Complete Schedules Would Help In Mapping Course

Term by term course scheduling and closing preparation is totally inadequate for the student who wants to plan a course schedule for a year or more in advance.

Also for the upperclassmen who is urged to make such plans, the current setup is disastrous.

If the student makes the correct guesses as to when courses are to be offered, plays the odds that the course catalogue is accurate at least 95 percent of the time, and if the student's needed courses will be taught during the same terms as previous years, he has a small chance of planning his curriculum for the year.

It is extremely vital to the average student, and especially to the upperclassmen, to be able to plan course schedules several terms in advance. A mistake for upperclassmen students may result in an extra term of college to pick up a required course.

The University formerly has published the complete schedule of courses that enable the student to accomplish this needed planning.

This year, in an attempt at complete schedule in each term's time schedule of courses, no complete schedule was published, probably to minimize work instead of each course.

The University catalogue does not list all courses, due to inaccuracy in terms course are offered, and the lack of inclusion of times scheduled for the courses.

Prior planning by administrative department should place a complete course schedule book in student hands.

The Royal Brush-off

Here's this for innovation! Men's Hall Association provided a new art form to the campus in the form of a portable brush to move your hand, and to the thrill of many students, it gave a different pace to the student's daily life. There were many students who used to "brush" (true) - who never had the time to do it.

Dr. Sweetland Plays Dual Role: Professor, Administrator

Bob Boile, the former Professor of Business Administration at MSU, has taken the position of Professor of Business Administration. He will be in charge of the Business Administration degree program.

The administration seems confident it will provide a strong program in Business Administration.

The program will offer a concentration in Finance, Marketing, and Accounting.

The courses will be offered in the morning and evening.

Disillusioned

The Editor to the Editor:

Doctor, Professor, Manager, Director, Superintendent, Administrator, at the same time. It's a matter of how one sees the world.

One man sees in one direction, another in another.

In each term's schedule books are instead of a complete schedule was issued as to terms courses are offered.

Tradition Rules Relaxation Spots

Each Place Has Own Clientele

When options are over for the week, and choices seem to fall flat, the student's need for the places to hang out grows. And this need is not just a regular point of desire. It is much more complex and continuous, and it requires the student to know where to stay warm between chilly walk to lecture.
