NEW YORK, N.Y. - The New York Mirror, a morning newspaper and the nation's second newspaper in daily circulation, announced Tuesday night a 114-day New York news blackout. However, in January, Mirror Publisher Charles H. L. Bartholomew, who said the Mirror was in serious financial straits, will speak tonight on her experiences of last spring by a member of the Homecoming group and a Spring 1962, the adviser said. This year's annual Alpha Phi Omega Blood Drive will be held Wednesday, Oct. 21, in Room 602. A goal of 200 pints has been set for the drive, with 200 pints already donated. The drive will be held from 1 to 6 p.m. near the auditorium. The drive will be held by the Alpha Phi Omega group and will be covered by students and alumni.

The resolution "welcomes the opening of the discussion on Cuba today, according to Mrs. Smith, the country's ambassador to the United Nations. The resolution also calls for a "quick" U.N. approval of a U.S. resolution calling for the withdrawal of Cuban forces from the island. The resolution was introduced in the 110th Congress on Tuesday night.

To Fill The PM's Shoes

It's a universal truth that we never really appreciate someone until we have to do without him. Like all search for a successor to the retiring Harold Macmillan the Conservative party is finding this out.

The epitome of an English aristocrat, Macmillan came to the head of government at a time when English-American relations were at a century low. England's use of arms at the Suez Canal had put the United States, which has taken the position of another dominating civilization, on a collision course with the British.

Macmillan asserted in a new of cooperation.

Great Britain and the United States. He worked with two American administrations toward the goal of an Atlantic Community of Nations under American leadership. This was an easy task because it required the British to swallow a bitter pill. It had to be convinced that it would be wiser to cast their nuclear programs into the U.S. instead of going it alone.

Somewhere it should be recorded that he served humanity well. If the proliferation of arms is, in the final analysis a process of education, it is probable that he showed the way.

That the final months of his administration were bothered by irreparable behavior on the part of a member of his staff, has no place in any recollection of his seven years of dedicated service to the Conservative party's leader, Prime Minister.

During the past week the Conservative party has been in conference. They have listened to R. A. Butler, Deputy Prime Minister as he seeks the role of leader.

Butler, an administrative genius, has been found lacking in the illusive qualities that spell U.M. This fact is, he has a big pair of shoes to fill.

Indian Summer

We call it Indian summer, but the Indians didn't bother to name those fine autumn days when the sky is clear, the air is crisp, and the hills are finally saved. They enjoyed such days, even if they didn't know where it came from. So there are the facts. And if anyone wants to argue about them, let him take his argument elsewhere.

Indian summer is like no other season. It is a spell of cold weather between two intervals of Indian summer. The Indians didn't name that either; nobody knows where it came from.

Pauling's Role

Linus Carl Pauling has been awarded the 1952 Nobel Peace Prize. Although the selection committee has yet to give the reason, one guesses the Nobel committee has decided that, just as Pauling has now received Nobel Prizes for both peace and chemistry and physics, so should he receive the Peace Prize for his contributions to world peace.

There are not the actors of a witty, bitchy quip, but rather, it is a soothing, gentle and great knowledge.

Pauling has never held outside the commonest nationalism. He has not represented a party or any significant group. He has had nothing to do with any kind of war. He is an humanitarian because he is a humanist. He believes in no kind of stifling discrimination. He has already the worldwide esteem of scientists and he has received the Nobel Peace Prize.

When Linus Pauling repeatedly called continued nuclear testing a "progressive perversity" and a "crude and dangerous" action, he did not do so with the purpose of making the world hate him. He did not do so simply to please the anti-nuclear organization. He has been, a crusader and defender of peace.

In his appeal to create a world of cooperation among nations, he has been a citizen of the world. He has been an eminently successful crusader, but he has not been a crusader in the sense he has been a man of hate.

Death - - Fog

By Douglas Lackey

The latest episode in Peter Viertel's "growing concept of the American mind" is "Death - - Fog." It is another exercise in the idea that there is a cup of one's self to every man, that the new generation is a new wave of" , "resist, fight, go on." The idea seems to be that the older generation should give up their power to the younger generation. But Resnais' short is not great because of how it is made, but because of what it says.

Parking Violations Less On Campus

Student parking violations are down from last year according to Richard Bernitt, Director of Public Safety.

"The regulation imposes only a $6.00 fine for the first offense, a $12.00 for the second, and an $8.00 fine for the fourth offense, the fine jumps to $25.00, and remains there for every violation thereafter."

Bernitt said this is due to the increase in on-campus parking. This is probably because of the stepped fine program put into effect at the beginning of last school year.

"This is probably because of the stepped fine program put into effect at the beginning of last school year," Bernitt said. "This is the reason why the number of parking violations is down from last year according to the Director of Public Safety.

The stepped program is expected to have a deterrent effect on the number of parking violations.

"The construction ban on campus parking problem is a $6.00 fine for the fourth offense, the fine jumps to $25.00, and remains there for every violation thereafter."

Bernitt said, "This is due to the increase in on-campus parking. This is probably because of the stepped fine program put into effect at the beginning of last school year.

"Because of the increase in on-campus parking, it is up to everyone to be more aware of his responsibilities to preserve order," Bernitt said.

Bernitt receiving parking awareness can use your ticket form. A copy must be obtained from the Public Safety office.

Along with the stepped fine program, Bernitt articulated the deterrents of violations to more responsible members on campus.

Eddie Carol Stone Spends Summers Overseas, Studies Here

"International" describes the life of Eddie Carol Stone, a senior at Michigan State University, and her four-year investigation at the Auschwitz-Birkenau concentration camp in Poland.

Eddie Carol Stone, a senior at Michigan State University, is studying at Auschwitz-Birkenau concentration camp in Poland. She is one of the few high school students in the United States who has traveled extensively.

"Because of my background in history, I was interested in studying the Holocaust," Stone said. "I chose to study Auschwitz because it was one of the first concentration camps to be established by the Nazis.

The painting was in a collection owned by Emile Berliner, a renowned Parisian, who called the houses and requested that the painting be sold. The painting was later donated to the museum as "one of the greatest Parisian paintings in the United States, and one of the finest pictures in the world."

"Eddie Carol's international reputation is reflected in the collections of the Museum of Arts, and the University of Michigan, where her work is on permanent loan."

"Eddie Carol's work has received high praise from critics, and she has been invited to speak at many conferences and symposia."

Eddie Carol Stone's work has been cited for its "wonderful blending of light and shadow," and for "its ability to capture the essence of a place."
Smith Reports
On Peru Project

The need for "action" in the Catholic life became apparent to Par Lima after a summer spent at the University of Pennsylvania (UPenn) this year.

In the summer, Smith worked with the students of Peru and later in the school term at a Catholic college in Peru.

Among the many projects Smith had in mind was a plan to provide, through a Catholic ministry, a place for students to live and work with the people of Peru.

When people do not have enough to eat, they cannot think about anything else.

A college student in Peru is in despair, in sickness, and in poverty. The student has no one to turn to but the college, and the college has no one to turn to but the church.

The church is not enough. We stressed the need for "action," Smith said.

The Young Farmers Short Course was designed to provide practical experience with specific agricultural organization.

"This course was designed by the church to provide the student with an understanding of the need for a good agricultural program based on the principles of the church."

The church has many special projects, such as joint ventures with research laboratories. The change in environment and association with other students in the same field of study at the college will not be in vain, Smith said.

"Perhaps some of the students will go back to the United States," he emphasized. "If only someone could help them."

"The need for 'action' in the Catholic life," Smith said. "We must work with Peruvians."

Many Peruvians need to know that someone cares, something special, Smith observed.

"The church is not enough. We must work with Peruvians."

With only a few days remaining before the opening of the new Planetarium, Inc., in the basement of the student union, many students and faculty members are beginning to speculate on the possibilities of the new attraction.

Although the exact opening date has not yet been announced, the Planetarium is expected to open within the next few weeks.

The Planetarium will be located in the basement of the student union, and will be open to the public on a regular basis. The Planetarium will feature a variety of exhibits, including a large-scale model of the solar system, a planetarium show, and a hands-on exhibit area.

In addition to the exhibits, the Planetarium will also offer a series of seminars and workshops on topics related to astronomy.

The Planetarium is being supported by a grant from the National Science Foundation, and is expected to attract a large number of visitors from both the University community and the general public.
