Senator Smathers Proposes Inquiry of Missile Program

Launching Leaves U. S. Behind

Army Rocket Is Satellite

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Smathers (D-Fla.) Monday proposed a Senate investigation to determine "the reasons for our failure in keeping pace with the Soviet Union in the development and perfection of the satellite, rocket and intercontinental ballistic missile programs."

He made the suggestion in a telegram to Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee. Smathers wired Russell at his home in Winter, Ga., and asked that Russell immediately convene the committee for an inquiry.

Sen. Symington (D-Mo.), a member of the committee, has also called for an investigation.

The Soviet Union recently announced it had developed an intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM). Friday it sent up the world's first earth satellite.

Smathers said the Soviet Union is engaged in a major effort to produce the ICBM in large numbers.

"As of the moment, it is clear we do not have such an advantage and the time we may have is uncertain," his telegram to Russell said.

The Florida Senator said it is extremely important to find out whether American failure to keep up with the Soviets in the ISBM, rocket and satellite fields "result from inter-service rivalry, a false economy program, failure of the congress to provide sufficient appropriations or insufficient emphasis being placed on these programs by the executive branch of government."

Answers to these and other questions, Smathers said, should be obtained "in an atmosphere shorn of complacency and hysteria but within the immediate future."

If the senate decides to investigate U. S. missile progress, one witness may be Dr. I. M. Levitt, a noted authority on outer space.

Levitt said in Philadelphia Monday the army could have launched its big Jupiter C missile into outer space as a satellite last year except for "an astonishing piece of stupidity."

"The Pentagon chose to ignore the fact that we had a device capable of launching a satellite and decided to develop another," the scientist said.

He added that the defense department's position was that "the Jupiter was designed as a missile, not a satellite launcher, and that work on the missile—as a weapon—should continue."

"This of course retarded the satellite program. It may have speeded the missile program; I don't know. But it certainly let the Russians score an astounding propaganda victory over the United States."

Night Sessions Begin for Adults At Sexton High

Night school courses at Sexton High School will be open for enrollment this week. These classes offer opportunity to complete a high school education or to take high school courses which are needed as prerequisites in college.

Frank Benedict, supervisor of credit classes, will be at Sexton High each night from 7-9 p.m. to enroll applicants.

Night school classes of subjects which contribute to the cultural advancement of the student, Benedict said, subjects vary in scope from algebra to literature. The cost of these classes is from $2-$14 apiece.

For more information call IV-96581.

Final Showing Tonight Career Carnival Sets Opening Night Record

By DALE FRANZ
State News Night Editor

With its biggest opening night, the 1957 Career Carnival got off to a fine start Monday evening on the second floor of the Union.

An estimated 1,000 wandered among the 78 booths looking, asking, reading and generally absorbing information pertaining to a multitude of job opportunities.

Company representatives offered nothing but praise for the Carnival and its results.

Larry Nuss of Collins Radio and Henry Goehring of Reynolds Metals agreed this was the largest such affair in the nation. Nuss felt Career Carnival has helped MSU's reputation among employers.

Ishl Friedlund, 1941 graduate and former Spartan club, representing Martin Aircraft, expressed hope that his company's first visit would not be its last. He felt the Career Carnival was a tremendous one, enabling both the university and the company to present their respective products — students and employment opportunities.

Industry, Friedlund said, been more of a chance for expansion, and, likewise, a university needs to see if it is doing its job for industry.

Informative displays attracted much attention at the Carnival. Whirlpool Corp., for example, demonstrated an electric range which cooks via infrared waves. The scientific wonder which sells for $1,195, fried bacon in 20 seconds, baked a potato in four minutes and had a rate in three.

Mary Meighan, Whirlpool home demonstrator, explained that the waves are absorbed by the food after passing through paper, glass or China vessels.

A new Edsel engine, pastel sewing machines, color slide projector, die casting apparatus, and a variety of eye-catching gadgets were scattered throughout the Carnival. But, as David Fassell of Square D Corp., Freehold, Nuss, Goehring, and others explained, the real purpose was offering information.

Company representatives hoped to aid in crystallizing thoughts students perhaps might hold in the backs of their minds. They will attempt to acquaint students with unfamiliar job opportunities, not only helping students to choose a company, but helping them decide what general areas to pursue.

Included in the companies represented at the Carnival are Park Davis, Upsilon, Diamond Alkali, Sutherland Paper, East Metals Industry, National Bank of Detroit, Chain Belt Co., U.S. Dept. of Agriculture, Johnson & Johnson, New York Life Insurance and Detroit Arsenal.

Today's Carnival hours are: 9:30 a.m. - noon; 1:15 - 4:30 p.m.; 7:30 - 10:30 p.m.

A banquet for company representatives, student chairman and guests is scheduled for 5:30 tonight in the Kellegher Center "Big 10 Room." A welcome by Dr. Hannah, an invocation by Dean Tom King and an address by Thomas Hamilton, vice president of Academic Affairs are on the banquet agenda. The Don Berube strolling trio and the Notables will entertain.

Pleasant with the first night turnout, Roger Fochush, Rochester senior and general chairman of Career Carnival, estimated the total attendance would reach 13,000-16,000.

Men of Faculty Offered Activities

A chance to become physically fit and to learn some valuable leisure time skills is being offered to men faculty this fall. The Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation will offer instruction and practice in the following activities this term for men faculty: Badminton, volleyball, archery, hunting, and swimming.

Classes will meet on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 12 to one in Jensen Gymnasium. All interested faculty should call Ext. 2955.

MSU Students Attend Dairy Show at Chicago

Sigma Alpha Mu Holds Open Rushes

The Sigma Alpha Mu Colony has announced open rush on two nights this week. The first meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, in Room 22 of the Union. Thursday evening rush will be held at Hill House, also at 7:30.

Political Careers

Legislative experience is becoming less and less important for governors, according to findings by a political scientist at MSU.

Surveying political careers of all state governors from 1870 to 1950, Dr. Joseph A. Schlesinger found that the proportion of governors who had state legislative experience dropped from 65 per cent in 1870 to about 41 per cent in recent years.

He said legislative experience appears to be less of a factor in becoming governor in the West than in the East.

Chances are slim that local officials, such as mayors and councilmen, will become governor, reports Dr. Schlesinger. Idaho was found to be the exception to this tendency.

Distinct regional differences were found in the paths leading to the governorship, the investigator discovered.

The aspirant who has held no previous elected public office, might find Oregon the place to reside. Some 20 per cent of Oregon governors had held no previous elected office, said Dr. Schlesinger.

Burdette's Shutout Downs Yankees

Braves Lead Series, 3-2, On Monday's 1-0 Victory

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Milwaukee's Lew Burdette, backed by spectacular fielding, beat the New York Yankees' Whitey Ford in a tight pitchers' duel Monday for a 1-0 victory which sent the Braves ahead in the World Series, three games to two.

The sixth game will be played in Yankee Stadium Wednesday, Tuesday being an off day for travel.

Burdette, his sliders and knuckers, very effectively fanned big Yankee bats by allowing only seven scattered hits. It was his second series victory. He won the second game at Yankee Stadium, 4-2.

Back-to-back singles by Ed Matthews, Hank Aaron and Joe Adcock, with two out in the sixth, produced the lone run of the game.

Brilliant support in the field contributed to the triumph, witnessed by a yelling sellout crowd of 48,811 at Yankee Stadium.

Felix Mantilla, who went in for the injured Red Schoendienst in the second inning, and Johnny Logan figured in three Milwaukee double plays which cut down New York scoring threats.

Wes Covington, Milwaukee left fielder whose great running catch was called the key play of Burdette's second game triumph, produced another holding gem in the third inning.

Ag Council Announces Finalists

Ag Council came up with 22 candidates for the title of Harvest Ball Queen at Monday's meeting. Four housing units are still to be heard from.

The candidates will be judged by faculty members Thursday night at the Music Aud. Five finalists will be picked for pose and personality on the basis of questions asked. The winner will be announced at the Harvest Ball, Oct. 19, the evening of the Purdue game.

Also taking part in the program were two guest speakers, backfield coach Sonny Grandtman and former MSU captain and fullback Leroy Crane. These men had both seen service in the armed forces, and gave their opinions of the program, both agreeing favorably with it, and advising the cadets to take the advanced program if at all possible.

Dr. Hannah in conclusion said, "MSU is proud of our ROTC Tradition, and to see these men sit here in uniform makes one proud of the university and the country."

Dr. Hannah informed the cadets that only last Tuesday, he and five other university presidents, the deputy secretary of defense, the secretary of defense, and four of the joint chiefs of staff sat in the Pentagon to discuss the issue of compulsory ROTC. He said that it was the feeling of this group that in the eyes of the military forces, the ROTC is as important today as it has ever been. "More than 80 percent of all of the officers in the Army and the Air Force are produced in the ROTC program," Dr. Hannah continued.

On Sunday, Oct. 13, the Michigan State University Music Department will present Louis Potter, Jr., Cellist, and Henry Harris, Pianist, in the Music Auditorium at four o'clock. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Mr. Potter is teacher of cello and conductor of the University Symphony Orchestra at Michigan State, as well as a soloist of distinction. Mr. Harris is a brilliant pianist, well known to Michigan audiences for his radio program, "Piano Profiles," which is heard weekly over WKAR.

The program is a varied one, combining classic and contemporary works of particular interest to concert-goers, since the cello repertoire is not too frequently heard.

This is the first of several programs featuring instrumental works performed by artist players on the music department faculty. Since such works are not as commonly heard as the masterpieces in the orchestral field, the opportunity to hear these solo and ensemble concerts will be particularly appreciated by local concert-goers during the coming season.

Greeks' Day

Today is set aside "For Greeks Only" at the Wolverine senior photo headquarters, 41 Union, according to Tom Andrews, Wolverine editor.

Any Greek senior, who does not have an appointment, can have his photograph taken anytime between 9-12 a.m. and 1-6 p.m.

A similar program will be set up for the remainder of the week for all seniors, who do not have appointments.

SWL Open House

"Know Your Campus," is the theme that Spartan Women's League has chosen for this year's coming activities. SWL will hold an open house Wednesday, Oct. 9, 7-8 p.m. at 31 Union.

All women students desiring to serve and know their campus are cordially invited.

Federal Troops and Gov. Faubus Clash

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus said Monday male soldiers are invading the privacy of girls' dressing rooms while enforcing racial integration at Central High School.

The governor termed it unwarranted to have the federal soldiers accompany the girls in rooms where they change clothes for gym classes and other school activities.

There was no immediate comment from Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, in charge of regular Army paratroopers and federalized Arkansas National Guardsmen at the school. A spokesman said Gen. Walker had not yet received Faubus' letter, made public by the governor, and would have no comment until he had received and studied it.

The governor spoke of "your troops" but did not specify whether he referred to regular Army soldiers or to National Guardsmen. Both have been on duty at the school at varying times. Only Guardsmen were there Monday.

Faubus suggested the White House send in a detachment of WACs if it feels such close surveillance is needed over the integration of nine Negroes at Central.

In his letter to Walker, Faubus predicted a prolonged Army occupancy of Central High. He wrote:

"If it appeared that the occupation of Central High School by Arkansas by federal troops were only temporary, then, perhaps, the citizens could endure the presence of your troops and the methods being used until the time of your departure. However, if federal troops are to remain as long as forcible integration of the school is necessary, then it is my opinion that you and your troops will be here for a long time."

Some white students at Central have expressed an opinion that the troops might have to remain in Little Rock for months, or even through the full school term. In Washington, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said he hoped that would not be necessary. But he wouldn't hazard a guess on how long the troops might remain.

MSU Staffer Dies Monday From Cancer

LANSING (AP) — Barbara B. Ashley, 30, veteran Michigan newspaperwoman and former Grand Rapids correspondent for the Associated Press, died Monday of cancer.

Ashley broke off a 28-year career in journalism early this year to join the public relations staff of Michigan State University.

A Michigan State graduate in 1929, Ashley joined the Big Rapids Pioneer and became successively city editor and news editor before beginning five years of U.S. Army service in World War II.

He joined the Associated Press in 1945 and resigned in 1954 to become Capital correspondent for Federated Publications Inc.

Gov. Williams, regretting her death, said Ashley was a newspaper of great ability and a keen sense of responsibility.

State Department Names Director

Appointment of Victor Eichen, 38, of Detroit as director of the right-of-way division in the State Highway Department was announced Monday by Commissioner John C. Mackie.

Eichen has been chief of the real estate division and chief reviewing appraiser for the Detroit district of the U.S. Corps of Engineers for the past five years.

Eichen will fill a vacancy left by the transfer of L. E. Prillhart from the position of right-of-way director to the route location section of the department several months ago.

Wilson Howlett, who has been punch hitting in the interim, will be returned to the post of chief buyer of the right-of-way division.

Baseball

deep left field Covington crashed into the fence in making a spectacular stab of a ball which might have gone for a home run.

Ford, winner of the opening game for the Yankees, pitched well but was the victim of the brief uprising in the sixth.

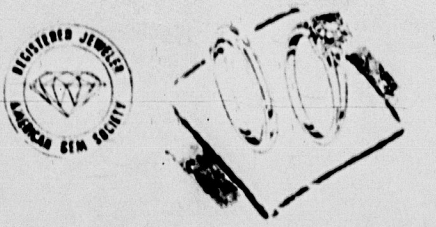

Two were out when Ed Matthews, whose home run won the fourth game for Milwaukee Sunday in the tenth inning, beat out a high bouncer to second base. Hank Aaron dropped a Texas leaguer to right, sending Matthews to third. Then Joe Ascock faced a single to right, scoring Matthews with the home run of the day.

Ford permitted only six hits before being relieved for a pinch-hitter in the eighth. Bob Turley pitched the hitless eighth inning for the Yankees.

Harlette finished with a flourish, fanning the dangerous Hank Bauer and Tony Kubek at the start of the ninth. Then after McDougald had dunked a single over second, the Milwaukee ace forced Yogi Berra to pop out to end the game.

Harlette didn't walk a Yankee and he fanned five.

Burdette Wins His 2nd Game

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Whole-team excitement and nervous camera-eyes screamed his name and newsmen hounded his footsteps in the Braves clubhouse. Lew Burdette quietly phoned his wife to tell her (husband of No. 1) victory over the Yankees Monday.

The lanky, 30-year-old right-hander, who was once Yankee prospect, spoke in hushed tones to Mary Ann Burdette, who gave birth to a daughter only two weeks ago.

Then, after a few minutes he turned to the press and said:

"All right, boys, now I'm all yours."

Burdette said he mixed screwballs, sinkers and sliders in shutting out New York on seven hits.

"I mixed them up pretty well," he said. "Once in a while I threw a fast ball."

His toughest spot, the lanky native of Nitro, W. Va., said, was when he struck out pitcher Elston Howard in the eighth with pinch runner Mickey Mantle on first.

"That was as log an out as any," he said, "but then all the other outs were just as important."

Burdette, who beat the Yankee in the second game of the series, 1-2, joked with leftfielder Wes Covington, who made a sensational catch on Gil McLougald in the fourth inning.

It was Covington who started afield in the second game — also with Burdette on the mound — when he made a back-to-the-plate catch of a drive by Bobby Statts.

Was it his good leftfielder? Burdette said. "He fields pretty good for me."

All catches are important," Covington said when asked what of the two was the better grab.

Burdette said he struck out Ross Kubek, hitting hero of the Yankees' 12-3 massacre Saturday.

LEW BURDETTE wins no. 2.

Has Tough Schedule Pistol Club Wants Bigger Membership

Recruiting football players is relatively simple, but attracting the attention of the student body to join the pistol club is tedious.

This situation confronts John Strongman, Dearborn junior and club president, as he prepares the organization for this year's activities.

The pistol group is divided into two functioning groups: pistol team (those competing against major competition) and pistol club (participation open to coed and male students).

Capt. Albert Grazzoli, graduate of the infantry school, is the new advisor for the organization.

Last year 10 members competed against some of the top shooters in the nation and based on 12 pistol matches the club ran up a record of 12 wins offset by five losses.

In shoulder-to-shoulder matches the shooters dropped to meet the midshipmen of Annapolis, Md., but defeated Purdue.

This year's team faces tough opposition with the tentative schedule including such top aggregations as Wisconsin, Purdue, Naval Academy and the only home match is possibly with Wisconsin.

The club had 75 members last year and expectations are to increase this amount.

The firing range is located in the basement of Deon Hall and is open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Instructions are offered by Sgt. Melvin Hoberic, team range.

Standard Set For Giving Rookie Award

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Baseball Writers' Assn. of America finally has set a standard for determining whether a player qualifies for Rookie of the Year award in the majors—thus escaping such controversies as arose over Boston's Frank Morone this season.

In their World Series meeting Sunday night, the writers voted to ban a player from consideration for the rookie award in his first full season in the Majors.

1. He was on a Major League roster in any previous season when the 25-player rule was in effect (from May 15 to Sept. 1).

2. He has had more than 25 at bats in any previous season in the Majors.

3. If he has pitched more than 45 innings in any previous season in the Majors.

Morone, who had been touted for rookie honors in the American League, already had been made ineligible for the 1956 award by the Writers. He had 103 at bats in 1956, when he split the season between the Red Sox and San Francisco.

Brooklyn Move Gets Approval In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles City Council Monday gave official approval to the proposed transfer of the Brooklyn Dodgers, thus clearing the way for the Bums' move west.

A formal acceptance of the transaction by Dodger President Walter O'Malley is considered a certainty.

The vote-making of the party to a contract with the Dodgers was 10-4. The vigorous minority that has clouded negotiations in the past weeks refused to the end to climb on the Big League bandwagon.

The council meeting produced several hundred thousand worth Monday, many of them by Councilman John Holland, outspoken opponent of the proposed Dodger move.

Freshman Fencing

Any freshman interested in joining the fencing squad, regardless of experience, is asked to be in room 709, Jenison, today at 3 p.m.

Join on a screwball and Hank Bauer on a fast ball. He fanned both in the ninth before McLougald coasted the Yankees final safety.

I guess you'd have to see Monday's game was tougher than the first one I pitched against them in New York," Burdette said as he sat on a table in the middle of the Braves' Clubhouse.

"I only had one run to work with and I didn't get that until the sixth, did I?"

Spieser Wants Shot At Moore's Crown

DETROIT (AP)—A group of Detroit businessmen Monday offered a $100,000 guarantee to Light Heavyweight Champion Archie Moore if he will defend his title here against No. 4 contender Chuck Spieser of Detroit.

Joe Spieser, brother and manager of the fighter, said, "We have reason to believe Jack Keenan, Moore's co-manager, will accept our offer within a day or so."

Navy's opening game victory over Boston College (48-0) marked the fourth straight season the Middies won their first football game. They started the last three seasons by beating William and Mary.

Super Sub!

It's been said that the atomic submarine "Nautilus" stays submerged so long that it only surfaces to let the crew re-enbilit.

Perhaps for this reason, the Navy has taken valuable space aboard the "Nautilus" for the only soft-drink vending machine in the entire submarine fleet.

Naturally for you wouldn't hear about it from us) it's a Coca-Cola machine. And not unexpectedly, re-enaliments are quite respectable.

Union Papers Supposedly Destroyed

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — James R. Hoffa said Monday that Teamster Union election documents, reportedly thrown into an incinerator, were not destroyed and in fact had been sent on to Washington.

The Teamsters' President-elect said that senate racketeers who had heard the papers were thrown away had themselves found that was incorrect.

Hoffa said a maid in the Eden Roc Hotel, Miami Beach Convention Headquarters, had put the documents into a trash receptacle, but they were found in time.

The Associated Press originally had reported that senate racketeers were told the papers had been burned, but said later, the papers had been reported to the racketeers as merely thrown into an incinerator.

"I understand they found all the papers," Hoffa said.

Senate racketeers investigators said that when they asked the name of the maid who reportedly threw out the papers, they were told she had since died of a heart attack.
