"Happy Time" Opens Summer Circle Season

By JACKIE KORONA
State News Staff Writer

The two great "Ks" will be held on one of the largest of outdoor stages for the first time in recent history. The stage is the one in the University Theatre. The directors are Bob White and Bob Brandes. The play is "Happy Time." The cast includes the following: Margaret Milner, John E. Clifford, and Donald F. McCallum. The play will be presented on the stage from July 5 to July 22. The four-lane bridge has been completed and will be open to traffic next week. The bridge will be dedicated on July 11, the day of the grand opening. The bridge is located on the corner of East Grand and Michigan Avenues. It is the third largest bridge in East Lansing and has been dedicated to the memory of the late Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Lougheed. The bridge is 40 feet wide and has two lanes of traffic. The cost of the bridge was $180,000.

Strong Printing Editor

Russell A. Strong, currently director of news and information services at Western Michigan University, will be transferred to the position of university editor at Kent State University in the fall.

The move is effective immediately.

The new position will be created specifically for Strong, as director of news and information services at Western Michigan University.

Strong takes over the position of university editor at Kent State University, which he has held since 1985.

He has been a member of the Western Michigan University staff since 1976.

For the past year, he has been involved in the planning and implementation of the new campus television studio.

Strong succeeds John B. Alber, who has served as university editor at Kent State University since 1979.

Alber will continue to serve as assistant university editor and director of television production.

In his new position, Strong will be responsible for all aspects of university communications, including media relations, public affairs, and marketing.

He will also be responsible for developing and implementing strategic communication plans to support the university's mission and goals.

Strong has a master's degree in journalism from Michigan State University and a bachelor's degree in political science from Western Michigan University.

He has also served as deputy director of the Michigan State Board of Regents and as director of communications for the Michigan State University Alumni Association.

Strong is a member of the American Association of University Administrators and the College Public Relations Council.

He is also a member of the Kent State University Foundation Board of Trustees.

Strong is married to Joanne Strong and has three children: Russell, Patrick, and Elizabeth.

The couple resides in Wooster, Ohio.

Strong's Take:

"I am very proud to be a part of the Western Michigan University family and look forward to continuing my work here," Strong said.

"I am excited about the opportunities that this new position will provide for me and for Western Michigan University."

Not Sufficient To Drive

Does this summer weather make you think of a "sunny" driver? It does, you'd better realize that a sunny day isn't enough. And you should be a safe driver, and take care of your car. If you're planning on a vacation trip simple driving through the supermarket.

A National Safety Council study of 626,000 traffic accidents reveals that nearly half in ten accidents occurred on sunny days. More accidents happen under "radar" conditions—short, dry roads, and daylight.

Try worry, disorientation... caus no causes Mann drives away from those pur- chasing, and too many can't see clearly when they do. You wouldn't tolerate your fear of the road with a major mechanical defect. The Michigan Occupational Association patrol of drivers, that "influence"—with or without a defect—must be no less than one vision test which affects safe driving.

Keep your eyes moving. A fixed stare on a young girl might get you into trouble: a fixed stare on an old man might get you into trouble.

For safety's sake, the association suggests a few basic visual facts to keep in mind while driving:

Best Of John, Pius

That Pope Paul VI will wear the blue and gold cap of Pope Pius XII and Pope John XIII of the papal tiara of Pius IX when he is elected Holy Father is a close friend to both.

Giovanni Battista Cardinal Montini, who was elected Holy Father as his good friend is promising.

The 262nd supreme pontiff is the last conservative among the nine popes of recent memory to have visited Detroit twice, in 1954 and 1960.

The recent papal visit was accepted by the people of Detroit with the same enthusiasm that the people of the Church in Michigan need of the Church in Michigan.

Pope Paul VI has also visited the Holy Land, the United States, and Canada.

Persons who cannot be present at the Papal residence can receive the Holy Spirit through the power of the pope.
