Fight Tides To Recover Bodies Of 95 Dead in Plane Disaster

Searchers Report 'No One to Rescue'

NEW YORK—Searchers battled the cold and darkness of Monday night Thursday night trying to recover the bodies of 95 persons that died when a commercial jet airliner crashed Sunday after takeoff from Idlewild Airport. Searchers were working on the grounds just across the river from the crash site where the ill-fated jetliner fell into the water early Sunday. More than 11 hours after the American Airlines' jetliner plunged nose first into the icy Hudson, the search for any survivors was concluded.

"There were survivors," said a police spokesman who was at the crash scene. "But they were not seen."

The plane was America's first jet plane to go down in disaster. The plane was on a test flight to determine the effects of a new make-up of jet fuel. The plane crashed soon after takeoff from Idlewild Airport and dived into the river about three miles from the field.

At the head of the procession was W. Mayo—Kathleen Mc-

Con-Con Adoption of Report May End Political Chaos

Some semblance of orderly government might return to Michigan if the Constitutional Convention adopts the report of the committee on the Executive Branch. The move would mean a substantial first step toward the governor and lieutenant governor, the former being nominated in a primary election and the latter at the early convention.

The governor would then appoint his own administrative board, board of regents, and department heads. This is a proposal that is supported by a majority vote. The same powers would be in the hands of the governor appointed by the State Board of Education and the state board of agriculture. The powers would be exercisable for no more than two-year terms.

The system is already beginning to produce a large number of possible for a Democratic candidate to win the state. If the convention adopts the report by a two-thirds vote, the system will be in effect.

Not Long Ago

When the Constitutional Convention was in session last spring, the proposed amendments to the constitution were being discussed in detail. The delegates were asked to vote on a number of questions. One of these was a vote on the amendment to the constitution that would provide for an executive committee of the state legislature. The amendment was defeated by a vote of 46 to 195.

Grapplers Defend Title
In Big Ten Championship

By JAY LEVY
Michigan State News, East Lansing, Michigan

Michigan State's wrestling team proved to be Big Ten Champs once again this past weekend, bringing home the title for the fourth time in five years. The match against Ohio State was held in Columbus, Ohio, and the Spartans emerged victorious with a score of 27-18.

The 117 lb. division brought together a strong group of wrestlers with last year's 117 lb. champ, Al Jach in attendance as he was the strongest in the 117 lb. division. He is a two-time champion and his determination to win was evident in his performance. The Spartans also had a total of 11 wrestlers in the weight categories.

With a double, the top two finishes in three of the weight divisions showed the Spartans' strength. In the 145 lb. division, Ted Jackson of Indiana took first place. In the 184 lb. weight class, Tom Adams of Purdue could take first place.

Northwestern's Steve Skaade has earned the conference heavyweight crown for the past two years and is undefeated in the 190 lb. division. The Nord's tough men in Lewis, MSU; 221 BUI Smith, Lewis, MSU; 41. Ted Jackson, Miller, Indiana; 184. Tom Adams, Purdue; 166. Sherm Taylor, Illinois; 166. Sherm Bill Guidardo. Tough men in Skadeiand, Minnesota.

Huff finished third at 130 and Big 10 track championships helped him to draw. Other standouts and Spartan Iten Mulder, held Neil Lettoer from Wisconsin.

Other good men include Wisconsin's Woody McRae, U-M; 301. Tom Creagan, Bennie McRae, U-M. The wrestling scene was dominated by strong teams. In the past the three individual winners has State and Wisconsin are all winning a close 14-12 affair with the weekend when they tourney to.

In Big Ten Champions the meet. Others and Northwestern's Tom Won.

Women's Residence Halls Lead in Grade Averages

By KEVIN YOUNG

In recent years, the University of Michigan has seen a steady increase in the number of freshmen enrolling. In fact, last year's freshman class was the largest in the history of the university, with over 3,000 students.

The rise in enrollment has led to an increase in the number of residence halls on campus. The university currently operates 16 residence halls, including 3 graduate student halls.

In addition to the increase in enrollment, the university has also seen a rise in the average GPA of its students. This is likely due in part to the fact that more students are now taking advantage of the university's various academic programs and resources.

The average GPA for freshmen this year is 3.6, compared to 3.4 last year. This represents a significant improvement in the university's overall academic performance.

The university's President, John A. Hannah, has praised the students for their hard work and dedication, which has contributed to this improvement.

The university's Academic deans have also expressed their satisfaction with the results, especially in light of the increased enrollment.

In conclusion, the University of Michigan is proud of its students' achievements and is committed to providing them with the best possible education and resources to help them reach their full potential.
