AUSG Modifies Committee's Recommended Housing Rule

Student Congress Wednesday voted unanimously to recommend to the administration that housing rules which would considerably liberalize be drawn up the night before an administration-student committee.

According to AUSG's resolution, all single male undergraduates will be required to live in supervised quarters. The committee which suggested the original regulations reasoned in part upon the fact that the residence halls are not filled. Only 5,800 students of the 7,200 capacity now live in university halls.

Congress Adopts Housing Proposal

PATERNALISM reared its ugly head once again at MSU Wednesday when a student administration committee forwarded a list of suggested housing regulations revisions to Student Government.

Under the terms of the resolution passed Wednesday night all single male undergraduate students will be forbidden to live in unapproved housing.

- 1. All single undergraduates are required to live in quarters approved by the university for at least minimal standards of safety and sanitation.
- 2. The area in which quarters may be approved is bounded by E. Mt. Hope Ave. on the south, N. Okemos Road on the east, Lake Lansing Road on the north and Pennsylvania Ave. due north to Lake Lansing Road.
- 3. Unsupervised quarters may be approved only for students in the upper colleges, or students 21 years of age or older, or veterans with 18 months or more of active service. In addition, these students must maintain at least an all-college average of 2.0.
- 4. The same rules of conduct are in effect for students regardless of where they reside, on or off campus.

THOUGH WE have always felt that students over 21 should not be subject to university control in the choice of housing, the resolution passed by Student Congress is much milder and more liberal than the suggestions they received.

The administration seems to have a tradition of assuming a paternal attitude toward students that is at times tiresome, even nauseating, for students who are over 21.

The resolution will next go to the Student-Faculty committee, President Hannah, and finally to the Board of Trustees for approval. When, or in what form, it will emerge from this formidable gauntlet of discussion, it is impossible to predict.

We strongly hope (but doubt with equal strength) that it will be modified to allow students over 21 to live where and how they please.

We feel, however, that Student Government has done its best, in this case a respectable job, to represent the student body in this matter. We hope, at least, that their resolution will be adopted in toto, if the rules must be revised.

Home Economics Honorary Announces Annual Awards

The Alpha Chapter of Omicron Nu, home economics honorary, held its annual honors banquet Tuesday night at which time the outstanding students were inducted into the honorary.

Following the dinner Dr. Lena Cederquist, head of the Foods and Nutrition Dept., gave a brief history of Omicron Nu which was founded here in 1929.

Emily Steger and Nancy Anderson, president and vice president, awarded the traditional ribbons of pink and lavender to those majors maintaining a 2.5 presentation of the awards was by Dean Thelma Porter. The Snyder Cup awarded to the sophomore maintaining the highest scholastic average went to Evadna Smith, general manager from Lansing.

Marion H. Danforth leadership training scholarship went to Mildred Freshman. Judy Crawford and Park Ridge, Ill., junior for Joan Denny.

The Michigan Dietetic Association Scholarships went to Kay Allington, Saginaw graduate student and Rachel Donnan, Toledo, Ohio, junior.

Top executives, leaders in the field of marketing, met in Kellogg Center Tuesday evening with members of MSU Marketing Club, faculty and students to discuss the trends and opportunities in marketing today.

The main point of the discussion centered around the question of "what does the prospective employer of a college graduate look for when hiring people for the marketing field?"

MSU's Dr. Eugene Kelley moderated the panel of marketing experts. Panel members were: Edward Denny, vice president and general manager of Air Products, Incorporated; Stephens Dets, vice president and merchandising dept. director for Kenyon A. Eckhardt; Ralph Harding, Jr., manager,

Hannah to Speak Big 10 Greeks Meet

By BILL McMASTER

One hundred and twenty fraternity and sorority leaders from every Big 10 university will begin arriving at Kellogg Center today for the annual Big 10 IFC, Pan-Hellenic conference.

The conference will be the climax for 12 MSU organizations, 12 advisors including Elinor Nottmanker, fraternity advisor, and Miss Marie Peterson, Pan-Hel advisor, and dozens of committee members who have been working on it since last fall term.

MSU Greeks have been invited to attend two conference events. The first is a welcoming address by President John A. Hannah at 9 a.m. in Kellogg Center.

He will be followed by Dr. Walter Johnson, past president of the American Personnel and Guidance Association and present MSU professor of education, who will speak on the "Trends in Student Personnel Work in the Next Decade—Implications for Fraternities and Sororities."

The second event, open to Campus Greeks is the banquet Friday at 5:30 p.m. Mrs. Ellen Hoffstad, special delegate to the conference, will be the honored speaker.

The conference will also hear talks by Dr. Thomas Hamilton and Duffy Daugherty.

Dr. Hamilton, vice president for Academic Affairs, will speak on "Trends in Academic Programs in the Next Decade—Implications for Fraternities and Sororities." Duffy Daugherty,

Conference delegates will participate in a progressive open house Friday night.

They will be divided into two groups, each going to five different fraternities and sorority houses.

Ike Pledges To Support Secretary

600 of State Dept. Cheer New Chief

WASHINGTON (AP)—Christian Herter took over formally Wednesday as Secretary of State. President Eisenhower told Herter he is the best qualified man available to direct the nation's foreign policy.

Eisenhower personally pledged his full support as the former Massachusetts governor was sworn into office at the White House, succeeding John Foster Dulles. Dulles, seriously ill with cancer, resigned.

Vice President Nixon, congressional leaders, virtually the entire Eisenhower cabinet and Herter's family witnessed the brief ceremony as he took oath as the 34th Secretary of State.

An applauding throng of some 600 state department employees greeted their new chief afterward on the department steps.

Herter, who once was a U.S. ambassador, returned to the department after serving as secretary of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission.

At the White House the new secretary was greeted by the president and Mrs. Eisenhower. Herter was sworn in by the president.

The new secretary will be in the department as under secretary for the past 14 months.

Herter has been No. 1 man in the department as under secretary for the past 14 months.

He will be followed by Dr. Walter Johnson, past president of the American Personnel and Guidance Association and present MSU professor of education, who will speak on the "Trends in Student Personnel Work in the Next Decade—Implications for Fraternities and Sororities."

Players on Tour With 'Invalid'

With five performances behind them, the MSU Players left East Lansing this morning to give a performance of "The Imaginary Invalid," the MSU touring play, in Holt.

The players will return to MSU tonight and then will be on the road again Friday when they will give a performance in Morris, followed by a performance in Hallett. There is also a possible booking in Eaton Rapids planned for Friday.

The play was viewed in four Michigan towns last Thursday and Friday.

Thursday and Friday presentations of the play will conclude the touring schedule of the farcical comedy written by Moliere. The play will have a four-day run at MSU from April 29 to May 2 in the arena theater.

Support Your Man In Today's Primary

Last week we suggested abolishing class officers, since there seemed to be a large amount of indifference and apathy evidenced by the reluctance of students to run for office.

The day before petitioning closed only 72 petitions had been filed for 60 open positions. Perhaps our suggestion stirred up interest among potential candidates...

The rash of petitions on the final day produced enough candidates to require primary elections in seven class officer races and five student congress vacancies.

Happily it seems we were wrong in suggesting that MSU might as well do away with class officers.

Traditionally each year at this time there has been a campaign to "Get Out the Vote," and it has usually met with a good amount of success. MSU has always compared favorably in election turnout with universities and colleges across the country.

We are happy to be caught off base in saying students at MSU are not interested in their campus elections. We hope your interest will be reflected in the turnout at the polls for today's primaries.

But if you fail to support the candidate of your choice in the primary election, there is a pretty fair chance that he will not even be running in the finals. The candidates have shown their interest in taking the time and effort to campaign for office, it is up to you to support them the rest of the way.

We don't care who you support. Vote for any candidate you think is best for the job, but get out and vote today as well as in the finals. Don't let the "other fellow" pick the field.

Interpreting the News

Soviet Union Holds Key To Own German Fears

By J. M. ROBERTS Associated Press News Analyst

The Soviet Union's latest protests against the nuclear armament of West Germany emphasize a fear which appears to be spreading in the West...

The fear is one which is well understood in Western Europe, although the Soviets created the postwar situation which makes future trouble with Germany most likely.

It took a great deal of searching and prodding from the United States to get Western Europe to agree to include a rearmament of West Germany in its defense plans.

This was not due only to modern Germany's record of resorting to force in her relations with her neighbors. It was also due to the fear that in the situation created by Germany's position as a neutral nation, even if force were precluded, would eventually cause an independent deal with the Soviet Union for rearmament.

Surrounded With Controls Because of this in the formation of the European Union through which West Germany was brought into NATO, rearmament was surrounded with allied controls. The allied nations were concerned are sufficient not only to guard themselves against a German arms race, but also to insure the Soviet Union against a repetition of 1941.

There is however a veritable recognition that rearmament will not remain peacefully isolated, regardless of a set of national and international contingencies, aggressive attitudes in the Kremlin policy created an explosive situation in Europe with a potential for a Soviet-Polish frontier.

Deal for Polish Territory The Soviet Union had, in 1939, taken over the eastern Polish territory. When Hitler moved west from the west, the Nazis moved in from the east, and three to four years and a half before the outbreak of a new war, they had taken over another area's, not one partitioning Poland.

At war's end the Soviets stayed, but the Germans were driven not only from modern Polish territory but from wide areas which were truly German. East German Germans were driven off, West Germany, and Polish considers rearmament in compensation for the Soviet's past wrongs.

Major Industrial Breadbasket This territory beyond the Oder and Neisse Rivers was like the present conglomeration of East Germany, the major breadbasket for the German industrial complex in the west.

It will remain a base of contention as long as there is a Germany, and become exceedingly dangerous if a rearmament Germany should ever be separated from the powerful influence of the West.

That's why the Soviet Union is afraid, and why there have been suggestions in the West that a rearmament Germany could be surrounded by new multination security agreements.

But it was the Soviet Union which established the iron curtain in Germany, and which created the Oder-Neisse powder keg, and it is primarily the Soviet Union which holds the key to adjustment of her own fears.

Student Voice Must Be Heard

To the Editor: I am an "outsider" get into this argument! In describing myself as an outsider, I mean that in my freshman and sophomore years, I went to a school where there was no ROTC, compulsory or otherwise, so I have had to teach myself and have to teach others as to what it is and how interesting it is to the student, useful or a waste of time.

Now that I have some knowledge of military history, as I can see whether ROTC has proved effective as a means of recruiting officers for the armed forces, I have had to ROTC training and have to teach others as to what it is and how interesting it is to the student, useful or a waste of time.

Letters Speak For 'Peanuts' To the Editor: In reply to Gerald Bickett's remarks concerning 'Peanuts' in Westchester's State News...

Students Should Speak Many students, like myself, are not directly affected by the ROTC issue. But we are concerned with the character of the student body at MSU. On this or any other issue will the student speak their mind and act on their own initiative, or will they submit meekly to the dictation of the Administration?

Herter Rejects Red Request

German Arms Flow to Continue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States scornfully turned on Wednesday a Russian request that this country halt its shipment of nuclear missiles capability for West Germany pending negotiations over Germany's future.

Completely hypocritical, the "aganda effort," a State Department spokesman said of the Soviet bid was made in a which the Kremlin sent to Washington Tuesday. Its rejection was the first important move in foreign policy following the swearing in Wednesday of Christian Herter as secretary of state.

The events gave substance to what Herter's aides have been saying. That he will maintain the major lines of U. S. foreign policy charted by former Secretary John Foster Dulles.

About 30 minutes after Herter was sworn in, State Department press officer Lincoln White issued the U. S. statement, which presumably was cleared with Herter.

The Soviets protested against the United States supplying modern weapons, including missiles capable of delivering nuclear warheads to West Germany and other NATO allies. The Russians have objected many times in the past to the rearming of West Germany—a project undertaken after the Soviets started building up military type organizations in Communist East Germany.

The Russian note recalled that last March 26 the U. S., British and French ambassadors in Moscow told Soviet officials that any single-handed action would hurt prospects for a foreign ministers conference on Berlin and Germany.

The Western ambassadors were cautioning Russia not to upset the present status in Berlin or make a separate peace treaty with Germany.

Russia cited this background, U. S. officials said, in an attempt to make it appear that the United States had suddenly started arming West Germany in a manner jeopardizing the Geneva meeting.

White's statement said the strengthening of NATO military forces was agreed upon by the 15-nation NATO council in December 1957. There is nothing new about what the United States is doing to provide the most modern weapons to West Germany and other allies, he said.

Furthermore, White said, these are defensive measures against Soviet military might. He rejected the Soviet claim that the buildup of West German forces is a single-handed action by the United States to torpedo the Geneva negotiations. This charge is "totally devoid of substance," White said.

'Confessions of Felix Krull' Starts Tonight at Fairchild

"The Confessions of Felix Krull," a German comedy based on the novel by Thomas Mann, will be shown in M.M. Park's Film Series today and Friday.

The film will be shown two evenings at 7 and 9 in Fairchild theater.

Star of the film is Henry Brockport, 22-year-old European actor compared by many critics with American actor Anthony Perkins. Co-starred with Brockport is Lisa Pinner.

Brockport plays the role of an irresistible scoundrel who runs from obscurity to social triumph and eventually triumphs over his own location in Germany, Paris and London.

The screen play was prepared by Robert Thoren with the cooperation of Thomas Mann's daughter Erika who can be seen on the set part of an English government in the film.

Home Ec Adds Major
Michigan State's home economics department recently added a new major, household management and home management to its students.

The major has been offered because of today's need for per-trained in equipment repair. There is a demand for those who know equipment of cars and makes, how to buy and how to choose economical.

Recently, college graduates returned to the campus seeking equipment information. In equipment are required some home economics courses for all teaching majors.

Kitchen may be one of the most rooms in the house but it contains by far the most expensive pieces of equipment. According to Miss Evelyn Zaemer,

MSU Fencers Face Finals

Three MSU students and three alumni will participate in the state fencing finals Saturday. The event is scheduled for 7 p.m. at Derby Junior High School in Birmingham.

Competing in women's foil will be Judy Goodrich, Lakeport sophomore, and Mary Sagis, Pontiac sophomore. Miss Goodrich was a 1956 Olympian and semi-finalist in the world championships.

Chuck Schmitter, Jr., newly selected captain of the fencing squad, and Dick Berry, 1953 grad, will be on the epic strip. Fred Freiheit will compete in men's foil and George Thomas will be a sabre entry.

Berry has been national champion for the last two years. Freiheit, Thomas and Berry are former conference champions.

AVMA II Hurler Fans 14 In No-Hit IM Softball Game

By JOHN NOBLE
AVMA II pitcher John Van Iwaarden had the right formula Wednesday night as he struck out 14 of the 15 Flying Dutchmen batters that faced him and tossed a 3-0 no-hitter in the IM softball league.

AVMA scored twice in the first inning. After Frank Shearer, the Dutchmen pitcher, walked two men, Norm Boeve and Graham Johnson singled. In the bottom of the third, Boeve doubled and VanIwaarden hit a long single between the Dutchmen's left and center fielders to score AVMA's final tally.

The only man to hit VanIwaarden's overpowering pitch was Shearer. He flew out to the left fielder in the fifth and final inning. Van Iwaarden threw only 30 pitches to retire nine batters in succession.

Shearer pitched a solid game, striking out six AVMA batters, but errors in the first and third innings hindered his cause.

Ray Robinson Ordered To Defend or Lose Title

NY Supreme Court Demands Signup In 15 Days for Basilio Crown Match

NEW YORK (AP)—In a precedent-setting decision, Supreme Court Justice Saul Streit Wednesday directed Ray Robinson to agree within 15 days to defend his middleweight championship against Carmen Basilio or face the title.

The court, in a 12-page decision, upheld the power of the state athletic commission to vacate a title. The judge also said the commission could choose the challenger for a championship fight and could fix the date for such a fight.

But Judge Streit ruled the commission did not, according to its own rules, have the authority to pick the site.

On April 3, the commission had ordered Robinson to sign by noon April 15 for a title defense against Basilio, the former champion and No. 1 contender from Chittenango, N.Y. If Robinson didn't, the commission said the title would be vacated.

The commission said it had taken the action because the year-old New Yorker had defended his crown within months, as commission rules require. Actually, Robinson fought since he regained title from Basilio on a decision in Chicago, March 1958.

Robinson then asked the Supreme Court to restrain commission from enforcing ultimatum. The commission withheld action pending court's ruling.

There is a good possibility Robinson will appeal to a higher court.

Williams Schedules 1st Baseball Workout

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Red Sox announced Wednesday that ailing Ted Williams will take a brief workout at Fenway Park Friday. It will be his first workout of the season for the 1959 season.

Williams suffered a rib fracture in his neck during 1958 training and since has worn special protective collar designed to help hasten his recovery.

Harris Gets Homer, Indians Get 3 Tigers Sail to 10-1 Loss

DETROIT (AP)—The Cleveland Indians tied the Gary Bell's night pennant by scoring three runs in the eighth inning of a 10-1 trouncing of the Tigers Wednesday.

Bell's two-run homer in the eighth drove across four runs, including a home run and a Rocky Colavito batted in more with a former and and the Cleveland infield support with three noble plays.

Bell started the extra base parade with a fifth-inning blast that scored Bell, who had reached base on an infield single. He then drove across the Tigers' first two runs with a third-inning bases-loaded single.

The Indians routed starter Frank Lary before he could retire a batter in the seventh inning. Vic Power and Minnie Minoso singled before Colavito lined his second home run of the season into the lower seats in left field.

Gail Harris restored to his job at first base after being benched for his failure to hit, spoiled Bell's shutout bid with a second-inning home run.

This was the ninth straight time Detroit pitchers had failed to go the route.

Special Education Week Tells of Teaching Challenge

The challenge of teaching children who are physically handicapped and mentally retarded will be highlighted during "Special Education Week" which will be observed at MSU beginning Monday.

Activities throughout the week will be sponsored by the Special Education Club in cooperation with the Instructional Materials Center and the Department of Teacher Education.

Alice Davis, Detroit senior and president-elect of the Special Education Club, said the purpose of the week is to acquaint more students, especially freshmen and sophomores, with opportunities in this rapidly expanding field.

View students major in education they rarely, or sometimes too late discover that they can major in special education and in the same four years work to prepare themselves to teach in either an elementary classroom or a special classroom for the blind, deaf, crippled, mentally retarded, emotionally disturbed or speech handicapped.

Throughout the week of April 27 displays of special education materials and therapeutic equipment will be on exhibit in the lobby of the College of Education building.

Frenchman Rides Balloon Gondola To View Venus

PARIS (AP)—A cluster of 100 white weather balloons, strung together like a pearl necklace, Wednesday bore Armand Dollfus toward the stratosphere for a clear view of the planet Venus.

Dollfus, 34-year-old scientist and balloonist, is riding in a shiny sealed aluminum gondola. He was hoping to rise to about 82,500 feet within two hours.

The hydrogen-filled balloons, tied in groups of three to 1,500 feet of nylon rope, took off in a windless night under a full moon.

Special education majors and faculty will be available to explain the various facets involved in special education and to answer questions.

A 15-week series of television programs on special education will begin Monday, on station WMSB, Channel 10.

The first program will be devoted to an introduction of special education with an explanation of individual differences which make specialized training necessary.

Subjects covered in the series are the gifted child, the mentally handicapped—educable and trainable, the partially sighted, blind, deaf, crippled, and the socially maladjusted child.

The Special Education Club committee, working on the "Special Education Week" project are: Miss Davis, chairman; Sara Hoffus, co-chairman; Lansingburg senior; Ruth McKenzie, Milford senior; Yvonne Petruske, MI. Clemens junior; Janet Pickard, Detroit senior; Bob Wier, Lansing senior; and Mary Horsh, Lansing junior.

Safety Conference

The Sixth National Conference on Campus Safety will meet in Kellogg Center Monday through Wednesday, April 27-29.

Farm Credit Clinic Topic At Kellogg

New concepts in the use of farm credit is a main topic at the 24th annual MSU Agricultural Finance Clinic which started Tuesday and continues today.

Ernest Baughman, assistant vice president, research department, Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, will discuss the subject at the opening session this morning.

More than 200 Michigan bankers are at Kellogg for the two-day event which is being presented by the Michigan Bankers Association and both the MSU College of Agriculture and the Cooperative Extension Service.

Highlighting the conference Tuesday was a talk on "Agriculture's Satellites," by Ivy Duggan, president of the Trust Company of Georgia Associates.
