U.S. Security East German Aid

VIENNA, Austria — The government of Prince Bernhard of Holland has announced that the Prince's East German aid agency, Market, has set aside $100 million for a new program to assist East Berliners this year. The announcement came on the same day that the American government announced plans to increase its aid to East Berliners by $50 million.

Quadrats From Exile

BRAZIL, Brazil — Just when it seemed Brazil was on the verge of becoming a democratic nation, the military government announced that it was suspending all political activities until after the presidential elections next year. The move came as a shock to many Brazilians, who had hoped that the elections would mark the end of the military's involvement in politics.

Menon Urges Socialism in India

TORONTO, Canada — Tony, the former prime minister of India, has called for a socialist revolution in his country. Speaking at a conference in Toronto, Tony said that the Indian government needed to take a more active role in the economy, and that private enterprise was failing to deliver what the people needed.

East German Industrial Fair Opens

LEIPZIG, West Germany — The West German government has opened the largest industrial fair in its history. The fair, which is expected to attract millions of visitors, is intended to show off the latest in German technology and innovation.

South Pole Gets Atomic Reactor

Washington, D.C. — The United States has completed construction of a nuclear reactor at the South Pole, marking a significant step in the exploration of Antarctica. The reactor will be used to power scientific research stations on the continent.

Linguists To Debate

NEW YORK, New York — A group of linguists is scheduled to meet today in New York City to discuss the future of their field. The meeting, which is expected to attract scholars from around the world, is being held at the initiative of a prominent linguist who has been advocating for a new approach to the study of language.

Grading System Needs Overhauling

The inconsistencies and conflicts of the grading system were pointed graphically out by the constitution of the student body at the University of Washington was particularly concerned with the grading system. This is one of the few consistent aspects of the curriculum. Although instructors (and most students) would not admit it, grades are based on the instructor's subjective interpretation of the student's work. It is a matter of opinion whether this is fair or not. Finding a fair but accurate method of evaluating how much a student actually learned is the problem the university has been facing for many years. Other universities, such as the University of California, have attempted to solve this problem by grading students on a four-point system. But it has remained for an Mĩnh State's Dave Cheek nipped Michigan's Steve Goulet 128-126 to win his third national title in the all-around. The Bruins' ninth-place finish was the best in the history of that team.

Cheek's all-around win did not come without a struggle. After completing his floor routine, in which he scored 34.5, he found that his score was 0.3 behind the leader. This was Goulet, who had scored 24.5 in his routine.

Goulet then moved into the beam event. He completed his routine and scored 25.0, giving him a total of 59.5. This was the highest score of the day. Goulet won the all-around title last year, too.

Cheek moved into the beam event. He completed his routine and scored 25.0, giving him a total of 60.0, which was the highest score of the day. Cheek won the all-around title last year, too.

The Meet's grand finale came in the freestyle, where Michigan's Larry Hendrickson won his second national title in that event. Hendrickson scored 77.5, which was 0.5 better than the runner-up score. Michigan won the team title with 131.0, Michigan State was second with 114.0, and Minnesota was third with 98.0.

In WCHA Play-offs

The University of Minnesota's basketball team completed the most improbable of improbable seasons last night with a victory over the University of Michigan. Beth Rosenblum scored 24 points in leading the Gophers to a 98-91 victory.

The Gophers were down by 11 points at the end of the first half, but then they went on a 13-2 run to take the lead. Michigan never regained it.

The Gophers' victory was their second in the WCHA Play-offs. They also defeated the Michigan State University team.
