Farmer Week Plans Near Completion

By FATTI LAMB

Of the State News

The theme for this year's Farmer Week is "Exodus to Slopesskiing Is Fractious Fun." Plans are moving rapidly to complete the week's events in the Farmers' Union hall.

The 4th annual event this week will be a major attraction, featuring the students' favorite activities such as skiing, snowboarding, and snowmobile racing.

The skiers will attempt to break the world record for longest run in a ski area. They will be competing for the title of "World's Longest Skier." This event is expected to draw a large crowd.

The skiers will also attempt to set a new world record for the longest distance traveled in a single run. They will be using the latest technology and equipment to achieve their goal.

The skiers will also participate in a variety of other events, such as snowboarding, snowboarding, and snowmobiling.

Congress Reassembles, Faces Many Issues

The second session of the 87th Congress opened today, which should provide plenty of battles in the months ahead.

President Kennedy, tanned and rejuvenated after several weeks in the Palm Beach resort, was in Washington yesterday and is now ready for the long fight ahead of him. His New Frontier program appears to be in as much trouble this year as last, but with a President in the White House, there is much to be done in the way of legislation.

That Shelter Dilemma

There is nothing very surprising about the debates that will occur in Congress. The debate will be about the American Association for the Advancement of Science, which is defending the social services of the United States.

This much has been evident in all wars. Whatever the outcome may be, the American Association for the Advancement of Science will probably defend the social services of the United States.

But isn't this only another way of stating an old and familiar debate? Isn't it the way in which all forms of military defense, under the guise of seeking to 'build a better world', is in reality the same old war? Is it not the same old war, just under a different coat?

Such a dictatorial plan is to be taken as a plan for maintaining the old order of things. And the rest of the world is to be forced to do the same.

Certainly, such a plan would only lead to more chaos, more confusion, more suffering.

That is why the President has called a conference of leaders of the world to discuss the situation and to try to find a solution.

CONGRESS FIRSTLY will be in the lead of the world. Every representative will be fighting for his own country. But the Senate members will have their problems, too. They have a great deal more to consider. They have to think of the future, and not just the past.

That is why the President has asked them to think of the future, and not just the past.

This revolution must come if the United States is to take its place in the world of today. And the Secretary of Defense has been appointed to help in this task.

The President is in the position of being both the leader of the United States and the leader of the world.

Mr. Kennedy knows this and is committed to the task of making the United States a leader in the world. The President's choice will be to his benefit.

The budget, highest in history, probably will be higher still in the next year. Rep. N. H., chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, has said that he is optimistic and believes that the committee will have its work cut out for it.

Of course, the President cannot act alone. He must have the support of the Congress, and he must also have the support of the people.

1961 Year of Steady Progress in Medicine

The year 1961 was a period of steady progress in medicine. An accomplished medical research team brought reports of exciting new developments to the field, amid the backdrop of the year's medical discoveries, which were hailed as a milestone in the treatment of certain diseases.

The research findings were brought about by various medical breakthroughs and the discovery of a relation between certain medical conditions and genetic abnormalities. A significant breakthrough was the discovery of a relationship between chromosome abnormalities and genetic abnormalities, which led to the development of new treatments for certain genetic disorders.

The genetic and physiological implications of these discoveries are of tremendous significance. It is now known that the genetic code of an individual's DNA is responsible for determining the individual's physical characteristics. This understanding has led to new treatments for genetic disorders, such as cancer and other genetic diseases.

Inert tube to Keep Space Capsule Afloat

LANSLEY FIELD, Va. — Scientists at the nascent medical research center here have devised a method to use an air cushion and Mercury Space Capsule, which is expected to be used in orbital flight. The scientists have designed a system to use air cushions to stabilize the capsule in space.

New Vaccine and Pharmaceuticals

NEW YORK (AP) — A new vaccine that contains an antigen that is biologically similar to the one used in the successful polio vaccine has been developed. The new vaccine, called the Salk vaccine, has been shown to be effective in preventing polio in laboratory animals. It is expected to be licensed for human use in the near future.

Solar Power Used

A new system that converts solar energy into electrical energy has been developed. This system, called the solar energy converter, is expected to be used in space to provide power for spacecraft.

CHICAGO—Ted Williams said he will attend the NCAA Convention. 'It stands to reason that any team that has a chance to win the American League would be under extra pressure and I would be under extra pressure,' he said.

'I've always thought baseball was the game I was best fitted for,' Williams said. 'And I think I have a chance to help the hitter.'

'The Splendid Splinter' Sees Sixty Homers

CHICAGO—The Splendid Splinter has seen sixty home runs. He didn't appear to be nervous in the first game. 'I'm confident in my ability to hit the ball,' he said. 'But I'm not sure how it will turn out.'

'If I don't hit a home run, it's not a failure,' Williams said. 'I'm happy with the fact that I've been consistent.'

'If we can get some help from the pitchers, I think we can win the American League,' Williams said. 'I've been feeling good and I think I can help the team.'
