JFK To Compromise For $10 Billion Slash
Shaw Spirit

In an editorial last week, Jim Ch/GLe, MSU's Student Life Presi­dent, attributed the growth of the University to the past two years to two things: good living units and the division of every dorm but West and North into "houses." Promptly and quite indignantly, their pre­decessors, the men of Show Hall, whiled away the time, rather than figure out what "houses" are for. "Houses," they thought, were their "own" dormitories. They'll argue and even add that Shaw is a leader of dorms when it comes to spirit.

Watch That Ice

A neon took a cold plunge in the Red Cedar last week while taking a "short break" with his friends. Would-be rescuers were unable to help him because of the week's temperatures. He was found at the edge of the ice and quickly pulled to safety. Some members of the University community came to his aid.

Against Mississippi Negroes

The following article was written by Dr. Joe Hickok, associate professor of Am­erican History and chairman of the Mississippi Studies Board. Hickok is the faculty chieftain of the Greater Lansing area Mississippi Emergency Relief Committee. This is the first of a two-part series, and that part one is in the Thursday column. The next installment will appear Saturday.

Vote Registration Drive Leading To Reprisals

The question of American aid to the U.S.S.R. comes up in every discussion of the fallout shelter program. The question is one of the important issues of the day and should be considered.

Author Urges Better Use Of Defense Fund

Many now open in defense spending could be saved and used to promote peace. Formerly, only by making a comparison, might we realize that defense spending has increased more than tenfold during the last few decades. Instead of the world's most fearful situation, "the government" has spent over $200 billion to build weapons and armaments. This, we have been told, will be good for our security. We will be saved from attack, we will not be attacked. Such thoughts have never been heard in 10,000 years. What is it about our situation that we can expect today, if we have had no weapons before? In the world's most fearful situation, only the people have been involved in the arms races. We have never been able to understand the dangers of the world's war. The United States is a great country with the world's very best friends, but we are not able to control our own activities, not even the activities of such powerful groups as the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank. The world is helpless. If we are able to fight war, we are able to build weapons. The United States, in the world's most fearful situation, is able to fight war, and it is able to control our own activities.

On Campus

Sure it is a campus of the future, but also a campus of the past. This year's Wolverine is the last that may be purchased at any store. It has been a classic for the past 40 years, and it is now available in China. The new Wolverine will be produced in two colors: red and green.
