dorothy Selinger, 3877; Emmett and Gerald Feichter, 3579, Anchorville.

William B. Drew, president of the MSU chapter of Phi Kappa Phi, stated that the honorary was originally founded at the University of Maine in 1897. He explained that the badge is a flattened globe surrounded by the rays of the sun in eight groups, signifying the equivalence of all branches of knowledge. The rays represent the dissemination of truth where it is discovered.

Drew introduced the new officers: president, Dr. Katherine Hart, head of the department of institutional administration; vice president, Dr. J. Sutherland Frame, head of the department of mathematics; secretary, Dr. Mary L. Hurt, assoc. professor of vocational education.

Treasurer, Dr. J. T. Anderson, assoc. professor of mechanical engineering, and Journal correspondent, Dr. Alice Thorpe, ass't professor of home management and child development.

'India Night' to Feature Snake Dance, Party

An Indian "snake dance of the Himalayas" will be performed tonight during India Night activities in the Social Hall of Peoples Church. Sponsored by International Club, India Night begins at 8 p.m. The program will include Indian music—in the form of violin and flute solos—two Indian movies and a performance of mimicry.

Following the program, which is open to all students, a farewell party for graduating foreign students, club members and friends will be held in the International Center.

Truck, Van Collision Takes Toll

17 Laborers Killed In Carolina Mishap

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C. (AP)—One of the nation's worst truck accidents in history, a fiery smash of a huge van and a truck filled with migrant farm laborers, killed 17 persons near here Thursday.

The impact spraved bodies of dead and injured over the highway. The truck caught fire.

The State Highway Patrol said 13 or 14 workers died in the collision and flames which enveloped the workers' flat-bed truck. Others died at hospitals.

At least 10 persons were hospitalized, some with critical injuries.

The flat-bed truck apparently pulled into the path of the potato-laden tractor-trailer at a Y intersection of Highways 301 and 102, nine miles north of here about 7:15 a. m., the patrol said.

"I heard someone yell, 'Look out!' I grabbed a rail overhead and swung out. I was thrown out when the trucks crashed," said Willie Solomon, a transient laborer from Florence, S. C., who escaped serious injury.

"I flew through the air and hit the top of the truck," he added. "It was kinda like a dream. People were lying all over the place, then some people came up and helped."

A survivor said the 41 migrant workers from several states, were en route from Mt. Olive, N. C., to Dunn, N. C., to pick beans. The victims included men, women and children. All the workers, reportedly, were Negroes.

The tractor-trailer spun to its side after crashing into the workers' truck. It blocked U.S. 301 for several hours.

Truck driver Joe Lozak of Berwick, Pa., saw the collision in his rear-view mirror. "It looked like a big ball of fire," he said.

W. H. Covington rushed to the scene after two men came to his country store to call ambulances.

"I didn't count them," Covington said, "but one of the boys said he counted 37 (victims) at one time, all laying down, some dead and some injured. Some of them were mangled all over."

"There was plenty of blood. It was a terrible sight," Tom Junior Mackey, driver of the workers' truck, in his death and trapped the work crew chief, Lewis Wesley, in the flaming cab.

Gilbert Robert Peters Jr., 25, of Wapawapton, Pa., driver of the tractor-trailer, was reported in good condition at Highsmith Hospital here.

King, Queen Lead Floats

Marquee Lights, Fireworks Mark Oscar's Gala Opening

By PAT MELOY

Opening with 14-hour marquee lights, closing with fireworks, Oscar presented his premier performance of the 1957 Water Carnival Thursday night, under the sponsorship of the Senior class with Roy Bennett as general chairman.

Oscar will return the 31st edition of the spring extravaganza tonight at 8:30 and Saturday night at 9:30.

Leading a total of 34 float entries Thursday night was the "King and Queen" float featuring Miss Mary Lou Brown, secretary of the senior class, and Pat Wilson, its president.

Following this were "Greatest Show on Earth," "Gilded and Ruffled," "Haley, Doll," "Mason and West Shaw," and "The Philadelphia Story," Kappa Gamma and Sigma Nu.

The fifth float was "Seven's Heaven," West Lansing and Alpha Chi Sigma, 6; "King Henry VIII," West Yankley and Beta Phi, 7; "Born Yesterday," Alpha Delta Phi and Alpha Gamma Rho; 8; "Gone With the Wind," South Williams and Delta Sigma Phi, 9; "All Quiet on the Western Front," Sigma and Armstrong, and 10; "War and Peace," Kappa Alpha Theta and Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

More were 11, "Best Years of Our Lives," Kappa Delta and Alpha Tau Omega, 12; "Captain Courageous," Delta Zeta and Gamma Delta, and Delta Chi.

Still others were 14, "Street of Names Desire," Abbott and Veta Club, 15; "The Living Desert," East Mayo and Epsilon Phi, 16; "Times Misadventures," Alpha Gamma Delta and Delta Chi, 17; "A Double Life," East Lansing and Butterfield, and 20; "Mr. McGoo," Phillips and Bailey.

Others were 21, "To Each His Own," Sigma Kappa and Delta Upsilon, 22; "You Can't Take It With You," Delta Gamma and Beta Theta Pi, 23; "Going My Way," Delta Delta Delta and Sigma Chi, 24; "American in Paris," Alpha Chi Omega and Delta Sigma Phi, and 25; "The Intention," Chi Omega and Lambda Chi Alpha.

Number 26 was "Mutiny on the Bounty," Pi Beta Phi and Phi Delta Theta, 27; "It Happened One Night," Alpha Omicron Pi and Kappa Sigma, 28; "The Good Earth," Alpha Epsilon Phi and Alpha Epsilon Pi, 29; "The King and I," South Campbell and Farmhouse, and 30; "Suspicion," Alpha Xi Delta and Theta Xi.

Ending the parade were 31, "Come Back Little Sheba," West Mayo and East Shaw, 32; "The Eyes and Ears of the World," North Williams and Triangle, 33; "All the King's Men," East Yankley and Psi Upsilon, and 34; "Country Girl," Alpha Phi and Delta Tau Delta.

Conferences Slated Here This Month

Agricultural engineers from the United States and 50 foreign countries will center at the 50th annual meeting of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers, June 23-26.

The principal speaker will be John L. McCaffrey, chairman of the board, International Harvester Company, Chicago, Ill.

The ASAE and the MSU department of agricultural engineering will sponsor the event at Shaw Hall, Anthony Hall and the Agricultural Engineering building.

More than 100 Michigan insurance agents will attend the Basic Fundamentals of Insurance Institute, June 9 through 15 at Kellogg Center.

The courses are sponsored by the MSU College of Business and Public Service and the Michigan Association of Insurance Agents in cooperation with other state officers and insurance organizations.

Water Carny Meeting Slated for Today

There will be a meeting for all Water Carnival living and chairmen today at 1:30 p.m. in the bandstand.

GI Called 'Sacrificial Lamb'

Attorneys Launch Counter Attack

WASHINGTON (AP)—Attorneys for William S. Girard, young American soldier who has become an international issue, launched a court action and other moves Thursday to prevent him from being tried by a Japanese court.

Federal Judge Joseph C. McGarraghy signed an order directing that Girard "not be delivered to custody or control of any foreign government or power" pending hearing next Tuesday on an application for a writ of habeas corpus.

The judge rejected a request of Atty. Gen. Earl J. Carroll of New York and Dayton M. Harrington of Washington for an immediate order requiring that Girard be brought home and "produced in this court."

Meanwhile, Atty. Gen. James C. Reynolds and Elliott Young, retained by Girard's mother, Mrs. Dorothy Girard of Ottawa, Ill., flew here from Peoria seeking reversal of the decision to turn the GI over to Japanese authorities, Girard is charged with causing the death of a Japanese woman who was scavenging on a military firing range.

The Army announced late Thursday that its assistant judge advocate general will fly to Japan immediately to "insure that Girard's legal rights are fully protected."

In announcing the departure of Brig. Gen. Charles L. Decker, one of the Army's senior legal officers, Secretary Wilber Bricker said this action "is in consonance with the responsibility of the Department of the Army."

The Army said it is planned that Decker will serve as an official observer for the Army at the pending trial by a Japanese court.

The Defense and State Departments jointly announced Tuesday the decision to turn Girard over to Japanese authorities for trial in a civil court.

This, in effect, upheld Japan's contention that while Girard was authorized to protect military property he was not authorized to shoot.

The order signed Tuesday by Judge McGarraghy directed Secretary of State Dulles, Defense Secretary Wilson and several other officials to appear in court, either in person or through counsel, at 11 a.m. Tuesday to "show cause, if any there be, why a writ of habeas corpus should not issue."

U.S. Attorney Oliver Gasch, while predicting ultimate victory for the government, did not object to issuance of the "show cause" order. He merely urged an early hearing.

Gasch said the Defense Department had with some reluctance authorized him to tell the court that Girard would be kept in custody of the United States Government pending determination of the suit.

On Capitol Hill, Sen. Schoepel (R-Kan.) joined the growing criticism of the decision giving jurisdiction to Japan.

Dorm Champions Eat, Get Awards

Men's Inter-Residence Council and the Department of Residence Halls Thursday night presented an All-Award Banquet for the dormitory champions of all men's living units.

A steak dinner was served after which Bill Yeoman, ass't football coach, delivered the main address. Frank Beeman, chairman of intramural athletics, presented sports trophies to the top inter-dorm teams.

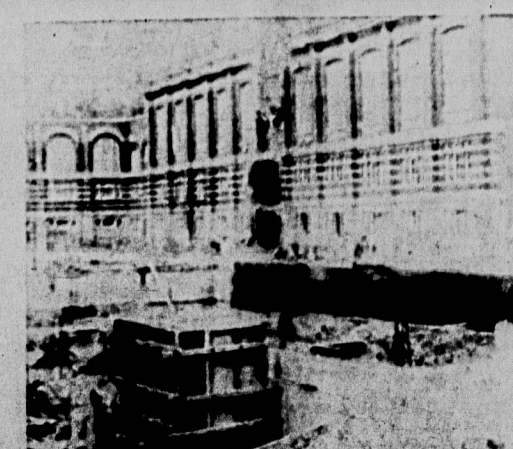

Renovation, Redecoration Included Modern Facilities in New Gym Wing

The women's physical education department is looking forward to the completion of a badly needed women's intramural building which is now in the construction process.

The existing building was erected in 1916 for men's activities and later served the needs of both men and coeds. When Jensen Fieldhouse was built in 1938 the gym was taken over by the women's physical education department and with the exception of a swimming pool which was added in 1919 the building has remained unchanged.

Due for completion in September of 1958, the construction will include an entirely new wing two stories high housing a gymnasium, pool, numerous staff offices, new locker rooms, shower facilities and an activities room.

The new pool opens on a glassed-in patio overlooking the Red Cedar River and decor plans include dusty rose tile set into the walls to produce a water-like effect.

The most modern concepts have been incorporated into the pool planning. Underwater lighting will be an aid to instruction and provide interesting effects for exhibitions.

A glassed-in instructor's office allows the pool to be under supervision at all times. Adjacent to this is a first aid room, lacking in the present building.

Provision for more locker space is another feature of the new wing. Each coed is to have a small locker for gym clothes and a larger one where class clothing can be hung.

Phys. Ed majors will have their own locker room and a lounge. The existing gymnasium is to be redecored for continued use. Old rooms will serve as places for seminars and lectures and the corrective gym, used for handicapped students, will be enlarged so that such a program can be extended.

Once Again We Say Farewell Seniors, We Wish You Luck

Four years ago a few thousand bewildered youngsters invaded Michigan State College. Sunday a couple thousand young men and women will leave Michigan State University.

Those leaving Sunday are the same who came four years ago. They are not completely the same. Some are still bewildered and some are still youngsters, but most have experienced a personal change greater than any they have ever known before or ever will know. Most have matured mentally and emotionally. If they hadn't this university would have failed and we are not inclined to believe that MSU would fail.

Michigan State has opened up whole new worlds to the 2,000 and more seniors who will graduate Sunday. It is up to them now to explore those worlds. Their education does not end when the last degree has been bestowed. It has only begun. The foundation has been laid for great intellectual experiences. Not all will build on this foundation and that is the tragedy. But a better world lies ahead for those who will.

Much has been said in the past few days about the cold, cruel world the seniors are entering. Perhaps there is more truth in that than in this. We don't know. We are still within the protecting walls of our ivory tower. But we'll take a guess and say that it probably can be a pretty cold and cruel place at times at least. We already know that it is not everything we want it to be. And we are realists enough to know that as individuals we will not change it much. But as the Class of 1957 you seniors stand in as good a position to make some changes as any before and perhaps any after you. Great changes are in the making now. They have been initiated by classes before you and will be handed to you to complete. Scientists have left some frightening questions to answer; education presents a puzzle of what to do and how to do it; the war for men's minds has introduced new concepts in mass communication. Whatever your field, the challenge is there. You are going to have to do things and you are going to have to do them well.

If you have been anathetic it is time to stop. From now on, like it or not, you will be the leaders. And this era calls for strong, intelligent leadership.

Years from now when you reminisce your college days you will no doubt remember mostly the football games, the centennial celebration, the name change, those hours in the grill and the Deerhead and the friends you spent them with and perhaps, a bit sadly, your graduation and leaving the campus for good. These are the highlights and they will stand out always.

But every day there will be other things you will remember. The things which happened to you without your always realizing it; the things which in a sense have become an inherent part of you. These are the ideas, the theories, the concepts you have picked up from some of the great and not so great people at Michigan State. These are your education. These are what you have to build on. Your success or failure will depend on these, all the rest are just added attractions.

Goodbye and good luck.

John Rogers

To the editor:

I would like to extend my best wishes to the new Senior Class president for 1958. It is my feeling that the class has created a man of very high caliber, and great potential. Given the deserved cooperation, I'm sure Pat Burke will make an outstanding president.

It is unfortunate that the recent campaign has been marked by controversy. I feel that many events in the past few weeks have been open to interpretation, and I am sorry that misunderstanding arose as a result.

I think that everyone connected with the election has learned a great deal, and I hope that this knowledge will help avoid mistakes in the future. As far as my personal feelings are concerned, it has been an honor just to be a candidate.

I would like to thank my supporters in the recent election. It has been a privilege to work with you. Our job now, and that of every member of the present junior class, is to work for class unity. It is going to take all our loyalty and support if the future events of the class—coffee hours, swingout, the touring talent show and water carnival—are to be successful. I'd like to pledge my personal support to the new officers, and I will be happy to give them any assistance I can.

Sincerely,
John Rogers

Services Battle Over Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP)—A top scientist said Thursday the Army has created a special type missile which could be used for launching an earth satellite. But the Army says it hasn't been given any assignment to enter the race to outer space.

The scientist, who requested anonymity, said the device was developed several months ago at the Army's Huntsville, Ala., ballistic missile agency laboratory. The Navy has been designated as the administrative agency to handle development and use of launching equipment for the earth satellite program, a part of the International Geophysical Year (IGY).

Meanwhile, the Air Force has been pushing its effort to put one of its intercontinental ballistic missiles (ICBM) into the air. The Air Force has two ICBM projects under way, the Atlas and the Titan. Latest report is that the Air Force may attempt an Atlas test launching today from the Cape Canaveral site, but the Air Force declines to confirm that report.

Behind all this interservice contest is the order of Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson, issued last fall, directing that the Army use ballistic missiles of no more than 200 miles range and leaving the army without funds to continue its IRBM development after money now available is used up. This point will be reached about next October.

Doctors Ask Probe of Pep-Up Pills

NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's doctors Thursday ordered a study into "shocking" reports of dangerous abuse of potent pep-up pills by athletes, including high school kids.

One physician declared excessive use of the stimulant drugs may "produce violent, senescent and criminal behavior and harmful physical effects."

The action came in a resolution by delegates of the American Medical Assn. (AMA) condemning indiscriminate use of such drugs as Amphetamine and derivatives. They called for a study by AMA trustees and approval of action to halt any abuses of drugs to make players "super-athletes."

Explaining the move, Dr. Herbert Berger of New York said some drug addicts may get started by taking Amphetamine and other stimulants while in college or high school athletics. He is chairman of the committee on narcotic and alcohol addiction of the New York State Medical Society, which introduced the resolution. Medically, one use of Amphetamine is as a stimulant to overcome depression. A prescription drug, it is sold under such trade names as Benzedrine, Dexedrine, Ritalin and Wyamine.

An MSU Yul Brynner is surrounded by admiring 17 fans. The coeds are probably wondering if this is socially smooth or just another way to beat the heat. A campus fad may be in the offing as reports indicate that mass shearing is taking place. Line forms to the right, boys.

B & K Find Finns Cool, Silent

HELSINKI, Finland (AP)—Premier Nikoila Bulganin and Communist boss Nikita Khrushchev, the traveling salesmen of Soviet Communism, got a cool and silent welcome from Finns Thursday.

It was the first glad-handing pilgrimage of the much-traveled Kremlin pair since the Hungarian revolution last fall rocked the Communist world.

The official Red carpet was laid out by a Finnish government always anxious to have the most correct of relations with a big neighbor which less than two decades ago launched a mammoth attack against this country.

But a crowd of about 1,000 unsmiling Finns who lined the railroad tracks across the way from the official greeters and another 15,000 packed in the square outside Helsinki's flag-draped station just looked on with a stolid curiosity.

The appearance of Finland's popular new Premier, Vieno J. Suksela, brought cheers from the crowd. But the on-lookers fell silent as Bulganin and Khrushchev, a few steps behind, came into view.

The Russian visitors, too, seemed subdued. Both the Soviet leaders were grave and unsmiling, in contrast with their holiday mood when they boarded their train in Moscow.

Bulganin preceded Khrushchev from the train, and they proceeded across a Red carpet which stretched the length of the platform. There stood the welcoming delegation of Finnish dignitaries, headed by the Premier. Beside them was a military band which struck up the Soviet national anthem and then the Finnish anthem.

Premier Suksela greeted the Russians warmly and said their visit had "great significance."

"It is good for the whole world to realize that two neighboring nations are no longer found the road to friendship," the Finnish Premier said. "It is important for leading statesmen of neighboring countries to establish personal relationships and bonds."

The purpose of this seven-day visit is described officially as a discussion of trade and neighborly relations. Bulganin and Khrushchev head a delegation of high government, defense and trade officials.

Final Examination Schedule for Spring, 1957

The other day our vice president in charge of good news announced that someone, somewhere, enjoys Coke 58 million times a day. You can look at this 2 ways: Either we've got an incredibly thirsty individual on our hands. Or Coca-Cola is the best-loved sparkling drink in the world. We lean to the latter interpretation.

'Queens Castle' Set As Dorm Nickname

Williams Gains Recognition
With Traditions, Trophies

By JAN KLOUSER

Williams dorm, at the far west end of campus, is 20 years old this year. Built in 1937, it was considered one of the most modern buildings on campus. A pool and fountain in front earned it the name of "Queen's Castle."

Williams was named after Sarah Langdon Williams, wife of the first president of MSU.

A tradition, which has lasted through the years, is the Christmas tea, honoring prominent campus administrators such as Dean King and President Hannah. The first tea was held when the dorm opened in 1937 and has become an annual event.

Also at Christmas time, each wing has a party at which the coeds donate gifts to be sent to children's hospitals. This year money was collected and one big gift was bought to be sent to the hospitals.

Each year, both wings have separate senior and scholarship dinners. The juniors in North Williams take part in a senior dinner when they serve the graduating seniors at a "sit-down" dinner. The three-pointers are given roses at North Williams scholarship dinner.

A Halloween party at South Williams is another long-standing tradition.

On parents' and homecoming weekends, the coeds of South Williams hold a tea at which the parents are the honored guests.

In 1951, South took second place for the homecoming displays and in 1954 they captured second in the Inter-Dorm sing.

Before it even became a dorm, Williams won the Homecoming display contest in 1923. This may sound hard to do, but the explanation is that the coeds who eventually moved to Williams were housed in what was then known as the Women's Building.

North Williams can certainly be proud of their sports achievements — having won 10 trophies since 1953.

In 1953 they combined with South Williams and took second place in Spartacade. In 1954 they came in fourth in Water Carnival. Winter and spring terms of 1955 they won the scholarship trophy.

In 1956 North Williams won the all-sports trophy after earning the highest number of points ever achieved. That same year they won the tennis, bowling and volley ball trophy. Also in 1956 North took second place in the Lambda Chi Alpha 500.

Sports trophies again came their way in 1957 when they won the all-sports trophy for the second time and the tennis trophy for the second year in a row. Also in 1957 Barbara Spencer, Orchard Park, N.Y. freshman, was elected Delta Sigma Pi Rose Queen.

At the present time there are approximately 125 coeds living in South Williams and 120 in North Williams.

Spartans Set Social Plans

Although exam time is here, Spartans are planning to attend Water Carnival, picnics and dances on this last weekend before finals.

E. Shaw will sponsor a dance from 9-12 p.m. tonight at State Hall. Reservations will be taken from those wishing to dance. Picnics 4 and 5 of E. Shaw will hold a picnic Saturday from 1:30-6:30 p.m.

With their water carnival just completed, Gilchrist will rather get together for a swim party. The party will be held at Alward Lake from 10-6 p.m. Saturday.

Theta Chi pledges are sponsoring a picnic for the actives and their parents Saturday afternoon from 1:30-6 p.m. at Lake Lansing State Park. Food will be supplied and activities will include water skiing, volleyball and other sports.

INVESTIGATE LIBERALISM

If you believe religion should be a way of life and not merely a statement of creeds and the practice of rituals... If you believe that what a man is and does is more important than how he defines himself... If you believe that knowledge did not stop yesterday, that tomorrow may reveal new truth or new aspects of old truths... If you are looking for a more meaningful relationship with men and women like yourself who are not afraid to face the spiritual challenges of modern science and modern living...

22 Freshmen Entered In Final Meet of Season

By HAL BATEMAN

Michigan State's track team will conclude its season Saturday afternoon in the Michigan AAU Championships at Western Michigan's Waldo Stadium in Kalamazoo.

Head Coach Karl Schlademan has entered 33 athletes, 22 unattached and 11 varsity, in the meet. All of the unattached entries are members of the freshman track team.

Auto Industry Rules Against Road Racing

DETROIT (AP)—The auto industry Thursday, in effect, divorced itself from future participation in automobile racing or other events involving tests of speed.

Directors of the Automobile Manufacturers Assn. unanimously recommended to the manufacturers that they not only withdraw from such events, but also that they refrain from suggesting speed in passenger car advertising or publicity.

Inasmuch as the Board of Directors of the Association is made up of the heads of the different auto companies the proposal has the effect of an agreement among them to halt any further participation in car racing.

The resolution means the auto makers will take no further part in stock car racing, popular in such places as Daytona Beach, Fla., Darlington, S.C., Langhorne, Pa., Pike's Peak and other points. It also means withdrawal from any other competitive events where speed, engine torque or acceleration tests are involved.

Also mentioned in the resolution as the sponsoring of pace cars for any event.

The closest approach to an explanation of the industry action was the statement in the Association announcement that emphasis on horsepower or speed was not doing highway safety any good.

Fullmer, 'Tiger' Jones Clash For Title Go With Sugar Ray

CHICAGO (AP)—Ex-Middleweight Champion Gene Fullmer tonight starts a "comeback" after the only knockout of his career, against dangerous Tiger Jones in a 10-rounder at the Chicago Stadium.

Just 37 days ago, in this same ring, Fullmer was knocked cold in the fifth round of his first title defense by Sugar Ray Robinson.

Fullmer is rated a 9-5 favorite over Jones, who nearly wrecked a Robinson "comeback" at the Chicago Stadium in January of 1955 by soundly pumeling Sugar Ray.

Tonight's bout will be broadcast and telecast (NBC) starting at 9 p.m., EST.

How much Robinson's paralyzing shot to Fullmer's chin May 1 took out of the rugged West Jordan, Utah, battler remains to be seen.

Fullmer and Jones have met once, Gene winning a close decision April 29, 1956.

Fullmer, ranked No. 1 middleweight contender in both the National Boxing Assn. and Ring Magazine ratings, has a 40-4 record with 20 knockouts. Jones ranked No. 5 by NBA and No. 7 by Ring, has 44-17-4 with 12 knockouts.

This bout undoubtedly will send the winner clamoring for a title match with the amazing Robinson. However, Robinson is expected to let nothing interfere with his proposed "big payoff" match with Welterweight Champion Carmen Basilio in September.

If Sugar Ray beats Basilio, he may retire again. If he loses, then Basilio is the man Fullmer or Jones must challenge.

Jones, 29, from Yonkers, N.Y., is a crafty fighter, although lacking the bombs of a Robinson. Fullmer, who turns 29 next month, likes to brawl in the ring, but made the mistake of abandoning his rushing tactics against Robinson May 1.

Fullmer tried to exchange punches with Sugar Ray, a mistake he wrested the title from Robinson in New York Jan. 2.

Southerners Lose Skirmish

On Civil Rights Measure

Washington, (AP) — Southern-ers lost a tense parliamentary battle to derail the civil rights bill today. They settled down to fight it section by section as the House pushed toward a decision next week.

The immediate threat to the bill was a point of order raised by Rep. Howard Smith (D-Va.) rules committee chairman when other opponents of civil rights legislation tried to pass "the Smith's surprise attack on the bill was based on a contention that the Judiciary Committee had violated a basic House rule when it sent the measure to the House with a report that did not cover all the contemplated changes in present law.

He argued that the committee's report, while lengthy, did not specifically point out to members how the proposed addition of another assistant Attorney General to the Justice department modifies present statutes, and contended the measure omits the usual specific provision that such an assistant must be a lawyer.

When Rep. Keating (R-N.Y.) said Smith had ample opportunity to point out any such omissions while the Rules Committee was leisurely considering the bill, Smith fired back that he had at no time been "willing to lend aid in the passage of this nefarious bill."

Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) ruled against Smith's point, which would have sent the bill back to the Judiciary Committee and probably killed any chance of passage this year.

Then the southerners, attending in force, opened up oratorical fire on the bill, centering especially on what they say is a provision for sending accused violators of civil rights injunctions to jail without jury trial.

Rep. Cramer of New York, principal Democratic manager of the bill, replied that jury trial requirements would interfere with courts' ability to enforce their orders. He said trial of contempt cases by the judge alone is standard procedure under most Federal statutes and a variety of state laws, such as those on alimony and child custody.

And he said an Alabama jury on May 30 acquitted two white men of bombing a Negro home after "the defense related its case on 'honest-the-white-line grounds'."

Under the time table finally adopted Thursday, the House will debate today and Monday in general debate on the measure and begin considering amendments Tuesday. It conceivably could reach the final vote Thursday.

GI

"The decision should check the conscience of every American citizen," Schwegel said. "It is William Girard today. It could be your son tomorrow."

"Does a boy who has been forced into the armed services and forced to go overseas also surrender all the rights, privileges and immunities of a citizen of the United States guaranteed him under the Constitution?"

In Judge McGarragh's courtroom, Carroll said Girard was being made "a sacrificial lamb merely for the purpose of appeasing" Japan.

President's MAC Visit, 1907 Thrill

Teddy Roosevelt
At Campus Fete

By CAROL SCHOWENGERDT

In 1907 Michigan Agricultural College celebrated the semi-centennial of its founding. In this same year the village of East Lansing (until then known as Agricultural College and Collegeville) became a fourth-class incorporated city.

But this day in 1907, the semi-centennial affair was to be highlighted by the visit of President "Teddy" Roosevelt to the campus.

This was before the days of the Secret Service, and when the President arrived at the Capitol, he rode all the way from Lansing to the campus in an open top car accompanied only by his secretary, William Loeb, Ransom E. Olds and Dr. Jonathan Snyder.

Olds, as may be noted in the above photo, had donated his Keo Special for the occasion and was understandably proud to have the Nation's President enjoying the cruise. The inter-city drive was certainly not calculated as a publicity stunt but, just the same it wouldn't hurt Ransom's sales figures either.

Dr. Snyder had become the seventh president of the college in 1896, and during his term he raised the enrollment from 300 to 2,000 students. He had also started a startling new scheme—coed classes, so that some of those 2,000 students who turned out to see Teddy Roosevelt were women—a very daring thing in those days.

As the foursome drove through

Smokeshopper Since 1915

Charlie Washburn, MAC Businessman

By RAY PIERCE

Charlie Washburn's Smokeshop has been a tradition at MSU since student Washburn opened it in 1915. Charlie came to MAC from New Hampshire and stayed on to graduate, get married and go into the army—all in 1917.

Charlie majored in what he called "Lat Ag." He wanted business administration, but only agriculture and engineering were taught at that time, so the next nearest thing was a minimum of ag courses with general courses. Charlie Washburn's reason for coming to MAC was money, or rather the lack of it. To back up his story Charlie had a price list dated September 25, 1913 which listed expenses as follows:

Incidental Fee	$2.50
Tuition	5.00
Mechanical Engineering	1.00
Physics	.50
Athletic Fee	2.00
Total	$11.00

The administration tried to thwart Charlie's romance with the future Mrs. Washburn, but love won out in the end.

The street cars used to run around what is now the Campbell dorm area. Charlie caught the car going downtown and found his fiancée also on the car, so he sat next to her. The Dean of Women was also riding in the car and shortly after, the future Mrs. Washburn received the following:

"My dear Miss Hancorne, I have been waiting, hoping that you or the young man who was with you, would have some explanation to make in regard to your going beyond bounds on Saturday of last week without permission, as I would so much rather have the girls come to me than to send for them.

"When I went to town with you on the same car before Christmas, I gave you the benefit of the doubt, and thought that the matter of your being with the young man then, might have been accidental.

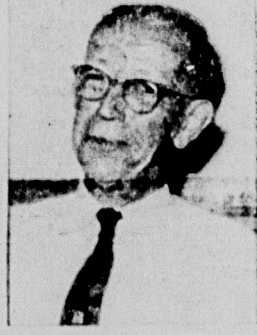

"Will you please see me yourself about this or ask the young man to do so at your earliest convenience?"

Very sincerely yours,
(signed) Georgia L. White Dean

Undamned by Miss White, however, the Washburns went on to raise two children and are now seven times grandparents. Their son Richard graduated from MSU in 1942 and received his Ph. D. in entomology from Cornell University. He is now in Alaska working in an experimental station.

City Was Once Called 'Agricultural College'
East Lansing, before it became an incorporated fourth-class city, in 1907, was known as Agricultural College and also as College-town.

Hank, Frank Ran Campus Barber Shop

During the period when this institution was very small and the city of East Lansing was smaller yet, there dwelt a barber shop which became a favorite of the college students.

The establishment was known commonly as "Hank and Frank's" and occupied the present Kresge store site in the middle of the Abbott-MAC block.

For many the years the barber shop business flourished under the joint ownership. When the Union building was built in 1923, however, Hank and Frank decided to move their business and establish the Union Barber Shop.

Although "Frank" is now deceased, the other member of the partnership, Henry LaFarge, still lives in East Lansing in "The Dog Kennel," his home at 1820 E. Grand River.

Now one of the real oldtimers in the area, LaFarge can truly celebrate this Golden Anniversary.

E. L. Residents Watch MAC Grow to MSU

East Lansing residents witnessed the official dedication of Michigan Agricultural College in the spring of 1857, 109 years ago. It was then only a crude clearing in the wilderness. Today it is a multi-million dollar institution with more than 5,000 acres of campus land.

First Rooming House

It has been many years since the old "White Elephant" marked the entrance to the MAC campus area, but old timers will remember it well.

The White Elephant was a large, three-story home built by some early community pioneers, the Harrison family (after which Harrison Rd. was named). The family owned that portion of the campus and East Lansing

EAST LANSING TO CELEBRATE

Ex-Mayors To Lead Procession

Bailey School
Starting Point

By NELDA TROUT

Fast mayors and several other East Lansing dignitaries will head the Golden Anniversary parade leaving Bailey School at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, marching westward on Grand River Avenue, then down Abbott Road.

According to S. G. Whittemore, chairman of the celebration, a reviewing stand has been planned in front of the post office. Special dedication services for the new addition to the post office, will be held following the parade.

Among the special guests for the anniversary are several former mayors: B. J. Ford, now retired in Florida; L. L. Frumidig, business manager of the University athletic department; C. G. Card, former head of the poultry department and now retired East Lansing citizen; and R. P. Lyman, insurance man.

Other past mayors attending are Burr C. Twitchell, owner of Twitchell's cleaners and Cornelius Wagenvoort, book binder. Present mayor, Max Strother, of the MSU purchasing department, will head the list of honored mayors.

Invited members of the East Lansing City Council include Harold Pletz, filling station owner; John B. Lazell, head of the Bell Telephone engineering department for this district; Russell Runquist, East Lansing Realty; Raymond A. Wilcox, Lansing Township supervisor; and William L. King.

Other guests include James F. McClure, Meridian Township Supervisor; Paul Martin, publisher of the State Journal; C. E. McDonald, East Lansing schools supervisor; MSU President John A. Hannah; Mrs. Don M. LeDuc, East Lansing school board president; and William A. Burgess, acting post master of East Lansing.

More honored guests include Ralph Young, state representative from this district; John M. Patriarche, East Lansing city manager; S. G. Whittemore, president of the East Lansing Savings and Loan Association; and Lansing's mayor, Ralph Crego.

Other dignitaries are Paul Younger, state senator for this area; Ralph Wills, assistant postmaster general; and Charles Chamberlain, representative from the sixth Congressional district to the U.S. House of Representatives.

According to Ray Knider, chairman of the parade, the procession will be divided into two sections for better time control. Following the honored guests, who are to ride in Oldsmobile convertibles, will be the William R. Johnson Post 205, the American Legion.

The East Lansing High School band is scheduled to follow with several antique automobiles from the Red Cedar Auto Club next. Final sections of the first half of the parade include members of the Saddle and Hunt Club riding horseback and the Dairy Queen Float, sponsored by Heatherwood Farms.

4 Corners at Abbott and Grand River Are Still the Center of City's Activities

By PAT MELOY

The traditional American town must have a four corners to serve as its trade mark, and East Lansing is no exception. The crossroads at Abbott Road and Grand River Avenue have been the center of the community's commercial activity since the chartering.

One can't discuss this area at much length without reference to the College Drug Store. Throughout the years it has been the dominant firm on or near the corners.

In 1908 A. C. Bauer opened this business as a drug and grocery store within the block itself, which stretches east along Grand River from Abbott Road.

Bauer then extended his business to include the Machus Restaurant, originally operated by E. M. Hertz. This combined business prospered and as late as 1910 was practically the only business establishment in the village.

Due to the latter fact, Bauer expanded his line of merchandise to include anything the East Lansing townspeople might need.

Fraternities Bloomed After Snyder Speech

In 1909 President Snyder recognized arguments that fraternity life tends to "seclusion and aristocracy rather than freedom and democracy."

But he also acknowledged that "modern student life demands that some students draw away from the student-body and form fraternal communities."

With the exception of such staples as clothing, shoes and furniture, which the large Lansing department stores could better handle. While the restaurant was later discontinued, the drug and grocery sales continued for many years until it was finally discontinued into just the drug business with its usual variety of goods.

The business was sold in 1945 to I. A. Schaffhauser, who presently owns the store. In 1948 the store moved to its present corner location and opened a prescription shop on Abbott Road.

As its most recent change College Drug expanded along Grand River to its familiar modern-looking frontage.

During the first four decades of East Lansing history, MSU's another firm familiar to MSU students, held the east corner position at Grand River and Ab-

New Ambulance Service for City

Realizing the need for an ambulance in East Lansing, two local businessmen, Bill Malec of Malec Floral Company and Bill Miles of B. A. Faunce Company, have taken steps to provide such a service for the community.

Their ambulance is equipped with oxygen and other rescue equipment. All personnel are trained in first aid and ready to serve East Lansing citizens 24 hours a day.

It is suggested that you jot down their phone number ED 7-7226 just in case you might have use for such service. List it among your emergency phone numbers.

bott Road, fronting on the latter. Run for many years by George MacKichan, who is still an East Lansing resident, the store, housed in a low one-story brick building, was known as The Fashion Shop until the late twenties.

At that time it took the name Hurd's and extended its sales to include a furnishings department as well as its usual clothing line.

While there were no stores on the opposite side of Grand River, the south corners presented some changes, too. By the 1930's the street itself had been converted from a two-lane road to a boulevard.

At about the same time another prominent transportation change occurred. The inter-urban electric railway from Lansing, which at one time had its turn-around on the site of the present MSU Union and a waiting room where Campbell Hall is presently located, suffered the sad extinction of the rest of its race as the car and bus overtook it in convenience and economy.

The changes at East Lansing's four corners may be simply summed up as a crystallization of the many and varied changes upon the American scene in the last half century, as "progress" became the byword.

Prominent Family Still in the News

LeMoine Snyder III, son of East Lansing's world-travelled citizen, LeMoine Snyder II and grandson of Jonathan S. Snyder, early MAC president, has been making the news lately himself.

The youngest Snyder, a former East Lansing resident now living in Paradise, Calif., is a noted criminologist and is now figuring prominently in the efforts for Dr. Samuel Sheppard's retrial in Ohio.

State Representation Decided Land Grants

The Morrill Act gave each state 30,000 acres of land for each senator and representative—to be used in support of the schools which this were known as "land grant colleges." Michigan received 240,000 acres. The Act, popularly known as the Land Grant College Act, was passed in 1862.

50 Year Milestone Reached

Banquet Slated
For First Event

East Lansing's Golden Anniversary goes into full swing tonight as the Chamber of Commerce-sponsored Kickoff Banquet sets the scene for Saturday's activity-packed program.

Tonight's banquet is being held in the Union at 6:30, and the guest speaker will be Paul Martin, publisher of the Lansing State Journal. The public is invited to attend, and the price is $2.95. Tickets must be reserved in advance by contacting Ralph Wright at ED 2-2596.

The Kickoff Banquet affords an interesting sideline to the main activities when the five oldest citizens in the community will be honored. Music for the banquet will be presented by the Gean Greenwells.

While tonight's program promises to furnish the Anniversary hors d'oeuvres, the Saturday events provide the main course with all the trimmings.

All East Lansing High School graduating classes for the past 25 years will hold their reunions at 10 a.m. Registration for the reunion will take place in the new High School.

A parade, headed by top East Lansing dignitaries and honored guests, will form at Bailey School at 1:30, marching westward on Grand River to Abbott Road and then north on Abbott past a reviewing stand in front of the Post Office.

A dedication ceremony for the new addition to the Post Office is scheduled to take place at 2:45 p.m. Present at the dedication will be Ralph Wills, who is Special Assistant Postmaster General at Arthur Summerfield, the Postmaster General.

From 5 to 8 p.m. the East Lansing Kiwanis Club will be holding a Community Chicken Barbecue in the City Park. Tickets for the barbecue will cost $1.75 (adults) and 85 cents for children. Tickets may be purchased from Kiwanis Club members.

At 8 p.m., following the barbecue, a street dance will take place on the City Park tennis courts. With the closing of the street dance, East Lansing residents may go home and start waiting for their next big celebration in 2007.

Kiwanis Group Barbecue Profits To Help Children

All proceeds from the East Lansing Kiwanis Club's community chicken barbecue will be used for child guidance and welfare projects.

The barbecue, which will be held in the city park from 5 to 8 p.m. Saturday, is one of several fund raising drives which the Kiwanis annually sponsors.

Much of the money collected by the Club goes to aid crippled children in the East Lansing area whose parents are unable to meet the high hospitalization costs.

Another group aided by the Kiwanis Club drive is the city junior baseball league which uses its share of the funds to buy equipment and pay the aids and supervisors.

Tickets for the barbecue may be purchased from any Kiwanis Club member for the price of $1.75 for adults and 85 cents for children.

City Budget Reduced By Almost $7,000

The East Lansing City Council approved a budget of $782,782 for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1957. This is a reduction from the previous year of approximately $7,000 and will be reflected in the July tax rate of $18.76 per thousand assessed valuation. Total income from property taxes will be $350,000.

the campus in their uncomfortable-looking top coats and stovepipe hats (except for Ransom—he wore a derby), the regal Dr. Snyder seemed to be the most stately person present. Not even Teddy could boast that splendid white beard (the doctor was a natural look-alike to the Reagan-out-gain World War I French President Raymond Poincaré).

Millage Proposal Offered in Parley Of City's Boards

The East Lansing Board of Directors and Board of Education in a joint meeting decided to ask the city's voters to approve an added-millage-for-schools request.

The proposal, to be considered by voters in the June 10 election, would ask for authorization to levy up to four mills over the present grant to stretch over a five-year period.

The four mills would replace the five mills which have been authorized for the last 10 years. Such a step is necessary because the millage granted by the allocation committee does not usually raise sufficient money to meet the budget.

The Board of Education levies whatever additional taxes are needed, but the millage authorized is seldom used in full. It was deemed essential, however, for the Board of Education to have such authorization when it is needed.

Surplus millage is also used to equalize the school tax rate between the city and township portions of the district.

Projects Spring Up 'Overnight'

Campus Construction Alters MSU Scene

By MITZI KENT

That the cement never sets at MSU is apparent by the many construction projects springing up "overnight" on an ever-expanding campus.

For students, faculty members, or other East Lansingers returning to the campus after a year's leave, there are many new and unfamiliar sites at this 107-year-old state institution.

New buildings on campus include the Student Services Building, the Education Building, and the Women's Intra-Mural Building. Additions have been made to the Museum, Olin Memorial Health Center and Macklin Stadium.

The new apartment resident halls for women are nearing completion and construction of a men's dormitory, housing 1,000 is in the planning stage, according to Lyle A. Thorburn, residence halls manager. Spartan village is rapidly expanding.

The Registrar's Office reports that the Student Services Building will be completed by December 13. Tom King, dean of students, said the building will house offices of the Dean of Students, both Men's and Women's Divisions, and the Placement Bureau on the first floor.

The Counseling Center, Housing Offices and Office of the Foreign Student Advisor will be on the second floor. Student Government and other student organizations will be on the third floor. Dean King added that all student publications would be housed on the top floor.

Lowell W. Treaster, director of Information Services, stated that the new Education Building, to be completed February 15, 1958, would feature a circular auditorium. He said that construction has been delayed because of a steel shortage.

The Women's Intra-Mural Gym is scheduled for completion on April 23, 1958, according to the Registrar's Office. It will house all women's athletic activities, as well as a new swimming pool.

Tentative plans are also in order for an addition to the Administration Building, Treaster added.

Olin Health Center should be completed before the end of this term, and finishing touches are being put on the new Museum, located in the old library, the Registrar's Office reports.

The Museum, which will open next Fall, is primarily an agricultural museum, carrying displays of early American and Michigan life, and wildlife habitats, as well as agricultural articles and implements, stated Treaster.

He also said the seating capacity of Macklin Stadium would reach 76,000, in time for the first home football game in the Fall. An upper deck and a new press box have been added to the stadium.

For ice cream cones, cheese packs, and other milk products, students now have to hike to South Campus where the new Dairy is located. Anthony Hall, a large classroom building, is situated directly north of the Dairy. Both are near the cow barns.

Contrary to rumors about men's dormitory living for next year, male students will not move out of Shaw Hall, nor will it become a women's residence, according to Lyle Thorburn. Plans are underway for a new men's dormitory, though.

For 192 coeds, the Sarah Van-Hoessen Jones apartment resident halls will offer a completely new type of campus living.

The apartments, located east of Shaw Hall on South Campus, will have 22 individual apartments, each separated into a bedroom, two lavatories, a living-study room and a kitchen-dining area.

A lounge, social hall and lobby and office area will be available to all residents of these apartments. The building is a U-shaped structure with an enclosed court.

Thorburn stated that the apartments would be ready for occupancy at the beginning of Fall term. He also said that an auto-foot bridge was scheduled to be built at the end of Bogue Street.

Spartan Village, MSU's new married housing development, calls for completion of about 40 apartments a week through September, according to Thorburn.

Lowell Treaster stated that construction of business, mechanical engineering, communication arts and basic college buildings would be delayed because of a lack of building funds.

It is hoped that MSU will be able to start construction on these projects soon, because if there is any one area in which the University has had its advancement stalled, it is in the classroom building program.

Open House After Ceremonies

Postal Annex Dedication Slated

By GAIL MILLER

Saturday marks the dedication of the recently enlarged and modernized U. S. Post Office branch in East Lansing. Chairman of the 7:45 p.m. dedicating ceremonies will be V. A. Triquet of the East Lansing Chamber of Commerce.

An invitation is extended to the Post Office open house which follows the dedication.

The growth of this Post Office since its establishment on June 3, 1904 has been characterized by many changes in organization and location. The first Post Office was established in the MAC era and was located in what is now the Administration building. The postmaster was Robert G. Earl, secretary of the college.

In the spring of 1889 the office was moved to the present Basic College building and several years later to the Michigan United Railway Waiting Room, which was on the street car railway loop. This little building served not only as a post office, but as a waiting room and later as the college bookstore.

The name to a Presidential Class post office came in 1907, and in 1907 the name was changed to East Lansing Post Office.

The year 1912 brought about a move to Station Terrace, a building constructed to house bachelor faculty members, familiarly known as "The Bull Pen."

The post office again progressed by establishing rural delivery service in 1913 and city delivery service in 1921.

Another change in location came in 1923 when the office was moved off campus for the first time to 211 East Grand River Avenue. Eight years later it was advanced to the status of First-Class office, the personnel then consisting of four carriers and four clerks.

On July 22, 1935 the final move was made to 327 Abbott Road, on Jan. 15, 1955 the post office began operating in a new building on the south campus of Michigan State.

Since 1884 the East Lansing Post Office has constantly progressed until today, under the master William A. Burgess. Annual receipts have reached a high of $300,000.

Citizens Did Banking in Lansing

East Lansing Late In Starting Banks

Although East Lansing first became an incorporated city in 1907, it was not until nine years later that the first financial institution appeared.

The East Lansing State Bank was organized by a group of male citizens in May of 1916. Up until this time, local citizens and MAC students had found it necessary to commute between the cities of East Lansing and Lansing (by street car, of course) for additions and withdrawals. This had not been the ideal convenience.

Formation of the first bank, besides serving as a time-saver, also put East Lansing merchants "on the map." Before, they had been fighting a losing battle in competition with Lansing merchants. After 1916 their profits began to show.

The East Lansing Bank was originally set up with a capital of $20,000 and a directorship comprised of townspeople and faculty members. Its first location was on the corner of Grand River and Evergreen, but when the bank block between Abbott and Evergreen was built, the bank moved to its present site on the corner of Grand River and Abbott.

Three years later the East Lansing Bank was formed by a group of local citizens, mostly college faculty, organized the East Lansing Building and Loan Association.

According to the special Golden Anniversary brochure, the Association grew slowly at first but it grew steadily. In spite of early lack of organization, the Association prospered. Under these conditions, it moved to the quarters vacated by the East Lansing State Bank on the corner of Evergreen and Grand River.

In 1927 I. H. Whittemore became Association secretary and was so successful in increasing assets that in 1939 the Association decided to build its own quarters on its present site. At the present time, under the direction of secretary Sidney Whittemore, assets have risen to over $9,000,000.

In 1927 the Michigan State Bank was organized with a capital of $25,000. After suffering depression reversals, it prospered. After the depression, operation was recontinued.

The First National Bank opened in 1955 on Grand River and Division, well to the East of the business center. In spite of this, the Bank has been highly successful and now has more than $4,000,000 in assets.

members of the Block and Bridge Club, Ingham County Sheriff's posse, East Lansing city equipment including fire engines, road equipment and an ambulance, and an exhibit of Deans and Harris cars.

According to Krider, youngsters are encouraged to ride in the parade with decorated bikes. He stated that a $5 prize will be given for the best decoration.

The dedication of the new post office addition will be held following the parade. Featured speakers will be Ralph Wills and Rep. Charles Chamberlain.

Charlie says the boys never used to have riots or anything in that line when he was a student here. As an example of the mild celebrations engaged in by the students he tells about the party held after State's first football victory over the University of Michigan in 1913.

The student body used to go to Ann Arbor on the train as a unit for the big game. After this great stride in State's athletic history, the returning spectators decided the moment was right to do a good deed for the long suffering coeds living just west of the school secretary's barn.

(Secretary Brown's house and barn were about where the Union building is now, the coed's dorm was about where the Home Economics building is now. Secretary Brown used to clean out his barn every morning, in the prevailing west wind!)
