New York Times

Students in Great Britain are finding the study of American history an absorbing and rewarding experience. The reasons are many, but one of the most significant is the fact that American history is the story of the United States, a country that is now a living and growing nation. Students who are studying American history are discovering that they are learning about a country that is very much like their own, a country that they can understand and identify with. This makes studying American history an enjoyable and rewarding experience for them. The study of American history also helps students to better understand the history of the United States, and how it has shaped the country we know today. It also helps them to understand the role that America has played in the world, and the contributions that it has made to global history. In short, the study of American history is an important and valuable part of the educational experience for students in Great Britain. Students who are studying American history are discovering that it is a subject that is relevant and interesting, and that it helps them to better understand the world in which they live.
At Top in Business World, Crissy ‘Retires’ to Teaching

By SHELIA KNIGHT
State News Features Writer

In our competitive economy, it is a rare man that reaches the top in the business world and remains there for many years. When such a man is William E. Crissy, professor of Marketing and Sales Management, Michigan State University, his students and peers are his best tributes.

There is nothing much to be said about William E. Crissy, professor of Marketing and Sales Management, Michigan State University, his students and peers are his best tributes.

Summer Students To See Second Fine Arts Festival

The second annual Fine Arts Festival featuring music was held at the university, although he is still a devoted follower of the sports. He has nothing but praise for his campus, its faculty and student body.

“The student body of this university is the most talented, most intelligent group of students I have ever met. They are a joy to be around.”

HE HAS TAUGHT psychology at Harvard, Cornell, Columbia and New York universities and is the author of the “Psychology of Selling” series.

Crissy has over fifty publications in marketing and sales literature and he presently has a book at press, “Get the Way Out of the Door!” which documents the country’s greatest sales people.

Crissy was commuting on the radio program “Make up Your Mind,” for four years and he appeared on television appearing the Boys Scouts for Food outing program.

New residing in Oconomowoc, Crissy plans to remain at the university until retirement.

Oriental Spectacular Opens At Aid Next Thursday

The musical comedy that first introduced the memorabilia of the “Star of the East,” and the Air Force has now been turned into a spectacular. The Oriental Spectacular will be held at the auditorium on May 25 and will be performed to the strains of the university’s military band.

This is the Oriental entertainment most entitled to the name “Oriental Spectacular,” which is being produced jointly by the American Legion and the university’s military band. It is a unique presentation of Oriental dances and serpentine dances of the Arabian Nights.

With a record of a 10-month tour in New York, “Oriental Spectacular” is now touring the western United States and popular places of the English-speaking world. It is really well written by Edwardson.

Picture yourself taking all from Chicago to a destination in olden days, and you will find yourself in residence throughout the summer season. As a distinguished visiting professor, he will conduct a course at the Summer Session.

Under the leadership of DR. WESLEY R. FISHEL, Professor of Political Science, who will travel with the group and remain in residence throughout the Summer Session. As a distinguished visiting professor, he will conduct a course at the Summer Session.

Moldrum Named President
High Hilarity Reigns Supreme
At Recent E. Shaw Elections

High hilarity reigned over Monday night at the annual Mass Chant and Other Activities, where the students elected a new president. The election was held in the Great Hall under the guidance of the Student Senate. The newly elected president, Joe Moldrum, led the festivities with his usual good humor and charm.

The election process was motley, with varying results. Several favorites were on the short list of candidates, but in the end, Joe Moldrum emerged as the clear winner. The Student Senate was impressed by Moldrum's wit and ability to keep the crowd entertained. The new president is expected to continue the tradition of high spirits and laughter at future events.

The newly elected president is expected to represent the student body and work towards improving campus life. The Student Senate congratulated Joe Moldrum on his victory and wished him well in his new role. The Student Senate also recommended that the new president consider the following:

1. Over 18 years of age.
3. Loves to laugh.
4. Famed for good sportsmanship.
5. Loves to dance.

The Student Senate also encouraged the new president to continue the tradition of high hilarity and to keep the campus community entertained.

Michigan State's golf team complete three-year stretch as Big Ten champion

The DIAMOND MAN, a 1924 vintage typeface with an ornate design, is used for the headline "Michigan State's golf team completes three-year stretch as Big Ten champion," indicating a significant achievement in the sport. The article within the body of the text provides details about the championship victory, possibly highlighting the team's performance and notable players. The text is set in a serif font, typical for newspapers, with paragraphs formatted for readability. The article seems to be part of a sports section, with the headline and byline "MSU Threat for Big 10 Tennis Crown" suggesting another story about tennis, indicating a diversity of sports coverage in the publication. The overall layout is typical of a newspaper, with clear demarcation of sections and headlines for easy navigation.
Kennedy Urges More Roles for Canada

(continued from page 1)The meeting of a second meeting of the Pre-Vet-Club—7:30 p.m. in the Kiva at 4 p.m. The topic of this lecture is an overview of the entire science of veterinary medicine. This lecture is the fourth in the series of lectures on agriculture sponsored by the Farm Science Society. The second lecture on the agricultural profession was given by Dr. J. H. Hill, who was horn in Lansing, Michigan, and attended school in Columbia, Missouri, in the ninth and tenth grades. Dr. Hill was educated at Michigan State University, where he received his B.S. in agriculture in 1919, and his M.S. and Ph.D. in agricultural economics in 1921 and 1922, respectively.

In the early 1960s, agriculture was in a state of flux, and the role of the veterinarian was becoming increasingly important. Dr. Hill's lecture focused on the need for more veterinarians in the United States and the importance of veterinary education. He emphasized the importance of veterinary education in preparing students for a career in veterinary medicine and highlighted the role of veterinarians in the agricultural industry.

In the Lansing school system, the main responsibility of instruction is to provide students with a broad education and to prepare them for college and career success. Dr. Hill's lecture was a perfect example of how instruction can be used to make a meaningful contribution to the agricultural community. His lecture was well-received, and the audience was enthusiastic and engaged. Dr. Hill's lecture was a valuable addition to the series of lectures on agriculture sponsored by the Farm Science Society.
