University College Tests Withdrawal

by JAY EMERICH

One of the long-term goals of the University that the students have in mind is establishing a University College by the next session. In its published proposals last year, the College called for the establishment of a University College as an experimental unit of the University. It is noted that a number of students have been interviewed by representatives of the University College, and that some of the students interviewed have already taken courses in the program. It is also noted that the College has not yet received any response from the students who have been interviewed. The College is currently considering the possibility of establishing a University College, and it is likely that the College will make a decision on this matter in the next few weeks. It is hoped that the College will receive a response from the students who have been interviewed, and that a decision will be made on the establishment of a University College in the near future.

Talkathons 'As Ridiculous As Past College Craze'

Following the wake of jammed brownie booths, crooked and choppy telephone booths, staff, we find the latest college craze—talkathons.

Several MSU students have succumbed to the lure of the telephone and are attempting to "set a record" for the longest uninterrupted telephone conversation—ten days.

The idea, at best, is ridiculous. In a world where most adults would even want to talk that long, it is incomprehensible. It is more appropriate for the exchange of ideas is valuable but cannot be sustained in such an unending barrage.

Most students are subject to many regulations and controls over the use of the telephone, and it is likely they will abandon the ten-day challenge two or three days before the end.

TALKATHONS and other ridiculous inventions of the adolescent mind do not help students in their present studies, but can only distract and hinder the students in the studies they want to be long in.

The form of behavior does not get any better out of their way as they would not assume that student is not generally interested in such a reaction that he wastes his time on such personal.

It is a return to the freeminded days of the Twenties with the mad dance marathons, when we would allow them to fall to the floor.

As a matter of the only about the other then we have never heard of a student, Wonder why no one starts of one of these?

"The Face Is Familiar"

Campus is a large place, and it is not possible for everyone to recognize everyone. There are many students who are not recognizable as men and not; and members of the armed forces, but they are recognized as men and not; and we were subject to many regulations and controls over the use of the telephone, and it is likely they will abandon the ten-day challenge two or three days before the end.

Women's Social Role
Still Needs Defining

By RICHARD STREISAND

The role of woman in society is still of paramount importance. This is the opinion of Elliott M. Drew, supervisor of the Counseling Center and Dr. Dorothy R. Drews, director of the Women's Research Center. "Most professional women must be viewed as the emerging growing woman in every way, to have the chance to reach their potential," Mrs. Drew said. "Almost must find out what society expects from them, but we must not judge them as a group."

Mrs. Drews stated that the depression has surgested that women seek to EXAMPLE PHOTOGRAPH find a way to make society better, and have a positive influence in both engineering and history.

"Perhaps the first reason to be educated," she said, "is to find a way to make society better."

Mrs. Drews observed that women's jobs are not only important to their own well-being, but also integral to the world of ideas. "I love to see women who are educated, because they then have the opportunity to be active in the world of ideas," Mrs. Drews said. "And really, they should be active in the world of ideas because they have the opportunity to be active in the world of ideas.""}

She added that women are more likely to be active in the world of ideas than men. "Women must find ways to be active in the world of ideas," Mrs. Drews said. "And really, they should be active in the world of ideas because they have the opportunity to be active in the world of ideas.""}

Profits Travel, Teach

By HENRY BUCKS

The Better World

Many of our community leaders are aware of the importance of education and are actively involved in supporting educational programs. There are many ways to support education, and one of the best ways is to travel to different communities and teach. This not only helps to support education, but it also provides an opportunity to explore new cultures and meet new people.

Many people want to travel and stay in touch with those they love, but they are afraid of getting too close to those they love. This is where travel teaches us the value of education. By learning from the people we meet, we can gain new insights and perspectives. This can be especially helpful for people who are trying to make important decisions in their lives.

Dem Club Is Active

Dr. T. F. B. Harrison, director of the School of Public Affairs, addressed the Young Democrats of Winfield, in a speech that marked the club's first meeting of the 1961-62 term. Harrison, who is also a member of the University's Democratic Party, said that the club had been formed to give political activity a democratic emphasis.

The Young Democrats of Winfield were organized last fall as a local affiliate of the University Democratic Club, which was founded a year ago by Dr. T. F. B. Harrison, director of the School of Public Affairs.

The club is a group of members who are interested in political activity and who wish to participate in the democratic process. The club meets on a regular basis to discuss political issues and to plan events.

The club's first meeting was attended by a large crowd of members, and the club's officers were elected. The officers are:

President: Dr. T. F. B. Harrison
Vice President: Dr. J. H. Smith
Secretary: Dr. R. E. Johnson
Treasurer: Dr. E. G. Brown

The club plans to hold meetings on a regular basis, and to participate in political activities in the community. The club is open to all members of the University of Michigan who are interested in political activity.

New Course Teaches Methods of Studying

A new course has been added to the University for students who have not yet had the opportunity to study. It is designed to help the student learn to study by presenting several methods for organizing the student's class time. "Psychology of Study" is the title of the course.

"Psychology of Study" deals with the question of what a student should do when he is faced with a large amount of material. The students are taught effective methods, the objective being to help students "who have not yet found the correct method," said Dr. Morse.

Several accepted methods are discussed, and the Robinson Q-3R is one of them. "This course is an outlet for students who have not yet found a good student, then to find opportunity to explore for themselves what the material contains," he said.

Four panelists discussed the importance of school funds in Michigan's constitution at the first meeting Thursday night.

Participants were Charles J. Davis, assistant professor of business administration; Mr. W. C. Cochran, consultant in educational legislation and research of the American Council on Education; Mrs. Eugene B. Signor, assistant professor of educational administration of the University of Illinois; and Dr. John G. W. Adams, assistant professor of educational administration of the University of Arizona.

"Thus far, the Michigan Constitution has been zealously protected from any increase," was the first comment from Dr. Morse.

"There is a temporary situation in the problem of increasing school funds," he said. "This is the first year in which the State has not increased its budget.

"The school needs extra funds, there must be the vote of the people. "Going to the polls" is an exacting and difficult process. It is also unwise for the State to increase the tax rate, he said.

Club Offers Friendship Exchange

The hospitality committee of the Lansing World Affairs Council is looking for students to become friends with a local American family. Since the students saw the campus the first time, they have not had an opportunity to form relationships with Americans. "The committee is also interested in the opportunity to form relationships with Americans," said Dr. Morse.

"There is a list of more than 10,000 students in the country who are interested in forming such relationships," he said. "They have not yet had the opportunity to meet and talk with Americans."

The committee is interested in forming such relationships with any local American family. "The committee is interested in forming such relationships with any local American family," he said. "They have not yet had the opportunity to meet and talk with Americans."

Senate Proposal Would Increase Faculty Control

Faculty members will have a greater voice in university policy and the present system of college and departmental administration would be modified by the proposed university governance structure. Vice President William H. Grafius said the changes were the result of oversight of the Academic Senate's curriculum and personnel committees and would be implemented by the Board of Trustees.

"There are few institutions," Grafius said, "in which the university administration can assume such a complete control as at Michigan State University in the past. But it must be recognized that the present system is too time-consuming and too cumbersome."

Grafius said the major problems that led to the creation of the current system were the need for a centralized control of curriculum and personnel and the desire for a greater voice in policy by the faculty.

The proposed changes would allow the faculty to have a greater voice in policy decisions and would also provide for a more efficient system of administration. The changes would be implemented by the Board of Trustees, and Grafius said they would be selected by the Board of Trustees before they can be put into effect.

This change is an extraordinary action rather than a revolution, he said. "By permitting this to happen, we are keeping in practice the democracy of the university, he said."

According to the proposed changes, all major changes in the curriculum and personnel would be decided by the faculty, and the faculty would be given the ability to make a policy change like a vote. - Barnet See.

Name Two Scientists

As ASA Members

Two Michigan State University students have been selected as members of the American Statistical Association.

Elected to receive the certificate of recognition are E. H. Graflus, department of farm crops, and R. F. Jansen, department of animal sciences. The students will be presented with a year's subscription to the official publication of the association and a certificate of recognition.

The election of the two students was based on their contributions to the statistical literature and their research work in the field of agricultural statistics.

Four-Year Study Tests Student Attitudes

By BERNARD "GOM"

Four years of study are in progress at Michigan State University. This is a time of transition and change. During what you are calling a "senior year" a student will find that his mental, social, and emotional growth is going on at a rapid pace. This is a period when the student is most susceptible to influences which are not under his control.

EXCELLENT CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS

Xmas is just about over, and it's now time to start looking toward Christmas. We hope and expect that this will be the best Christmas yet. We are confident that this will be true. There are many reasons why this should be so. First, the economic situation is better. Second, there is a greater demand for Christmas gifts. Third, there is a greater awareness of the importance of Christmas. Fourth, there is a greater appreciation of the beauty of Christmas. Fifth, there is a greater respect for the religious significance of Christmas. Sixth, there is a greater appreciation of the importance of Christmas as a time of family reunion. Seventh, there is a greater appreciation of the importance of Christmas as a time of spiritual renewal.

Ex-convict Confesses To MSU Robberies

A 25-year-old ex-convict was arrested and held in the Ross County, Ohio, and admitted holding up two State Schoolhouses in East Lansing.

Bernard H. McIntyre, who holds an interest in the East Lansing fraternity, was arrested early today by the Michigan State University police on information received from two fraternity members of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

Randy Chi Alpha reported to police that on Oct. 29 some unidentified persons had been robbing South end lockers, desk drawers and pants pockets.

Also on Oct. 29, Richard H. Cagney, Secretary of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity, 128 Haslett st., reported some checks stolen from Farm House fraternity, 151 Bogue st.

According to a Butterfield spokesman, several fraternity members had been robbed of $848.90 from their wallets, desk drawers and pants pockets.

State Bank identified McIntyre as the man who robbed the fraternity members.

Butterfield has challenged the rumors that on Oct. 29 some unidentified persons had been robbing South end lockers, desk drawers and pants pockets.
