Students Exhaust Supply Of On, Off-Campus Housing

Regulations Review
A Possibility

Students have filed dormitory and approved off-campus room seekers requests. Thomas A. Duff, director of residence life, is working to find solutions.

To relieve the problem, Duff said students are allowed to have one roommate, and the couple would have to live in off-campus housing.

In past years, Duff said, some off-campus residents have not been able to find housing because of the lack of available space.

The regulations for on-campus housing and off-campus housing are the same, he said. Women's dorms, with a capacity of 1,500, have to be used by women. Men's dorms, with a capacity of 2,500, have to be used by men.

Duff said the university has to abide by regulations and cannot change them. He said he would not be able to live in a dorm or an off-campus housing.

What permanent effect this will have on the housing regulations is a question. Duff said he did not yet know. The regulations will not be changed without the approval of the regulations committee.

Mr. Hara, chief of the Michigan County Police, said that he understands the students are involved in all the public safety section. As you can see, girls are often mistaken for men. This fortunate situation. Therefore, we suggest that girls continue to play an active role in the field of law enforcement.

Spartans Preparing For Annual Gridiron Clash

The Michigan State team, after a stunning victory over Stanford University, returned to the practice field yesterday for a major turning point for the team. The victory has given the Spartans the nation's number 1 team rating, and the nationwide attention has made this season's game this weekend against UCLA a major turning point for the Spartans.

The Michigan State team has been impressive mostly on 'ground movements. The offensive squad registered only two punts in three games. The Wolverines have scored 402 yards on the ground while completing six passes. Michigan has a veteran backfield, while the Wolverines have been strong on the ground gaining for the Spartans.

Halfbacks Bruce McElroy and Marvin Lewis, both halfbacks, have been the major ground runners for State, along with halfback George Battles, a junior. The offensive unit did well yesterday against the more potent Michigan passing offense, and the cornerbacks Dave Tamboro, the only defensive unit, did well against the more potent Michigan passing offense.

The team went through a hard week of practice yesterday, and the keys to its heart are in the hands of the Spartans.
