Expected Enrollment Topped By 1,600-27,669 Register

By CHARLES C. WELLS
State News Staff Writer

This year's expected enrollment is an all-time record figure of 27,669, an increase of 1,600 over the registration for the school year of 1963-64. The number of students enrolled in the University of Michigan for the first semester of the year 1963-64 has been given the year of expected annual increase.

Committees Dine Over Sales

WASHINGTON—Fifteen-dollar Inns and Agriculture committees of the House meet in joint session Thursday afternoon to discuss the possibility of the United States selling some of its vast wheat stores. The Senate Finance Committee has recommended that the Senate authorize the President to negotiate with Mexico on the basis of a five-year loan with an option to purchase. The recommended loan is in the amount of $500 million for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1965.

The development resulted from a group of American businessmen who have been meeting in Cairo with a Soviet delegation to discuss the situation of world wheat supplies. The wheat asked for payment in dollars with an option to purchase.

Governor Calls For Legislative Action This Fall

Gov. George Romney continued to battle for support for his tax reform program.

"There are several factors which contribute to the increase in state revenues," he said. "The first is a higher national income tax, which is now 50 percent of the total state revenues, and the second is a higher state income tax, which is now 30 percent of the total state revenues.

"There is no other single subject, month in and month out, that has had as much effect on the tax system as the tax reform proposal," he continued. "This is the only way that we can make the tax system more fair and efficient and that is why we are fighting for the tax reform bill, which is now in the hands of the Senate Finance Committee.

"We must recognize the fact that the proposed tax reform bill is going to be very difficult to pass and that there will be many amendments. But we must be determined to pass this bill, because it is the only way that we can make the tax system more fair and efficient.

We must recognize that there are many who are concerned about the tax reform bill, but we must be determined to pass it, because it is the only way that we can make the tax system more fair and efficient."
Spartans Could Surprise

Improving on a 5-6 record can be easy for some football teams. It can be hard for others. MSU’s ‘63 squad seems to fall into the latter category. When a team loses 18 letter- men, even with the loss of George Saimes, things can look pretty black.

Yet the time to push the old panic button doesn’t appear to be around the corner. The Spartans attack, even with the loss of George Saimes, should be stronger this fall. And the forward pass isn’t the only reason. Improved punts and kickoffs, along with field goals, should do much to change losses to wins.

The line is lighter, yet quicker. The backs display a combination of experience and talent that should mean improvement. How much improvement nobody knows.

Those who attended Saturday’s opener will find out some of the answers. Saturday afternoon the stadium will be crowded with people. Who want to judge the ‘63 Spartans for themselves.

And there’s nothing like getting the news first-hand.

Innovation

Aids Registration

Michigan State people have never been known for sitting back and letting the world go by. They have gone out to solve problems—from labor relations to dog cholera. Many here thought they were doing to try the impossible when they set out to solve the problems of a chaotic registration program.

So nearly every University office is busy doing what is humanly possible to get the job of getting stu-

Motel, Nina, And A New Hazard

By Jack Shea

What’s the first day of fall term like? It’s like being in love. Nina Krushchev, and encountering a new hazard to your education.

The motel is the bus America, and the reason you’re using it is because your government in Cuba doesn’t have a lower you. Life is a motel room with a pool’s worth of space in the backgian. It’s like a little press for drugs, but it has its advantages.

A swimming pool, continental breakfast served until 11 a.m., and a sprung mattress that’s soft enough to make a perfect bed. The problem comes from the fact that you’re going to have to press a lot of heroin in order to make it a perfect bed.

But this impression only lasts until the first class. It’s 11 a.m., but the professor wants to sit around with about 200 others wondering what’s going to happen. I keep trying and my ideas and experience.

There is what Nina Krushchev wants to ask the how. Now, a kind, well-spoken lady and a healthy physique, makes you think that you could make her quite happy for not too much. Not for too much.

With great verse and introduction the course and the test. She makes every bit of sense she can. Although the result was good. The people are doing something that might be called a little Guide. One hazard to your education.

After all is said and done, you leave the class with the impression that if you are a good teacher and the good and get quality that is such a necessary ingredient to an interesting class. You leave the class of the day and some one you can feel your approach. You are sure that you’ve done something.

Career Carnival

Lures Employers

The largest Career Carnival ever held at MSU will bring job opportunities from leading employers from the campus Oct. 7-8. The event will include the Michigan Education Association, the Michigan Association of Broadcasters, the Michigan Association of School Superintendents, and the Pan-American World Airways.

"Many of the representatives are expanding their displays this year," said Berkey Hall, who is coordinating the event. "For example, the Michigan Education Association is seeking members from different teaching areas."

The MU Placement Bureau will have many questions about the Placement Bureau operations, and they decided to start a booth with signs taped to the wall.

Dorothy Brown, Lansing, N.Y., said in the distance for the area. Although it is sponsored by the Placement Bureau, it is organized by students.

No Id's For Game

No Id's will be required for Saturday's football game, and anyone who desires to purchase tickets for the game may do so. The MU Placement Bureau will have a booth where tickets can be purchased.

Weekend Crowded With Activities

Nearly all students have returned to the campus, and the first full weekend of the school year is a great time for students ranging from serious religious observances to the opening football game of the season.

Friday night is the speaking engagement of the Michigan Education Association. It will be held in the Union Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Saturday morning will see the opening of the University's program for the first full weekend of the school year.

U-M Humor Mag To Be Sold Here

The "friendly rivalry" between State and the University at Michigan will take a friendly turn Oct. 6, when a joint issue of Michigan's "Genghis" goes on sale at both campuses.

The U-M humor magazine will also be at both universities, illustrated by anonymous cartoons, according to editor Jodee Dubensky.

"Genghis" will be sold here through Campus Chase, for 25c a copy.

The deal will receive 50 of the 1,000 retail sales, and 150 of everything over 1,000.

Lasing senior Bill Taylor, Campus Chase director, said the money raised will support: Drama, Men's and Women's local, and the AMS scholarship fund.

Gemini Flight Due In 1964

WASHINGTON (AP) - The first manned flight of the Gemini spacecraft may come late next year or early in 1965, according to the director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the head for the flight will not be selected until shortly before launch.

In a report to a GOE news conference Charles T. Lindblom, said that the Gemini's "first flight will come late in 1964 or early in 1965, depending on the status of the spacecraft assembly and the status of the flight team."

"The Gemini-XII mission is our first true manned flight, and we are well on our way to achieving that goal," he said.

"We are in the final stages of assembly of the spacecraft, and the flight team is well on its way to achieving that goal," he said.

Library’s Tobia Loves Books

Tobia, a librarian at the University of Michigan, has a great passion for books. He not only loves reading them but also enjoys handling books. At the university, he works to maintain the security of the library and ensure that the books are accessible to the students.

Tobia is known for his deep respect towards the books he handles. He believes that books are not just objects but also have a deep connection with the people who own them. He always checks the books before they are checked out and takes extra care to ensure that they are in good condition.

Tobia has been a librarian for over 30 years and has worked at several universities. He has a special interest in Arabic books and has helped many students to access these resources.

Tobia’s love for books is evident in the way he interacts with them. He always ensures that the books are well organized and easily accessible to everyone.

Tobia believes that every book has a story to tell and that it is the librarian’s responsibility to ensure that these stories are preserved for future generations.

Tobia’s dedication to his work is admired by his colleagues and students alike. They respect his knowledge and expertise in the field of librarianship.

Tobia’s love for books is not limited to the library. He is always on the lookout for new books and is always eager to share his knowledge with others.

Tobia’s passion for books is a testament to the importance of libraries and the role that librarians play in preserving knowledge and history.
The Lettermen, one of the most diversified fraternities in the country today, will appear in the auditorium at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday as the biggest and strongest speaking fraternity group on campus.

Last spring the Four Prophets, in concert and with the Lettermen, appeared before the previous year's audience. With the announcement of the Four Prophets' performance, the MSU Press offered a chance to bring one such piece each year to campus each year for a fundraiser program.

From then on, the performance will be used to support the Council's budget, according to John Miller, president of the MSU Press and Council publicity chairman.

Bids Open Fellowship

Dr. Allan Tucker, associate dean for advanced graduate studies, has announced that all graduate students in or near graduate work, but not returning for their next year of teaching, counseling, or administrative work at the college level, may apply for the four-year fellowship. Applicants plan to major in any field of study continue in the undergraduate liberal arts and sciences curriculum, instead of remaining in graduate work, unless it is related to their current field of teaching.

A hundred fellowships will be awarded to incoming candidates. Nominations will be judged on intellectual promise and personality, integrity, general interest in religious and high potential for effective college teaching.

Women will be eligible for up to four years of financial assistance with an annual trust of $1,500 for single students, and $2,000 for married students, if their academic record is maintained. The fellowship will go to women who are interested in religious and high potential for effective college teaching.

Execs Must Be Good Listeners

Women executives must be responsive listeners if they are to be better managers, says a University of Michigan executive.

"The ability to listen...to be patient...to be empathetic...to be oriented toward helping others...to be oriented toward helping others..." is the new safeguard program.

The new safeguard program, recently approved by the agency's board of governors, will be expanded to measure production of 100 or more "sensitive" messages.

The safeguards will be used to prevent leakage of information.

Radio Europe Hurts Reds

Radio Free Europe has helped to undermine the authority of the Kremlin by outlining the unsettled issues of eastern Europe, according to a recent report. The report, written by the university professor of Russian history, suggests that the state of radio broadcasts is a reflection of the growing number of dissidents in the region.

Radio Free Europe is a network of radio stations that broadcast to the Soviet Union and other communist countries. The network's policy board, which makes decisions on broadcasts, has been influenced by a number of factors.

The network's staff is composed of various countries and is known for its role as a voice of dissent in areas where censorship is common. The network's broadcasts are often heard in closed societies, where traditional media is not available.

The report praises Radio Free Europe for its role in helping dissidents speak out. The network's broadcasts have been used as a tool to spread information and to inspire people to resist the control of the authoritarian regimes.

However, the report cautions that the network must continue to be vigilant in its work. The network's ability to continue its work depends on the support of its listeners and funders, who are crucial to the network's survival.

Radio Free Europe currently broadcasts in 23 languages to audiences in the Soviet Union and other communist countries. The network's listeners are crucial to its success, as the network relies on donations to fund its operations.

The report ends with a call to action, urging people to support Radio Free Europe and its efforts to promote freedom and democracy in the region.
