Question of Religion on Rush Cards Should be Eliminated

Although racial and religious discrimination is illegal, many students are unaware of this. People often carry cards that indicate whether they are religious or not. This is because many students believe that not everyone practices religion. However, this is not true. According to Miss Peterson, the question "Do you practice religion?" is not relevant in the context of the free market. The market allows people to make choices without discrimination. Therefore, the question should be eliminated.

Jackson Miss Peterson, a member of the Women's Commission, has been working on this issue. She stated that the question is not relevant in the market. The market allows people to make choices without discrimination. Therefore, the question should be eliminated.

"I DON'T THINK THERE'S ANY END to the opportunity in this business"

When Gene Spinn put his B.S. in Business Administration at the University of Illinois, he was in touch with 8 prospective employers.

Gene joined Illinois Bell Telephone Company because "the people I talked to here made it very clear that I would not be shuffled into some narrow specialized job. I thought this job offered the greatest opportunity for broad experiences.

On his first assignment Gene was sent to Springfield where he conducted negotiations in labor relations for management people.

His next move was to a traffic operations job in Rock Island. On this assignment, he was in charge of all personnel who are directly responsible for handling telephone calls in this heavily populated area. Here Gene earned a reputation for sound judgment and skill in working with people.

He was promoted to Traffic Supervisor.

Today, Gene's chief responsibilities are in management training and development, and company-union relations. The latter includes contract bargaining and helping write labor disputes.

How does Gene feel about his job? "It's a real challenge. I'm in some of the most vital and interesting work in the country." And about the future? "Well there aren't any pushover jobs around here. It's tough. But if a man has what it takes, I don't think there's any end to the opportunity in this business."

If you're looking for a job in a field in which you're limited only by your own responsibility you can take it, and here we've made it easier for you to visit your Placement Office for literature and additional information on Bell Opportunities.
