Worker Falls 6 Floors, Dies

A 42-year-old laborer, full of life in his death early yesterday morning while working on Winstar Hall dormitory, just south of Gridecor.

Winston H. Kounan, who was employed by the Michigan Construction Co. of Kalamazoo, apparently stepped on a lighted cigarette, causing the fire to spread down the building.

Kounan was living at 315 West Third Street. E. 1 was reached in Special Emergency Hospital when 2 a.m.

The body was taken to the medical examiner.

Turnabout Dance Is "Trap"

"The "trap" was to prevent the student, dancing and singing, from getting too close to the center of the room." The shelter, he said, is "the only way the dance can be done in silence." The dance is to take place Thursday night.

Glenn Is, Weather Isn't

CAPE CODER, Fla. — Two Elsberry storms were yesterday and this morning are being brought by a wave of wet, chilly offshore air.

According to the weather bureau, there will be a chance of rain this morning and another tonight, with strong, gusty winds continuing through today.

Weather bureau says that the wind will be from the west at 15-20 mph, and the high temperature will be 50 degrees.

The bureau also says that there will be a 30 percent chance of rain tonight, with strong, gusty winds continuing through today.

Count Basie and Band 'Hep' to the Twist

By JACKIE KORONA

The nation's capitol was alive with the sound of music Tuesday evening as Count Basie and his band performed at the Wesley Foundation Sunday night. The crowd of over 1000 people were on their feet within minutes of the first note. Basie, in keeping with his tradition, started with a brief speech before the band's performance.

"I want to thank all of you for coming out tonight," Basie said. "It's always a pleasure to perform in front of such a enthusiastic audience." The crowd, which included numerous students and faculty members, cheered and applauded as Basie took the stage.

The band played a variety of songs, including hits like "April in Paris" and "Dedicated to You." Basie, known for his virtuoso piano skills, was the highlight of the performance. He performed several solos, which received enthusiastic applause from the audience.

After the performance, Basie signed autographs and posed for pictures with fans. His down-to-earth personality and warm manner made him a favorite among the students in attendance.

The Wesley Foundation, known for its weekly concerts, provides a platform for artists and musicians from all over the world. Count Basie's performance was a fitting end to the 1962-1963 concert season.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY MOM! — This 67-year-old birthday girl never quite got it in F. E. Lancing mother, but don't. This is the thought that comes. Note the address on the less correspondent's book, where the name's supposed mess took a look out of it.

Boy's Surprise Foiled; Snake Dies, Rat Survives

The spirit of young genius was on full display at F. E. Lancing Friday morning, when the boy accidentally dropped his mother's snake in the water and watched it die. The boy was surprised when the snake died and he was his mother's favorite. The boy, however, was quite happy to see the snake die. He had been trying to save the snake for a long time.

Spartan Village Boils
As 8 A.M. Traffic Snarls

By BEN BROWN
of The State News Staff

Spartan Village residents may begin their class days at work days in a bind that doesn't encompass traffic at the road, Crescent Drive exit at 9th Street.

Several hours after your out of Spartan Village shortly before 8 a.m. every Monday through Friday. Next drivers hit the road at 8:30 a.m.
and hit a direct and shortest route.

"It would help more if people would use the 6 Crescent buses each," said police Lieu.- tenant Charles A. Wight, of the East Lansing police de partment. "The buses could fill in between the cars and shorten the time needed to get into Class."" asked Mr. Wight.

What about installing a traf-fiic light at the corner?

"For a traffic problem which lasts for only 15 to 18 minutes a day, it wouldn't be cost effective," answered
Mr. Wight.

UN Will Be Seminar Subject

The United Nations is facing through a critical period in its short history.

- The current economic and social problems of the world are so serious that the United Nations, and other related bodies, must face them. The UN's responsibility is to assist in solving, at least in part, the problems of the world.
- The UN's financial stability is threatened by the current economic difficulties. It needs to find new sources of income to support its activities.
- The UN's role in international affairs needs to be redefined. It must work more closely with other international organizations.

The seminar will feature a talk by Dr. James H. Zumberge, professor of geology at the University of Michigan. He will discuss the importance of the UN and its role in solving world problems.

Veterinary Needs Are Cited by Morris

In the past 20 years, 40,000 additional veterinarians will be needed in the United States alone. This number will continue to increase as the United States is a leader in the production of food for the world.

Dr. James Zumberge, professor of geology at the University of Michigan, has been selected as the first president of the college's Board of Control. Zumberge was chosen after an investigation of six months into the qualifications of more than 100 candidates. He will begin his term immediately.
