Oppenheimer Case May be Reopened

AEC Commissioner Murray Says He Has 'No Objection'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Atomic Energy Commissioner Thomas E. Murray said Thursday he sees "no objection to reopening the security case of Physicist J. Robert Oppenheimer.

And, he added, if a new board set "I would not be at all displeased if he were to be reinstated."

Dr. Henry D. Smyth, also a physicist, and the only AEC member to vote for Oppenheimer, reacted at his Princeton, N.J., home said.

"Since I never felt he (Oppenheimer) should be excluded, I naturally think he should be reinstated if he wants to come back. I wouldn't blame him if he didn't want to."

Oppenheimer himself has refused to comment.

The commission acted on an appeal by Oppenheimer from a 2-1 decision by a special security board which held long hearings. A question in the inquiry was whether Oppenheimer, who had a major part in developing the atomic bomb, had sought to delay development of the hydrogen bomb.

Oppenheimer said he had been guided by his views as what would be the wisest expenditure of effort and materials.

Dr. Edward Teller, whose discoveries opened the door to a workable H-bomb, testified that if Oppenheimer had supported the project in its early stages the nation would have had the bomb four years earlier. He said that after his breakthrough discoveries Oppenheimer supported the project warmly.

The majority findings against Oppenheimer came down to a conclusion that he was a loyal American, but had held himself above security restrictions, had associated with Communists and had been untruthful.

Flight Instructions Begin For 24 Air Force Cadets

By MONTE STUCK

Twenty-four Air Force ROTC cadets, seeking a private pilot license and cadet pilot wings, began flight training Thursday at Capital City Airport.

The flight trainers are seniors who intend to enter Air Force pilot training following graduation, according to Capt. Ernest J. Reeves, assistant professor of air science.

Student pilots in the AFROTC program will put in 8-12 hours of dual flying time with instructors from Spartan Aviation Company in Piper Tri-Pacer before attempting solo flight. They are expected to log 36 hours of flying time during the program.

This training for the future Air Force officers met with success last year, when MSU was the first school in the state to inaugurate the program.

Last year it cost the Air Force roughly $300 for each cadet in the program. Prior to this type of training, the Air Force gave the cadets a commission before starting flight training. Under this old system, the Air Force the program has helped to identify not only the pilots who have the ability, but also the will to fly, and will also cut the number of washouts in regular pilot training, Col. Davis said.

Before they take to the air to solo, the flying cadets will have completed 35 hours of classroom instruction, including 15 hours of weather, 15 hours of navigation and five hours in Civil Aeronautics Administration regulations.

About 80 percent of all new Air Force officers are graduates of the AFROTC program conducted at 180 colleges and universities. Forty-two now have flight training programs.

Morris stressed what he said were demands placed on Gold by his espionage leaders that he acquire American processes rather than mere theories.

"Gold told me that he had obtained from another Soviet agent at the Holston Ordnance Works in Kingsport, Tenn., samples of a high explosive known as RDX. This stuff was twice as powerful as TNT and Gold said he turned two pounds of it over to the Russians in the fall of 1943."

Shainitsky said he feels "100 percent sure" that Soviet espionage activity in the last 10 years has enabled Russia to acquire scientific superiority in some respects to the remainder of the world.

Fourteen Michigan police sergeants and lieutenants will be graduated today from the Command Police Officers Course.

The course, which began Monday, is one of many presented throughout the year for law enforcement agencies by the School of Police Administration and Public Safety and allied outside groups.

The latest information on police operations was given by Police Ad specialists and "guest professors" from Michigan communities.

Scientists Kidnaped By Russia

Espionage Gives Reds Superiority

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Senate Red probers said Thursday convicted atom spy David Greenglass told them in a prison interview that Julius Rosenberg carried earth satellite, atom-powered airplane and anti-missile secrets to the Russians shortly after World War II.

Counsel Russell Morris of the Senate internal security subcommittee described Thursday's interview with Greenglass at a subcommittee hearing here.

At the Philadelphia hearing, a former Soviet Army officer testified that Russians kidnaped some 2,000 German scientists between 1944 and 1947.

They included missile scientists and experts in the fields of electronics and chemicals, said Vladimir Shainitsky of New York City who identified himself as a Lieutenant Colonel in the Soviet Army until 1947.

Morris also interviewed Harry Gold, another convicted atom spy and fellow prisoner of Greenglass at Lewisburg.

'Excess Freedom' Education Lagging In Science—Hoover

NEW YORK (AP)—Former Republican President Herbert Hoover said Thursday night the nation is lagging in science as a result of too much freedom in high schools.

He told the United Engineering Societies in a prepared speech.

"In my view there is a fundamental weakness from the too prevalent high school system of allowing a 13 or 14 year old kid to choose most of his studies. Academic freedom seems now to begin at 14.

"A youngster's first reaction in school is to seek soft classes, not the hard work of science and mathematics. Also, he has a multitude of extra-curricular activities which he considers more beguiling than hard work.

"You simply cannot expect kids of those ages to determine the sort of education they need, either for daily living or for the professions, unless they have some guidance."

Hoover spoke at a meeting during which plans were announced for a new 10 million dollar United Engineering Center on United Nations Plaza between 47th and 48th Streets. The 20-story building is expected to be completed three years from now.

The building will serve as headquarters of 16 national engineering societies and their 250,000 members.

Hoover told the group "it required Sputnik to awaken the country to certain facts of life." He continued.

"The trouble is that we are turning out annually from our institutions of higher education perhaps fewer than half as many scientists and engineers as we did seven years ago. The greatest enemy of all mankind—the Communists—are turning out twice or possibly three times as many as we do.

Our highest institutions of learning have the capacity to train the recruits we need. The harsh fact is that the high schools are not preparing youngsters for the entrance requirements which must be maintained by our institutions training scientists and engineers."

Hoover said less than 12 percent of high school students are being taught algebra and geometry, less than 9 percent elementary chemistry, and less than 5 percent elementary physics.

He admitted that there is a teacher shortage, that teachers are underpaid and that laboratory facilities are not sufficient. He declared.

"But if this nation is not to degenerate intellectually and to lose its strength for daily life and defense against our enemies, the taxpayers, the school boards, the parent-teacher associations had better wake up.

He suggested the consolidation of high schools in larger cities to form institutions for special training required to meet university entrance requirements. He also suggested engineers and scientists volunteer two or three lessons a week in schools near their homes.

'MSU Frosh Inferior' Says European Prof

MSU freshmen are intellectually inferior to European students, according to visiting German professor Dr. Hans Wiebe.

Dr. Wiebe is director of the English language and literature curriculum at the University of Wurzburg, Germany, and is teaching communication skills for the fall quarter.

He attributes the lack of knowledge among new students to the neglect of grade school teachers and the inadequate teaching of such basic tools and reading and spelling.

High schools seem to be one-sided in their training and allow too much freedom of choice of subject matter. Dr. Wiebe feels that pupils at this age are not interested in acquiring a broad range of background material.

They would rather take simple courses instead of material that would prepare them for the future. When high school graduates enter college, they lack the broad general knowledge necessary for good college work.

Besides taking a wide range of compulsory subjects, European students are required to read a large number of good books and learn a foreign language. If American students had more compulsory subjects they would be better prepared to study college level material, Dr. Wiebe said.

Dr. Wiebe feels that we are not utilizing our human and material resources effectively. If young minds were exposed to difficult and thought provoking subjects it would develop their minds so they would be equipped to specialize when they reach college.

The visiting professor does not think that emphasis on the sciences, such as exists in the Russian high schools, would be of any great value. He said young minds should be molded, not stifled.

Dr. Wiebe feels that if a group of educators would make a continental visit they would discover some of the important facts in the European school system and be able to incorporate them into our education system. He also advised that the field of teaching might be more attractive if the wages of teachers were increased.

Brussels Exhibition Merits New Funds

Supplement funds for this country's participation in the Brussels International Exhibition next year were only recently passed by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

In this case however, the appropriation merited approval. The extra funds to add luster to portrayal of the American way of life at the Brussels Fair should be returned many times over in good will, understanding and international appreciation...

U. S. Commissioner-General Howard S. Cullman has pointed out that, as the American pavilion is now conceived, it will be a "wonderful shell" but "inside there will be large gaps of emptiness where there should be substance."

The fair will be a "principal focus of world attention" in 1958, Cullman emphasized, with 35 to 40 million visitors expected over a period of eight months from all countries, including those behind the Iron Curtain.

The tremendous enthusiasm for the American "Atoms for Peace" exhibition at the Paris Fair this summer, and more especially the significant reaction of the Poles after viewing the U. S. exhibits at the Poznan Fair, have demonstrated the worth of such exhibitions abroad.

We have spent billions for boomorgrime, rainbow-chasing, pie-in-the-sky projects across the world, but the modest necessities for making the American Pavilion a success at Brussels belong in another category.

To Thee MSU

Editor's Note: The words (shown below) and music of the song "To Thee MSU" were written and composed by Thomas M. Soikosky, Midland junior. It was first presented to the MSU student body at the Minnesota pep rally on November 15. The song will be presented to the All University Student Government at its Dec. 5 meeting for approval as an official Michigan State school song.

Spartans are we, and proud is our song, Through ivy covered halls a great hallowed throng, Over the land ring towers of bells, That echo in our hearts a deep noble spell, Look to the skies, the green and the white, Before our school a flag that humbles our sight, And in the night in union anew, Our voices sing a toast to thee MSU.

Speech of the Year

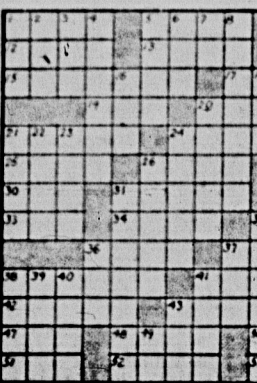

Among the would-be experts on communism, Mao Tse-tung's secret speech last February—published this summer in revised form—seems to give a go-ahead for criticism of the Red regime in China.

"Let a hundred flowers blossom, let a hundred schools of thought contend."

Secretary of State Dulles cautions against too literal a reading of Mao. He suggests Mao may be willing to let some "flowers" grow, only to cut off their heads later once they expose themselves.

The Challenge

Letters to the Editor Student Parkers Air Opinions

To the Editor:

When one attends a democratic university such as MSU, there is a mature dictum expected between faculty and students. Thus, you would expect minor conflicts and dissenting opinions in any democracy, but the ludicrous situation presented in the Student Driving and Parking Regulation has no place in any democracy or university campus.

You have printed in the State News that the Student Faculty Motor Committee has met "every Friday morning for more than a year." You also state that "the greatest headache presented to them is an apparent lack of tolerance, primarily from the general student body, which seems to place little confidence or appreciation in the committee's work."

Mr. Editor, I see no apparent reason for "confidence" or "appreciation" from a representative body in a committee which "has met every Friday for more than a year" and presented no reasonable solution to this problem.

On any other campus it is unheard of for students to be restricted by regulation preventing them from using available parking spaces and performing necessary daily activities, without losing their driving privileges or having to pay excessive fines.

It seems to me MSU's present problem could be solved quickly and efficiently by reserving parking for faculty, staff, and other necessary personnel, and allowing the students to use the remaining available spaces.

The effect of these poor regulations are felt throughout the campus; in the inconvenient student parking lots, unavailable dorm facilities and countless other situations which cause considerable consternation, discontent and a general lack of "esprit de corps" among students and faculty.

I might suggest, Mr. Editor, that these opinions be aired to the committee and the students as a whole to ascertain a general reaction and solution to our "campus wide" problem. And then a solution satisfactory to all could be found.

As to the post-mortem held EVERY Friday and any other convenient time, it might be well to heed the words of the Specter: "If a man is being hung, does it help him if you explain just how."

Victim

To the Editor:

The individual, when he becomes the victim of an institution, is rendered a force without direction. To avert this the democratic philosophy has been chosen by freedom loving people over totalitarian ideologies. The democratic philosophy will stand as the social guardian of the few who become subordinated to a system, whether that system be an institution, the normative order or a privileged group.

This is the reason the democratic philosophy has been chosen by freedom loving people over totalitarian ideologies.

IF THE ADMINISTRATION CAN IGNORE REGULATION NO. 10, WHY CAN'T THE STUDENTS?

What recourse does the individual have who is confined in his belief that a law is unjust as it is being applied? What recourse is open to him except to appeal a summons to the student traffic court which will not determine the validity of the law, but will concern itself only with whether or not the student has received a summons for that law.

What recourse is open to the student who appeals his summons a second time (when it is sustained by the first court) only to find that the same chief justice presides at the second appellate court, thus rendering the court prejudiced.

What recourse does the individual have who cannot appeal his summons any further than this prejudiced court? If he is to remain in school he must pay the summons. That is his only recourse. He must assume a guilt which he cannot feel is his and pay a punitive fine which is not commensurate with the violation (a violation which is without basis).

It apparently is the assumption in an era of numbing conformity that the individual will become so accustomed to bowing to the social norm that he will in time accept its abuses as well as its benefits. He will bow to a system of law which is inequitable and remain voiceless. This student believes that so long as the individual can have access to the governed then such injustices will become corrected, having been exposed. This is the purpose of the letter.

If this assumption is not true, then in truth we have raised the governors above the governed and abolished our concept of the individual. If that be the case then at least let us be sincere and drop the fetish of attempting to approach justice in our student traffic court.

Frosh Grid Contest Set For Monday

The annual Green-White game, season's finale for 90 frosh gridders, has been set for Monday at 3 p.m. in Spartan Stadium.

Freshman coaches, John Polonchek and Gordie Serr, practice with the team as a single unit this week, and the squad will break up into Green and White contingents today.

A long workout Wednesday was the last full term scrimmage prior to Monday's tilt. Four units were used and the coaches drilled extensively on offensive tactics. Polishing and smoothing out defensive and offensive patterns was the order of Thursday's session.

According to Polonchek, the team should be in good shape. Quarterback Paul Hrisko, who missed last week's preliminary intra-squad scrimmage because of the flu, has been released from the hospital and returned to practice Tuesday.

Tackle Allan Hill, who had been sidelined earlier with a knee injury, is now back with the team and saw action in last Thursday's scrimmage.

Dick Sanoba, 202-pound guard, fractured his jaw in practice early in the week, and will definitely sit out the Green-White contest.

In the two preliminary scrimmages, the White squad overpowered the Greens in decisive victories, 20-6 and 19-0.

This blonde, pony-tailed youngster, four times Canadian gymnastics champion, is petite and pleasantly curvy. She's taken one Hollywood screen test and has another coming up.

The 20-year-old, 5-foot, 108-pound charmer from Windsor, Ont., packs a lot of athletic bounce in a small package. She resides at Mason Hall dormitory.

She ran away with the Canadian women's AAU gymnastics title again last summer at Toronto, winning the six events she entered.

Her similar domination of the meet in previous years won her the vote as Canada's outstanding woman athlete three years in succession.

Ernestine comes by her skills naturally. Her mother teaches dancing and she received early training in acrobatic dancing, ballet and tap. Her father, a foreman at a Canadian plant, teaches calisthenics at the dance studio in spare hours.

Ernestine was fascinated by a trampoline set up by a neighbor when she was 13 and bounced her way to gymnastics fame from that early start.

Men in the know know true from false

College grads employed in science earn more than the grads in Government service.

TRUE FALSE

False. Surveys show that 38% of the grads in Government work were in the $5,000 and above range, only 26% of those in science shared this income status. At $7,500 and above, Government employed grads scored 2 to 1 over scientists.

Over 75% of U.S. college grads enter professions or reach top management in business.

TRUE FALSE

True. In fact the percentage is closer to 84%. Census reports indicate that employment with the greatest prestige and income is overwhelmingly held by college grads. Some men without a college education make the grade, almost all college grads do.

Upset-Minded Wildcats Face Nation's Best-MSU

Michigan State, back on top in wire service rankings of college football teams, will meet Kansas State here Saturday in the season finale for both clubs.

Game time is 1:30 p.m. A crowd of 25,000 is expected. The Spartans will be out to win the game and thus conclude a fine season of eight wins and one tie. The defeat came in the fourth game of the campaign last year. That very week the Spartans moved to the top of the national rankings for the first time this fall. The defeat knocked the Spartans down several spots and they've been fighting back up the ladder since.

The comeback clincher came last week when State smothered Minnesota Gophers 27-13. The other top teams ran into trouble, state bounced from fourth to first in both the AP and UPI polls.

Kansas State will be out to get an upset and a glance at the Spartans' figures will show the Wildcats could just do it. The Spartans suffered a slump from a poor start against Minnesota.

The Wildcats are a rapidly improving team which in recent years have done some impressive things. In their last four games they've beaten Iowa State, Oklahoma, Oklahoma State, Kansas and beat Missouri. The team is mostly veteran and experienced. At least a pair of first rate players in Ralph Pfeifer and Don Wilson, a crack end in Don Wilson, a fine pivot in Capt. Wally Carlsson and a rugged tackle in Wally Carlsson.

Notre Dame football coach Ara Harboyan began the 1957 season with a three-year coaching record of 19 victories and 11 losses.

Green-White Tilt Set Tonight

Couch Fordy Anderson will publicly reveal the Michigan State cagers in the annual Green-White contest at 8 tonight in Jensen Fieldhouse.

The White contingent will be made up of varsity and upperclassmen while the opposition will come exclusively from the freshman ranks.

This game will afford the students and general public a chance to view most of the returning members of last year's co-conference leaders and NCAA fourth place finishers.

Hockey, Swimming Squads

Coed Teams Ready for Big Tilts

Coed hockey players will seek to maintain their undefeated record as they close their season against Central Michigan here this afternoon. Again coed swimmers will attempt to secure a victory as they host the Detroit Women's City Club Saturday.

Although Detroit's hockey team had a definite experience advantage, State's coeds played well last week, equalling their opponents in the second half with Detroit leading 4-0 at halftime. MSU failed in the final half on Elaine Orr's break-away shot and held the final score to 5-1.

Central Michigan has given State its only major loss in the last two years. Coach Jean Harwood said that since MSU is Central's only opponent, the Centralites are extremely spirited and aggressive. She hopes for good team balance and a steady game by the Spartans to thwart the Central squad's bid for another win.

The University of Ontario landed the swimmers a rather disheartening defeat, 67-64, last week. Had State come through in the freestyle relay the tables might have been turned. As it was Ontario, took the event in 1:12, a tenth of a second faster than State's team.

MSU managed to gain first place in several events. Jan Porter, 60 yard freestyle; Mary Apollon, 90 yard butterfly; Nancy Miller, synchronized solo; Renele Scott, synchronized figures, and Mike Worsfold, diving. For the most part State picked up seconds as the remainder of the first places went to Ontario. However, they will need more than second places if they hope to make any kind of a showing against the City Club. Coach John P. Hussey of Detroit is well known for his strong teams and outstanding swimmers.

The largest boxing gate in Yank-see Stadium history amounted to $1,925,564 when Joe Louis and Billy Conn fought for the heavyweight title in 1946.
