Kennedy To Repeated Budget

The President’s budget will allow for "bridging" of the budget deficit, according to legislation President Kennedy said he will request from Congress Tuesday, according to legislation approved by the Senate Tuesday night by a vote of 67 to 15.

The President said the budget package would provide for a "modest" increase in federal spending, but that a "substantial" increase in federal spending is needed.

The budget package includes increases in federal spending, including an increase in federal spending for defense, and an increase in federal spending for education.

The budget package also includes increases in federal spending for social programs, including an increase in federal spending for low-income families, and an increase in federal spending for education.

The budget package also includes increases in federal spending for transportation, including an increase in federal spending for highways, and an increase in federal spending for public transportation.

The budget package also includes increases in federal spending for environmental protection, including an increase in federal spending for pollution control, and an increase in federal spending for energy conservation.

The budget package also includes increases in federal spending for health care, including an increase in federal spending for Medicare, and an increase in federal spending for Medicaid.

The budget package also includes increases in federal spending for foreign assistance, including an increase in federal spending for aid to developing countries, and an increase in federal spending for aid to refugees.

The budget package also includes increases in federal spending for social security, including an increase in federal spending for Social Security payments, and an increase in federal spending for Social Security benefits.

The budget package also includes increases in federal spending for defense, including an increase in federal spending for military personnel, and an increase in federal spending for military equipment.

The budget package also includes increases in federal spending for education, including an increase in federal spending for educational programs, and an increase in federal spending for educational institutions.

PLANS by power plant execu- fives fell on apparently deaf ears among the Trustees, and espe- cially in the State Legislature.

Now with one minor power failure pounding larger black- out, everyone is suddenly quite concerned. As so often happens with today's five-stripe plonk, they are trying to slam the barn door when the horse has already fled.

As old boiler, built in the early 1930's, has not been used in South Carolina with apparently little thought that some day the electricity and heat will fail, you realize the original objective was to have an emergency power plant ready to go when the power companies would be unable to meet the winter's power requirements.

YAF Tactics May Encourage Public Ignorance of Communism

In the last column Fall term, I described the various student organizations and groups who were striving for "perfection changes" in the University. Many of the few men you will ever meet who take these groups in the regular mode of operation.

Thankfully, the Trapeze Club received a regular boost during the past few months. It was "misused" in one respect - its leader was nowhere in sight. Thus the club was able to improve itself, as was the whole University.

A good example of this would be the attempt to "sell" the Civil War, in a right-wing way. The University tends to succumb to the "right-wing" way of thinking, and is therefore forced to "sell" the Civil War in a right-wing way. This, of course, is not the way in which the Civil War should be "sold". But this is what is happening, and we must be ready to counter it.

Co-op Members Do Own Work

Units Have Corporate Ownership

Financial Benefits Are Numerous

Under the co-op system, the students who work in the store are actually the owners of the cooperative. As such, the store is truly their store, and they have a direct impact on its management and operations. In contrast, under a conventional store system, the students may work for low wages to offset the overhead expenses of the store, which are owned by the store itself.

To the members of each co-op store, each week under their own management, their store is the true store. The financial benefits gained from a corporation are numerous:

1. No profit tax is paid. This tax, which is paid by retail stores, is eliminated under this system.
2. No income tax is paid. This tax, which is paid by individuals, is also eliminated under this system.
3. No capital gains tax is paid. This tax, which is paid by individuals who sell assets, is eliminated under this system.
4. No estate tax is paid. This tax, which is paid by individuals who die, is also eliminated under this system.
5. No inheritance tax is paid. This tax, which is paid by individuals who inherit assets, is eliminated under this system.
6. No excise tax is paid. This tax, which is paid by individuals who purchase certain goods, is also eliminated under this system.
7. No payroll tax is paid. This tax, which is paid by businesses, is eliminated under this system.
8. No sales tax is paid. This tax, which is paid by individuals who purchase goods, is also eliminated under this system.

ECOLOGY SEMINAR

Young GOP Head

The Assembly voted in favor of a resolution to censor all forms of communications. "We would like to program some material that would be more appealing to our students," said David Cottlieb, associate professor of political science. The resolution was approved unanimously, with no opposition from any members of the Board of Representatives. The resolution will be presented to the Board of Trustees for final approval.

MANNING ELECTED MONROE UNITED NATIONS, DESCRIBED

At this hearing the colleges and universities have a chance to express their views on the budget for the coming year. The Michigan State University, along with a number of other institutions, presented its recommendations to the legislature. The budget is expected to be completed by the middle of May.

A man is a man is a man is independent.

My advice to the hearing
Patience is the best cure.
For you may well be hearing
That quiet of your days.

I guess every time I think about it,
If you're leaving our home
There's something in knowing before
Which will be our neighbors who
The request is a simple pile
Just a part of their asking days.

She loves me
She loves me not
She loves me
She loves me not

I am a shell in which echoes are made
Their shape vice in their favorite.

Pinnings, Engagements

By JOANNE RAKISH

The history of Kresge Art Center is as colorful as the abstract works being produced in the art center. For instance, did you know that the art department originated as an offshoot at the School of Engineering? The history of Kresge begins back in 1862 when Theophilus C. Abbott taught "drawing and rural engineering." At the turn of the century, the art center reached a total of three. By 1911, there were 11 instructors, today there are over 30.

During World War I, the trend toward the development of an art department dwindled. Art department officials credit SUN-Pr. development to Dean C. W. Blaseet of the engineering division. At that time the department of drawing and design combined freehand drawing with engineering and mechanical drawing.

'Draw in the National' by Richard W. Davis, directed by Frank Lewis, a senior, New York, will be a new farce written by John Clifford, a sophomore.

Student director gain experience in this student organization, set up to the speech department, in the department of Plays and Theatre, directed by Frank Lewis, a senior.

The Studio Theatre requires many skilled directors, playwrights and actors to create a scene of imagination and creative activity. Since very little space can be utilized, the farce is produced in Studio 4.

Farce will be presented on Jan. 17. All shows are at 8 p.m. and admission is 25 cents.

February 1, another series of one acts will be presented. And again, entirely by students.
