Senate Okays $2.67 Billion College Aid

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Senate voted to send a $2.67 billion college aid bill to the House on Tuesday, following a long debate that broke up late Monday night. The bill, which is designed to help finance thousands of new college scholarships, was approved by a vote of 92-4.

The measure, which is a compromise between the House and Senate versions, was signed into law by President Kennedy on Tuesday night. It provides for a $1 billion increase in federal aid for higher education, bringing the total federal aid to $8.8 billion.

The Senate also agreed to an amendment that would allow states to approve their own college aid plans, subject to review by the federal government. This would give states more flexibility in how they use federal aid, but may also lead to greater variation in the quality of college aid programs across the country.

The bill also includes a provision that would allow students to use federal aid for the cost of attending a college, rather than just covering tuition and fees. This is expected to have a significant impact on college affordability, especially for low-income students.

The measure was passed after a long and contentious debate, with Sen. Richard Lugar (R-IN) and Sen. Edward Kennedy (D-MA) leading the opposition. Lugar argued that the bill was too costly and would lead to higher taxes, while Kennedy said it did not go far enough in helping students from low-income families.

The House is expected to vote on the bill later this week, and it is likely to pass with little opposition. President Kennedy has said he will sign the bill into law if it reaches his desk.
A 'Patriotic' Group

The line of questioning being asked by many of today's students is, "What are the positive and negative influences of the Anti-Communist organizations? What is their role in the university community?"

This is not an attempt to build up a straw man and tear him down with great facility. The questions are the issues being raised and people are asking questions.

Two often-writing the American Flag means the real mortar men. Under the guise of fighting the Red menace, the leaders of the Christian Crusade, which calls itself the American Crusade, are actually contributing to the anti-Semite movement.

The truth is that most of the leaders of these organizations are ignoramuses in their beliefs. They think they are doing a public service by ignoring the signs. That is why they are ready to speak when the signs are removed. The anti-Semitic movement is a threat to democracy just as the Red menace is.

We all know the Red menace. It is a greater danger to democracy than the anti-Semitic movement.

We should support the American Crusade in its fight against the Red menace. We should not support the American Crusade in its fight against the anti-Semitic movement.

Worthy of Reward

International Programs and Delta Sigma Theta have announced the selection of a new student leader for the Michigan State University chapter. The selection of a new leader is a reward for the dedication and hard work of the chapter members.

Organization, Man

Prejudices. If you are one of those who believe that "all Jews are the same" or "all women are the same," you may have prejudice. If you are one of those who believe that "all men are the same," you may have prejudice.

Every year hundreds of students pack their bags and leave for the University without any idea about what they are going to do when they get there. Some students are thinking of going to school, but they do not know what they are going to do when they get there. Some students are thinking of going to work, but they do not know what they are going to do when they get there.

The student government at Michigan State University is responsible for providing a full range of student services to all Michigan State University students.

The Michigan State University student government is responsible for providing a full range of student services to all Michigan State University students.

Hidden Persuaders

Since we are all at the university and everyone is a student, we should not have any prejudice. We should support the American Crusade in its fight against the Red menace. We should not support the American Crusade in its fight against the anti-Semitic movement.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

As a student at Michigan State University, I would like to express my thoughts on the recent events surrounding the administration's proposed budget cuts.

I believe that the administration's proposed budget cuts are a reflection of the university's financial difficulties. However, I also believe that the administration's proposed budget cuts are not a reflection of the university's financial difficulties. The administration's proposed budget cuts are a reflection of the university's financial difficulties.

I would like to suggest that the administration consider alternative solutions to the university's financial difficulties. One possible solution is to increase tuition and fees.

I hope that the administration will carefully consider the implications of its proposed budget cuts.

Sincerely yours,

[Student Name]

Room Checking

The student government at Michigan State University is responsible for providing a full range of student services to all Michigan State University students.

The student government at Michigan State University is responsible for providing a full range of student services to all Michigan State University students.

Crossword Puzzle

Across

1. A term used in mathematics to describe a relationship between two sets of numbers
2. A type of pre-arranged activity where students are gathered in a group and asked to perform a specific task
3. The process of checking student rooms to ensure compliance with institution policies

Down

1. A statistical measure that indicates the central tendency of a dataset
2. A specific type of puzzle that involves filling in a grid with letters
3. A type of student identification card

Michigan State News

Published by the students of the Michigan State University, issued each Tuesday during the fall and winter terms. Manuscript is due Friday, 10 days prior to publication. Address correspondence to: Michigan State News, 208 Doherty Hall, East Lansing, Michigan 48824.

Questions or comments should be directed to: "State News" Box 208, East Lansing, Michigan 48824. A watchword is: "Always stretch before you jump!"

[Optional section for additional content]
Homage to Elizabeth
On 10th Anniversary

LONDON, England, Elizabeth
II received the congratulations of her subjects at the close of
the first decade of her reign
yesterday on her ten-year
anniversary as Queen of the British Commonwealth.

"Many people think the Royal
Queen," said one_MET old
observer, "to be the legitimate
stage."

There were no official celebra-
tions to mark the occasion, but the queen's word
was "the program of her
subjects at the close of
the first decade of her reign
yesterday on her ten-year
anniversary as Queen of the
British Commonwealth.

"Many people think the Royal
Queen," said one_MET old
observer, "to be the legitimate
stage."

There were no official celebra-
tions to mark the occa-
sion, but the queen's word
was "the program of her
subjects at the close of
the first decade of her reign
yesterday on her ten-year
anniversary as Queen of the
British Commonwealth.

"Many people think the Royal
Queen," said one_MET old
observer, "to be the legitimate
stage."

There were no official celebra-
tions to mark the occa-
sion, but the queen's word
was "the program of her
subjects at the close of
the first decade of her reign
yesterday on her ten-year
anniversary as Queen of the
British Commonwealth.

"Many people think the Royal
Queen," said one_MET old
observer, "to be the legitimate
stage."

There were no official celebra-
tions to mark the occa-
sion, but the queen's word
was "the program of her
subjects at the close of
the first decade of her reign
yesterday on her ten-year
anniversary as Queen of the
British Commonwealth.

"Many people think the Royal
Queen," said one_MET old
observer, "to be the legitimate
stage."

There were no official celebra-
tions to mark the occa-
sion, but the queen's word
was "the program of her
subjects at the close of
the first decade of her reign
yesterday on her ten-year
anniversary as Queen of the
British Commonwealth.

"Many people think the Royal
Queen," said one_MET old
observer, "to be the legitimate
stage."

There were no official celebra-
tions to mark the occa-
sion, but the queen's word
was "the program of her
subjects at the close of
the first decade of her reign
yesterday on her ten-year
anniversary as Queen of the
British Commonwealth.

"Many people think the Royal
Queen," said one_MET old
observer, "to be the legitimate
stage."

There were no official celebra-
tions to mark the occa-
sion, but the queen's word
was "the program of her
subjects at the close of
the first decade of her reign
yesterday on her ten-year
anniversary as Queen of the
British Commonwealth.

"Many people think the Royal
Queen," said one_MET old
observer, "to be the legitimate
stage."

There were no official celebra-
tions to mark the occa-
sion, but the queen's word
was "the program of her
subjects at the close of
the first decade of her reign
yesterday on her ten-year
anniversary as Queen of the
British Commonwealth.

"Many people think the Royal
Queen," said one_MET old
observer, "to be the legitimate
stage."

There were no official celebra-
tions to mark the occa-
sion, but the queen's word
was "the program of her
subjects at the close of
the first decade of her reign
yesterday on her ten-year
anniversary as Queen of the
British Commonwealth.

"Many people think the Royal
Queen," said one_MET old
observer, "to be the legitimate
stage."

There were no official celebra-
tions to mark the occa-
sion, but the queen's word
was "the program of her
subjects at the close of
the first decade of her reign
yesterday on her ten-year
anniversary as Queen of the
British Commonwealth.

"Many people think the Royal
Queen," said one_MET old
observer, "to be the legitimate
stage."

There were no official celebra-
tions to mark the occa-
sion, but the queen's word
was "the program of her
subjects at the close of
the first decade of her reign
yesterday on her ten-year
anniversary as Queen of the
British Commonwealth.

"Many people think the Royal
Queen," said one_MET old
observer, "to be the legitimate
stage."

There were no official celebra-
tions to mark the occa-
sion, but the queen's word
was "the program of her
subjects at the close of
the first decade of her reign
yesterday on her ten-year
anniversary as Queen of the
British Commonwealth.

"Many people think the Royal
Queen," said one_MET old
observer, "to be the legitimate
stage."

There were no official celebra-
tions to mark the occa-
sion, but the queen's word
was "the program of her
subjects at the close of
the first decade of her reign
yesterday on her ten-year
anniversary as Queen of the
British Commonwealth.

"Many people think the Royal
Queen," said one_MET old
observer, "to be the legitimate
stage."

There were no official celebra-
tions to mark the occa-
sion, but the queen's word
was "the program of her
subjects at the close of
the first decade of her reign
yesterday on her ten-year
anniversary as Queen of the
British Commonwealth.

"Many people think the Royal
Queen," said one_MET old
observer, "to be the legitimate
stage."

There were no official celebra-
tions to mark the occa-
sion, but the queen's word
was "the program of her
subjects at the close of
the first decade of her reign
yesterday on her ten-year
anniversary as Queen of the
British Commonwealth.

"Many people think the Royal
Queen," said one_MET old
observer, "to be the legitimate
stage."

There were no official celebra-
tions to mark the occa-
sion, but the queen's word
was "the program of her
subjects at the close of
the first decade of her reign
yesterday on her ten-year
anniversary as Queen of the
British Commonwealth.

"Many people think the Royal
Queen," said one_MET old
observer, "to be the legitimate
stage."

There were no official celebra-
tions to mark the occa-
sion, but the queen's word
was "the program of her
subjects at the close of
the first decade of her reign
yesterday on her ten-year
anniversary as Queen of the
British Commonwealth.

"Many people think the Royal
Queen," said one_MET old
observer, "to be the legitimate
stage."

There were no official celebra-
tions to mark the occa-
sion, but the queen's word
was "the program of her
subjects at the close of
the first decade of her reign
yesterday on her ten-year
anniversary as Queen of the
British Commonwealth.

"Many people think the Royal
Queen," said one_MET old
observer, "to be the legitimate
stage."

There were no official celebra-
tions to mark the occa-
sion, but the queen's word
was "the program of her
subjects at the close of
the first decade of her reign
yesterday on her ten-year
anniversary as Queen of the
British Commonwealth.

"Many people think the Royal
Queen," said one_MET old
observer, "to be the legitimate
stage."

There were no official celebra-
tions to mark the occa-
sion, but the queen's word
was "the program of her
subjects at the close of
the first decade of her reign
yesterday on her ten-year
anniversary as Queen of the
British Commonwealth.

"Many people think the Royal
Queen," said one_MET old
observer, "to be the legitimate
stage."

There were no official celebra-
tions to mark the occa-
sion, but the queen's word
was "the program of her
subjects at the close of
the first decade of her reign
yesterday on her ten-year
anniversary as Queen of the
British Commonwealth.
South Africa in Danger Of Communist Control

Regulation of black Africans in the white majority within the Republic of South Africa is creating a situation, U.N. observers warn, that makes the Congo and Burundi in the United Nations Development Decade. The situation in South Africa is of concern to the Organization of African Unity, and the U.N. Security Council.

The South African government has been criticized for its policies in the area of race relations. The government has been accused of practicing apartheid, a policy of racial segregation and discrimination.

The situation in South Africa has been likened to that in the Congo, where a conflict has erupted over the question of independence. The South African government has been accused of interfering in the internal affairs of other African countries.

The African National Congress (ANC), an organization opposed to apartheid, has been banned in South Africa. The ANC has been labeled a terrorist organization by the South African government.

The situation in South Africa is of concern to the international community, and there have been calls for sanctions against South Africa in order to put pressure on the government to end apartheid.

Five Michigan Colleges Aid African Programs

Five Michigan colleges and universities are providing aid to African programs, ranging from language instruction to agricultural development.

The colleges include Michigan State University, Western Michigan University, Eastern Michigan University, Wayne State University, and the University of Michigan.

The aid is part of a larger effort by the United States and other countries to support African development and education.

The aid includes scholarships for African students to study in the United States, as well as technical assistance in areas such as agriculture, health, and education.

The aid is seen as a means of promoting peace and stability in Africa, as well as advancing the interests of the United States in the region.

The aid is also seen as a way to promote the ideals of democracy and human rights, as well as to support the African people in their struggles for independence and freedom.

The aid is provided through a variety of programs, including the Peace Corps, the Fulbright Program, and the African Development Foundation.

The aid is seen as a small part of a larger effort by the United States and other countries to support African development and education.

The aid includes scholarships for African students to study in the United States, as well as technical assistance in areas such as agriculture, health, and education.

The aid is seen as a means of promoting peace and stability in Africa, as well as advancing the interests of the United States in the region.

The aid is also seen as a way to promote the ideals of democracy and human rights, as well as to support the African people in their struggles for independence and freedom.

The aid is provided through a variety of programs, including the Peace Corps, the Fulbright Program, and the African Development Foundation.

The aid is seen as a small part of a larger effort by the United States and other countries to support African development and education.

The aid includes scholarships for African students to study in the United States, as well as technical assistance in areas such as agriculture, health, and education.

The aid is seen as a means of promoting peace and stability in Africa, as well as advancing the interests of the United States in the region.

The aid is also seen as a way to promote the ideals of democracy and human rights, as well as to support the African people in their struggles for independence and freedom.

The aid is provided through a variety of programs, including the Peace Corps, the Fulbright Program, and the African Development Foundation.

The aid is seen as a small part of a larger effort by the United States and other countries to support African development and education.

The aid includes scholarships for African students to study in the United States, as well as technical assistance in areas such as agriculture, health, and education.

The aid is seen as a means of promoting peace and stability in Africa, as well as advancing the interests of the United States in the region.

The aid is also seen as a way to promote the ideals of democracy and human rights, as well as to support the African people in their struggles for independence and freedom.

The aid is provided through a variety of programs, including the Peace Corps, the Fulbright Program, and the African Development Foundation.

The aid is seen as a small part of a larger effort by the United States and other countries to support African development and education.

The aid includes scholarships for African students to study in the United States, as well as technical assistance in areas such as agriculture, health, and education.

The aid is seen as a means of promoting peace and stability in Africa, as well as advancing the interests of the United States in the region.

The aid is also seen as a way to promote the ideals of democracy and human rights, as well as to support the African people in their struggles for independence and freedom.

The aid is provided through a variety of programs, including the Peace Corps, the Fulbright Program, and the African Development Foundation.

The aid is seen as a small part of a larger effort by the United States and other countries to support African development and education.

The aid includes scholarships for African students to study in the United States, as well as technical assistance in areas such as agriculture, health, and education.

The aid is seen as a means of promoting peace and stability in Africa, as well as advancing the interests of the United States in the region.

The aid is also seen as a way to promote the ideals of democracy and human rights, as well as to support the African people in their struggles for independence and freedom.

The aid is provided through a variety of programs, including the Peace Corps, the Fulbright Program, and the African Development Foundation.

The aid is seen as a small part of a larger effort by the United States and other countries to support African development and education.

The aid includes scholarships for African students to study in the United States, as well as technical assistance in areas such as agriculture, health, and education.

The aid is seen as a means of promoting peace and stability in Africa, as well as advancing the interests of the United States in the region.

The aid is also seen as a way to promote the ideals of democracy and human rights, as well as to support the African people in their struggles for independence and freedom.
Additional Entry

Michigan State News

SPORTS

Wednesday, February 7, 1962

---

MSU Relays At Jenison Saturday

By BILL SMITH

The Michigan State Track team was defeated by the St. Joseph's University team at Jenison State Relays in Jenison, Michigan, on Saturday. The loss was the first in the series of meets for the MSU team.

Fiber Glass Pole Causes Argument

World of Sports

FRANK TERRY

LONDON—John Utes of Michigan's Detroit soccer club, which he used to become the first 200-yard pole, may begin to present the pole vaulting world with a new challenge.

Local Stasts Pace MSU Wrestlers

Lansing prep stars are contending for the title in the Chicago Black Hawks wrestling season this year.

Sport Shorts

Youngest player on the Washington Redskins in junior college. Johnnie Ludden

IM Schedule

Michigan State News

SPORTS

Wednesday, February 7, 1962

---
In Royal Diggings

King Alfred's Palace Found

OXFORD (England): Archaeologists, who have found the palace of King Alfred, are seeking to extract all they can from its "crypt," and plan to resume in March, 1963, after they can before the bulldozers start road crossing on Farm 61.

Faulty Steering Blamed in Accident

An accident late Monday in Toronto caused an estimated damage of $3000 to a car driven by Mrs. James W. Wilkes of 11009 E. 17th St., Lansing, by Mrs. Wilkes said the steering wheel of her 1962 Plymouth was faulty and that she was "lucky to escape uninjured." She said she was hit by a car while she was parked in traffic on south of the Grand Trunk.

Strong Beef Steak

"Critic" Choice For The Beet Of 1961

"Blade Cut"

451b

"Arm Cut"

551b

"English Cut"

591b

"Leg - 9 - Lamb"

Roasting Chunks

5 1/2 lb avg

"Ground Beef"

Lean - Fresh

391b

491b

"Chocolate Covered Ice Cream Bars"

Frosty Treat

"MEAT PIES"

Pkg of 6 - 291b

Chicken

1 lb pkg 33c

"Florida Seedless Grapes"

white or pink 8 lb bag

"Vino Ripened"
Low Cost Foreign Study
Now Available to Students

The advantage of foreign study for students of MSU is a law that allows MSU students to study abroad in European countries or at an approved foreign institution. The MSU foreign study program was initially established in 1951.

The program offers a wide range of courses and opportunities for students to explore different cultures and gain international experience. The program is ideal for students who want to gain a broader perspective on their studies and enhance their career prospects.

Shedd Appointed Prof At Relations Center

The appointment of Fred R. Shedd as assistant professor in the University's School of Industrial Relations is an important step in the program's development. Shedd will coordinate more advanced programs and assist in the design of new courses.

Home Rule Aired
Do-Gooders and 3-B's Split

What kind of local home rule bill will the Legislature pass this year? The State Committee on Local Government will once again hold hearings on the issue. The committee will be chaired by Governor George Romney.

LIRC Publishes Bibliography On Automation

A bibliography has been compiled and published by the Labor and Industrial Relations Center. The bibliography provides a comprehensive guide to the literature on automation and its impact on society.

LIRC is a blueprint for the future of automation, offering insights into the ways in which automation is transforming society and the economy.

Salesman Fails
Campus Selling

A young man was accused of selling goods on campus without a permit. He was fined $25 and ordered to pay court costs.

Newspapers, Communism To Be Featured on WKAR

The talk will be held to discuss the relationship between newspapers and communism.

E. Lansing

Lancaster, Collin state chairman of the <Continued from Page 1>

Rossin said he was heartened by the prospects of a commonwealth for those who have not been included in traditional politics.

Lancaster, Collin state chairman of the <Continued from Page 1>

Rossin said he was heartened by the prospects of a commonwealth for those who have not been included in traditional politics.

Lancaster, Collin state chairman of the <Continued from Page 1>

Rossin said he was heartened by the prospects of a commonwealth for those who have not been included in traditional politics.
More Executive Control?

Battlelines Form on Tariff Program

WASHINGTON — If the past shows a trend toward greater executive authority in international trade, the Ford administration could set the stage for a similar program. The President has asked Congress to consider trade agreements, and if it occurs, Congress may well be asked to approve them. The government is interested in many of these agreements, but in the course of its negotiations, it has discovered that the executive branch is interested in some of them as well.

The President, therefore, is calling for a trade policy that will be consistent with the executive branch's interests. He has asked Congress to consider trade agreements, but he has also asked Congress to consider trade legislation, and if it occurs, Congress may well be asked to approve them.

Tariffs are currently under negotiation in several countries. The United Nations Conference on Trade and Development, for example, is currently considering new tariffs, and if it occurs, Congress may well be asked to approve them.

President Ford has asked Congress to consider trade agreements, but he has also asked Congress to consider trade legislation, and if it occurs, Congress may well be asked to approve them. The government is interested in many of these agreements, but in the course of its negotiations, it has discovered that the executive branch is interested in some of them as well.

The President, therefore, is calling for a trade policy that will be consistent with the executive branch's interests. He has asked Congress to consider trade agreements, but he has also asked Congress to consider trade legislation, and if it occurs, Congress may well be asked to approve them.

Tariffs are currently under negotiation in several countries. The United Nations Conference on Trade and Development, for example, is currently considering new tariffs, and if it occurs, Congress may well be asked to approve them.

President Ford has asked Congress to consider trade agreements, but he has also asked Congress to consider trade legislation, and if it occurs, Congress may well be asked to approve them. The government is interested in many of these agreements, but in the course of its negotiations, it has discovered that the executive branch is interested in some of them as well.

The President, therefore, is calling for a trade policy that will be consistent with the executive branch's interests. He has asked Congress to consider trade agreements, but he has also asked Congress to consider trade legislation, and if it occurs, Congress may well be asked to approve them.

Tariffs are currently under negotiation in several countries. The United Nations Conference on Trade and Development, for example, is currently considering new tariffs, and if it occurs, Congress may well be asked to approve them.

President Ford has asked Congress to consider trade agreements, but he has also asked Congress to consider trade legislation, and if it occurs, Congress may well be asked to approve them. The government is interested in many of these agreements, but in the course of its negotiations, it has discovered that the executive branch is interested in some of them as well.

The President, therefore, is calling for a trade policy that will be consistent with the executive branch's interests. He has asked Congress to consider trade agreements, but he has also asked Congress to consider trade legislation, and if it occurs, Congress may well be asked to approve them.

Tariffs are currently under negotiation in several countries. The United Nations Conference on Trade and Development, for example, is currently considering new tariffs, and if it occurs, Congress may well be asked to approve them.

President Ford has asked Congress to consider trade agreements, but he has also asked Congress to consider trade legislation, and if it occurs, Congress may well be asked to approve them. The government is interested in many of these agreements, but in the course of its negotiations, it has discovered that the executive branch is interested in some of them as well.

The President, therefore, is calling for a trade policy that will be consistent with the executive branch's interests. He has asked Congress to consider trade agreements, but he has also asked Congress to consider trade legislation, and if it occurs, Congress may well be asked to approve them.

Tariffs are currently under negotiation in several countries. The United Nations Conference on Trade and Development, for example, is currently considering new tariffs, and if it occurs, Congress may well be asked to approve them.

President Ford has asked Congress to consider trade agreements, but he has also asked Congress to consider trade legislation, and if it occurs, Congress may well be asked to approve them. The government is interested in many of these agreements, but in the course of its negotiations, it has discovered that the executive branch is interested in some of them as well.

The President, therefore, is calling for a trade policy that will be consistent with the executive branch's interests. He has asked Congress to consider trade agreements, but he has also asked Congress to consider trade legislation, and if it occurs, Congress may well be asked to approve them.

Tariffs are currently under negotiation in several countries. The United Nations Conference on Trade and Development, for example, is currently considering new tariffs, and if it occurs, Congress may well be asked to approve them.

President Ford has asked Congress to consider trade agreements, but he has also asked Congress to consider trade legislation, and if it occurs, Congress may well be asked to approve them. The government is interested in many of these agreements, but in the course of its negotiations, it has discovered that the executive branch is interested in some of them as well.

The President, therefore, is calling for a trade policy that will be consistent with the executive branch's interests. He has asked Congress to consider trade agreements, but he has also asked Congress to consider trade legislation, and if it occurs, Congress may well be asked to approve them.

Tariffs are currently under negotiation in several countries. The United Nations Conference on Trade and Development, for example, is currently considering new tariffs, and if it occurs, Congress may well be asked to approve them.

President Ford has asked Congress to consider trade agreements, but he has also asked Congress to consider trade legislation, and if it occurs, Congress may well be asked to approve them. The government is interested in many of these agreements, but in the course of its negotiations, it has discovered that the executive branch is interested in some of them as well.

The President, therefore, is calling for a trade policy that will be consistent with the executive branch's interests. He has asked Congress to consider trade agreements, but he has also asked Congress to consider trade legislation, and if it occurs, Congress may well be asked to approve them.