Williams Proposes Fund Shift

Ag Board Reveals Financial Solution

Plan Involves Transferring Money From Veterans Fund

By BILL CALLAHAN
State News Editor-in-Chief

MSU's governing body, the State Board of Agriculture, came up with a possible solution to the financial crisis during their meeting in the Ad Building Thursday morning.

The plan, part of the governor's message to the Legislature Thursday, is only a suggestion requiring state approval to become more than a possibility.

It would involve transferring securities held by the Veterans Trust Fund first to the general fund, and then to the U of M Board of Regents and the State Board of Agriculture.

These boards could then use the securities as collateral to borrow funds for operation. The interest on such loans could be paid by interest on the securities or, alternately, included in future appropriations. The transfer of funds would include about $17 million for MSU and $20 million for U of M.

Under such an arrangement, when the state is again able to make appropriations the loans would be repaid and the securities involved would be re-transferred to the general fund and finally back to the Veterans Trust Fund. Thus, the Veterans Fund would be kept intact.

No payments have been made to the university since November (the November payment was for October operations) and only one-third of the annual appropriation has been received to date.

The university cannot meet the February payroll unless it receives payment from the state or borrows money. The only foreseeable alternative at this time, according to the board, would be to get a ruling from the state authorizing the university to borrow against future appropriations.

According to Deward Varner, whose designation as administrative head of MSU-Oakland was approved by the State Board during the meeting, it is unlikely that appropriations will be made before the tax program is settled in the Legislature. Varner predicted a "long, tedious, legislative session."

Two other major appointments were approved by the board. Paul Miller, director of the Cooperative Extension Service, will be transferred to Varner's former position as vice-president for Off-Campus Education with the additional designation of professor of Continuing Education. The appointment will be effective Feb. 1.

Dr. Noel Ralston, head of the dairy department, will replace Miller and will also be assistant dean of agriculture. Dr. Ralston's transfer will be effective Feb. 1. Varner's transfer is effective at once, and his exact title will be determined later. He will carry the responsibility for representing the university in its contacts with the Legislature and state government through June 30.

Dean of International Programs Glen Taggart received an additional designation as professor of International Education.

In other business the board approved a recommendation to authorize alterations and improvements in South Campus buildings A-2, A-3 and A-7, converting space formerly used by the art department to be used by Forest Products, Urban Planning and Landscape Architecture, Audio-Visual Aids and Improvement Services.

A formal program of dedication for the Krueger Art Center is being scheduled for the weekend of May 9.

Vice-President Antonio Bairo of the University of the Philippines was a guest observer at the meeting.

$205,294 In Grants Accepted

Gifts and grants of $205,294.98 were accepted for MSU by its governing body, the State Board of Agriculture.

Included was a $55,000 grant from the Carnegie Corporation of New York to be used under the direction of Dr. Edward Weidner in the Institute of Research on Overseas Programs.

Through previous grants from the Carnegie Corporation, the institute has been conducting extensive research related to overseas programs conducted by American universities, including number, location, methods of operation and impact at home and abroad.

The latest grant will go toward completion of the project and publication of the findings. The State Board also accepted two grants for Dr. Willis Wood, research professor in agricultural chemistry: $11,298 from the Atomic Energy Commission of Lemont, Ill. and $9,484 from the National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Md.

Dr. Wood's research involves a study of the chemical processes in bacteria. An "analysis of thinking," a study by Dr. Donald Johnson, professor of psychology, will be continued under a $13,000 grant from the National Science Foundation.

Prof's Discuss China

Two MSU professors will discuss our attitude toward Red China over WKAR's Viewpoint Sunday at 2 p.m. Major John Barton, host, will have as his guests Dr. Lawrence E. Harrison, associate professor of Social Science and author of a forthcoming book, "The Rise of American Influence in Asia and the Pacific," and Dr. Robin Drew.

Workmen 'Point' Bricks

The beginning of winter term has seen the Union go through a face lifting.

Since mid-November, workmen have been "pointing" the bricks and mortar over the entire building. This means the mortar which holds the bricks together has been filled in where it has cracked and flaked out. The job should be done by Friday, according to George Fritz, assistant manager of the Union.

The Union was excavated in November, 1952, during "Excavation Week." Students turned out with shovels to dig the basement working half-days in competitive teams. The coeds served coffee and doughnuts while the military and Swartz Creek bands entertained. Professors even helped with the work.

This display by the college generation as one capable of vigorous labor and firm devotion to the alma mater brought in enough gifts and pledges to finish the Union. By June 1954, the cornerstone was put in.

The legislature gave the Union to MSU in 1953 and an addition was later added.

Dash, Brilliance Displayed Crowd Fights Snow To Hear Pops Play

By NELDA TROUT
State News Night Editor

Boston Pops enthusiasts who braved the ice and snow Thursday night to fill the Auditorium for the orchestra's lecture-concert performance were well rewarded.

Displaying the dash and brilliance combined with the sensitive expression for which they are noted, the Pops presented those classics (as well as hit tunes) which make listening an easy and enjoyable experience.

The number that brought down the house was Haydn's arrangement of "Dance in a Minor" through the years. Beginning with the cakewalk, Arthur Fiedler directed the orchestra through the Charleston, "Turkey in the Straw" and "Beer Barrel Polka."

Special emphasis in the dance music was given to the "Missouri Waltz" (popularized by a former Washington pianist with the initials, H.S.T., according to program notes).

Interbug-swing was illustrated by Glenn Miller's "In the Mood," a strange-sounding arrangement which, performed with violins substituting for saxophones.

Bringing dancing up to date, the Pops concluded with the rock 'n' roll favorite, "Tequila." Musical arrangements contrib-

Universities to Get Vets' $50 Million

Gov. G. Mennen Williams Thursday proposed that Michigan's 70th Legislature transfer the $50 million Veterans Trust Fund to MSU and the University of Michigan.

Cuba Tells Marines Hands Off

HAVANA (AP) — Rebel chief Fidel Castro declared Thursday he wants good relations with the United States, but he warned sternly against any U. S. intervention in Cuban affairs.

He said if U. S. marines were sent to this island nation "200,000 Gingos will die."

Gringo is a term used by some Latin Americans, often in a derogatory sense, for U. S. citizens. About 12,000 live in Cuba.

Castro did not elaborate on his reference to U. S. Marines, but it presumably was prompted by statements of some U. S. congressmen that the State Department should act to halt the executions that have followed the fall of Fulgencio Batista's dictatorship.

The U. S. Navy said Thursday an Atlantic fleet amphibious task group that includes 3,000 Marines has been diverted from its intended stop at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, "to avoid any misunderstanding." The Navy said operational planning had called for the group to arrive at Guantanamo Bay Thursday, but instead it will proceed directly to an exercise area near Puerto Rico.

"If the United States come here," Castro declared, "we will make trenches in the streets."

"We want good relations with the United States — yes. But submission — no."

Referring to the executions, Castro said "Here no innocent person will be punished." He pledged all prisoners would be judged within the law and all executions would be carried out under the law.

Rushes Get Bids For Third Stage

Rushes pick up bids today from 2-6 p.m. at the Panfilo postoffice in the Union Tower room.

The rush calendar schedules the third stage of parties for this weekend on Sunday. There will be two parties at 2:30 and 4:00. Cords are wanted to limit their selection to two invitations at this stage.

Costume parties centered around a theme are planned by the sororities. Rushes will dress casually in skirts, sweaters and baby sox.

Men interested in bowling in the Union Bear bowling tournament should sign up in the Union bowling alley before Sunday. The cost is $1 for the eight weeks of tournament.

Hamilton Sent to Aid U. of the Philippines

Vice-president Thomas Hamilton left campus Thursday to make academic suggestions to the University of the Philippines.

Previous to this visit to the Philippines, Hamilton has been conferring with visiting Dr. Antonio Isidro, vice president of academic affairs at the U of Philippines.

The United States International Cooperation Administration extended its services to the U of Philippines last year by sending President John A. Hannah, Dr. Floyd Reeves and vice president Thomas Hamilton, from Michigan State, and Dr. William Middlebrook from the U of Minnesota to study the war-torn university.

At the request of the Filipino government, Hamilton will see how any changes could be made in an academic sense at the university.

The station is looking for male and female models, writers for continuity, fashion script transitions and scene outlines, persons with musical talent, and also has a few openings for those who would like to do behind-the-scenes production work. There are some opportunities for those interested in dramatics.

Interested students may contact Kay Eyde on MSU ext. 2241 today, Monday and Tuesday.

MSU Veterans Assn. Calls Off Ad Campaign

Members of the MSU Veterans Assn. called off an advertising campaign Wednesday afternoon when Tom Kolesiak, president, learned the group was violating university regulations.

The Veterans were distributing leaflets, designed as a fake summons, on automobile windshields. The leaflets advertised a "Winterland Whirl," a dance sponsored by the club. Campus police reported the violation to the Men's Division. Robert Etheridge, ass't director, Men's Division, informed Kolesiak that it is necessary to petition through the buildings and grounds department for permission to post notices on campus.

Director Change

Tom Kolesiak was replaced Wednesday as production director for Spartacade by Brian Langley, former advisory committee chairman. Al Barron will take over as advisory chairman.

'Hit and Run' Driver Kills Baseball Mascot

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Silver, a friendly dog known to thousands of San Francisco baseball fans as the bright little passenger on the infield drag, was killed Wednesday.

The little white pooch with a black spot over his eye was struck by a hit-run driver. Silver was owned by Ralph "Shorty" Schurr, Seals Stadium grounds keeper.

"He was just a mutt dog, but very smart," said Mrs. Schurr sadly. "The driver didn't stop. I wish someone might have picked up the license number." Silver has his own code of baseball ethics: Never bother a player. Never chased a loose ball.

TOM KOLESIAK, president of the Vets Club, informs Jerry Dunn and Dave Swenson that they are violating university regulations by distributing leaflets without permission.

Treasury Votes UAW Settlement

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers union said Thursday the U.S. Treasury Department has approved a supplemental unemployment benefit plan negotiated by the union and Chrysler Corp. last year.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther said Chrysler workers who were on layoff as of last Sept. 1—or laid off since that date—will share an estimated two million dollars in retroactive payments. Terms of the UAW-Chrysler settlement called for a longer duration of benefits and no drop-off from 65 per cent of a normal week's take-home pay.

Reuther said Chrysler workers who exhausted the previous 26-week benefit period limit are now eligible for up to 13 additional weekly payments, depending on the length of the layoff since Sept. 1 and whether they were still eligible for state system unemployment compensation as of that date.

Jack Frost Is Lenient With Spartans

Graceful Spartans managed to stay on their feet and out of the hospital Thursday despite a freezing drizzle which turned to snow late Thursday night.

Olin Health Center reported no admissions to the hospital and listed one bruised elbow, two minor ankle sprains and a bruised hip as the only casualties among the 19,000 students slipping around to their Thursday classes.

Olin Medical Director James Feurig said the only serious accident of the term due to the weather was a back injury suffered by a coed in a toboggan party.

The first ski weekend, Dr. Feurig said, produced only a few cases of sprains. Respiratory ills, mostly colds, have been highest on the center's case lists this term, Feurig said, but were normal for the season.

The department of public safety reported three "fender-bender" collisions Thursday, two occurring in parking lots.

Delta Upsilon and dates will observe DU's tenth anniversary Saturday night at a formal dinner-dance at the Civic Center. Dancing will be to the music of the Playboys.

Sigma Phi Epsilon, recently moved to its house on M.A.C., will celebrate Saturday evening from 9-12 with a dance and party.

Phi Kappa Phi will have an informal record dance from 8-12 p.m. Saturday. Phi Kappa Sigma will hold its traditional rush dance Saturday evening.

The sororities will be welcoming rushees Sunday at the third stage of winter rush and under way. Rushees will attend two parties at this stage, which is the last one before Prefecture Dessert.

Students to Debate in Ohio Tourney

Four Lansing students will represent MSU at the annual Ohio State Debate Tournament in Columbus, Ohio, Saturday.

They are Barry Boughton, Charles Herbert, Steve Gronner, sophomores; and Ralph Wilbur, junior.

The debaters placed first in the Ohio State competition last year. About 15 colleges and universities will participate in the tournament.

Jack Carter will accompany the representatives on the trip to Ohio State.

Religion Clubs Plan Dinners For Weekend

Dinners and discussions are the main events planned by the campus religious organizations this weekend.

Fellowship of Religious Liberals have planned a supper for Sunday evening. Members are to meet in the ion lounge at 6 p.m. After the dinner, the group will discuss "Is MSU Too Materialistic?"

Lutheran Student Association meets at 6:30 Sunday evening to discuss "God's Deed, Man's Response III." Vesper worship has been planned for 8 p.m.

Wesley Foundation's guest speaker for Sunday evening will be William Sweetland, associate professor of Humanities. Sweetland will discuss the effect of the Methodist religion on society during the time of John Wesley. Following the meeting, the group will return to Wesley House for the traditional "cookie jar."

Hillel Supper Club meets at 7 p.m. Sunday. Following the supper, Dr. Myrtle Beal, assistant professor of social work and Dr. Norman Kinzie, professor of humanities, will discuss friendship and marriage in the group.

WMSB-TV Makes Debut Next Month

By JOAN MILLAR

WMSB-TV will have another first next month when the university's WMSB-TV makes its debut on channel 10.

It will not be just another station. It will have an educational format and will be on the same channel as WFTV, a commercial station operated by the Television Corporation of Michigan.

MSU Runs Apple-a-Day Experiment

MSU is running a unique experiment concerning apples. Started in 1956, this experiment is to include around 2,000 students and apples.

At the cost of approximately $7,000 a year, 500 students are fed two apples a day for fall and winter terms. At the end of that time, their health records are compared with those of students not taking part in the experiment.

According to Dr. Eugene H. Lucas, Professor of Horticulture, Michigan State is conducting the second known experiment of this kind. The first is still going on in Liverpool where a group of people under close supervision eat an apple-a-day and check records.

Though nothing conclusive seems to have been proven by the Liverpool people, Lucas, speaking for his co-workers, Dr. Robert Monfort, in charge of the health records, and Dr. William Bates, who handles the statistics, feels that State's experiment has already proven that apples are a good food.

Whether they actually will greatly benefit the body from the standpoint of dental, respiratory, and digestive health, has yet to be proven.

Last March, Life magazine published an article with a picture showing the experiment which attracted a tremendous nationwide interest in the test. Dr. Lucas said that he is still receiving letters concerning the article.

The apples are ordinary ones grown in a nearby orchard. The participating student can choose a tart or sweet apple, which ever he prefers.

Lansing Student Completes MSU Basic College With 'A' Average

Dean Luehrs, an aspiring research chemist from Lansing, who reads almost anything and everything worth reading, has become the 15th student to complete MSU's Basic College with an all-"A" average.

Of the some 70,000 students who have completed the Basic College since its start in 1944, only 14 others have come through with all-"A" records. The program consists of four one-year general education courses and is required of all freshmen and sophomores.

Luehrs' joining of the select group will be marked by adding his name to a plaque which hangs in the Basic College building.

He is holder of one of the coveted alumni scholarships, 10 of which are awarded each year. In 1957 he was one of 40 national winners of the Westinghouse science talent search, which earned him a cash award.

Counselors Ask Early Meetings

Appointments for counselors are more available in the early part of the term, according to Rowland Peterson of the Counseling Center.

Since schedules get heavier around the middle and latter part of the term, students who have been planning on coming to the Center are encouraged to make appointments early.

Half Appointed Dairy Research Assistant Prof

Dr. Harold Hats has been appointed assistant professor in the dairy department at MSU to carry on research in dairy cattle reproduction.

Hats succeeds the late Dr. Edwin Willett. The dairy scientist will work in a new animal reproduction laboratory constructed about a year ago.

Dr. Hats will work with the Michigan Artificial Insemination Cooperative helping them to solve some of their artificial breeding problems as well as to conduct fundamental research in the area of intermediate reproduction, according to Dr. Noel Ralston, head of the dairy department.

"It is hoped that Dr. Hats will continue the program begun by Willett in ova transplant as well as male and female reproduction," said Dr. Ralston.

Consumer Information Director Receives New Position on Extension

Mrs. Miriam Kelley, who has directed MSU's consumer marketing information program since 1954, will become assistant director of the Michigan Cooperative Extension Service and state leader of home economics programs.

Effective Feb. 1, 1959, on the retirement of Mrs. Leona MacLeod, the nationally known leader will assume her new assignment following a action Thursday by the State Board of Agriculture.

In her new assignment Mrs. Kelley will be in charge of the home economics program carried on by county extension agents in home economics in all the counties in Michigan. She will continue overall supervision of the program.

The program, a feature of the World Travel Series, will begin at 8 p.m.

Julian Groner, enjoyed by audiences of all age groups because of his informative presentation and natural humor, has earned the enviable reputation of being one of the nation's finest photographers. Two of his films have won Grand Awards from the Photographic Society of America.

In "The Mighty Amazon" Mr. Groner takes his audience to the gay town of Belém at the mouth of the river, where the old meets the ultra modern in a setting of tropical flowers.

The audience will visit the market places, and the jungles where they will see the manner in which Brazil nuts are grown, processed and the harvesting and drying of coffee. From the deck of a river boat running one thousand miles upstream they will see thatched huts, villages, tropical rain forests, dug-out canoes and river trails.

Jan. 18 the MSU music department will present Ethel Arneling, contralto, in a faculty recital, assisted by Henry Harris, pianist, and Louis Boyer, Jr., cellist. The concert is scheduled for the Music Auditorium at 4 p.m.

Miss Arneling has sung with the University Symphony Orchestra and is widely known for her oratorio and concert work. The concert will include representations from Brahms, Busseton, Debussy, Poulenc, Faure, John Duke and Ross Lee Finney.

Dr. Armand Hunter, director of broadcasting at MSU, said the transmitting facilities will be ready for operation by Feb. 1.

Part of the day's broadcasting will be through WMSB-TV and part of it through WFTV — a total of 3 1/2 hours a week each.

Youth Convo Planners Set MSU Meeting

Preliminary plans for 11 regional "White House" Conferences on Children and Youth in Michigan will be moved ahead this week and at MSU.

A leadership training conference for the leaders of the regional conferences will be sponsored Jan. 16-17 at Kellogg Center by the Michigan Youth Commission.

The Youth Commission, at the request of Gov. Williams, coordinates the regional conferences and all other Michigan preparation for the 1960 "White House" Conference at the nation's capital.

Regional meetings will study the problems affecting children and youth and make recommendations for their solutions. They will be held this April and May.

In launching these preparatory activities, Miss Clarice Ann Arbor, chairman of the Michigan Youth Commission, has stated:

"No topic could be more timely for local and state study than the analysis of current social trends as they affect the growing up and daily living and learning of our children and youth. And we know that improvement can result in our community and our families if we become more informed and active about these questions locally."

Host Southern Illinois Saturday Gymnasts Lack Trio of Stars

By PETE WALTERS
Kicking off a three-sport afternoon on the Jenison Fieldhouse portable hardwood floor, the Spartan gymnasts will meet Southern Illinois University at 1 p.m. Saturday.

Minus star performers Ted Muzyczko, Dick Becker and Sandy Horn, all ineligible for the term, Coach George Szypula's defending NCAA co-championship team nevertheless stands to be considerably stronger than last year in two events, trampolines and tumbling.

Chuck Thompson, a promising sophomore, will join the 1958 trampoline corps of Roger Tuomi and Tom Temple and Thompson and John Daniels, another rookie on the squad, will team up with Tuomi in tumbling. Daniels has also been installed as State's No. 1 free exercise man since Becker's departure from the team.

Seniors Cal Girard and Angie Festa will be the Spartans' all-around entries, each working the four "apparatus" events and free exercise.

NCAA horizontal bar runner-up Stan Tarshis will work his specialty again after sitting out last week's Spartan double win over Wisconsin and Central Michigan because of a hand injury.

Other Michigan State performers slated for action are Mike Coco on side horse and newcomer Hal Shorr on parallel bars and still rings.

The Carbondale, Ill., school will send a "solid and rapidly improving" squad into Saturday's contest, Szypula said.

Its coach, Bill Meade, is a former Penn State gymnast and his assistant, Don Leas, starred at MSU and was Big 10 flying rings champ before graduating in 1956.

The Southern Illinois team features three good apparatus men in John Taylor (all-around man at his best on horizontal bar), Ed Foster (still rings), and Big Kies (side horse).

Jack Wiley and Leonard Kalakian are listed as outstanding tumblers, and Kalakian doubles as an experienced trampolinist.

Szypula notes his opponents' tumbling strength as the possible cause of a down-to-the-wire battle. Tumbling is generally the final event in gymnastics meets.

Gymnastics will return to the fieldhouse Tuesday, when the touring Finnish men's and women's team stages an exhibition in collaboration with MSU team members. The polished professional organization recently defeated the German team, last year's Michigan State exhibition guests, in a dual meet.

Former Bengal
Replaces Cronin

BOSTON (AP)—A stunned but happy Stanley "Bucky" Harris, who has devoted most of his 61 years to baseball, Thursday was named successor to Joe Cronin as General Manager of the Boston Red Sox.

Though the move had been rumored for several months, the first of the boy wonder managers still was dazed at a hastily-called press conference at Fenway Park.

"I learned of it only an hour ago from Joe (Cronin) who called from Chicago," Harris said. Cronin had just been approved as new American League president.

"It's so sudden that it kind of stumps you," Harris said.

"Cronin stated that he had talked to Mr. Yawkey (Red Sox owner) and that I was to be it. I'm very happy about it, naturally. I know replacing Joe is not the easiest thing to do but I'll just have to dig in and do it."

In answer to questions concerning any plans he might have about changing basic front office policy or switching team personnel, Harris said he preferred to talk such matters over first with Cronin and field boss Mike Higgins.

Harris has been serving as a special assistant to Cronin for the past two years. When asked if he had any inkling that he would become general manager some day, Harris said: "Not to my knowledge. Mr. Yawkey may have had that thinking. I don't know."

Harris has three times been field manager at Washington, twice at Detroit and once each with the Red Sox, New York Yankees and Philadelphia Phillies.

Old, Present Cagers Play Saturday Alumni Must Overcome Age as Well as Varsity

By CHUCK RICHARDS
Freddy Anderson had just finished sending his Michigan State basketball team through an afternoon workout and was on his way to the locker room.

On his way, he spotted George Ferguson, who captained State's Big 10 co-champion team into the NCAA semi-finals. Ferguson was dressed in a sweat suit and the perspiration was streaming down his face.

Ferguson was working out in preparation for the first annual Old Timers basketball game at 8 p.m. Saturday in Jenison Fieldhouse.

"Getting a head start on us, eh?" Anderson joked to the big player.

"Yeh," said Ferguson. "I can hit the rim every once in a while now."

Of course, Ferguson was only joking. He was never any high scoring forward in his playing days, but he knew how to put shots through.

The only problem to many is whether Ferguson and his fellow alumni team which includes such players as Julius McCoy and Bob Brannum have retained the old touch.

There was no such problem in the alumni-varsity football game because the veterans were mostly professional players who had been keeping in trim.

But virtually none of the basketball alumni have been playing actively—and it's easy to lose the range after a layoff from the game.

On the credit side, however, is the fact that these players were some of Michigan State's best. It is also a fact that quite a number played professional basketball or, at least, dabbled in the programs. One can pick many tricks of the trade from the pro ranks which the collegians have never seen.

The old timers have been working out the last few days in Jenison Fieldhouse hoping to lick the decided advantage the Spartans will have in conditioning.

The thought of conditioning also occurred to Old Timer Coach Ben Van Alstyne, former Michigan State head cage mentor.

"I have received assurance from all the players invited to come back for the game that they will be in good physical condition," he insists. "If they are, we'll make things hot in the varsity."

Van Alstyne talks as if he isn't fooling when he says he wants to beat the varsity.

"This is no exhibition as far as we're concerned," he says emphatically. "We're getting ready to play a real basketball game and beat the varsity if we possibly can."

The present coach, Anderson agrees: "The first inclination is to discount the chances of the Old Timers, but our Old Timer football game should have proved the fallacy of that (the alumni haven't been defeated)."

Whether it will be a "great game or not will depend partially on such varsity stars as John Green, Bob Anderson and Horace Walker. But, more so, it will depend on McCoy, Brannum, Ferguson, Larry Hedden, Bob Devenny, Robin Roberts, Erik Furseth, Bob Carey and the rest of the Old Timer squad.

If they haven't forgotten the tricks of old, Saturday night could be an interesting event.

Spartans Also Look Ahead to Ohio State

While Michigan State Coach Freddy Anderson wants to defeat the Old Timers Saturday, his mind is primarily on something more important.

The preoccupation centers around Ohio State which moves into Jenison Fieldhouse at 8 p.m. Monday for the Spartans' Big 10 home game.

While Ohio State (6-2) has been victorious in conference play yet (it meets Northwest Saturday night), it dropped both games by a total of only 10 points.

The Buckeyes' biggest threat is 6' 7" center Larry Rupp who leads the Big 10 with 26.5 scoring average. He is held out by a rangy front line composed of 6' 5" Joe Baker and 6' 6" Dick Furry. Left wingback and Joe Corbin are at the guard spots.

This game, as are all conference encounters, is an important one for the Spartans. They must win to keep pace with the jammed-up standings.

Laurels Voted to Sarria

MSU Soccer Star Elected All-American

UCLA Places 3 Players on Squad

Al "Phantom" Sarria, MSU soccer star, Thursday was named to the 1958 All-American soccer team picked by the National Soccer Coaches Association. This is the third consecutive year Sarria has won a berth on the dream team. He was named to the inside right position.

Sarria, a senior from Popayán, Colombia, scored 10 goals this year for the Spartan boosters, including two hat tricks against Purdue and Indiana. He scored 31 goals during his three years on the varsity squad, and holds the all-time high scorer honors.

The skillful ball handler also netted goals against Indiana Tech, Illinois, Ohio State and Michigan this year as the boosters completed their third unbeaten season. Sarria picked up his soccer skill at an early age playing in his home town.

Sarria's future plans are not definite. During the past year he said, "I'd really like to be able to play some more for the boosters, but I can't, so I think I'll give pro ball a try."

The Association will hold its 19th annual meeting today. The All-American selections will be heard at a luncheon Saturday.

The coaches also selected their first junior college All-American. The JC eleven was nominated by five players from Range County Community College at Middletown, N.Y., and one from Warren Wilson J.C. at Swainson, N.C.

Hawkeyes Good Test

State Tankers Off To Iowa for Meet

Hoping for a Big Ten victory Spartan tankers will begin their conference schedule at the University of Iowa Saturday.

The Hawkeyes defeated Wisconsin 58-47 last week and will be a good test for the Spartans. Coach Charlie McCallister calls this the first contest of the season. This State simply a knockout.

McCallister's squad has been working hard, but in order to defeat Iowa Saturday they will have to win both the mauling and freestyle relays. Sated to swim the mauling are Al Coxon, Frank Medina, Art Mansueti and Dave Digt. The possibly better bet is the freestyle relay, especially with a leading team in the first outcome of the meet.

Against Wisconsin, Hawkeyes Mollie Coxon, Pratt and Cullen had twice timed at 3:38.4, however, this is not their fastest time for the 400 yard freestyle relay.

Freestylers most likely to swim the relay for State are Dennis Baker, Digt, Larry Pontius and Don Patterson.

Other crucial events will be the 200 yard individual medley and the 200 yard butterfly. The

Grapplers Face Iowa Saturday

Big 10 Champs Boast Veterans

Five sophomores will start for Michigan State's undermanned wrestling squad when it faces defending Big 10 champion Iowa Saturday at 3 p.m. in Jenison Fieldhouse.

Except for seniors Jim Ferguson, who is the most experienced Spartan on the mats, and Jerry Jackard and junior Bob Moser, the other five starters for State will be practically raw.

Perhaps one of the closest events of the day will be the 125 pound freestyle. Hawkeye Guy Skopry was the 1958 NCAA winner in 2:24. Captain Don Patterson will have to go some to beat him. It is more than likely that these two will fight it out in the 100 yard freestyle and this event went to Patterson in the NCAA last year. He was timed at 49.

In the distance events Billy Stewart will have to look out for Jim Coles of Iowa. Coles swam the 200 yard freestyle in 2:12.8 last week.

Coxon and Jack Wintering will swim the 200 yard backstroke and in the 200 yard breaststroke will be Medina, Dave McCallister and Jim Tyson.

Checco Breaks Arm

Idle Hockey Squad Hit by Flu and Injuries

Every athletic team is handicapped with injuries at one time or another. Sometimes the timing is crucial and breaks up a winning combination just before an important game, or if the team is fortunate the injuries or sickness occur at a time not so vital to the success of the team.

The Spartan hockey team was hit with the flu this week and at the same time, promising sophomore defenseman Al Checco broke his arm while going into the corner after the puck. Checco jammed his elbow against the fence and fractured the upper arm.

Coach Arno Besonen said that Checco was coming along fast and was being groomed for one of the defensive positions next year.

Five of the forwards received varying cases of the flu and all but one will be ready to skate Monday. Veteran forward and tough competitor Fred DeVuono and sophomore forward Andre LaCoste recovered well enough to skate Thursday against the freshman team.

Winger Terry Moroney and sophomore center Jim Atack, also stricken with the flu, were unable to skate, against the freshman. Bill MacKenzie, fast skating senior, is still in the hospital and is not expected to practice Monday.

The team, which has been on the road since splitting with North Dakota in early December, is idle this weekend. The team resumes play on January 23 when they host Minnesota in a two-game series.

Checco's injury is a serious one and is not expected to practice Monday.

Marines To Test Students

Capt. Reginald Sauls IV, USMC, officer selection officer for the state of Michigan, will visit MSU Jan. 19-23 for the purpose of interviewing, testing and providing information for those students interested in becoming Marine corps officers.

During his stay, Capt. Sauls will be located in the Union concourse. Qualification tests will be given on campus.

Freshmen and sophomores may apply for the platoon leaders class which involves two six week summer training sessions at Quantico, Va.

Upon graduation from college the PLC's are commissioned as second lieutenants in the Marine corps reserve, and may choose either ground or aviation duty.

Graduating seniors and recent graduates may apply for a ten week aviation officer candidate course. Upon completion of the ten week course the officer candidate is commissioned as a second lieutenant in the Marine corps reserve, and receives 18 to 18 months flight training at Pensacola, Fla.

The length of active duty is three years for ground officers and approximately three and one-half years for pilots.

College women may also apply for a commission in the women Marines. The college programs for women are similar to the male programs described above.
