

Gridders Face Tough 'Irish'

THE MICHIGAN STATE gridders will meet a powerful opponent in the form of Notre Dame Saturday afternoon.

Michigan State will be looking for its fourth straight victory over Notre Dame, but the Irish have the edge in the games with a 16-8 record.

Spartan supporters can vent their enthusiasm at the pep assembly and bonfire, by the Bandshell at 7:30 tonight.

THE TWO TEAMS will be competing for the coveted "Spartan Trophy" which is awarded to the winner of the game.

The award was originated in 1949 by the MSU and Notre Dame alumni clubs of Detroit. The Irish took initial possession of the trophy in 1949; but the Spartans have won it six times out of seven since then.

The game will be the nationally televised game of the week and a capacity crowd of 76,000 is expected.

Notre Dame's star quarterback George Izo and Bill Mack, the best runner on the squad, are sufficiently recovered from injuries to play in Saturday's contest. It is questionable whether they will start the game.

NOTRE DAME will carry a 2-1 record into the game. They have a 1-2 record.

The Irish have posted victories over North Carolina and Florida. They lost to Purdue. The magic number for the Dame seems to be 28.

is the number of points they have won each game and lost by to Purdue.

Ballman who usually plays at right half will be used because of a finger injury which he suffered in a game. The finger operated on Wednesday.

Ballman should be in for the homecoming game against Indiana next week.

The main concern in the Spartan camp is the play of the status of sophomore Paul who is suffering a hip pointer injury.

It was thought the defensive halfback would be Irish encounter completely. But team doctor James says he might be able to go at full tilt.

BUCH DUFFY DAUGHERTY doesn't believe Snel will be able to see action.

Sharp another sophomore was running at Snel's half defensive post at Thursday's practice.

By Radas seems to have snatched the defensive half post to replace Don Stewart who was elevated to offensive right half slot. Stewart replaces Gary Ballman who is recovering from a finger operation.

The squad, led by guard Capt. Don Wright and Dean at the quarterback helm, worked against the dummy, both offensively and defensively in the final major session for Saturday's game.

Movie Star To Head ND Battle

Movie star John Gavin will head the MSU-Notre Dame battle in the nationally televised game.

Gavin, aided by the MSU cheerleaders, will lead the crowd of 76,000 in various lines and hopes all of which will be recorded on three-channel sound equipment.

The final scene of the film, in which Spartans' slave army encounters the mighty Roman legions, will carry the tracks recorded at the stadium battle immediately prior to the start of the nationally televised game.

MSU's athletic department and AUSG coordinated in setting the project. Asked why he chose the game at East Lansing for the experiment, Gavin replied: "It's an unusual, the Spartans to go to the Spartans."

There will be a pep rally at the stadium at 7:30 p.m. and all living units are encouraged to come together and form a block.

Athletic Director Biggie Munn will be there along with Capt. Don Wright, other members of the team and the cheerleaders. Spartan spirit director Chuck Clift will emcee the pep rally and reports that there will be a bonfire at the hand shell.

Clift also said that plans are being made for the Spartan Review, which will be Nov. 6, the eve of the Purdue game. The Review will be in Jensen and there will be an admission charge of approximately 50 cents. Agents are now working to bring top entertainment for this event.

According to Clift, Spartan Spirit is trying something unique to college campuses this year. They are trying to build up their own fund to that in the future they can be self-supporting. If this fund plan shows can be brought to the school.

Clift said he is also trying to build up spirit in the school. He feels emphasis is placed on building up spirit for athletic encounters but not for spirit and pride in MSU itself.

On Game Day

Car Traffic Rerouted

Due to the large volume of car traffic before and after Spartan games, the MSU Public Safety director, Richard Barrett, has announced that it has been necessary to institute one-way traffic movements, beginning at 12 noon until game hour.

Particularly involved in the plan are residents of Spartan and University villages. Under the one-way street plan there is no exiting from University village to Kalamazoo street.

Block 'S' Practice

Freshmen in Block S are asked to meet in Spartan stadium at 12:45 before the game Saturday for car section instructions and practice.

only exit will be the one entering Marigold, where all traffic will be turned south.

During the same interval all residents of Spartan village will use the Mt. Hope exit, all Harrison road exits will be closed.

For approximately 45 minutes to one hour after the end of the football game the one-way system is reversed. Traffic may go only west on Kalamazoo and at the Harrison road intersection it may either continue west or turn north.

Harrison traffic will flow only south from Shaw Lane to Mt. Hope.

Barrett reminded residents that Harrison road is to be used only by those people driving to the football game. Others exiting from University village will be directed south on Marigold to Harrison, south on Harrison to Mt. Hope.

'Ban Military Use Of Antarctic'—USSR

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union Thursday joined free world countries in calling for a ban on military use of the Antarctic and a guarantee for unhampered scientific inquiries there.

Delegates opened a session of the conference, which would last a few weeks, by outlining any military use of the vast, unsettled subcontinent where scientists of the 12 countries have been cooperating under the International Geophysical Year program.

It was the first appearance of a Soviet delegation at an international conference since 1947, when the Soviet Union, backed by Western powers, was hoping the world would continue rather than West meeting, such as those coming up on disarmament and Berlin.

The Russians, headed by Deputy Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Kuznetsov, raised no objection when the head of the U.S. delegation, international lawyer Herman Phleger, was by all accounts the post of permanent chairman of the conference.

Taylor suggested that the industry and striking Steelworkers Union consider submitting their dispute to arbitration—the decision of an outside neutral—if they couldn't settle it on their own.

Both sides said they don't want arbitration, and prefer negotiations.

As the hearings ended, with the industry's presentation, Steelworkers' president David McDonald went into a huddle with his union's executive board. The industry's coordinating committee also met.

Late yesterday, it was announced that R. Conrad Cooper, the steel industry's top negotiator, had called McDonald and arranged the meeting for this morning.

There was no apparent solid basis for expecting a settlement before Monday, when Taylor's panel must submit a report to Eisenhower. With this report in hand, Eisenhower would be free to seek a Federal Court injunction halting the strike for 90 days.

Ends Long Discussion On Algeria

President Offers Algerian Freedom

PARIS (AP)—The French National Assembly early Thursday voted President Charles De Gaulle a free hand in his effort to bring peace to Algeria through self-determination.

The unofficial tally of votes showed 441 approving the government's Algerian policy to 21 opposed, with 90 abstaining or not voting.

The constitution of the Fifth Republic does not require Parliament to pass on the President's actions. The massive endorsement of his policy gave him added strength to end the five-year Nationalist rebellion.

Those who voted against the government included a few who had bolted the Gaullist majority party, Union for the New Republic (UNR), a dozen or so conservatives, the ten communists and a few free-wheeling non-party deputies. Most of the Algerian deputies boycotted the session. The opposition Socialists voted with the majority.

Although extreme right opponents did most of the talking in the National Assembly, there was little doubt that following the vote and an apparent majority of public opinion—the deputies were ready to fall into line behind the President.

Some would do so with heavy hearts. They are those who fear Algerians will seize offered independence. Even local autonomy they feel will be but a stepping-stone to full independence in a matter of months. They favor the third choice offered by De Gaulle—complete integration of Algeria with France.

Nine members of the government majority party, the Gaullist Union for the New Republic (UNR), have quit since the debate began Tuesday because their leader, Prime Minister Michel Debre, refuses to come out squarely for integration. All are extremists.

Debre's plan provided an emotional charged scene during the afternoon debate.

Jean-Baptiste Baget, one of the time who resigned from the majority party, ended an anti-government speech by saying he would vote so that those who had shed their blood in Algeria would not have died in vain.

As he stepped from the rostrum, Pierre Portolano, a French deputy from Rome, rushed forward and seized Baget in his arms.

Portolano leads the group of Algerian deputies, who are boycotting the debate.

As the debate neared its end, the onslaught against the government mounted. De

Foresters Slate Annual Banquet

The MSU Forestry club will hold its annual banquet in the Centennial Room of Kellogg Center at 6:30 tonight.

The main speaker will be M. Nelson, regional forester from region nine who will speak on the forester's way of life and the multiple uses of forestry products.

This banquet highlights some of the traditional rivalry between the University of Michigan and MSU.

Last year the banquet was held at U of M and about 100 foresters attended.

The center of attraction will be the Paul Bunyan Tale competition. This is a foresters version of the liar's club.

The winner of the contest will be awarded a trophy depicting Babe the Blue Ox in miniature.

Last year Leonard Gondek, president of the Forestry Club, represented State and the competition ended in a deadlock with U of M contestant. It was then decided that each school would keep the trophy for six months.

After several weeks the State foresters got anxious and journeyed to Ann Arbor and stole the trophy. They had it on display in the Forestry building for about a week when again it disappeared and Michigan held it for the rest of the year under lock and key.

Mike Moore will represent MSU this year when they again try to gain legal possession of the trophy.

Graduate Residence Hall Plans Nearing Completion

By GEORGE SAVAGE

A special residence hall for graduate students appears to be nearing the final stages of "preliminary planning," according to Emory Foster, head of dormitories and food services.

Rapid-fire developments in collecting facts and formulating ideas indicate possible construction of a new graduate dormitory in the near future, perhaps very soon.

The proposed dorm would be located at the corner of Shaw lane and a projection of Bogue st., directly south of Van Housen.

"Present thinking" calls for a two-wing, seven-story structure, with the men's and women's sections separated by a cored dining area and lobby.

Each floor would contain 30 single rooms with two students sharing one bathroom. Although highly subject to revision, the single rooms will claim 162 square feet, not including closet space. Existing dormitory room size is about 180 sq. ft.

Foster emphasized that plans were not complete or final.

"Please remember that the building plans represent our present thinking and they will face many problems and possibly revision in some areas."

In just three weeks, Foster, Lytle Thorburn, residence hall director, and architects from Ralph Calder Associates of Detroit, have produced a tentatively acceptable and comprehensive plan for the new graduate housing. Barring major changes in the present plan, a final proposal should be ready to submit to the State Board of Agriculture for approval Thursday.

One of the big "ifs" confronting the planners is the problem of financing the reported 2.5 million dollar project.

"It would be premature for anyone to give an accurate cost picture at this time. This is one area that will continue to raise problems until the final plans are set," Foster said.

Airplanes Collide While Refueling

HARDINSBURG, Ky. (AP)—A B-52 Stratofortress and a KC-135 refueling plane collided in midair Thursday, causing a flash seen over most of Kentucky.

State Police said they had reports of two survivors.

The Air Traffic Control Center at Indianapolis, control point for Kentucky, said the crash apparently occurred during a refueling operation.

The two planes were based at Columbus, Miss.

THIS IS THE ARCHITECT'S drawing of the proposed graduate dorm to be built at the corner of Shaw lane and a projection of Bogue, south of the present Van Housen. It is planned to be a seven-story structure.

Fall Parties, Dances Head Social Events

By LINDA BAUMER

When the football team comes home, MSU students celebrate Hayrides, touch football, and autumn dances. They are geared to the weather for a weekend of relaxation before diving in for midterms.

Heading the list of fall theme parties is the Ag Council sponsored Harvest Ball. The first annual formal affair will be held at Kellogg Center, 9-12 Saturday evening.

And, of course, all loyal Spartan fans will be on hand for the big game against Notre Dame. Those who wish to party, however, can enjoy a special pre-game party at the Kellogg Center.

Delta Sigma Phi is holding its annual "Dance to Autumn" at the Tie House Saturday evening.

Members of Alpha Phi Omega will entertain and visiting guests at an after game jam session and buffet. Kenny Davis will provide music for the afternoon and for a semi-formal dance to be held at the chapter house in the evening.

Kappa Delta's are imagining themselves traveling to New Orleans and "Bourbon Street" this evening. Bill Spangler and his combo will provide the music to set the atmosphere.

On Campus Doings

BY CONNIE ZERIT

The men of Notre Dame are invading the MSU campus today and are anticipating a big weekend. There are many "doings" going on, and most of all, the MSU-Notre Dame game Saturday afternoon.

Have you noticed the new fashioned coats (age) back to the Edwardian (age) that MSU students have started wearing with the turn of cool weather? If not, you'll be sure to see the Chesterfield out in full force at Saturday's game.

Chesterfield, the coat with the velvet collar, is the big word for winter. It's a straight tailored coat, featured in various colors, but especially popular in the herring bone tweed.

There's no excuse for anyone to have a dirty car this weekend. Sigma Alpha Mu is sponsoring their "Summertime" day, while Alpha Omicron Pi and Sigma Phi Epsilon are joining forces, both and sponsoring Saturday morning for their charity money raising car wash.

Linda Lee Mead, Miss America, took a few minutes off from her busy schedule and visited the MSU chapter house for the MSU chapter house. Colleen Reid, president of the MSU chapter, presented Miss America with a miniature owl, the sorority symbol.

Religious Groups Plan Varied Social Activities

BY DIANE GARDNER

Campus religious organizations plan many and varied activities for the weekend.

Lutheran Student Association will sponsor a tea in honor of Martin Sorenson, missionary from Japan, at the University Lutheran Church student center at 3 p.m. Sunday. Mr. Sorenson will address the LSA Sunday Supper Club at 5:30 Sunday evening. His topic will be "The Mission of the Church in the World."

Lutheran Student Association plans a student discussion group at 11:30 Sunday morning at University Lutheran Church. Paul Lilliers' "Theological Method" will be discussed.

Wesley Foundation, scheduled a discussion Sunday evening at 8 p.m. at St. Paul's Church. The topic will be "The Role of Religion in Society." Thomas Green, professor of education, will discuss.

Decker's Gridiron Gambles

By TOM DECKER

Doing better in our predictions last week, we're expecting to continue our improvement with the same luck.

We have to pick Notre Dame over MSU, but it's with a small enough margin that we hope we'll be wrong.

As far as team ratings go, Northwestern takes the lead, followed by LSU and Purdue. Top games this week are Northwestern over Michigan, LSU over Kentucky, Purdue over Ohio State, Texas over Arkansas, Georgia Tech over Auburn, S. California over Stanford, Mississippi over Tulane, Iowa over Wisconsin, Illinois over Minnesota, Indiana over Nebraska.

Navy's Middies Face Miami U At Orange Bowl

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Navy's battered football team, whipped in their last two outings, hope to get a taste of victory again tonight when they face the University of Miami before 50,000 in the Orange Bowl.

Although they were beaten 20-7 by Southern Methodist and trounced 32-6 by Syracuse, the Middies (2-2) were 3-point favorites over once-beaten Miami (2-1). The Hurricanes lost their last week to Louisiana State, the unbeaten top-ranking team of the nation. The game is Navy's first in Florida.

Navy beat Boston College and William & Mary in its first two games. Miami downed Tulane and Florida State before bowing to LSU.

The No. 1 battle of the week, sending a third-ranked Texas (4-0) against 12th-ranked Arkansas (4-0) in a night game at Little Rock.

Seventh-ranked Southern California (3-0) journeys to Seattle for a big one with Washington (4-0), ranked 18th.

The Air Force Academy (2-2), ranked 19th, also hits the road for a toughie against Oregon (4-0) at Portland.

Spartan Harriers Race Each Other

Four Mile Intra-Squad Run
Today on State Golf Course

Cross country fans will get a chance to look at members of next year's varsity as well as this year's when an intrasquad four-mile run is held today at 1:30 p.m. on the Forest Akers Golf Course.

Eight freshmen and 14 upperclassmen will be competing against each other. Fran Ditrich, Spartan coach, has urged everyone on the squad to compete to "firm up the team." Besides giving the harriers a good workout, it will provide the spectator with a look at the whole team.

Intra-squad meets are held every year, either for all or those that need it in the coach's opinion. Ditrich was hoping to hold this last weekend and have the Western Michigan meet this weekend, so the squad would be better prepared, but a previous commitment by the Broncos made it impossible. MSU lost last Saturday to Western, 28-29.

The harriers' next home meet is Oct. 24 with Penn State. The NCAA meet will be held in East Lansing Nov. 23.

Varsity members running will be Captain Fordey Kennedy,
Bill Reynolds, Jerry Young, Ed
Graydon, Clayton Ward, Bob Lake, Jack Crowell, Tony Smith,
Jim Horan, Jesse Fiten, Bob Bond, Brian Castle, George Tau and Bill Breidenbeck.

Varsity Club Activity

Varsity Club members are requested to meet at the half of the Notre Dame game Saturday at the entrance where the team comes on the field. Members are to wear the "S" sweater. A fund will be formed for the team to run through.

ATO Beats Alpha Epsilon Pi

By GARY ROSEBERG

A pair of thrillers and a romp pleased a fine crowd at Old College Field Thursday night as ATO and Sigma Phi Epsilon recorded victories.

Marty Kleva directed the ATO attack to perfection as the powerful Tau's swept past Alpha Epsilon Pi, 49-0.

Kleva started the scoring on the first play of the game when he passed 42 yards to Tom Mc-Clennon. He pitched seven yards to Tom Ryan shortly thereafter, and the PAT made the count 13-0. Just before the first period ended, Kleva was on the receiving end of Fred Go-wan's 34-yard strike and ATO led 19-0. Bob Huebner tallied on Rog Herring's 31-yard pass to make the halftime score 24-0.

Kleva found the range again in the second half when he tossed 26 yards to Mat Silvester and eight yards to Gowan.
Sigma Phi Epsilon, led by the passing of Chuck Yost, edged Phi Epsilon, 13-6.

Yost hit Lalo Miller with a 14-yard pass in the first period, and the conversion made it 7-0.
