War, Peace Talks Continue in Algeria

SICILY — As French and German forces battled Thursday in the Algiers-Tebessa frontier in the Tunisian enclaves in the west of Algiers, French President Georges Pompidou said he would agree to the opening of talks with Algeria. The French offered no details on how these talks would take place, or what they would include.

Legislative members of both countries have been meeting in Paris in recent weeks, but it is not clear if these meetings will lead to any specific agreements.

Loss Heavy in Viet Nam War

WASHINGTON — The U.S. military took a heavy toll in personnel and property Thursday as it continued its efforts to contain the Vietnam War. The U.S. military said it had lost 1,000 men in the battle and 800 were missing.

In Washington, the U.S. Senate approved a bill that would give the President more power to deploy troops in Vietnam.

The bill was passed Thursday by the Senate, 81-19, and goes to the House for consideration.

Planned Change in FEPC

WASHINGTON — The Federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (FEPC) is planning to change its procedures for handling discrimination complaints.

The change, announced Thursday, would allow the FEPC to make its decisions on complaints within 120 days, as opposed to the current 180-day period.

The FEPC is also planning to expand its enforcement powers, and to allow it to issue regulations and orders in cases where immediate action is necessary.

Sea Rake Brought East Coast

NEW YORK — Sea rakes, or long, narrow nets, are being brought to the East Coast for use in the U.S. Navy's anti-submarine warfare program.

The nets are being used to catch and entangle enemy submarines, and are being tested in coastal waters off the East Coast.

Peace Corps Marks 1st Year

BY CLAYTON LOWRY

The 1961 Peace Corps volunteers began their first year of service in 1961. The Peace Corps was established in 1961 with the aim of sending Americans to developing countries to work on projects that would benefit both the U.S. and the host country.

The volunteers included engineers, teachers, doctors, and others who were trained to work on development projects in the host countries.

The Peace Corps was established by President John F. Kennedy, who saw it as a way to promote goodwill and understanding between the U.S. and other countries.

By the end of the first year, 1,412 volunteers had been sent abroad, and 1,250 of them were still serving.

The Peace Corps has become a model for other international volunteer programs, and has inspired similar programs around the world.

TO STUDY DING — Larry Campbell, front right, has established an executive committee in the state to study the problem, efficiency, and goals of the University of Michigan System. The committee, under the direction of President R. W. Hewes, will be responsible for all aspects of the university's operations.

The committee will be composed of faculty members, administrators, and students from each of the university's campuses.

Each university of 100 participants in a group, including those from the University of Michigan, will be assigned to a group of 100 students, including those from the University of Michigan. The groups will be assigned to a group of 100 students, including those from the University of Michigan. The groups will be assigned to a group of 100 students, including those from the University of Michigan.
That Foggy Concept—
Student Government

The recent upsurge over the merits of AUSG (Student Government) is one of the few issues in reality stir students this year. Students both in and out of AUSG have become involved in the fracas through letters in the State News and in private conversations.

This interest in the discussion also indicates an interest in AUSG. It means that student government is not dead although many people are only ashamed to talk about it. It also means that few people care about the total number of faculty persons abroad.

AUSG has been described as an absolute dictatorship, run entirely by the President with assistants under the MSU contract—a job by economist Frank Childs. AUSG has been described as a group of professors who were among the 1,000 Americans working in Vietnam, working for. Some are there for personal reasons and some to assist dictatorial, venal regimes. But surely it may deride to lend its name, its prestige, its faculty and its resources to assist dictatorial, venal regimes. But surely it may deride to lend its name, its prestige, its faculty and its resources to assist dictatorial, venal regimes.

What do they do? As to their fifth proposal, it would not allow the student body to make AUSG. This Is like leaving a class without a teacher. It is a complete distortion of the Fifth Amendment. Instead of preference being given to the committee, the resolution of sorting and packing, the student body should resolve in the minds of everyone, no favored branch of AUSG do anything? There is no need to have the call for that branch. The students have a very non-legitimate point.

There is no point to really stir student government because AUSG and the students do not know what the other is doing. This interest in the discussion also indicates a point. The university does not know what it is doing.

It is a good point. How? As to their fourth proposal, it would not allow the student body to make AUSG. This Is like leaving a class without a teacher. It is a complete distortion of the Fifth Amendment. Instead of preference being given to the committee, the resolution of sorting and packing, the student body should resolve in the minds of everyone, no favored branch of AUSG do anything? There is no need to have the call for that branch. The students have a very non-legitimate point.

What makes a student leader? The cumulative average must be at least three; the student must be a member of a fraternity or a sorority. Any student who satisfies these conditions is a student leader.

Radical administration is a group of individuals, dedicated to the advancement of human knowledge, well-versed in knowledge and social justice. However, according to the Shutdown Democrat, this group is not necessarily comprised of揭狂猛势力。The Shutdown Democrat claims that these radicals are seeking a "platform that makes sense," and are not mere conservative critics.

Moreover, these radicals are not content with simple answers. They are a different group, according to the Shutdown Democrat. They work to keep others from being too satisfied with the status quo.

The radicals have been accused of being angry individuals who have an interest in internationalism. But, according to the Shutdown Democrat, the radicals are simply those who seek to improve society.

They are low key and do not advocate extreme measures. Instead, they claim to believe in internationalism and seek to improve the world. They are a different group, the Shutdown Democrat claims.

FOR WOMEN

Marriage a Job Problem

BY KEVIN VOSS

of the State News

The sizable number of women who are leaving the labor market to marry is a problem that is attracting much attention. While the marriage rates of women have increased in recent years, the number of women who are leaving the labor force after marriage is also increasing. This trend has led to concerns about the long-term implications for women's economic independence and career opportunities.

Women who leave the labor market
to marry often face challenges in maintaining their career opportunities and earning potential. They may experience difficulty re-entering the labor market after taking time off to raise a family. This can lead to shortages in their earning power and stunted career development.

There are several factors contributing to this trend. One of the primary reasons is the increase in the number of women who are choosing to marry
and have families. The changing social norms and values around marriage and family commitments have also played a role in this trend.

As a result, employers and policy makers are increasingly focused on finding ways to support women's career development and economic mobility. Strategies include offering flexible work arrangements,
childcare subsidies, and parental leave benefits. These initiatives aim to create a more supportive environment that allows women to balance their personal and professional responsibilities.

Additionally, there is a growing recognition of the importance of preparing women for the workplace from a young age. This includes educating girls about their career options and providing them with the necessary skills and resources to pursue their goals.

Despite these efforts, challenges remain. The labor market continues to face pressures to accommodate the needs of women, and more work is needed to ensure that women have equal opportunities to succeed and realize their full potential.

Samaritans Possess World’s Oldest Book

In the ancient city of Nablus, situated about 40 miles north of Jerusalem, the Samaritans have preserved the world’s oldest book. By the age of 12, the children are able to read the sacred scrolls. Their own written language has declined, but their oral tradition of the text is still intact.

Penitential Season Begins

Churches in East Lansing joined with Christians worldwide in observance of Ash Wednesday, marking the start of the penitential season and the high-point of Advent. Extra services were scheduled in churches of all of denominations poured into the lives of the most of large cities.

Resigns After 12 Years

The Rev. Gordon Jones, rector of All Saints Episcopal Church for 12 years, has announced his resignation. Rev. Jones and his family will move to St. Andrews in Ann Arbor before September. The All Saints’ current is currently considering ministers to fill the vacancy.

...during the era when pagans called all Christians "renegades." This was a time when the Samaritans were known as "enemies of the state." The scrolls belong to antiquity, and it is a mutual concern of the churches to maintain their timeless message.

Guest Editorial

As was indicated, fulfillment of the whole person is the goal of the Christian life. It is a process that takes place in the mind-spirit (the individual) and body (the community, or institution). It is also a process that takes place in the self (the individual) and the life of the institution (the community).

Five Spartans Flying To N.Y. for IC4A

By DICK ROBINSON Michigan State News Writer

Five State trackmen will fly to New York Saturday to be among the 120 individuals participating in the 1962 indoor track and field championships, at Madison Square Garden. It will be the second straight year the Spartans have qualified three trackmen for the IC4A title.

Spartan shortstop Lewis and Felix Watkins, either hold three-time Madison Square Garden on the basis of their performances in last year’s showing. Lewis took firsts in 220 and 440 yard dash with Weltis following in 220 and Watkins in 440. Watkins did a 4:58 mile, which was second only to Fort Wayne’s John Hannon’s 4:57.7 and Lewis a 60 yard high-hurdle in the 60 yard dash. He finished in 8.9 seconds.

Michigan State hockey’s banner was flown high recently in a happy moment by defeating Denver in the Western Collegiate Hockey Association playoffs. However, the Spartans were defeated 1-4 in the playoffs and finished with a 1-11 total over one season.

Manager Art Fisk is convinced that the Spartans are not through with their season. "We have the potential for N.C.A.A. championship records," said Art Fisk, director of the association. "We are not only one of the top teams in the world, we are also the top teams in the country."

The Spartans’ Ward is State’s last indoor honors in 1962 and also finished second in the vault. With a record total of 51 college points, Ward took a fourth place in the event this season is a 4:16 doorway," said the former Uni-

Microbiology Department Offers Wide Range of Science Studies

BY CHAS. GALANT

The College of Medicine in the University of Michigan has added 41 courses since 1900 to its college catalog, Jack J. Stockton, department chairman, said.

"The research has resulted in an increased awareness of the role of various micro-organisms in disease," Stockton said. "This instrument is used to determine the fundamental research in medicine and surgery," he said. "The Coulter Counter enables us to count a large number of blood cells and proteins." Stockton explained these.

One of the most important areas of science is "microbiology," Stockton said, "which is concerned with the study of bacteria and viruses." These micro-organisms are important in the field of medicine, he said, because "they are the cause of many diseases." Micro-organisms are also important in the field of agriculture, he said, because "they are responsible for the decay of plant materials." Micro-organisms are also important in the field of industry, he said, because "they are used in the production of various products." Micro-organisms are also important in the field of art, he said, because "they are used in the production of various dyes and pigments." Micro-organisms are also important in the field of food, he said, because "they are used in the production of various cheeses and breads." Micro-organisms are also important in the field of medicine, he said, because "they are used in the production of various vaccines and antibiotics." Micro-organisms are also important in the field of agriculture, he said, because "they are used in the production of various fertilizers and pesticides." Micro-organisms are also important in the field of industry, he said, because "they are used in the production of various chemicals and plastics."
