A record deficit—reducing budget of $8 million was presented at the Michigan State University by Gov. George Romney.

"There are many other states which have budgeted in excess of ours, and many states which have budgeted in excess of our state," said the Governor. "But we have some of the lowest taxes in the nation which will be available for state and local governmental purposes." The Governor said that the state's budget was set at $35,799,000 for the current fiscal year.

Prospects Dismal
For New Power Plant
Looking at Governor Romney's budget recommendations, Michigan State University officials believe the state has made its last offer to build the power plant is going to be delayed again.

Despite constant urging by administration officials and appropriations recommended for MSU during the next fiscal year up are only $1,277,000. The power plant cost alone is estimated at $5 million.

Since the Governor has not made the needed recommendation that will get the MSU heat and electricity plant through the state and federal stages, there are only two possible solutions.

As Goes Charles DeGaulle,
So Goes Nobody Else
"Vive la France!"

This slogan, the burning battlecry of two great wars, is today being used as an empty threat instead of a war cry, and a dying war cry, by our French friends Charles de Gaulle.

"Vive la France!"

De Gaulle, a former French premier, has recently said that he will not stop his attempts to "liberate" France, but if he is not successful, he will, at least, "sacrifice our honor".

De Gaulle is a man of the people, who has always been a friend of the people. He has been called "the man of the people" and "the democrats' leader". He is a man who has always been concerned with the welfare of the people, and who has always been their friend.

But what is his war plan? Does he think he can "liberate" France and "sacrifice our honor"? Or does he think that the French people will support him in his efforts?

Sophisticated Appellations

Once upon a time, before the 18th century, morticians were simple men who cared for the dead. Then, as morticians became more sophisticated, an "appellation" was born. The word "appellation" refers to the title or name given to a person or thing. In this case, it refers to the profession of mortician.

The term "mortician" was sometimes used, when a citizen was attempting to take his walk out of the world, to indicate that he was preparing to depart this world on his own terms. He was trying to be different, to be "sophisticated".

The term "mortician" has been used in many ways, both positive and negative. It has been used to describe people who are sophisticated, or who are not sophisticated.

Can we say that sophisticated morticians are a good thing? Or should we say that they are a bad thing?

In conclusion, the term "mortician" has been used in many ways, both positive and negative. It is up to us to decide what it means to us, and how we should use it.

Gullible

To the Editor:

The headline in the next line is "Gullible". The word "gullible" means "easily deceived or fooled". It is used to describe someone who is not well informed or aware of the facts. It is used to describe someone who is easily manipulated.

Gullible people are often the ones who are最容易 fooled. They are not well informed, and they are not well aware of the facts. They are often the ones who are easiest to manipulate.

Can we say that gullible people are a good thing? Or should we say that they are a bad thing?

In conclusion, the term "gullible" has been used in many ways, both positive and negative. It is up to us to decide what it means to us, and how we should use it.

A Good Question

The headline in the next line is "A Good Question". The word "question" means "to ask a question". It is used to describe when someone is asking a question, or when someone is trying to find out something.

Can we say that asking questions is a good thing? Or should we say that it is a bad thing?

In conclusion, the word "question" has been used in many ways, both positive and negative. It is up to us to decide what it means to us, and how we should use it.

Robinson 'S' Trainer 17 Years

By RON SOLOV

To the trainer's picturesque counted, according to Michigan State football coach Jack Buurman, Robinson's name probably was featured in the training room because of his ability to work with others.

A native of Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, Robinson is in his 17th year as the MSU training staff's 15th employee.

"I would say he is one of the best trained men around," said Buurman.

"He has been in the training room for a number of years, and he has a good reputation in the field."

Robinson has been working on the MSU training staff for over 20 years, and he has been recognized for his dedication and hard work.

"He is a very hard working man, and he is very popular with the players," said Buurman.

"He is a real asset to the team, and he is a very important part of our training staff."
Biggest Game In Years
Between Michigan Teams

Georgia continues its quest for national honors when MSU meets Michigan in the Capital City Saturday night.

Michigan, a team with the greatest success in the Big Ten the last five years and the lone Big Ten team to play in the NCAA tourney last season, looks to pare the deficit from last year's 59-56 loss in East Lansing.

Michigan, led by Forddy
Anderson and his best team since the Reynolds days of the 1930s, is as solid as it was then,
and is as much a threat to the Spartans as Reynolds was to Michigan. Anderson's teams have always been quick,
alert and capable of playing
close games.

Michigan will be playing its second game since Forddy returned from his sabbatical year, and will be looking for improvement in its Big Ten play.

Michigan State has had its share of difficulties, but the Spartans have emerged
from the minor problems that have plagued them all year to be as good as last season. The Big Ten
schedule has been easier,
and the Spartans have improved their record in nonconference play.

The game will be a classic,
with both teams having their share of good players.

Michigan State's offering, the following:

Michigan has been leading the Big Ten in scoring, and the Spartans have been leading the Big Ten in scoring defense. The game should be a high-scoring affair, with both teams expected to score in the 40s.

The game will be played at the Palace of Auburn Hills, which will provide a suitable setting for the two teams.

Michigan State has the advantage of playing in its home court, and the Spartans are expected to have the upper hand.

Michigan State has a solid foundation in the basketball program, and the Spartans are expected to be a threat to the Big Ten title.

New AUSG Election Rules To Be Reported

The committee that prepared and submitted the slate of candidates for the February 4th AUSG election has changed the rules so that the slate should have a report for Congress. The committee's selection is another step toward making Lansing easier and more efficient. The purpose of the rules is to avoid any future protest in the selection of candidates. It is just as well to make a clear favorite in the future; the elections will be more fair and equal.

Civil Rights Strengthened

By JEROME KLATZ

In the legislative session of the sixth month of the state, civil rights were strengthened, mainly in the form of a state law to prevent discrimination in employment and housing. The law provides for the establishment of a civil rights commission to investigate and hear complaints of discrimination. The commission will have the power to issue orders to cease and desist from discriminatory practices.

Outside of the legislature, there were also changes. In the United States, a Supreme Court decision was issued that guaranteed the right of individuals to enter and leave the country as they please. This decision was challenged by some states, but the Supreme Court upheld it, ruling that it was a violation of the Constitution to discriminate against individuals based on their race or nationality.

There seems to be no limit to the number of laws that are changed or proposed in the sixth month. The Michigan Senate passed a bill that would allow for the use of nuclear power in the state. This bill would authorize the construction of nuclear power plants and the purchase of nuclear energy from other states. The bill was passed with a vote of 30-20.

For sale in the state are hundreds of new products, including a new type of toothpaste that prevents cavities. The toothpaste contains a special ingredient that stops the growth of bacteria in the mouth. The toothpaste is sold in supermarkets and drugstores.

Some of the other changes include a new law that prohibits the sale of tobacco to minors. The law also requires that all tobacco products be sold in packages that are clearly marked with health warnings. The law was passed with a vote of 100-0.
