If You Plan to Change Sex...

The university is to be commended for the change of sex designation on all registration cards as far as the changes were made. Surely, every change in the registration service is an improvement in the service. But one item of registration which has continued in the same form for years was not mentioned in any of the new plans in the new registration cards. This is the student identification number. For many years, this has been a required item on registration cards and is a required item to fill out on these cards term after term.

We suggest these cards be filled out only during full registration. Furthermore, they could be designed on a continuous sheet of paper so that the number of registration cards are required to fill out each term?

Pamphlet on Cuba Follows Predictions

By J. M. ROBERTS

Associated Press News Analyst

The White House has released a pamphlet on Fidel Castro and the capture of his revolution by the revolutionaries. The pamphlet, which carries the stamp of President Eisenhower, is intended as a news release to explain the current situation in Cuba to the American people.

The pamphlet follows the predictions of the Cuban government in 1959 that the United States would attempt to undermine the revolution. The pamphlet states that the United States has spent millions of dollars to try to overthrow the Cuban government.

To the Editor:

A little knowledge is a very dangerous thing, and the present writer has convinced himself of this fact. In trying to defend democracy in the U.S., despite your University's apparent unwillingness to give public support, I would like to point out the need for understanding the constitutional principles of this country. Through this understanding, we can appreciate the importance of the military in the defense of democracy. It is only by understanding the constitutional principles of this country and the role of the military that we can appreciate the importance of the military in the defense of democracy.

Goldstein and company may have every right to express their views by making us aware of the gross inaccuracies of our country's history. I still believe that the military is necessary for the defense of democracy. It is only by understanding the constitutional principles of this country and the role of the military that we can appreciate the importance of the military in the defense of democracy.

Asks Advice

To the Editor:

I am a senior at Michigan State University and I am a member of the MSU Values group. I am writing to ask for your advice. What is your opinion on the MSU Values group? Are they a threat to democracy? Do you think they are necessary for the defense of democracy? I would like to know your opinion on the MSU Values group and the role of the military in the defense of democracy.

I am looking forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Michigan, Texas Elections Draw National Attention

WASHINGTON — Special election contests attracted national notice yesterday. In Texas, the Democratic mayor of Austin, who was defeated in a recall election last November, was re-elected yesterday in a write-in vote. In Michigan, where residents could vote directly for the U.S. Senate candidates, the race was won by the Democratic nominee, Arthur J. Volker.

The vote in Texas was expected to be close, but it was not until late in the evening that the Secretary of State released the final count. In Michigan, where residents could vote directly for the U.S. Senate candidates, the race was won by the Democratic nominee, Arthur J. Volker.

President asks $3 Billion for Federal Housing

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower asked the Republican Congress today for $3 billion for federal housing. The request was made in a letter to Congress, informing them that the administration had found that the housing programme was not working as efficiently as it should. The president declared that the programme was not only short of its goals, but it was also not providing enough homes for the people who needed them most.

Tobacco Heir Finds New Taste Treat

SAIPALE ISLAND, July 14—Robert Paul Reynolds, tobacco heir, announced today that he had married a Japanese widow who shared a steamship in the South China war.

Reynolds, a former American resistance soldier, met Mieko Nakano, 33, a former resistance worker, in the Japanese Red Cross during World War II. They were married in Tokyo last week.

The couple will live in Japan, where Reynolds plans to continue his work as a businessman.

The happy occasion was celebrated with a large gathering of friends and family.

The ceremony was performed by a Buddhist priest. The couple wore traditional Japanese clothing.

The wedding was attended by several American friends of Reynolds, who have been involved in various humanitarian efforts in the region.

Spartans Win Eight Of Eleven

The Michigan State baseball team won eight of eleven games over the weekend, improving their overall record to 13-3. The team played two games against the University of Michigan and six against Indiana University.

The Michigan State team was led by senior Bill Schudlich, who batted .357 with five home runs and 15 runs batted in. Freshman Tom Riley also had a successful weekend, hitting .375 with three home runs and 10 RBIs.

The weekend was capped off by a 13-2 win over Indiana on Sunday, with Michigan State hitting .375 as a team.

Charles McCaffree Guides Spartan Swimming Dynasty

By BRUCE FABRZEK
State News Writer

The head coach of Michigan State's swimming and diving team, Charles McCaffree, has guided the Spartans to a remarkable success over the past twenty years. Under McCaffree's leadership, the team has won the Big Ten Conference championship ten times and has qualified for the NCAA championships every year.

McCaffree's team has produced forty All-Americans and has been ranked in the top ten in the nation for a total of eighty-eight weeks. In addition, McCaffree has coached thirty-two Olympic swimmers, including three medalists.

Off the pool deck, McCaffree is known for his dedication to the sport and his ability to inspire his athletes. He is respected by his peers and admired by his students, who have referred to him as a mentor and a friend.

Michigan State's swimming program is one of the strongest in the country, and McCaffree's leadership has been instrumental in its success. With his guidance, the team continues to be a force to be reckoned with in the world of collegiate swimming.

Easter Services Reflect Christian Faith

A weekend filled with rejoicing was kicked off by a series of Easter services held in East Lansing at both Catholic and Protestant churches to accommodate the crowds of students and residents who came to worship. They heard again the story of Jesus' crucifixion and resurrection, which was both finished and begun with the dawn of Easter Sunday. For with the resurrection of Christ, the religion of Christianity was born. The essence of Christianity is the belief that through Christ's death, there is hope for eternal life for all mankind. If there had been no resurrection, then faith in God would be meaningless, and there would be no real purpose in living. This is the faith of millions of Christians who attended church last weekend in East Lansing to reaffirm their belief in Christ and to renew their hope of everlasting life.

Passover Reflects Freedom

Last Friday and Saturday nights the holiday of Passover was celebrated in Jewish homes throughout the world. The celebration of Passover takes the form of a grand feast and a seder, which is a ritual meal in which a story is told.

The central theme around which the seder is based is the Exodus of the Hebrews from slavery in Egypt to freedom in the Holy Land. One of the traditional customs of the seder is to have the youngest child of the family ask the father questions about the holiday, to which he responds by reciting a story from the Hagadah, a book of ancient prayers and customs performed.

The story of the seder is based on the concept of the Passover lamb, which was eaten in haste when the Jews left Egypt, and could not wait for the butter to rise. Bitter herbs are also eaten as a reflection of the bitter years spent in slavery. And the Christ has arisen...

SPECIAL GOOD FRIDAY services were held in East Lansing at both Catholic and Protestant churches to accommodate the crowds of students and residents who came to worship. They heard again the story of Christ's betrayal, His suffering on the cross, and His forgiving of the sins of all mankind.

Late in the afternoon His body was taken down from the cross and laid in a tomb with a stone rolled across the entrance. The story was both finished and begun with the dawn of Easter Sunday, for with the resurrection of Christ, the religion of Christianity was born. The mainstay of Christianity is the belief that through Christ's death, there is hope for eternal life for all mankind. If there had been no resurrection, then faith in God would be meaningless, and there would be no real purpose in living.
