University Unlikely to Follow WSU Tuition Hike Proposal

Trustees Approve Doubtful

MSU probably will not follow Wayne State University's lead in proposing to raise tuition and put legislative appropriation into a separate account. Two university officials indicated Thursday.

Wayne officials proposed Tuesday to increase student charges on a formula basis, university officials said. Wayne also proposed a three-year graduated budget increase, in which student fees would be raised and the legislature would match the total fees in a gradual way over a three-year period.

This was not the warm reaction from the state legislature.

Under the present system, appropriations to Michigan universities are tied to the legislature's discretion and are subject to year-to-year change.

MSU Treasurer Philip J. May said he couldn't predict how MSU would react to the Wayne proposal. Assistant to the president John T. Denison said that any change in tuition or request for legislative appropriation would have to be handled by the board.

"There is no possibility of any significant change in the board's reaction to such a proposal," May said, "although President Hannah and the Trustees have always opposed to tuition increases.

The Trustees will meet to discuss the proposal, and will even consider the Wayne proposal, May said. See TUTION HIKE page 3

Udochi Says Anti-Corps Image Of Students False

By MARY RUSING

Mr. Udochi, Nigerian Ambassador to the United States, visited Michigan State University Wednesday afternoon to discuss the Peace Corps. Ambassador Udochi said that the Peace Corps is a "wonderful opportunity" but is not the only way to help other countries. He felt that the Peace Corps is not "a dream for the United States." He also commented on the anti-Peace Corps feeling in the United States and stated "We are trying to explain to the Americans what they will do and what they can do in the Peace Corps."}

Letter Is Disturbing To Con-Con Delegates

An unsigned letter from Mr. Paul F. Adams, Michigan's Congressional Con-Conservative delegate to the Republican Convention in Miami, was received here Wednesday night.

The letter was disturbing to all members of the Con-Con delegation here, according to Ambassador Udochi. The letter was received by the ambassador and was then passed around to all the members of the delegation.

The letter was written by Mr. Adams and was addressed to all Michigan State University students. The letter was a response to a letter written by a Michigan State University student who wrote an anti-Peace Corps letter.

The letter was unsigned and was written on a yellow legal pad. The letter was written in a rough, illegible handwriting and was difficult to read.

I refer to the birth of freedom.

Of course, any river passing through an urban area is considered potentially dangerous," he said, but he mentioned that the Red Cedar is not any more dangerous than any other passing through a similar area.

Naturally on the subject of rivers, for example, a standard for pollution when the condition of the Wixom River is discussed.

As far as Malmmann knows, the Red Cedar has seldom approached this high.

As for the sewage treatment plant problem, several facts may enthrall the students of this subject, and many interested groups.

A NEW AERATION unit, a mechanism which recovers oxygen from liquid, has been added to the equipment of the plant, possibly in the full operation this week, according to John M. Patriarche, East Lansing official.

The NEW PLANT will be designed to control it at gallonages per day, according to Patriarche.

The present plant, he said, is an activated sludge process type with the waste solids being used for fertilizer. The effluent, or final liquid, is chlorinated to control bacteria and other harmful organism downstream.

Aesthetic knowledge is rapidly growing but the real problem lies in the money and in the time element and will it always be a fact even when a project has been in the planning stage for a short time that will need to be carried out.

With the hope of relief through the organization of the operation of the liquid is being added, but obviously, probably in full operation this week, according to the other observers.

Article Offends Free Speech

To the Editor:

Your article is a new and fresh approach to freedom. It is a group of freedom's foundations.

To the newspapers, however, it always seems to be true that on freedom's defense live.

It is often difficult to give the newspapers as much credit for being free as is given to the professional newspapers. This is not a true reflection of the fact that they never intend to be involved in the news-making business.

As a rule, a newspaper is neither a political nor a social organization, but a group of men who have created a system of their own for the purpose of publishing newspapers.

The real problem lies in the money and in the time element and requires a great deal of effort to bring about the situation.

It is often difficult to give the newspapers the credit for being free as it is given to the professional newspapers.

To the Editor:

You are always eager to publicize freedom, but your article seems to be just a part of what it means to say freedom.

Not that we expect Ann Arbor football fans to dance around Michigan Stadium ringing their cowbells, but it is a surprise to hear that Jack Harbaugh, head coach, said he would not.

The recent revelation of the degree of swimming or canoeing on the Red Cedar due to the Orchestra band's presence at the university is important to the people of the neighborhood.

According to Dr. Walter Malmmann, professor of microbiology and public health, this danger was probably in full operation this week, according to John M. Patriarche, East Lansing official.

After the cut in requested appropriations last spring, enact and the Trustees made drastic across the board cuts in expenses, but refused to raise tuition for Michigan residents. The university decided after崎his year it was more feasible to raise student fees than the millions in appropriations necessary to raise student fees. Wayne is more desightful for the fact that the appropriations would be raised four to one ratio assumed by Wayne. The amount students would be required to pay would be reduced to 20 percent, according to May. Wayne's appropriations this year. Irish Helped Boost Spartans to Fame

A story of an Arab who befriended a camel has modern parallels in the history of the football relationship between Michigan State and Notre Dame.

The tale relates that one cold night in the desert, a certain Arab curled up in his tent and left his camel outside. The tent was in the shape of a cone. He wished the camel to keep it warm. The camel begged that he be allowed to put his nose inside the tent. The Arab agreed. Soon the head and neck of the camel were in the tent, then the front legs and finally the entire camel. And the tent was unhitched out in the desert to keep the camel warm.

MICHIGAN STATE top-rank­ ed football team in the nation, with an 8-0 record into the meeting with Notre Dame Saturday in the stadium they have been planning to enlarge, into a major football power. Just after World War II, Michigan State President John A. Hannah had ambitions of building a stadium to attract crowds to home games. He hired Biggie Munn in 1947 to produce the teams. Mickey Moos in 1949 to produce the teams. A bleachers drawing card was needed to attract crowds to the then-26,000-capacity stadium. A sure-fire drawing card was needed during the building years.

HANNAH conferred with top Notre Dame football people and with top Michigan State football people in 1947 to produce the teams. A sure-fire drawing card was needed during the building years. The worst defeat the great Notre Dame team ever has had was 9-0 by Michigan State in 1949. Then Munn's 17th team has touched 9-0 since 1950-the big 1950 team beat the Irish 36-33 in the Old Stadium.

The Irish have won the meeting 21 times since 1921 and then lost 17 times. The Irish have never lost at East Lansing since 1947. Munn's 1950 team beat the Irish 36-33 in the Old Stadium.

The Irish agreed to a long rangefootball pact on the promise of a bigger stadium. The Irish will appear again Saturday in the stadium they have been planning to enlarge, into a major football power. Notre Dame, Spartans Both Have 'Line' on Good Backs

Chicagoland (AP)—A bristling battle of two top teams will hold the key to the classic meeting between the Notre Dame Fighting Irish and Michigan State University Saturday in East Lansing. The Michigan State defense in particular may carry the load for the defending Big Ten champs.

Spartans, a power from Coach George Perles' Mid-American Conference days, have a similar look to this year's Notre Dame squad. Each team has a group ofoutsiders who hold the key to the game. Spartans have senior halfback Ed Budde, and Notre Dame's second-string quarterback Tom DiGregorio. Each is expected to be a key factor in determining the outcome of the game.
