Castro Uses
Red Weapons

Fidel Castro has raised Soviet supplied tanks and jets against an invasion force building to invade a foothold in Cuba, Cuban news services reported Monday.

The Cuban Revolutionary Council reported Friday that Cuban forces, backed by Soviet support, had reached the shores of Florida. Soviet ships were said to have landed Cuban troops.

The invasion force, according to local reports, consisted of several thousand Cuban soldiers and sailors, and was led by a force of tanks and jet planes.

It was the first time that Cuba had formally declared war on the United States, and the invasion force was reportedly aimed at capturing the southern Florida Keys.

In a statement released Monday, Castro said that the invasion was a direct response to the United States' support of the Cuban exiles who had launched an attack against Cuba last week.

"We will not allow the United States to continue to support the Cuban exiles," Castro said. "We will retaliate with all the force necessary to protect our sovereignty and our people."

The invasion force was reportedly supported by Soviet military aid, and was expected to be able to take control of the southern Florida Keys within days.

In a related development, the Cuban government announced that it would begin to evacuate all American citizens from Cuba, and would begin to take steps to ensure the safety of all Cuban citizens.

Castro said that the United States had sought to take control of Cuba, and that the invasion was necessary to protect the Cuban people.

"We cannot allow the United States to take control of our country," Castro said. "We will fight to protect our sovereignty, and to ensure the safety of all Cuban citizens."

Out-State Students Not Waste

The State Legislature, during discussion of the university's appropriations, was heard to complain about the number of out-of-state students attending. Many legislators say, are a drain on the Michigan taxpayer. The tax burden is too much to sustain them.

The fact is that the Michigan taxpayer is getting something for the money he is losing. He is gaining the tuition dollar for out-of-state students. He is not losing the dollar.

The taxpayers of the State of California have not been giving Michigan taxpayers something to educate an out-of-state student as compared to the cost of educating a student at home. Thus there are many wastes and frills at this university. It is much easier to charge a smaller fee to the California student and raise the in-state fee. The California student will for the most part be a fee payer.

The taxpayer is not paying a higher fee because Michigan is an out-of-state state. In the long run the fee is reciprocal: approximately 23 per cent. At the same time, approximately 50 per cent of California student tuition is paid by the state of California.

In the past, when the university has tried to charge more, the parents of the California students have proudly boasted that pressure exerted by the university and AUSG had no effect on the plans for university appropriations. Of course, the university had little effect.

On Students' Right to Protest

Not Silent

To the Editor:

I received your editorial about "On Students' Right to Protest" in the April 23 issue of the "Stater." It was an answer, yes, but not what MSU students wanted. It was an answer, yes, but not what the students of this university wanted. If this is the answer of the administration, we are duty bound to try to improve it. It is not the answer that we want. This article was too much like a Dr. King's article of the same year. It is not the answer of the students. This is not the answer of the students. Is it possible to convince the students who are not concerned about the university? Is it possible to convince the students who are not concerned about the university? It is not possible to convince the students who are not concerned about the university. It is not possible to convince the students who are not concerned about the university. It is not possible to convince the students who are not concerned about the university.

JERUSALEM, May 25—In the presence of thousands of spectators who packed the courtroom in Jerusalem today, Adolf Eichmann, former Nazi official, was brought to the courtroom today for the opening of his trial. The case against Eichmann, who is accused of being one of the chief architects of the Holocaust, is expected to last several months and to attract international attention.

Eichmann, who was arrested in Argentina last May, was brought to the courtroom in a fortress near Haifa last May and was later transported to Jerusalem. He is being tried for crimes committed during World War II, including his role in the extermination of European Jews.

Eichmann is one of the most controversial figures of the war, and his trial is expected to be a defining moment in the history of the Holocaust. The trial is being held in a secret location and is being broadcast on television, allowing people around the world to witness the proceedings.

The trial is expected to be a major event in the world's media, with reporters and camera teams from around the world covering the proceedings. The trial is also expected to be a significant moment in the history of Israel, as it will be the first time that a former Nazi official is being tried in a court of law.

WASHINGTON.-.. President Kennedy formally asked Congress Tuesday to create a cabinet rank Department of Urban Affairs and Housing to help cope with their growing public problems.

The new department would be given priority by the Federal Housing and Home Finance agency.

Kennedy, who has given his support to the establishment of the new or- ganization in his current budget request, said it would be an "umbrella for all segments of our housing effort."

The President noted that the "housing and home finance" section of his budget calls for more than 10 per cent of the total budget of the Federal Housing and Home Finance agency.

Kennedy said the new organization is expected to "help cope with housing problems in urban areas and prevent their increased incidence."

The President added that the new organization would take over the problem of helping with 50 per cent of the states to the cities and will be a division of the Federal Reserve Board.

Kennedy also noted to his White House staff that the new organization would be created at the Department of Housing and Home Finance.

Kennedy's Religion Called Biggest Factor

WASHINGTON.—At a University of Michigan research group reported Monday that President Kennedy's Catholicism contributed to his victory in the 1960 election. They said his religion helped him win in the West, particularly in California where his religion was least significant.

In contrast, the experts found that religion contributed much more to Eisenhower's victory in the South and Midwest, particularly in the Bible belt of the Southeast and West South Central.

The study's findings through the 1960 election indicate that religion helped him win in the West, particularly in California where his religion was least significant.

‘Fiorello’ Revives Roaring 20’s Era

By ROBERT S. WOLFE

This descendant of the original Broadway production of "Fiorello!," the latest West Coast tour, is entertaining and intriguing, even though it lacks the bravura of the original production and the performances of its legendary cast.

The musical, which opened in Los Angeles last week, is a revision of the 1953 play by Jerome Courson and Dorothy Fields, with music by Burton Lane and lyrics by E. Y. Harburg. The new production, directed by Jack L. Clark, is a faithful adaptation of the original work, but it has been updated with contemporary references and updated dialogue.

The story centers on the career of Fiorello LaGuardia, the mayor of New York City from 1934 to 1945, and his struggles with the city's political machine. The musical is a commentary on the corrupt nature of New York politics during that time period, and it portrays LaGuardia as a reformer who tried to bring honesty and integrity to city government.

The cast includes Michael Lomenda as LaGuardia, with Lynn Redgrave as his wife, and Robert F. Seay as the city's powerful Tammany Hall boss. These actors effectively portray their characters, and the production is well-staged, with a strong cast and an impressive set design.

Critics have praised "Fiorello!" for its cautionary tale of the dangers of corruption, and for its depiction of LaGuardia's fight against the political machine. The musical is recommended for audiences interested in history, politics, and musical theater.

Communists Seek UN Action on K’s Demands

By JOHN J. HARRISON

The United Nations General Assembly will discuss the demands of Castro for the removal of U.S. troops from Cuba and for the recognition of Cuba’s right to secession.

Castro has repeatedly made it clear that he will not continue to tolerate the presence of U.S. forces in Cuba and that he will not accept any compromise on the issue of independence.

The United Nations has been under pressure from both the United States and Cuba to take a strong stance on the issue. The United States has been urging the United Nations to support its right to keep its forces in Cuba, while Cuba has been calling for the recognition of its right to secession.

The United Nations has been divided on the issue, with some members supporting the United States and others supporting Cuba. The United Nations has been unable to reach a consensus on the issue, and it is likely that the debate will continue at the United Nations General Assembly.
