Danforth Fellows Available

The Danforth Foundation of St. Louis, Missouri, has announced that seven students have been selected to receive the prestigious Danforth Fellowship, which carries an annual stipend of $2,700 and a research allowance of $1,000.

The fellowship is awarded to students who have demonstrated outstanding academic achievement and promise for leadership in their chosen fields of study. The selection process is highly competitive, and only the most exceptional candidates are chosen.

The fellowship is offered to students who are enrolled in graduate programs in the United States. The fellowship is for one year and is renewable for a second year.

The Danforth Foundation is a private, non-profit organization that supports educational and research initiatives in the United States. The foundation is committed to fostering excellence in education and research, and to promoting the development of leaders in all fields of study.
Michigan State News

Published by the students of Michigan State University, Lansing, Michigan, under the supervision of the dean of instruction, Ernest M. Golden. The weekly is open to the students of MSU for the expression of their opinions. Entered as second-class matter at East Lansing, Michigan, under the Act of March 3, 1879. Acceptance for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Section 1103, Act of October 3, 1917

Wise Aid Needed To Develop Nations

The American attitude is that Communism is the only international ideology which would ultimately bring peace to the world. However, there are many others who believe that the United States should not support any nation or group that is opposed to the Communist system. In addition, there is a growing belief among some people that the U.S. should concentrate on developing its own resources instead of helping other nations.

IRANIAN STUDENTS SUFFER FOR PROTESTS AGAINST GOVERNMENT

Iranian students throughout the world are fighting a hard battle for progress in their homeland but their moves in the United States have been meeting repeated rejections.

The latest hindrance to their work has been the refusal of the Iranian embassy in Washington to renew passports of several students. Leaders in the Iranian Student Association in the United States, Ali Fatemi, president, and Ali Shalaeian, secretary, are among these students.

World-wide demonstrations sparked in the wake of this decision, protesting the harm done to the movement for a better Iran.

IRANIAN STUDENTS here in Europe and in Iran have been active in this struggle for educational, economical and political freedom in their countries.

They have been instrumental in exposing the world to the realities of rigged elections, corruption, economic waste, violation of human rights and denial of academic freedom.

These students have faced much intensified persecution because of their courage and dedication in a challenging era.

Fall Charms Campus

It's the season! Fall is here. Leaves are raining down, brilliant and cheery, and nature seems to have added a layer of golden needles to the sidewalks. It's the perfect time to enjoy the outdoors.

The marching band is out on Landon Field every afternoon, sending up sounding greetings to the students in class and letting the passing traffic know that things are alive on the campus.

Despite the cooler weather, students are still out enjoying their time on campus. The campus is vibrant with activity, with leaves changing colors and buildings looking beautiful in the fall.

Many students enjoy spending their time outside, whether it's walking on the beautiful campus or simply enjoying the changing leaves.

The above are just a few reasons why students, especially those who attend MSU, should be aware of the current political climate.

Mrs. Swart-Spanjer is spending a few days with Professor Mrs. Lewis J. Edinger to gather impressions for a series of articles and to study school methods in a large technical university, something she has not done before. After a tour of the campus, she said, "I was extremely impressed. The university is modern, efficient and fast and free of decay and perhaps a bit grim, but I think it's worth it." Msu has a reputation for being a very modern educational giant," she said.

Mrs. Swart-Spanjer said she was especially impressed by the use of television in the Netherlands, near the capital of Amsterdam, where she said, and it does not operate all day. Similar boasts have been made by American educators said "This university is also unique to me because to us it seems exotically exotic." Mrs. Swart-Spanjer added, "As a matter of fact, many of the students work in the Netherlands on a large riverside plot on the outskirts of Amsterdam and spend their evenings on city unemployment, she said.

Mrs. Swart-Spanjer said that the campus was "extremely beautiful," with selected students being chosen each year to live in the beautiful around.

"You don't know how fortunate you are to have the chance to get a higher education," she said. Even though she was impressed, she said, she has her own views on education. "In the Netherlands, she said, Mrs. Swart-Spanjer said, "The Dutch are a very progressive people and spend much money on their educational system."

Mrs. Swart-Spanjer said that the campus was "extremely beautiful," with selected students being chosen each year to live in the beautiful around. She explained that the student housing was a bit expensive, but the residents spent much of their time working. Called "Casa Academica," it will hold about 200 students a year. The residents pay about $200 a month for their residence, she said, and many of the students would work part-time.

Mrs. Swart-Spanjer said her best memories from her stay were the beauty around and the opportunity to learn. She explained that the students were "very proud of their school and their achievements."

"Michigan State strikes me as having a very modern educational plan," she said, "and I think it's worth it."

So sang the Michigan State crooners on the weekly "Sing with Duffy" show the Saturday following the football game in which the Spartans were defeated by the University of Minnesota, 20-7. Perhaps it was Michigan State's own "pride Guernseys" which have contributed so greatly in the cause of building bigger and better LSU students with strong healthy bodies and shining white teeth.

The game was to be a close one, a thriller. When happened, Bill Kilmer, quarterback trio led by Bill Kilmer offset some bobbles on the green turf at the end zone. Barnes took a hand in the running game which broke the Cowboy's backs.

The name of "Hit the Road, Jack" and "Georgia" fame for him. Charles has hit them, and even "Georgia" fame for his unique voice, his unique style, and his unique musical ability. He has a sound of his own, and it is unique. He has a sound that is different from anyone else's.

Lasting Chris, Auditoriums ended, and Ray Charles arrived the way through the noise of the big indoor stadium. More people spent their money at the box office to hear Ray Charles than any other artist in the world.

"Hit the Road, Jack" was their partner's arm, and Charles took advantage of their enthusiasm. He was good on records, and his fans in Lansing have been very good to him.

"Hit the Road, Jack" was his signature song, and it was a hit that lasted for years. It was written by "the big man, Ray," not his partner's arm, but the music was written by Charles himself.

"Hit the Road, Jack" was a hit that was good for Ray Charles, and it was a hit that was good for his fans. It was a hit that lasted for years, and it was a hit that was loved by all.
