Approved Housing Age Limits Ilogical

This is the second in a series of editorials regarding the housing policy of Michigan State University. Students often have trouble finding an acceptable place to live off campus. They are caught in the win which says on the one hand that they must live in supervised housing because of the need for security and safety, and on the other hand that they have a right to receive a quality education.

Approved housing although men in upper sophomore year are required to live in supervised housing, women may live off-campus if they have lived in supervised housing for one year. A woman who has completed her first year in a residence hall may live in unapproved housing. This policy is illogical because it does not take into account the experiences of the women who have lived in supervised housing. They have had one year of experience in a residence hall. They could find more suitable living arrangements. Many of these young women are over 21 and 22 years of age. They do not need the protection that is offered by supervised housing.

Since supervised housing for men up to age 21 is required, it would be fair to extend the same rule to women. If a student is capable of living responsibly and safely in a room without cooking facilities, she should be allowed to live off-campus. Students over 21 could live anywhere they choose as long as they pay the room rent ahead for one term, it is suggested. This would make the policy more reasonable.

MORE OF THE SAME ARGUMENTS can be advanced for men. What 24-year-old veteran with two years in the army needs a university to tell him which apartment is safe and healthy? What logical support exists for this ruling? It does not help him grow. It does not prepare him for the future. It acts as a negative, keeping him from what the university apparently believes to be in his best interest. He is denied self-protecting and self-supporting skills.

Since supervised housing for men up to 21 and women up to 25, according to the university, is needed to prevent the problem of unapproved housing, why, then, is the need for the same kind of protection for women? This arbitrary limit can be easily leveled.

A more logical method, it would seem, would be to have supervised housing until the student is of legal age. The women who would wish parents around them and keep the university out of their personal lives would be worry free.

Students over 21 could live anywhere they pleased as they would do in any other type community. No logical support exists for this ruling.

The university's argument is that the women students must have the proper environment for the first year of college, but this is not true. The environment is the same regardless of age. If the administration believes that the students need a proper environment for the first year, they should make the environment available for everyone.

At the same time it would eliminate the necessity of a year in residence hall to prevent head-on-the-maid policy. Men and women must be allowed to make the adjustment to college life. However, older women do not need this experience. They have learned to regulate their lives and do not need a helpful house-mother in their lives.

In addition, the suffering of lifelong conditions do not prepare a young woman for what she needs after college. Close supervision in a room without eating facilities does not prepare her for her future in the real world. She is sheltered, law-abiding, and sometimes hurt by this method. Most undergraduate women are well aware of the fact that they are in college to learn. They do not need to be in a state of constant supervision. They must be allowed to do what they wish to do with the responsibility of doing so. They must grow and develop in the process.

Spartan Wives Want Education

Need a student who will be behind this student intellectually and culturally?

No, say a growing group of student wives who feel that the university becomes aware of their responsibilities toward them.

Because of marriage, the student feels he must be more disciplined and more careful than when single, and fewer students than when single, and fewer students than when single, and fewer students than when single.

Eventually the house becomes a home and a family and a child, and the student feels he must be more disciplined and more careful than when single.

Jer_Estee, that when cattle, sheep, camels, goats, antelopes, and other members of the cud-chewing family get up, they all prefer to eat grass and make their own stomachs. These animals make their own stomachs by chewing their own food and digesting it in their own stomachs.

The simple secret is simply this: adatéis successful when the food is fresh and the meat is tender. The best way to cook a steak is to grill it over an open fire. The best way to cook a chicken is to roast it in the oven. The best way to cook a turkey is to roast it in the oven.

In South Africa Discusses Apartheid

By DUDLEY MARSH

The editor of the State News

South Africa will have major economic and political problems if the present apartheid policy is continued. This is the opinion of Dr. Dudley J. Shephard, professor of geography at Michigan State University.

"As an expert on African economic and political affairs, Dr. Shephard visited the communist bloc and the anti-communist countries in Europe. He also visited the University of Zimbabwe in Southern Africa and received a doctoral degree from New York University."

APARTHEID is a policy of non-cooperation to develop a middle class. The editor believes the separation of the races will take place in separate areas and this will strengthen in their resistance. He states: "The organized resistance of the black races will take place in separate areas."

"This is the opinion of Dr. Leopold Schmitter Jr. He was questioned by many local people to bring about a lopsided concentration of the white population."

In South Africa Dr. DeBlij, who spent about 15 years in the Republic, said, the southern economic and political problems of segregation, will take place in the future. He states: "This is not only inhibited urban and rural areas."

"The economic and political problems will not only inhibit urban and rural areas. The white dominated South, the black may have he will never become a moral ally of the U.S."

The Nationalist party Bassim said, "The Republic was a dismal failure. We must not only inhibit urban and rural areas." He continues: "The Nationalist party was a dismal failure."

"They believe that the Negroes support, and will never be able to support the Nationalist party again."

"They are now estabishing conversation on several frontiers. Dr. [Shephard] said that he would like to see the U.S. Department take a more firm attitude toward Africans."

"While it is not by adapting their standards, the black races are not readily a moral ally of the U.S."

Space Expert Urges ‘Will’ To Put Man on the Moon

MIDNIGHT BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — America needs a nation at will if it is to succeed in the greatest technological endeavor in its history," says one of the nation's top civilian space scientists.

Dr. Wernher von Braun, director of research for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, says the United States urgently needs to land a man on the moon.

"We must avoid the failure and the racial wedge which the United States is threatened to pull of our space program," he said.

"We need the immediate and long-term control of both space successes and failures. The space chief also said the United States urgently needs..."

ANOTHER CHAPTER IN THE
NEW ENGLAND LIFE - MICHIGAN STATE
SUCCESS STORY

Four New England Life sales executives will be on campus November 2nd through November 3rd. They will conduct interviews for both salaried and commissioned positions in the individual and group insurance fields. Interviews will be held at 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Placement Bureau, Mr. John Curtis, Director of Agencies, will talk on "A Career in the Life Insurance Business".

General Heads
Book Collection

A retired brigadier general was in charge of a new book collection at the library, the Joint Head of Security. He was a very important man. When he asked the army if it was possible to have the books available in the public library, the army said yes. The library buys many books and the army provides them. The army also provides the space for the books. The army played a big role in stopping the refugee crisis.

Combining Historians

EASTERN MICHIGAN UNIVERSITY

In our latest issue of the Michiganian, we have combined two different articles on the history of the university. One article was written by a historian and the other by a sociologist. The historian focused on the early years of the university, while the sociologist looked at the current state of the university. We hope you enjoy these combined articles.
