Student Senate Plan: A Vote For Efficiency

Students vote today on the plan for the first time. The Senate News urges that you vote "yes" for these reasons:

1. The proposed plan will cut the number of representatives from the dormitory groups of 78 students to a workable group of 25 to 30. A smaller group should mean better communication and greater efficiency in student government.

2. It will cut the number of representatives, the plan will require fewer meetings, which should mean less turnover in student government, and higher and calmer students in the legislative body. The student body in any case might find all the "dashing society" image.

3. The plan will also give all students a greater opportunity in the student government, and a more efficient and student government.

In fact, a "yes" vote on the plan will mean a total reorganization of the student body in the student government. The student news is now receiving the inadequacies of the present system, and the question of the moment is: "Do we accept the plan?"

The plan has a number of good points, many of which, it deserves, the MSU College Bowl can be expanded to the point where there will be competition among all University teams.

The project has had considerable success on the campus, and with the support of the MSU faculty, student government and the Cleveland Student Government, there is no reason why it can't succeed here.

The passing of the "smoke and mirrors" bill has killed the proposed plan. But it is written in liberal enough language to allow revisions later if the need arises.

MSU's Buildings Named For Rich Football Fan, Suffragette, Politicians and Farmers

By SIMONNE JANDA

Of The Youth News

MSU's buildings are named in accordance with a tradition that is as old as the University itself. The buildings are named around the President, College, Department, or School, and the name is selected by the students.

But there are several buildings named after men who have contributed to the University in some way. Here are some of the interesting names:

Theatre, named for the late President, George S. Allen, who was the first University president. The building is used for theatrical performances and is the home of the MSU Drama Department.

Bromberg, named for the late President, Edward L. Bromberg, who was a member of the MSU Board of Trustees and is responsible for the development of the University's library system.

Gym Team's Objective: Unrest Michigan's Crown

For the second year in a row, Michigan's basketball team will try to break the Ann Arbor school's 12-game winning streak. The Big Ten's two best teams will face each other this Friday, Feb.. 23, at 7:30 p.m. in Crisler Arena. Michigan has won the last 12 matches against the Wolverines, including the last 10 in a row at Crisler. The Michigan team has the advantage in bench strength, but the Wolverines are expected to be fired up for the match.

Spartans Hope To Cage 'Cats

The Michigan State University basketball team is looking for a win over the University of Michigan this Saturday, Feb. 24, at 7:30 p.m. in East Lansing. The Spartans are currently in third place in the Big Ten and hope to overtake the Wolverines in the conference standings. The Spartans have a record of 18-5 and are looking to improve their chances of making the NCAA Tournament.

Nats Notch Second Slot

The National Team has moved up to second place in their league rankings, with 18 points, and will play against the top team this weekend. The team is currently preparing for the upcoming matches and is confident in their chances of winning.

Conference Swimmers Offer Top Performances

The conference swimming championships are being held this weekend, with top performers from across the league competing for the gold. The conference has produced several Olympic swimmers, and this weekend's matches are expected to be a showcase of talent.
