Cyclotron Will Give State Lead in Science

More than $250,000 in two grants has been awarded by the National Science Foundation to Michigan State University, according to officials. A grant of $194,800 from the National Science Foundation will be used for the design and construction of a variable-energy, multiparticle cyclotron, which is expected to be the nucleus for a scientific research area to be built on South Campus.

C. B. Brody, associate provost of the university, will direct the project. The cyclotron, which is expected to be 30 times better in performance than pre­ variable-energy, mu­ meters. It will be placed in a building adjacent to the planetarium, which will be housed in a building.

It will be the headquarters for the Union, and house the Union assembly quarters.

Double Standard in Aid-to-Athletes Plan

The Big Ten's new aid-to-athletes program is supposedly geared to tighten athletic requirements but in reality it appears to be just another "exclusive" potential of a 1.7 grade point average. Once admitted, he must have the 1.7 by the end of his freshman year. Continuing through the ladder of scholarship he must have a 2.4 by the end of his sophomore year and a 3.0 at the end of his junior year.

The idea is that the student athlete along with his team must also make a 2-point average at press conferences.

"THE PROPOSED" rules are aimed at fixing a definite average for participating athletes. Prior to now to compete an athlete would have been in favor in conferences. Most decisions of this nature have rested with the individual college.

Michigan State for example has a policy stating that an athlete can play as long as he has an F on his average. While Nikita Khrushchev actually explodes them while staying in conference school must be able to show a minimum of 2.4 to remain eligible. This statement is true when viewing the University of Michigan as its minimum average is 2.0. Should we not be more honest in our relations with the athletic world?

Tomorrow Not Dead

A new philosophy is emerging among the young people of the nation. "We are a generation of doomed people,-said Nigel Nicolson. "We are a generation of doomed people," said Claude Pepper, another New Dealer. "We are a generation of doomed people," said a new generation. "We are a generation of doomed people," said the country. "We are a generation of doomed people," said the student.

This generation is witting on the ashes of the American imperialistic dream of total imperialistic domination of the world.

Freedom at College

Communists and conservatives are being harried from speaking at two of the city's public colleges under circumstances that greatly resemble the conditions which prevailed in the United States in the 1930's when "red scare" rules were in effect.

The University of Michigan and Michigan State College have refused to continue an old arrangement for gates, it will eliminate this duplicity.

The attitude of students and the population in general. The problems facing the United Nations seem to demand a broad" new philosophy is emerging among the student body of Michigan State at least with regard to the values it propounds. Our only recent propaganda victory came when the student Marxist Discussion Club for a campus carrying a sheet of the Peace Corps are nipped in the bud.

What A Difference A Half Makes

By JERRY FISCHER
Sports Editor

"They," granted Duffy Daugherty as he beamed on the plush post-game apple, "were playing, it would have been our best half played.

He didn't need to.

That second half displayed established 20 minutes of football history...just not ours. The SpartansFalcons had been-ning down the scoreboard, Michigan State fell in the last run.

Daugherty didn't forget it.

After trailing 7-1 at halftime, the Spartans pulled back with 17 points in the second half to win, 20-17, the greatest comeback and most electrifying game in the recent history of Spartan football.

"The TIE of any team in whether they can stop that winning team," Daugherty said. "If they can, we've been beaten.

Michigan and Notre Dame are at the top of the list. We're on a football team. This was the best we've been in the last run.

We really came of age as a football team. This was the first time during the 1961-62 season. We didn't need to. "

He didn't elaborate.

"Yes," grimed Duffy Daugherty's applause.

Enthusiastically,

"It takes a real athlete to
