25,000 at Commencement Hear Nixon Advise Grads

2,242 Get Diplomas At Macklin

5 Alums Cited As Outstanding

President John A. Hannah conferred degrees on 2,242 Michigan State graduates at commencement in Macklin Stadium Sunday afternoon at 4.

Included in the total were 1,933 bachelors' degrees and 277 advanced degrees. President Hannah also presented alumni awards for distinguished service to five alumni, one award for distinguished service and later honorary Doctor of Laws degree.

Recipients of the alumni awards were Dr. Maurice J. Day, vice president for research and development of Crucible Steel Company of America; Mr. P. Edward Gehlendorf, director of engineering and research, Westinghouse corporation; Stanley B. Hunt, chief of engineering division, Buffalo district, Corps of Engineers, U.S. Army; and Charles N. Silex, general manager, Cooperative Grange League Federation, Inc. Honored in Absentia was Clyde E. Weed, president of the Alameda County.

Mrs. Kimyo Onaga, Okinawan foreign student who is completing a year of advanced study at Michigan State was honored with the award for distinguished service.

Professor of home economics at the University of Ryukyus in Okinawa, Mrs. Onaga was credited for her work in raising the general standard of living among her people.

Honorary Doctor of Laws degrees were presented to Clarence B. Hilberry, president of Wayne State University; Charles Stewart Mott, president of the Mott Foundation, Flint, and Vice President Nixon.

Graduates marched into Macklin Stadium to the music of the Triumphal March, played by the Michigan State band, under the direction of Prof. Leonard Falcone.

The Rev. Maxwell A. McClune, People's Church, East Lansing, gave the invocation and benediction, followed by the professional of the graduates from the stadium.

Mrs. Trotsky Takes Powder

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Chairman Walter (D-PA) said Sunday Mrs. Leon Trotsky had agreed to testify before the House Committee on Un-American Activities before she suddenly left the United States.

Walter said he is convinced she was frightened into changing her mind.

Mrs. Trotsky, widow of the Russian revolutionary army commander, said in Mexico City Saturday she had never had any intention, when she visited the United States recently, of appearing before any Congressional committee.

But Walter told a reporter Sunday, "She had definitely agreed to appear. She was going to warn Americans not to be fooled."

Only Surviving Model of Its Kind

MSU Men Rescue Doomed Air Relic

By SUZETTE RAMSEY
One of Lansing's landmarks disappeared two months ago. It can now be told that the deed was done, with permission, of course, by Michigan State students.

Since November 25, 1954, a little stunt plane has adorned the tower of the Carrier Stephens Co., a chemical firm in Lansing. It was weatherbeaten and ready to be disposed of. Five MSU freshmen came to the rescue.

The idea was jointly initiated

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the commencement speaker, is presented with his doctor of laws hood by MSU vice presidents Tom Hamilton and Donald Varner. Nixon was honored at Sunday's graduation ceremonies along with Charles E. Mott and Clarence B. Hilberry.

In Saturday Ceremonies

Commissions Presented To 197 ROTC Graduates

By STEPHANIE BARNES

"Sir, I present the commission."

With these words, the Annual Spring Commissioning Parade held Saturday was presented before Lt. Gen. Emmett "Doc" O'Donnell, Jr., Air Force Deputy Chief of Staff.

Following an invocation by Lt. Col. (Chaplain) George H. Myers, the presentation of the President's award for outstanding cadet of the year was made by President Hannah to Charles J. Winkup, air force student from Wheeling, Ill., and Lawrence W. Hoffmann, army student formerly of Ironwood.

In addressing the 197 graduating seniors in MSU's Army and Air Force ROTC units, Lt. Gen. O'Donnell said, "You have inherited a sick and troubled world whose recovery depends in large measure on the kind of doctors you turn out to be."

The Air Force general prefaced his remarks with words of high praise for President Hannah, who has served as assistant secretary of defense for manpower and personnel.

"It is my opinion that no one else in civilian life has a more real and sympathetic understanding of national defense problems nor has done more toward their sane resolution."

The famed leader of B-29 raids over Japan in World War II told the newly commissioned officers that the price for a military force ready for instant action is high; but two must be prepared to pay it. It is peace with honor is our goal.

"Vicious, brutal and plundering forces are on the loose in the world today," he continued.

"It seems to me that the only way to keep them under control is to be strong ourselves and to have it widely known, that while we will do everything within our power to achieve peaceful conditions among the family of nations, we do have a mounting situation—that it must be a peace with honor, and a reasonable degree of security."

He further stated that "the communists have mistaken realization that absolute peace will be difficult to find with the war as the Holy Grail. We must accept the realistic view that the struggle will be long, and we must not be overcome both individually and collectively some of our frailties, weaknesses, and shortcomings."

O'Donnell concluded that "we must have the wisdom to know that peace without honor, dignity and a reasonable degree of security is a travesty."

Following the address and the presentation of commissions, the entire MSU military detachment, more than 1,500 cadets, marched in review to the music of the MSU band and the Air Force band and began their post the reviewing stand.

'Frogman' Floats Ashore, Minus Head

CHICHESTER, ENGLAND (AP)—A man's headless body with frogman's equipment attached was washed up near here Sunday and may spell the end of one of Britain's biggest mysteries.

Royal Air Force men found the body on a sandbank on Poole Island—a few miles along the coast from where the navy's wartime ace frogman, Cmdr. Lionel (Blister) Crabbe disappeared on a mysterious diving operation near a Russian warship last year.

Police said the body had been in the water for "some considerable time."

They gave no further information except that from equipment attached to the body they believed it to be that of a frogman.

The Admiralty was immediately informed of the discovery. An Admiralty spokesman said, "We shall give whatever assistance we can towards identifying the body."

Crabbe's disappearance coincided with the visit to Britain of Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist Party Boss Nikita Khrushchev in April last year.

It had all the atmosphere of a has never been officially 'ex-cloak-and-dagger thriller and played.

Questions were asked in the House of Commons as to whether Crabbe had been spying on the Soviet Cruiser Orizhnikidze which brought Bulganin and Khrushchev to Britain.

Ignorance, Prejudice Discussed

Graduates Told To Take Position

By JO BECKER

Urging Michigan State's 2,242 graduates to "have the courage to take a position on the great issues of our time," Vice President Richard M. Nixon discussed labor investigation, foreign aid to Poland and other countries and racial segregation at Commencement ceremonies in Macklin Stadium Sunday afternoon.

Speaking to a crowd of 25,000, Nixon declared that "the two most dangerous enemies of a successful democratic government are ignorance and prejudice."

Addressing the graduates, he said, "You are particularly qualified by your background, to fight and defeat these enemies in the communities in which you live."

Organized labor, Nixon said "today is going through a period of trial comparable to that endured by the business community twenty years ago."

He cited the labor racketeering investigation being conducted by the McClellan Committee as an agency which has "served to remind us that no leader of government, business or labor is so big or so powerful that he can get away with a disregard for the welfare of the people and the representatives of the people."

In an attempt to answer the question of whether Congress should appropriate necessary funds to meet the needs of surplus agricultural products in Poland, Nixon offered two alternatives.

"We can drive the Polish people and government back to complete domination by Moscow in the hopes that Poland will then be an economic burden on the Soviet Union."

"Or we can seek alternatives," he continued, "to help Poland progress toward greater internal freedom."

Nixon called the making of this decision "a gamble," but declared that the United States should favor any step that will promote "even limited independence in a Communist state."

In supporting the economic and information programs to foreign countries, particularly Asia and Africa, Nixon said that the billion dollars being spent by the United States "is the premium we pay to insure our survival as free people."

Luxury Liner Brings New Flu

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The luxury liner President Cleveland was delayed two hours in docking Sunday while U.S. Public Health Service officials interrogated passengers who have recovered from a strange Oriental flu.

Ten volunteered samples of blood which were taken for study at the Army's virus laboratory at Letterman Hospital.

Five of the ship's 500 passengers were still in sick bay with the influenza. The cases were mild and they were allowed to leave the ship.

Dr. Edgar W. Norris, chief quarantine officer for the U.S. Public Health Service in San Francisco, said 96 persons traveling on the Cleveland were infected on one time or another as the ship touched Manila, Hong Kong, Kobe and Yokohama.

The flu epidemic has swept through more than 350,000 in India, 300,000 in the Philippines and 80,000 in Japan.

Time Bomb Explosion Claims 10 in Algiers

80 Others Wounded by Device Hidden Under Casino Bandstand

ALGIERS, (AP)—A powerful time bomb exploded Sunday night under a dance band platform in a chic casino crowded with gay dancers, killing 10 persons and wounding 80.

Some of the most prominent figures in Algiers were in the crowd of 300 at the Casino De La Corniche in the suburb of St. Eugene.

Gay young couples were dancing to cha-cha-cha numbers when the bomb, presumably planted by Algerian terrorists, went off with a terrific roar.

Most of the Casino's "Lucky Star" orchestra were believed killed outright. Arms and legs were blown from about a dozen persons.

Blood covered shattered tables and crockery.

The uninjured rushed to the aid of the screaming wounded. Among the dead, dying and injured were young children from the family parties.

None of the dead were over 25. Of those injured, 25 were in grave condition.

Police said the bomb was hidden in the bandstand's concrete base. The stand was raised about a foot above the level of the sunken dance floor in the gaily decorated room.

Police were looking for an Algerian steward at the Casino who vanished before the bomb went off.

"This is not politics, this is murder," said a French policeman.

The police blamed the bombing on the Algerian nationalist terrorists who six days ago planted bombs in three lampposts near crowded bus and street car stops. The bombs went off during the late rush hour, killing 4 and wounding 84.

by Elwin Cutler, Bob Johnson, Jim Jones, Ray Puffer and Steve Terry of Butterfield Hall. They read a previous article on the plane in the State News, generated the idea, and went to the Carrier Stephens office to ask if they could have the plane.

Victor E. Stephens, president of the firm, surprised the men by saying, "Sure... if you can get it down." Two weeks later, during exam week of winter term, the five returned and did the deed.

Three men stood on the top of th building which was 20 feet high, operating the 150 feet of 3/8 inch rope which was tied around the railing of the 75 feet high tower. Two men were on top of the tower, dismantling the plane, tying the parts to the free end of the rope, and lowering the parts to a trailer on the ground.

The plane is a valuable one. It is a 1928 Boite LW-1. The "LW" stands for low wing, light weight, and the "1" for "first model built." It is a small stunt plane, and is now the only one of its kind in existence.

A mechanic in Des Moines, Iowa, who helped put the planes together, has offered to buy the aircraft. Since the only expense the five had was the $2.18 for the rope and about $19 for the plane's transportation, this could be a profitable venture.

Though it's sad to see the famous aircraft leave its unusual habitat, it will soon serve another purpose as a valuable collector's item, due to the ingenuity of our own MSU men.

15 Million Aspirin The Best Things in Life Bring Aspirin, Ulcers

The seniors are facing today what all of us must face eventually, or have already faced. What do we want?

The college society tends to lead or aim the student at "the better things in life," but the definition of just what "the better things in life" are remains unclarified in the minds of many thinking students.

Our system of social economic competition leads to many things—not all good. We step out of college into the rat race of everyday living that consumes 15 million aspirin tablets daily, 20 million sleeping pills nightly and an equal number of wake up pills in the morning.

"Modern" living now requires a "frankfurter" every now and then. We have five million combined alcoholics and 75 million chronic drinkers. Half of our hospital space is filled with mental patients.

The way to success is paved with "frankfurters" at 5¢ apiece. A second commodity is TV. The idea of thought that each man lives a life of quiet desperation has never been more true than it is today.

According to most Americans, happiness and success are identical and measurable by the accumulation of the steel and plastic you own, or don't own, and by whether or not you live in a split level home, it matters not that 60 percent of it belongs to the bank.

Money and power rarely come to the man of innate goodness or to the man who loves peace and his fellow man. In fact this is often the man who finds himself the out-cast in his own land.

He is referred to as "a nice guy" but "no drive." According to the popular American standards he is a failure.

The human resource in which the world finds itself in need is thus debilitated to being a postman or a farmer or perhaps a back country sheriff.

If the relationship between this country and Russia was not of such great significance in every person in the world, the antics of the diplomats would be funny.

The situation is comparable to two bullies who are perfectly willing to rough and tumble and, after making nasty remarks to each other, both are willing to draw a crowd, are both startled to find each has a switchblade. Now both have a great terror of being cut and neither can figure just how to back off without losing face. Neither trusts the other so neither will put down his switchblade before the other does.

We are in such a situation in foreign policy experience. Two countries spend seven or eight years getting ready for a war, now both are afraid to fight but don't know how to quit without losing.

It is startling how similar the actions of nations are to the actions of little boys.

To be a good man, an understanding man, a tolerant man, is not the measure, to win is the thing.

It is the tragedy of the evolution of man that we have become more interested in physics than in man. In technology we have advanced to the point where many fear to go further.

But until we have learned to harvest the resource of the power of the human being, for understanding and respect for others, we have not progressed. Until we learn the value of the human spirit and find the ability to solve our difficulties and differences without violence, the ownership of color TV and 300 horsepower automobiles is so trivial as to be ridiculous.

It is always a personal value judgment to evaluate personal aims and likes but we should keep in mind that what THEY want is a poor criterion to go by.

The back country farmer who grows a few acres of potatoes and eats illegal deer meat the year around is called many unkind things by society, but the man that spends 15 years trying to save enough money so he can do the same thing the farmer has been doing all his life, is a success.

It is a startling experience when you are rushing across campus to classes and tests, preoccupied with problems of money, romance, finals, etc., to look up and see the beauty of a tree or of a bird's call.

As you live faster and faster the less you can see of the world going by. Perhaps we are racing around the spin of the earth, instead of going with it we are not keeping pace, staying in one place while it goes by.

Maybe baseball is turning to hockey tactics to draw fans, at least the Tigers and Yanks acted that way Sunday when Tier first baseman Ray Boone took on Yankee pitcher Tom Sturdivant.

After being nicked for two consecutive home runs, Sturdivant whipped one in around Boone's head and Boone took offense, the offensive, that is, Van Patrick, Tier radio announcer, wound up doing a blow by blow.

Letters to the Editor

Character Assassination Not Arthur Miller's Line

A Rare One

What has Arthur Miller done? He has refused to testify before the House of Representatives on the grounds that he refused to reveal the names of others who attended a meeting of Communist writers 10 years ago.

Arthur Miller is almost any one can see from reading his plays, is not a Communist. The charge against him is not that he is a Communist, but that he refused to betray others attending this meeting.

The basic problem here is whether Congress or any other person or group in America has the right to force a person to destroy another's reputation.

In this case, because of guilt by association, anyone who has attended a meeting of Communist writers is guilty. Therefore, by mentioning the names of the others at the meeting, Miller would be convicting them of Communist sympathies, and this would ruin their character.

Who these men were and what they believed is not the critical point in this case, although it may be the real reason why Miller has been asked to testify who they were.

Under prevailing circumstances in this country Miller would in effect be extracting the names of his fellow writers from a man to whom they do not owe a dime.

A more basic right is in jeopardy, the freedom of individuals to exercise their right to associate with whom they wish and with whom they do not wish to associate.

In America today, sad though the situation is, one can not critically examine Communism without suffering character assassination. This is unjust and, in the true historical sense, un-American.

America has been built on the free exchange of ideas. If her citizens are not free to exchange ideas now, America is not free and can not remain great.

But in Miller's case, this freedom is not in the foreground. The primary question is, does Miller have the right to refuse to testify before the House of Representatives? If not, why not?

Miller is a man of great character. He has sacrificed his own name and freedom to give this protection to others. I maintain that it is unjust to penalize Miller for giving this protection.

Freedom is everybody's business. If this is true, it is our business, especially as university students, to see that freedom of thought is guaranteed without penalty to him who provides the guarantee.

Girard Moves to Deny Japanese Jurisdiction

OMIYA, JAPAN, (AP) — William B. Girard's Japanese lawyer said Sunday the young Illinois soldier's case has become so complicated "we don't understand anything any more."

Girard, 21-year-old army specialist charged with fatally shooting a Japanese woman shell gatherer on a U.S. firing range last January, Saturday dismissed the Japanese lawyer he had hired two days before to defend him.

The lawyer was fired on telephone orders from Girard's brother in Ottawa, Ill., in a move to deny Japanese jurisdiction in the case — already granted by a state department-pentagon decision approved by President Eisenhower.

"I guess Bill's brother is running things now," said the soldier's fiancée.

Isamu Hayashi, the dismissed attorney, said the dismissal was too late and that he had already deposited with a district court papers signed by Girard and acknowledging his indictment.

"I don't know what Bill thinks. He won't talk about it," said the girl, Miss Haru "Candy" Nuyama, 27. "I don't know whether Bill would be better off in a Japanese or an American court, I just want to get it over with one way or the other, as soon as possible."

"I'm doing my best to take care of Bill, but he is upset and nervous. And so am I."

NAMED — Robert B. Anderson, a former deputy secretary of defense, has been chosen by President Eisenhower to succeed George Humphrey as Secretary of the Treasury.

require our economic assistance, he stated.

"If we and other free nations refuse economic help, the Communist World for help."

Finally Nixon touched on the problem of racial segregation, a domestic issue affecting the foreign policy.

"The impression of the United States makes on the countries of Asia and Africa, whose people desire recognition of the equal dignity is determined more by what it does than what it says."

In his travels to these countries, Nixon said he found the same question: "Do you really believe in equality when you practice racial discrimination in your own country?"

Nixon concluded that in the United States there is a need for moderate constitutional reform by gradual steps, rather than a revolution which will not solve the problem with which we are confronted.

A law is being passed in the will of the people to make it possible for the people to elect a President who will solve the problem of the United States.

"The people will be used by the forces of the Communist world, which other members are being used to bring in the United States of the year."

The purpose of this plan is to make the country to keep the people from being used, and to make the people who are being used to bring in the United States of the year will not be used to bring in the United States of the year.

Panel Chooses AEPH House For Council Use

"What's it like to be 'A SYSTEMS ANALYST AT IBM?'"

Two years ago, college senior Thomas Wheeler asked himself this question. Today, a Systems Analyst in IBM's Data Processing Division, Tom reviews his experience and gives some pointers that may be helpful to you in taking the first, most important step in your business career.

Why Tom chose IBM
How does a senior like Tom, who was interviewed by at least twenty companies while in college, select his future employer? "In my case," Tom says, "the choice was easy. IBM offered the best opportunities. I knew IBM sales were about doubling every five years—and when I considered the tremendous growth potential of the electronic computer field—I had no trouble making up my mind."

"Besides, I was impressed by the caliber of IBM personnel. They had a broader outlook and an approach to business which I can best describe as professional."

"My future? It looks good—very good. I've already received two generous raises in less than two years, and at the rate IBM and the electronic computer field are expanding, my future is both assured—and rewarding."

IBM hopes this message will help to give you some idea of what it's like to be a Systems Analyst in the Data Processing Division. There are equal opportunities for E. A. I. E. A. M. E.'s, physicists, mathematicians, Liberal Arts majors, and Business Administration graduates in IBM's many divisions—Research, Product Development, Manufacturing Engineering, Sales and Sales Assistance. Why not drop in and discuss IBM with your Placement Director? He can supply our brochure and tell you when IBM will next interview on your campus. Meanwhile, our Manager of College Relations, P. H. Bradley, will be happy to answer your questions. Just write him at IBM, Room 11904, 350 Madison Ave., New York 22, N.Y.

Last All-Star Tickets Bought by Customers

ST. LOUIS, (AP)—Baseball fans quickly snapped up 5,000 unsold tickets to the All-Star Game Sunday.

The 2,600 pavilion and 2,400 bleacher seats for the July 9 classic at Busch Stadium were grabbed off first three hours after they went on sale at mid-morning.

IM Sports Club Offers Activities For Everybody

Regardless if your interest is in sailing, rowing, skiing, skating or weightlifting, the Intramural Sports Club here at MSU has activities for you.

This year, under the sponsorship of the Sports Club, MSU weightlifters took a second, third and fourth in three different divisions in the National Weightlifting Championships at Lafayette, Louisiana.

The Sailing Club, also under the sponsorship of the Sports Club, competed in five intercollegiate meets, finishing second in the Big 10 championship meet.

Another Sports Club branch, the Ski Club, took second place in the Michigan Intercollegiate Championship meet held at Boyne Mountain.

The Rowing Club, a new organization at MSU this year, had three regattas scheduled for this season. The last one was held Sunday on the Detroit River.

Bill Stoner, Michigan speed skating champion, was sent to the Silver Skates Championships at St. Louis, Mo., by the Sports Club, and came up with a second place finish.

What, A Worryless Coach?

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP)—Fritz Brennecke is a college football coach who loses but doesn't worry about it.

The boyish-looking head coach of Colorado School of Mines has a 10-year record of 34 victories, 31 losses and 4 ties.

"Most colleges wouldn't tolerate a record like mine," grins Brennecke. "But, to my knowledge, I've never been criticized in my job."

He has no doubt that his contract will be renewed despite signs that next fall's grid squad will be a "loser."

He's also Director of Athletics, a full professor and head of the Department of Physical Education.

Eliowitz Wins Twice; Best, Willie and Kleinhaus Once

By HAL BATEMAN (Special to the State News)

KALAMAZOO — A double win by weightman Sam Eliowitz sparked Michigan State's performances Saturday in the Michigan Amateur Athletic Union Track Championships at Western Michigan University.

Besides Eliowitz's two wins, the Spartans also picked up firsts with Willie Atterberry's triumph in the 440-yard dash, George Best's victory in the pole vault and Mike Kleinhaus' win in the 120-yard high hurdles.

Eliowitz won the shot, put with a heave of 49' 9" and capped the discus with a toss of 154' 7".

Atterberry, Michigan State's top freshman prospect, was an easy winner in the 440 with a fast 47.6 clocking, a Waldo Stadium record. Atterberry took the lead at the start and won going away.

Another freshman, Brian Castle, picked up third in the event with a good 48.8, his personal best. A third freshman, Dave Harrington, ran 49.9, his personal best, while placing fifth. However, he was overlooked by the finish judges and was not given an official place.

Best, competing in his last collegiate meet, won the pole vault with a 13' 5 1/2" effort, his best of the season, with Kleinhaus placing in a five-way tie for second at 13' 3". Kleinhaus' vault sets a fresh outdoor record, breaking the old mark of 13 feet even which he set earlier in the season.

Kleinhaus, an All-American high school hurdler, won the high hurdles in 15.4, a comparatively good time considering the strong wind he had to buck.

In addition to Kleinhaus' second, Michigan State took second place in the 880-yard run.

Two mile run and the broad jump.

Freshman Bob Lake ran a fast 1:56 flat but placed second to Western Michigan's Bill MacKenzie, winning 1:55.8. Bill Oswalt was the runner-up in the broad jump with a leap of 21' 11 1/2" with Bob Elliott taking fourth with 21' 6".

Freshman distance runner Jim Moran took second in the two mile run with a 9:51 time, far back from Western Michigan's Bill Pyle, who set a stadium record with 9:24.7.

Two other Michigan State freshmen, Arvid Lindholm and Jim McCue, placed third and fourth in the race. Lindholm ran 9:52 for third and McCue was clocked in 10:02.2 for fourth.

Freshman sprinter Harry Keast placed third in both the 100- and 220-yard dashes. In both races Bill Peatross of Detroit was the winner, being clocked in 10 flat for the 100 and 22 flat for the 220.

Elliott was fourth in the 100 and fifth in the 220 with Keast running 22.1 and Elliott 23.2.

Freshman Lance Olson finished in a fourth-place tie at six feet even with Tom Rand placing fifth at 5' 10".

Lester Grable, another freshman runner, ran a 4:29.9 in the mile, the fastest race of his career, to grab fourth with Jack Crowley, another freshman, running fifth in 4:32.

Freshman hurdler Bob Strub, sacker picked up a fifth place in the 220-yard low hurdles.

To Luce and Davis Big 10 Berths Awarded

Captain Al Luce and first baseman Roscoe Davis were named Saturday to the All-Big 10 baseball team, selected by conference coaches. Two other Spartans, pitcher Ron Perranoski and second baseman Frank Palamara, were honored with second team rankings.

Luce, a graduating senior, smote nine home runs this season, to set a record for MSU teams coached by present mentor, John Kobs. He recently nabbed the catching post on the NCAA District 4 All-Star squad.

Last week chosen to the NCAA District 4 All-Stars, Davis compiled a first-team position, and with a .343 average, is one of the conference's leading first basemen. He holds the Big 10 record for put outs in a single game, with 18 against Wisconsin in 1956.

League champs Northwestern and Michigan's Wolverines, landed two players apiece, along with the Spartans, on the No. 1 squad. The only repeater from last year's choices is John DeMerit, rightfielder of the Wisconsin Badgers, who signed last week with the Milwaukee Braves.

The first team is as follows: 1B—Davis; 2B—Ken Tippet, Michigan; 3B—Steve Borge, Michigan; SS—Bob Klaus, Illinois; LF—Ed Broecker, North western; CF—Laurence Schmitt, Minnesota; RF—John DeMerit, Wisconsin; C—Luce; P—Tom Scheuerman, Northwestern, and Don Dobrino, Iowa.

Palamara, a leading Spartan hitter, was also picked to the NCAA District 4 second team while southpaw Perranoski was named to the No. 2 squad along with Palamara. Kobs' leading hurler, he also was one of the top strikeout artists in the Big 10.

Contest Marked by Arguments

Yanks Drop Tigers For 2nd Time, 5-4

DETROIT (AP)—In a bitter struggle marked by fist fights, arguments and home runs, the New York Yankees fought from behind and scored the winning run on a Detroit defensive lapse in the eighth inning Sunday, defeating the Tigers 5-4 before 11,189 excited spectators.

A Tiger pick-off attempt, pulled when the Yankees loaded the bases, backfired as first baseman Earl Torgerson threw to the strong base and enabled Bill Skowron to belly-slide home with the winning run.

Yankee starter Tom Sturdivant and Tiger first baseman Bill Boone were tagged out of the game in the third inning when they traded punches, because they rounded and home plate Sturdivant, who had just pitched successive home runs to Frank Bolling and Charley Maxwell that gave the Tigers a 2-0 lead, whipped in a fast ball that narrowly missed Boone's head.

The 33-year-old veteran and Yankee hurler each got in several punches, and both landed empty onto the playing field.

There was considerable pushing and shoving but Sturdivant and Boone, who rolled onto the ground, apparently were the only players involved in the actual fighting.

Sturdivant, nursing a "mound" under his right eye, said, "no one can throw at my head. They can throw at my legs, and that's all right but they can't throw at my head."

Sturdivant called it an "unpleasant incident" and said, "I don't know how far from me, but it's all over."

Detroit starter Duke Maas who pitched a 10-inning three-hitter in his only previous start against New York, was skinned along on a three-hit shut-out until the seventh. Then Skowron led off with his ninth home run and Hank Bauer cracked his sixth grand slam after Bob Richardson's single.

The Yankees added the tying and deciding runs in the eighth off Lou Sieater.

Gi McDougal led off with an infield single and took third on Skowron's third safety, a lined single to left. Skowron went to second on the throw from the outfield. After Elston Howard lined to right, Manager Jack Tighe ordered an intentional walk for Richardson.

Pinch hitter Don Larsen brought in the tying run with a line drive to center and when Bill Tuttle threw to third base trying to get Skowron, Richardson sped to second. Hank Bauer was purposefully passed to lead the bases again and when the veteran Yankee outfielder raced halfway between first and second on the pitch to Enos Slaughter, the Tigers made a play for Bauer and on Torgerson's late throw to third base, Skowron roared home with the tie-breaking run.

Bolling scored the first Detroit run in the first inning when he tripled off Joe Coleman's glove in left and came in on a wild pitch. Torgerson hit his first home run off Art Ditmar in the fifth inning.

Shortstop Luis Aparicio of the Chicago White Sox thought he'd forced sliding Ted Williams of Boston in the first inning of the June 5 game at Comiskey Park, but umpire Bill Runger ruled Aparicio's foot was pulled off the bag by a bad toss by second baseman Nellie Fox, not shown, who fielded the ball. Aparicio then noticed Williams hadn't even reached the bag with the slide and chased him, but the crawling Williams made it back just in time. White Sox won, 6-2.

Birds Whitewash White Sox

Reds Topple Brooklyn

BROOKLYN (AP)—Cincinnati ended Brooklyn's one-day stay in first place and opened up a 1½-game lead in the National League Sunday by sweeping a doubleheader from the Dodgers 3-1 and 2-0 before a sellout crowd of 34,850 fans. Hal Jeffcoat struck out nine while pitching a six-hit shutout and Don Hoak homered in each game.

The Redlegs called on their famed home run power to win both games with Hoak, a former Dodger, delivering key blows in each.

Hoak's sixth homer with a man on base in the seventh inning of the opener gave Brooks Lawrence the victory over Don Drysdale.

Brooklyn left 13 men on base in the first game, scoring its only run of the afternoon on Gil Hodges' eighth homer in the sixth inning.

CHICAGO (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles, playing the role of giant killers in the Big League, knocked off the first-place Chicago White Sox American League lead to 4½ games.

Only last weekend, the Orioles also whipped the New York Yankees three-out-of-four to help the White Sox pile up their surprising margin.

Home runs by Bob Nieman and Tito Francona carried the Orioles to victory in the opener while southpaw Bill O'Dell, making his first start of the season, blanked the Sox on 6 hits in the nightcap and struck out 11.

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Boston Red Sox slugged 7 home runs, with Ted Lepico, Ted Williams and Jim Piersall hitting 2 each, as they defeated the Kansas City Athletics 8-4 and 9-5, dropping the A's into 7th place in the American League.

Kansas City got 2 home runs in each game. The A's threatened in the 8th inning of the nightcap when they scored 4 runs on homers by Bob Cerv and Tim Thompson, two singles and a double. But in the 9th inning Kansas City relief pitcher Rip Coleman gave up 3 runs to virtually erase further prospects of an A's comeback.

It was a case of the A's being unable to match Boston power.

The Sox got 24 hits in the two games, 11 of them off 4 Kansas City pitchers in the finale.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Chicago Cubs came from behind to take the opener of a doubleheader from the Philadelphia Phillies 7-3. The second game was called by curfew with the score tied 4-4 and Chicago still batting in the top of the tenth. The game will be replayed from the beginning.

Roberts was ejected in the seventh by umpire Don Denkinger, whose arm lighted after he was hit by a pitch from Dick Drott earlier in the game.

Roberts promptly gave up a two-run double to Walt Moulton to enable the Cubs to tie. Then Banks came through in the eighth with his crucial double to tie off Roberts' two-out, two-up situation. Bobby Monson, who had singled and Bob Spivey, who had walked.

CLEVELAND (AP)—Vic Wertz and Roger Maris hit 440 home runs apiece for the Cleveland Indians but Roy Sievers' two-run homer in the ninth proved the winning margin as the Washington Senators won the second game of the doubleheader, 7-6. The Indians won the first game, 7-2.

Sievers, who had been on the bench with an arm injury, hit the first pitch offered by reliever Ray Narleski who came in with the score tied and one man on.

Russ Kemmerer, who started and lost the first game for the Nats came on in relief in the second game and was the winning pitcher.

Wertz gave the Tribe a 2-0 in the first inning to the nightcap with a homer off Pedro Ramos following Bobby Avila's single.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Reliever Roy Face came on in the ninth with the bases loaded and nose out to stifle a Braves' rally as the Pittsburgh Pirates defeated Milwaukee 5-3 after losing the opener of a twin bill 2-1 in 11 innings.

Until the ninth Pittsburgh starter Ronnie Kline had allowed only two hits—Hank Aaron's 15th homer with one out in the

Drysdale Doesn't Fiddle on Mound

Wins Without Wasteful Motions

BROOKLYN, N.Y. (AP)—Don Drysdale is a native big league pitcher, so, yet he is a throwback to the days when pitchers spent their time pitching instead of fiddling around.

The 26-year-old Brooklyn Dodger who's won eight games in a National League game in one hour and 36 minutes against Boston Roberts and the Phillies. And if he's a great pitcher, about a time consuming fellow, he'd be brushing the knees of the pitcher to reach to pitch himself. Mr. Drysdale might have pitched the game in an hour and a half.

Drysdale broke into the major league a year ago with a 6-1 win over the same Phillies. He won four more games, all against the "red-tanned" rival New York Giants.

He needed experience as Don didn't, but this spring he had his fourth win on May 27th with a two-hitter as could be expected. He beat the Phils 5-1, the run coming on an error.

The Brooklyn board of strategy long ago decided that Don was pitching too fast that he would pitch too little time between pitches. But that he was the 6-foot-5 boy likes to pitch. Get it over with in 10 minutes.

Finally, after wins over the Braves, Cubs and Cardinals, the Dodger brains allowed him to pitch his own game in Philadelphia. If he pitched that fast in Brooklyn, the Dodgers might get back some of the fans who think they have already moved to Los Angeles.

Darryl Spencer's double down the left field line with two out in the fourth was the first hit off Mizell. Willey Lockman hit safety in his 10th straight game with a single in the fifth and added another single in the eighth. Janowski's ninth-inning single was the fourth Grand Slam.

Kell Suffers Possible Break

CHICAGO (AP)—Third baseman George Kell of the Baltimore Orioles was struck in the head by a pitched ball in the second game against Chicago Sunday and suffered a possible fracture.

Dr. John Charles White Sox team physician, viewed X-rays and said there appeared to be a possible fracture on the upper right side of the forehead.

In earlier games, Notre Dame hammered 15 hits off four Chicago State pitchers to cost the Bears, 23-2, from the journey and Connecticut eliminated Florida State, 5-0.

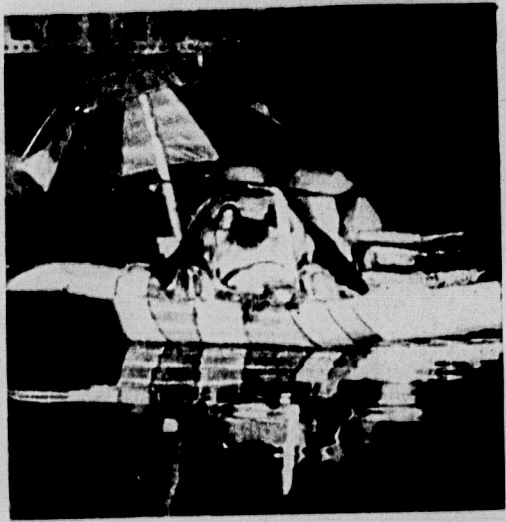

Kell was taken to Mercy Hospital for X-rays. Another Baltimore injury resulted in the second inning of the contest when outfielder Tito Francona jammed his hand trying to make a snatching catch of a line drive off the bat of Nellie Fox.
