Spartacade Sponsors Visit

Dusty Sue Stubblefield, 10, and Larry Bahner, 8, will represent the Campus Chest at its annual Spartacade carnival. The charity drive, which will be held Feb. 27-28, will sponsor the two crippled children on their visits to the various organizations and living units on campus.

Dusty Sue, who has had muscular dystrophy since birth, is confined to a wheel chair without the use of her legs. She is a physical therapy student at Walnut School in Lansing, where she is learning to develop her special interests in painting, and reading.

Larry Bahner, the other charity child, is also a muscular dystrophy patient at the Walnut School. Larry has had the disease since the age of five, however, the ailment has not advanced as rapidly as Dusty's and Larry is confined only to leg braces.

The two children will be under the care of Mrs. Boren, a graduate of MSU in social work, who usually travels with the children for purposes related with the school.

All proceeds from Spartacade will be earmarked for charity. The total of all the proceeds earned from this campaign are then donated to various charity organizations on a percentage basis.

The organizations that will receive donations from Campus Chest this year are: the Muscular Dystrophy Assn., American Cancer Society, United Community Chest, Save the Child Federation, Spartan Nursery, University YMCA and YWCA, World University Service, United Negro College Fund, and National Scholarship Service.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Tactical Jupiter Missile Shot

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The first tactical model of a Jupiter missile shot aloft with a brilliant flash of white flame Wednesday night on the start of what reportedly was another full intermediate range space flight. For all practical purposes, the 60-foot ballistic missile was the same as the rocket that will be assigned to NATO defense forces in Europe in the near future.

Pasternak Agrees to U. S. Tour

LONDON (AP)—Soviet writer Boris Pasternak has agreed to make a lecture tour of the United States and Britain, a distinguished Spanish author said Wednesday night. Jose Vialonga, 39, said there were excellent prospects Soviet authorities would permit Pasternak to leave the country. Pasternak was denounced in the Soviet Union after he won the Nobel Prize for literature last year. He then renounced the prize. The Spaniard and his British wife have applied for visas to visit Moscow to discuss the project with Pasternak.

Reds Plug Exchange Visits

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet News Agency Tass, Moscow radio and TV Wednesday night plugged President Eisenhower's news conference statements on exchange visits by Russians and Americans. A Tass dispatch from Washington hailed the possibility of a visit to the Soviet Union by Vice President Nixon. Tass also depicted a statement signed by prominent Soviet writers, scientists and religious leaders appealing for better understanding between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Space Cooperation Sought

REVERDE, Chile (AP)—The chairman of the United States committee for the International Geophysical Year (IGY) has called for leading nations to cooperate in space exploration ventures. Dr. Irving Kaplan, UCLA physicist, told members of the present day group here Tuesday night: "No one nation is powerful enough of itself to do the job alone." It is recommended that man's explorations of outer space be carried out along the lines of the IGY in which 65 nations participated.

The Discuss Budget Critics

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower diagnosed Democratic criticism of his $7 billion dollar budget Wednesday as a case of "budgetary schizophrenia." Eisenhower told a news conference some of the budget too big, others complain it is too small—they are on all sides of it. "Schizophrenia is a mental disorder popularly called split personality. He said he thinks there is one thing of which Russian Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan must be sure as a result of his visit to this country: "That America wants peace, and ready to conclude, it is ready to match reasonableness with reasonableness, but it simply won't be pushed around."

Snow, Rain, Sleet: Depressing Isn't It?

Icy Street Conditions Yield Only Slight Accident Damage

The thunderous roar of snow falling from the rooftops, the sweet smell of wet wool and the resounding clump of galoshes, are again in order.

The weather prediction calls for two to three inches of snow today, but it won't be a winter wonderland scene. Sleet and freezing rain will come in intermittent flurries.

This discouraging outlook will probably keep the marauding bands of snowballers off the streets, but not the road crews. The East Lansing maintenance department reports that their two shifts, working since Tuesday afternoon, expect to have all roads in the area cleared by noon.

The storm center, which dumped approximately eight inches of snow and freezing rain on the Lansing area, appears to be moving northward. According to the Michigan State Police, road crews in the area around Clark are unable to cope with the situation.

Locally the police expect icy conditions on all major and minor roads, and with the appearance of more ice traveling may become extremely hazardous.

Only minor damage, and no serious accidents were reported in the East Lansing vicinity as a result of yesterday's onslaught.

On campus, "We've been lucky," said Dr. James Feurig, Olin Health Center director. Dr. Feurig noted that there had been only one injury yesterday.

Attack Kills Filmland's C. B. DeMille

Producer-Director Succumbs at 77

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Cecil Blount De Mille, a founder of the Hollywood film industry and the most successful of all movie makers, died of a heart attack Wednesday at 77.

It was the third serious heart attack for the producer-director, whose name became a symbol of flamboyant films. He suffered the first in Egypt in November 1954, during location scenes for his last great biblical epic, "The Ten Commandments." He refused doctors' advice to stop the film, saying, "I'll continue working until God wants me to quit."

Last June he suffered another attack. But in December he undertook a strenuous tour to exploit the last film he supervised, "The Buccaneer." The end came this morning at 5:30 at his Hollywood home with his daughter Cecilia and her husband, Joseph Harper, at his bedside.

DeMille's wife for 37 years, also in ill health, was not immediately told of his death. But friends said she had sensed something was wrong.

The Filmland titan died at the age of a 45-year history in films. His second making of "The Ten Commandments" was just overtaking "Gone With the Wind" as the biggest money maker of all time.

VETE'S ASSN. MEMBERS Sam Williams (r), captain of the 19 foot Spartans, and Chuck Walker, president of AUNG, are shown crowning a mythical queen of the "Winterland Whirl" dance. The "real" queen will be crowned at the dance Saturday night at Kellogg Center. Tickets are now on sale at $2.25 per couple, and can be obtained from any Vets club member.

MSU Credit Union Opens Membership

The Michigan State University Credit Union opened its doors to new members in its 23rd annual meeting in the Union Wednesday night.

The members of the MSUCU present at the meeting approved an amendment to one of their by-laws which will permit the persons in the immediate family of an MSU employee to join the credit union if they so choose.

In effect the old law permitted no one to belong to the credit union except those who were on the university payroll and received checks that could be used for payroll deductions.

MSUCU also held its annual election to fill vacancies on the board of directors, the credit committee, Daniel Kruger and John Zimney were elected to the board of directors. Vera Severance, Claude Welch, Thomas Foster and John Winburne were selected to fill the credit union vacancies and Milton Dickerson was chosen to fill a lone opening on the supervisory committee.

A small group of university employees organized the credit union in 1937. In the ensuing 22 years the organization has grown in excess of 3,000 members. The president and one of the charter members of the organization is Leonard Luker.

Treasurer Leroy Chapman reported the total assets of the credit union for 1958 to be $2,197,343.17.

Queen Contest Eliminations Begin Today

The first eliminations in the Miss MSU Contest will be held in the Union Parlor A & B from 7:15-9 p.m. today.

Twenty-five candidates will be selected from 37 needs who have been nominated by various living units. Automatically entered in the contest are the Homecoming and Harvest Ball queens, plus the two Corps Nominators of the ROTC and AF-ROTC.

Miss Key members will judge this elimination plus two others to take place Jan. 27 in the Sigma Wu House and Feb. 1 in Student Services when the queen and her court of six will be picked.

The crowning ceremony will take place at the J-Hop during intermission, when Miss Denny Donovay, Birmingham, Jr. and last year's Miss MSU, will present a traveling trophy and tiara to the new Miss MSU.

Miss MSU will participate in two additional contests: One to be held at Berkeley Junior College in California where a Miss Football will be selected, and the other at Houghton, where the winner will be crowned Miss Ski Weekend.

Profs Awarded With Fellowships

Two professors of business administration have been awarded Ford foundation fellowships to the Institute of Basic Mathematics for Application to Business.

Dr. William Lazer and Dr. Robert Johnson will attend the year-long institute, a program established recently by the Ford foundation to provide selected business educators with specialized training in mathematics, statistics and computer techniques.

The program will be conducted on the campuses of Harvard University and Massachusetts Institute of Technology from September 1959 through August 1960.

Spirit Jobs Open

Spartan Spirit chairman will continue interviews today for any student interested in taking part in the program. Hours for interviews are 12:30-3 p.m. in 329 Student Services. Besides general staff workers, positions open include committee chairman and secretaries.

Says Improvement Chief

Reading Habits Need Help

A businessman may find it difficult to do outside reading because he approaches a mystery story or serious novel the same way he would a contract.

"What the businessman — or any person — must do to become an effective reader is to be "shift gears" with the demands of the subject matter, according to James A. Scott, director of reading improvement at Michigan State.

Most people who sign up for reading improvement courses think they merely want to learn to read faster, Scott said.

"But speed is one of the easiest things to improve, and it should not be the sole aim," he explained. "If you only learn to read simple material faster, you really haven't accomplished anything. There is a need to improve the quality of reading matter as well.

"The average person usually doesn't bother to ask himself why he is reading something, or what he wants from it. The businessman for example may read what the cocktail party gossip recommends. He feels guilty if he isn't keeping up with everyone else. What he needs to realize is that it is not important to do this. He should read only what he is genuinely interested in."

Many people who "don't have time" for reading are suffering from poor reading habits that make reading a chore, the improvement specialist declared.

"A good way to give meaning to one's reading is to pose a question, then seek the answer in reading. This leads a reader of reference. We recommend that students read things that truly interest them, because given the desire, a reader usually will find the time."

"If a businessman receives an important contract to consider, he often can tell in a few seconds whether his answer will be yes or no because he knows what he is looking for in the contract."

Statistics show the average reader will move at the rate of 300 words a minute. That means 4,500 words in a quarter hour or 1,642,500 words in a year at 15 minutes a day. If a man spends just 15 minutes a day, he can read 20 average-length books from January to December.

However, Scott does not recommend inflexible reading schedules for everybody because failure to maintain such a schedule tends to make the reader feel guilty, and life won't always fit into a routine."

Would Give Low Rates Of Interest

Gifts, Loans Would Finance Operation

Michigan's financially oppressed college students may receive loan assistance from the state if a bill introduced Wednesday by Rep. Willard Bowerman, Jr. (R-Lansing) passes the legislature.

The bill calls for the creation of a Michigan Higher Educational Assistant Authority to guarantee 80 percent of any loan to state residents attending or planning to attend accredited Michigan colleges and universities and those of other states.

The Bowerman plan finances the authority through gifts, bequests, devises or loans from business firms, corporations and individual donors. Contributions would be deductible from state or local income or franchise taxes.

The Bowerman plan finances the authority through gifts, bequests, devises or loans from business firms, corporations and individual donors. Contributions would be deductible from state or local income or franchise taxes.

A $100 donation would make $1,250 available in guaranteed loans, according to the terms of the bill. If the authority's assets were $2,000,000, the authority could guarantee $25,000,000 in loans to students.

Bowerman's proposal calls for a nine-member authority to be composed of one representative each from MSU, University of Michigan, Wayne State University and Michigan College of Mining and Technology, two teachers' college members, two private college members and the superintendent of public instruction, who serves as an ex officio chairman.

The members would be appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate.

Bowerman lists the following points as "advantages to this self-help solution:

1. Low interest bank loans available to students at unprecedented long terms.
2. Democratic assistance which helps all students capable of receiving higher education, not just the more gifted ones.
3. Student government in his own future through assuming greater financial responsibility.
4. Direct assistance to help the student achieve his higher educational goals.
5. Indirect aid to colleges by reducing pressure on college loan funds.
6. Less need for costly government subsidy programs.

Bowerman says that under the terms of his bill, every body benefits — students, high schools, colleges, business firms, society and the economy.

The Lansing legislator has indicated confidence in the bill's passage through bipartisan support.

"In my opinion," said Bowerman, "this is one of the most important pieces of legislation that could be enacted into law by the legislature this year."

"A glaring defect in our educational system is the fact many Michigan youths, through no fault of their own, are denied the opportunity of being educated to the limit of their capacity because of financial inability.

"In view of world conditions like this situation is remedied today," he added, "it is imperative. This bill is designed to do just that."

Egypt Failed by U. S.

EGYPT, an oppressed country from the time of the Pharaohs, until Nasser's revolution in 1952, has been failed by the United States.

Louis Greiss, a Cairo newspaperman, in a talk Tuesday night told how U.S. foreign policy forced Egyptians, under Nasser, to accept Russia's aid in building the Aswan High Dam, a project which would create two million more fertile acres for Egypt.

According to Greiss, U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles turned the Egyptian people against our country. In 1953 Dulles came to Egypt and promised U.S. aid on the Aswan Dam to combat communism and industrialize that country.

GREISS SAID Nasser accepted Russian dam aid in desperation, and, "If Russia hadn't been on the scene Nasser would have signed a thousand pacts."

Nasser, attending the Afro-Asian Conference in 1954, was told by the other countries of the Middle East to note the U.S. unfaithfulness. "Are U.S. promises fulfilled?" they asked.

WHEN ASKED if this dam aid would help to convert Egypt's peoples to a communist inclined way of life he answered, "Not necessarily, but when the people travel by the dam and they point to it and say, 'Look, that's what the Russians built,' they can't help but be influenced."

And why are the Egyptians against Dulles and his policies? Well, an old Egyptian proverb, held nearly sacred by the people, goes like this, "A man is tied by what he says."

A Job Well Done

A JOB WELL DONE—is what can be said for the work of the grounds department Tuesday night during one of the heaviest snowstorms in recent years.

Gilbert Lloyd, asst. foreman of grounds, took charge of the emergency situation and had 23 crew members on the job by 8:30 p.m. All main roads on the campus were cleared by midnight, and working through the early morning hours, kept the roads in good condition for the morning rush to classes.

Lloyd and his 23-man crew, equipped with two road graders and two truck plows plus four sidewalk plows, were called into the emergency service by Campus Police.

THE NEWS PRO AND CON

By DAVE ROGERS, Editorial Page Editor

It seems as though the stubborn Southland is still fighting the Civil War over the negro question. Instead of slavery in 1862 it is integration in 1959.

Tuesday two Southern governors, Ernest Hollings of South Carolina and Lindsay Almond Jr. of Virginia, announced their policy against racial integration during their terms in office.

Although integration would impose a situation upon Southern states which is basically against their ingrained social mores, the fact remains that attempts by the federal government at gradual integration have met nothing but increased hostility, and complete lack of cooperation.

Many instances have arisen during the past year which point out the South as a section of the United States where democracy is indeed thin for those of the colored race.

The so-called revival of the Ku Klux Klan and school closings in several states south of the Mason-Dixon line have deprived white and colored children of their essential rights.

Why are the democratic ways of life being usurped in these sections of the country? Is the South so much different from the North that they cannot let men be truly free?

The Southern leaders such as Almond must consider the pressures applied by Supreme Court and other Northern groups a bitter pill to swallow. But how can the orders of this court, basic and necessary to freedom, be ignored when Southern courts up-see PRO AND CON, Page 3.

Cubans Support Castro

Huge Rally Backs Up Executions

'Operation Truth' Asks for Justice

HAVANA (AP) — Thousands of Cubans shouted support for their revolutionary regime's summary trials and executions in a massive rally before the Presidential Palace Wednesday.

Havansans and others turned out at Castro's request for a "Operation Truth" campaign to demand the world's attention to the treatment of Fulgencio Batista's vanquished followers is right and proper.

"We ask justice," said one banner displayed by the throng. Others — some in English, some in Spanish — said: "We reject Yankee intervention."

"Cuba wants the execution of the criminals who brought death to our children."

"If the Yankees don't want shooting, let them lend us the electric chair."

The toll of the firing squads had risen to 247 with the execution this morning of a dozen men of Batista's armed forces in westernmost Pinar del Rio province. They had been convicted at a three-hour trial on charges of murder and other war crimes.

Draped from the top of the palace over the speakers' balcony was a huge Cuban national flag. The flag of Castro's revolutionary movement bearded buildings, homes and streets.

In Havana as observers were two U.S. Congressmen — Republican Clayton Powell Jr. and Rep. Charles Parley — and a group of Western Hemisphere newsmen and commentators specially invited for the occasion.

All normal business activity in Havana halted. The city's 1,250,000 inhabitants took a holiday. A general strike was called from 8 a.m. to midnight. Most stores closed at noon.

The rally was joined by nearly 1,000 witnesses brought in from rural areas — shirt-sleeved farmers in broad-brimmed hats and women in colorful dresses — who will testify at war crimes trials starting here today.

The first of these trials is set to open at 2 p.m. in Havana's Sports Palace, an eight million dollar Batista government project with a capacity for 17,000 spectators.

Another Union Possible Morgan Merger Starts N. Y. Bankers Thinking

NEW YORK (AP) — Manufacturers Trust Co. and Bankers Trust Co. are studying the possibility of a merger, spokesmen for the two banks said Wednesday night.

Manufacturers Trust is the fourth largest bank in the country with assets of $3,054,000,000. Bankers Trust is the fifth largest with assets of $2,800,000,000. Both banks have branches in 15 cities.

Eugene Hooper, Manufacturers Trust president, said representatives of his institution have had some informal talks with Bankers Trust officials and have had talks with other banks.

Hooper said that the recent announcement by Guaranty Trust Co. and J. P. Morgan & Co. that they planned to merge has raised the question of other mergers in New York banking circles.

A statement issued by the Bankers Trust spokesman said that in the recent past there have been formal discussions between the representatives of the management of the two banks in connection with a possible merger.

The planned Morgan-Guaranty merger would, if consummated, create an institution with assets of $4,150,000,000. This would be the nation's fourth largest bank.

Old No. 22 Amendment Re-hashed

Ike Says Repeal Should be Made

WASHINGTON (AP) — This nation has tinkered with its 170-year-old constitution so rarely you'd think any real job it tried would be a good one.

Yet here was President Eisenhower saying Wednesday that the 22nd amendment should be repealed.

Ironically, the marine appropriately, Eisenhower has a special right to speak. He is its first victim.

For the 32nd, or newest, amendment to the constitution says no person shall be elected president more than twice. And Dwight Eisenhower became the first to whom it applies.

Now Eisenhower, who will be 70 by the time his next president is elected, never has shown any hankering for a third term. But he has said several times he thinks a president should be allowed to stay on as long as the people want him.

Wednesday, in reply to a question, he said he still feels that way.

Probably he put it best at another news conference, on Oct. 5, 1958, when he said:

"By and large, the United States ought to be able to choose for its president anybody it wants, regardless of the number of terms he has served. . . . Some people have said, 'let him get on enough power, and this will lead to a one-party government.'"

"That I don't believe. I have got the utmost faith in the long-term common sense of the American people."

Most of us, struggling with our daily chores, trying to pay our bills, doubtless will find No. 22 the most unburning issue of our times. Who cares, for heaven's sake?

Well, aside from Eisenhower, a number of historians and political scientists care. They think that when the amendment was adopted — Nevada became the 36th state to ratify it, on Feb. 21, 1951 — a real blow was dealt to the president's power.

A couple of years ago Rep. Stewart Udall (D) of Tucson, Ariz., questioned experts about the 22nd. Should it stay, or should it go as did the 18th amendment on prohibition?

"Arthur Link of Northwestern University said he thought the amendment should stay.

"We will be a very poor Democracy, indeed," Link said. "If we ever reach the stage where any single man is indispensable beyond two terms of the presidency."

To complete the conversion both generators in the old power plant, on north campus, had to be re-connected. This was completed Wednesday and the generators were turned on at 2 p.m.

The primary electrical distribution system of MSU takes in 68 miles of underground and overhead electrical lines.

The New York Stock Exchange is a major tourist attraction. More than 300,000 persons visited the exchange in 1957.

Signals Without Power Source

Innovation Sighted in Radio

The possibility of a radio station which would continue to broadcast after losing its electrical power source is being explored at MSU.

Dr. Charles Wells, professor of mathematics, and Dr. Alfred Lettner, associate professor of physics, are working on the project under a grant from the U.S. Army Ordnance Research office.

Their problem is not one of design but of pure mathematics — of calculating how a certain size and type of antenna would perform under given conditions.

Solution would permit engineers to do the design work. It might even make it possible to design a satellite that would broadcast after its batteries had gone dead.

If an antenna were broadcasting on exactly the right frequency for its size, believe Wells and Lettner, it would continue to broadcast after losing its power source.

"To use a poor analogy," Wells explained, "it would be somewhat similar to a pendulum continuing to swing for a short time after the force that started it is removed. In this case, the antenna would continue to oscillate after losing its power."

The same Army grant also involves the MSU researchers in the mathematics of the pattern which radio waves form around an object which blocks them.

For instance, if a transmitter were located close to a big building, the waves would spread around the building but would not close in completely on the opposite side. Wells and Lettner want to find how large the "shadow area" would be under given circumstances.

The two professors have been doing research for the Army since 1954.

Previously they worked on mathematical problems of using the outside of a rocket or satellite as the antenna rather than equipping it with a separate device for radio transmission.

Whether or not their solution as used by the Army in its explorations of outer space, they do not know. The Army has not yet given out enough detail about the design of the transmitters on its rockets and satellites.

Olmedo Sidelined With Injury

Ailing Tennis Star
Defaults in Doubles

ADELAIDE (AP)—Alex Olmedo, the ailing U.S. Davis Cup star, defaulted in the Australian doubles tennis Wednesday and is likely to withdraw from the singles today.

The 22-year-old Peruvian is expected to take the court against Ulf Schmidt of Sweden in their singles quarter-finals today, but he has been ordered to walk off at the slightest twinge of pain from his strained stomach muscle.

"We can not jeopardize this boy's tennis future," said Perry Jones, United States Davis Cup captain.

Olmedo said: "I intend to try to play Wednesday. How I will hold up nobody knows."

Olmedo and Barry MacKay defaulted their semi-final doubles match to the Australian team of Bob Mark and Rod Laver, who will meet upset winners Bob Howe and Don Candy of Australia in the final. Officials offered to postpone the doubles match until Friday, but Olmedo said he preferred not to play.

Both Jones and Olmedo, who is taking heat treatments, acknowledged it would be useless to force Schmidt's powerful game with a papercorn service and pathball tactics such as the Peruvian had to use in his third round match against Australian John Pearce.

If Olmedo is forced to the sidelines, America's hopes of capturing the Australian title for the first time in eight years will rest with Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio.

MacKay, brimming with confidence despite some lackluster performances, meets second-seeded Australian Roy Emerson in the quarter-finals.

America is expected to win at least the junior title. Earl Buchholz of St. Louis moved into the semi-finals Wednesday with a 6-1, 6-3 victory over Alan Shapter of Australia and appears headed for an unprecedented grand slam. Buchholz already holds the Wimbledon, U.S. and French junior championships.

Buchholz's semi-final opponent is Ken Fletcher, Australia, who beat Bob Pearson 6-1, 6-3 Wednesday. Luis Arilla of Spain topped Geoff Pares, Australia, 6-2, 7-5, and will play Australia's top junior, Mike Mulligan, 6-2, 6-2 winner over Jim Shepherd.

The other men's singles quarter-finals pit Andres Gimeno of Spain against Mark and top seeded Neale Fraser against Candy.

To Sign for Title Bout
Swedish Champ
Flies to New York

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP)—Sweden's Ingemar Johansson Wednesday said he will arrive in New York Friday where he is expected to sign for a title fight with World Heavyweight Floyd Patterson in the United States this June.

Johansson, 26, a handsome six-footer, was told to come to New York by Edwin Ahlquist, Swedish promoter and the European champion's advisor.

Ahlquist, who arrived in New York Sunday, conferred Tuesday with promoter Bill Rosenzohn and Gus D'Amato, Patterson's manager. After the round of conferences, Rosenzohn said the fight was 90 percent made. He named New York, Los Angeles and Colorado Springs as possible sites.

"I have been in contact with Ahlquist today and he urged me to come over," said Johansson Wednesday. "I have been prepared to leave on short notice for several days. My bags are packed."

The No. 1 challenger has been booked on every U.S.-bound flight for several days. He will leave from Copenhagen tonight. "This is what we've been waiting for," said Rosenzohn in New York. "Now I'm hopeful we can clean the whole thing up this week. We will do nothing further here until Ingemar arrives."

Johansson said he could not confirm reports from New York that negotiations for the title fight have been completed and the contract needs only his signature.

His fiancée, Birgit Lundgren, however, said "We had agreed that Ingemar wouldn't go if the fight wasn't on the point of being made."

Significantly, Johansson, who had conferred with D'Amato and Patterson in New York last November, said then he wouldn't return unless the fight was made.

Johansson took the call from Ahlquist in stride. The poised challenger then went shopping and later worked out at a boxing club.

Green: Cage Success

By LARRY WRUBLEWSKI

"I've never seen anything like this" (John Green) Ohio State's Coach Frank Taylor commented after Monday night's MSU victory. "We had the bigger men, but they're too slow. Green can go up and down twice while our men are trying to get up once."

Certainly, Taylor isn't alone in his evaluation of MSU's great jumping star. Since starting his collegiate career in 1957, Green has been a constant headache for rival Big 10 coaches. For that matter, the nation's top cage power.

This is quite an achievement for a player who had no formal high school basketball indoctrination.

John possessed natural ability. His most valuable asset was the uncanny ability to leap higher than the backboards. He only needed a coach who could develop his talents.

He was a 20-year-old Marine stationed at Albuqui Air Base in Japan when the coach of the base team invited him out for the squad. This was John's first affiliation with an organized team.

After enrolling at MSU, Green was still unfamiliar with the intricate patterns, and he lacked essential court "savvy" and "sense."

But the humble Green had the desire to learn and spend long hours on polishing his movements and shooting.

As Coach Fordy Anderson put it this way: "When Green came to us he was the rawest material you ever saw. He never had played basketball in high school and looked like it. His first year was his beginner's experience. His second year you might say he was in a transition stage, but learning rapidly. This year he has fully realized his full college potential."

Although John is already hailed as the greatest player in MSU cage history, he modestly equates his rise to stardom as a team effort and the excellent coaching he has received.

Green has played a prominent role in State's orbiting into the national basketball picture. His unbelievable jumping ability and elusive reactions have been a center attraction, which Anderson contends is needed to sell the fans.

As a "green" sophomore the 6-5 center compiled an outstanding record in 18 games. John recorded 262 rebounds, 27 in one game. He scored 238 points to rank fourth on the team.

At the conclusion of the championship season he started to receive the first of many individual laurels which would later come his way.

Green was selected to the first team chosen at the NCAA championship round at Kansas City. He landed a berth on the AP third team All-American squad.

Last season Green continued his steady climb to basketball greatness. In the process he established two Big 10 records. He totaled 397 points in 22 games, and paced the conference.

Williams Talks
With Sox GM

BOSTON (AP)—Ted Williams, the Boston Red Sox' slugging left fielder, and General Manager Joe Cronin conferred for about an hour Wednesday before they headed for a baseball dinner in Manchester, N.H.

The nature of the conference was not disclosed. Bucky Harris, who is to succeed Cronin as general manager when the latter takes over the presidency of the American League, sat in on the conference.

ence's rebounders with 392 recovered—29 against Washington university. Green's phenomenal field goal shooting percentage of 53.8 shattered Indiana's Dick Neal's average of 51.2.

For his work, John was a first team All-Big 10 selection by AP and UPI polls. He was also voted to the second-team All-America.

Since the playing days of Julius McCoy, State's greatest all-time scorer, Green has scored the most points in a single game. Last year he tossed in 30 points against Butler. Two weeks ago, he collected 33 points in the Illinois game.

Green was chosen to the Dixie Classic first team.

John is a definite first team All-American candidate. With Will "The Bull" Chamberlain making $50,000 with his touring

USC Obliges
By Restricting
Recruiters

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The University of Southern California has put its football recruiters on probation until further notice, President Norman Topping announced Wednesday.

The National Collegiate Athletic Assn. (NCAA) earlier this month handed the Trojans a two-year suspension for over zealous recruiting practices involving two players.

Since then the university has taken recorded statements from persons reportedly involved in the actions that led to the NCAA ban.

Dr. Topping did not identify these persons as he addressed the faculty senate this afternoon.

"It is regrettable that inter-collegiate athletics in this university have again beclouded the true contribution of SC to the community," he said.

"Unfortunately the teaching and research functions of our faculty and the learning process of our students become obscured by such incidents as the recent NCAA sanctions."

When the sanctions were imposed, he said, he asked the faculty committee on athletics to investigate circumstances of the alleged violations. He added:

"I asked the committee to examine our own department of intercollegiate athletics as well as the recruiting practices of the general alumni corp."

"The committee has also been instructed to recommend such disciplinary measures as seem justified from its studies."

New Teams
For NBA?

DETROIT (AP)—There might be some new teams in the National Basketball Assn. next season, but not at the expense of the present eight teams. NBA president Maurice Podoloff said Wednesday.

"All of the owners have advised me that they intend to stay where they are," said Podoloff here for Friday's East-West All-Star game. "That means if there is to be any expansion, it will have to be in new cities."

NFL Picks Four From State Team

Berrich, Cundiff Also Selected

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Four MSU players were selected Wednesday in the National Football League draft.

All-Big 10 guard Ellison Kelly was the first to be selected. The 220-pounder went in the 9th round (the first four picks were selected earlier) to the New York Giants.

Tackle Palmer Pyle was drafted by the Baltimore Colts in the 10th round and Larry Cundiff, an offensive tackle, was picked by the Los Angeles Rams in the 11th round.

New York grabbed another state player when fullback Bob Berrich went to the Giants in the 15th round.

The last place Green Bay Packers and Washington Redskins each selected covers players in the first five rounds but from Bear George Holas was chosen a real sleeper for the Chicago club.

The Packers, operating without a coach or general manager, and the Redskins picked up two more players with draft choices.

Row Team Schedules Six Meets

The fact that the Red Cedar is frozen over all winter doesn't keep Michigan State's rowing team from working out.

The crew, which will hold a meeting for anyone interested in rowing at 7 p.m. Monday in room 208 Jensen, will begin workouts Monday on indoor rowing machines in Jensen.

The rowers have scheduled six meets for this spring, the third at Michigan State. The other three are Big 10 crews, Wisconsin, Purdue and Minnesota, are slated for competition with the Spartans along with Wayne State, Detroit Boat Club and Toronto.

At least one regatta is being planned here in the spring. Wayne is slated to be the opponent in a race which will take place on the Grand River at Moore's River Drive. It will be a 2000-meter race.

The shell is served by an eight-man crew and a coxswain returning from last year are Ron Weston, Ed Reeves, Jim Johnson, Ron Bantz, Steve Holman, and Capt. Chuck Eddy.

The last spot is still being vied for among a group of newcomers. Anyone showing up for the sport will receive an equal opportunity to display his talents.

Gene Elliott, crew sponsor, looks for an even better season than the last which netted a 3-1 record.

Capt. Jim Trier also looks for good things this year. "My greatest concern," he insists, "is to beat Purdue. They have beaten us the last two years — now we would like to turn the tables."

"I hope we can reach parity status shortly," he says hopefully.

U. S. Mat Trials In IM Building

Michigan State has been awarded the final United States wrestling trials for the Pan-American Games.

The trials will be in State's new Men's Intramural building on July 30-31 and Aug. 1.

This is the second Pan-American Games event assigned to Swimming Coach Charles McCaffrey announced some time ago that the final U. S. swimming trials would be held in the Men's Intramural outdoor pool on Aug. 6-8.

The Eagles announced that General Manager Vince McNally in Chicago, had signed Mummery to a contract.

The Cardinals, as the result of a trade, also latched on to state Ted Bates of Oregon State, a 22-year-old, 213-pounder.

Hockey Shots Rested and Ready

By DAVE BARRELL
Twelve days of rest, peak condition, a "must" contest, a winning desire, home ice, and the fastest skating opponent on the schedule, will add up to a thrilling weekend of hockey for MSU.

Coach Arno Bossone's pucksters finally return home for their first home tilt since Dec. 6 to take on the Golden Gophers of Minnesota in a two-game series Friday and Saturday night.

This will be the last meeting of the two clubs this year and should be another hard-fought series. In their last encounter at Minneapolis, the Gophers grabbed the first game 7-3 and then were held to a 3-3 tie in the second game.

The State squad has the best record that any MSU hockey team has ever compiled at this point of the season. The Spartans' record so far is seven wins, two losses and one tie. Their balanced scoring attack and depth is best illustrated by the final game of the RPI Invitational hockey tournament. Every player on the team broke into the scoring column, with the exception of one defenseman and a third line forward.

Last year was the Spartans' winningest season, when they broke even with 12 wins and 12 losses. That season also saw two attendance records set when 3,179 people jammed tiny Dem Hall to see the Spartans whip Michigan, and the total attendance mark topped 20,000 for the first time in State's hockey history.

With no home basketball game scheduled for this weekend, attendance for the series should set another record. One coupon and twenty-five cents is the admission price to the world's fastest team sport and the only game in which there is sixty minutes of action. Unlike other sports, there is unlimited substitution and no time-out during substitution. The clock is moving only when the play is moving.

Hockey is second only to football in total money outlay for a season's play. Each player alone wears between $150 and $175 worth of equipment, not including uniforms. The goalie's equipment, which weighs close to 100 pounds, costs about $350.

It's fast; it's rough; it's expensive—it's HOCKEY.

East-West Pros Slated to Battle

DETROIT (AP)—The East and West are evenly matched for their National Basketball Assn. All-Star duel Friday night at Olympia Stadium.

The East starters — Bob Cousy, Bill Russell and Bill Sharman of Boston, Paul Arizin of Philadelphia and Ken Sears of New York—own an overall percentage average of 26.3 points.

The West starters will be Bob Pettit, Cliff Hagan and Slater Martin of the World Champion St. Louis Hawks, Egan Baylor of Minneapolis and Gene Shue of Detroit, and this five averages 26.1 points per game.

A near-capacity crowd is anticipated for this, the ninth annual NBA mid-year classic, to be played for the first time in Detroit.

The East has won six of the eight previous contests, and will try to make it three in a row for Coach Red Auerbach of the Boston Celtics, champions of the Eastern Division. Auerbach's East squad triumphed last year 130-118 in a great spurge late in the game by Cousy.

This will be the all-star coaching debut for Easy Ed MacAuley.

Piston Rally Fails to Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Detroit Pistons rallied in the second half but couldn't catch the Philadelphia Warriors, dropping a 112-105 decision in a National Basketball Association game Wednesday night.

A 38-point deficit enabled the Warriors to lead 59-36 at half-time. Philadelphia's margin soared to 28 points at 67-39 in the first two minutes of the third quarter but the Pistons, led by George Yardley, began a sensational comeback that reduced their deficit to 23-73 entering the last quarter.

Detroit shocked the Warriors by creeping up to 92-87 with 8:20 left to play but rookie Guy Rodgers and ex-Globe-trotter Andy Johnson led a Warrior counterattack that produced a 108-94 surge with five minutes left and the Warriors coasted home.

Yardley finished with 32 points to lead the Pistons and scored 25 of his tallies in the

Seniors of the Week Excel in Publicity Jobs

Senior of the Week "Rook" Shank, alias Waldo H., Jr., is wanted by nearly every publicity committee on campus, and no wonder; since his freshman year Rook has held the job of publicity chairman or has worked with the publicity committees of various campus events no less than seven times.

These include chairmanships with Water Carnival, the Wolverine and his fraternity, Delta Tau Delta. Currently he is Senior publicity chairman.

In addition to silkscreen posters, clever ads and other such huckstering, Rook's talent for management has shown itself in other areas. He has been J-day events chairman, and for his fraternity. He has been Spartacade chairman, Campus Activities chairman, and Homecoming Chairman.

Rook's clubs and organizations include Union Board and the Hotel Assn. On top of this he has participated in IM swimming and IPC sing, and has been a member of both the Coronation Ball decorations committee and the ROTC sponsors committee. He is also a member of Blue Key.

After graduation in hotel management this June, Rook plans on following Horace Greeley's immortal advice and moving some 2,700 miles away from his home town, Toledo, Ohio, to the land of sunshine, smog and thriving hotels.

If you've bought your 1959 Wolverine, it was very likely of the clever and often amusing prodding of Senior of the Week, Maxine Harris. As Wolverine promotion manager, she is responsible for such varied ideas as "An Index of Unforgettable Events" and Venus Demille asking, "Won't someone please turn the pages of my 1959 Wolverine."

House president of her sorority, Kappa Delta, Maxine has also been Water Carnival chairman and Panfil rush counselor. On top of this, she has been active in IM activities, while her all-university activities have included the program chairmanship of the J-Hop executive committee, and Student Government. She is Water Carnival program director, a member of the Young Republicans and, in keeping with this political penchant, she is a member of Senior Council.

An independent soul, Maxine disagrees with Horace Greeley. After graduation, she plans on going East from her home town of Millington, or either graduate school or a teaching job.

Spelling Lesson

Misspelled in Monday and Tuesday issues of the State News was Jim Haber, assistant director of Spartan Sports. Haber's name was spelled "Barber."

The DC7 was carrying 35 passengers and a crew of 14 when it first encountered trouble high over the Atlantic.

"I've had a full life and would have accepted whatever the consequences that might have befallen me," the 63-year-old Mikoyan told a reporter.

SAS spokesman in New York expressed doubt any sabotage was involved. They pointed to a massive police guard over the plane while it rested at New York and a thorough police inspection before it took off from Idlewild airport Tuesday.

Nevertheless, the airline ordered the two engines that gave trouble to be flown to Stockholm for a close inspection. It said the two-engine failure was the first in its history.

Poll of '59 Grads To Choose Most Influential Profs

Mortar Board is staging a poll of all spring term graduates through Friday night in the Union.

The purpose of this poll is to find out which professors have contributed most to college careers.

Seniors are asked to think back on all the profs they have had in college and to choose the one they think has given them the best all-around training to prepare them for the outside world.

When the results are known, the top professors will give general lectures April 8 and 15 in the Music Aud for all seniors who care to attend.

The ballot box is in the shape of a boat to carry out the theme "Bon Voyage to Seniors."
