It's Safety 1st For Scubas

By BOB HORNING
State News Sports Reporter

Anywhere from seven to fourteen scuba divers lose their lives in Michigan each year because they don't have enough diving knowledge.

Scuba diving isn't quite as easy as it appears to be on the "Sea Hunt" TV program. The purpose of the scuba diving class at MSU is to teach divers many of the precautionary measures which must be learned before scuba diving can be done safely.

Jerry Medler, a member of the State Police Recovery Squad, and instructor of the class, stresses safety as the most important aspect of diving. Students learn the byd signals for communication, how to prepare a dive, first aid, the certain diseases which can affect them while diving, and various other important aids.

Florida Keys have a special area provided for scuba divers with cameras. The class will offer a chance to practice with spear guns and cameras during the term.

Diving can also be useful in salvage work, and for recovering drowned bodies.

The sport can be enjoyed year-round. It is possible in the winter with warm rubber suits, actually the water is clearer in the winter and a better view is usually obtained.

Pleasure and safety should be combined in scuba diving. As Jerry says, "it is a great deal of fun, except when recovering bodies."

MSU
The University of Wisconsin Band, which Meredith Wilson has called "the best in tune college band," will add to the MSU-Badger game half-time festivities.

The band, now in its 79th year, is lead by James Christensen and drum major W. Ronald Smith. Raymond F. Dvorak is director of bands at Wisconsin.

The Wisconsin Band has travelled coast to coast and in 1963 they appeared at the Rose Bowl, where Wilson, composer of the "Music Man" got his chance to hear them.

Thirty-two former band members are now conducting their own organizations on the college level.

Dvorak, now in his 30th year as director of bands, has conducted All State high school bands across the country. In 1956 he conducted the only national high school band ever assembled, made up of selected student musicians from the then 48 states. He is past president of the American Bandmasters Association, Wisconsin Bandmasters Association, and the College Band Directors National Association.

Christensen, who directs the Marching Band, was formerly an arranger and composer for the West Point Marching Band, at the US Military Academy.

Dvorak was voted Handicapped Man of the Year in 1950 and has received citations from both the Wisconsin and United States governments for his work on "Empowering the Physically Handicapped" committees.

Mid-Season Contest Usually Rough

Homecoming means different things to different people. For the alumni it means reuniting old acquaintances. For the students it means floats, pep rallies and homecoming queens. For the coaches and players it means winning football games. Usually the toughest team Spartan homecoming games that present MSU coaches remember.

The 1951 game with Pitt was a real give and take affair. The Spartans won 53-26 after being behind 20-19 in the first half. MSU compiled 637 total yards and 27 first downs. Pitt completed 29 of 44 passes for 365 yards and 27 first downs. "Biggie" Munn's team went undeniably during the 51st season and finished as the number 2 team in the country. Another season to remember was 1955. Duffy Daugherty led his team to a Rosebowl victory, compiling an 8-1 record. The big homecoming game was with the visiting Illinois team. Illini coach Lou Henson electrified the crowd by returning a punt all the way for a touchdown. This broke the game wide open as State won 20-7.

In the same game of 1957 State was at its lowest point, margin-wide during the season. The Spartans lost to Purdue on the previous Saturday. The score against Illinois was 12-11 late in the 3rd quarter when Wall Korakoff ran a trap to the outside in an unbalanced line and went 45 yards for the winning touchdown. The final score was 19-13, for a State victory.

In the 1959 Homecoming Game the Great and White met in a defeated Northwestern team led by speedy Ron Burton. Burton was running wild against every team he had met. State put Bob Bersich on Burton. Butch stopped every Burton hold him to mere 12 yards. The Spartans won in a big upset, 15-10.

The Wisconsin homecoming game is another big one for State. A loss to the Badgers could eliminate the Spartans from the Big Ten race. Hopefully, the homecoming day will inspire the Spartans to victory as it did in years past.

Soccermen Face Ohio U. At Athens

By RICHARD SCHWARTZ

Spartan's red hot soccer team, averaging 6.7 goals to its opponent's 0.43, takes a break from conference play Saturday when it meets Ohio, University, defending champions in the Ohio Collegiate Association.

The Spartans, who captured the Eastern division title of the Midwest Collegiate Conference last Saturday by downing second place Indiana, are undefeated in seven games.

"We're looking for a fine game with Ohio," Coach Gene Kenney said. "Our players have been quite spotty. At times we looked good, others very bad.

"We've made mistakes in defense the last couple of games, he noted, "any of which could be disastrous. Especially if we had a team like St. Louis." Despite the offensive punch of Ohio which has totaled 47 goals, Kenney feels that "they have missed quite a few too.

"One mistake by either the offense or defense," he said, "can be the deciding factor in a tightly contested game."

"Promoting Kenney's concern is the fast approaching St. Louis match, slated for Nov. 9, and the possibility of NCA playoffs after that. Ohio is in our last game before our wind-up match with St. Louis, three time NCAA champion," Kenney said. "We hope we can start out and play heads up the whole game."

"I hope to see the team working as a team," he said, "since we haven't, since our match with Akron. There we saw good team effort, which if we demonstrate again Saturday, will help a lot for our final game."

In looking ahead to St. Louis, Kenney still realize that it is the Buckeyes with whom State must reckon next.

"We're not overlooking Ohio University at all," Kenney declared. "I hope they very definitely have a team that can upset us. With the fine personnel they have, we'll have to play tough ball."

Prime figures on the Buckeye roster have been center fieldback John Haynes and center halfback Nick Rombas. With a 3-4 mark in conference action, Ohio has a third place standing.

Nevertheless Kenney sees future implications for State which the game might have.

"We're always hoping for a post-season playoff game," Kenney said. "I hope we can start out and play heads up the whole game."

"S" Bowl Hopes Could Gain Boost

By JERRY MORTON
State News Sports Writer

The Spartans close out their season in a home game against Illinois. The winner of the Big Ten championship could be decided that afternoon, since at least one of the teams should still be a contender at that time. Spartans hope for the remainder of the season will be dependent upon the continued success of Sherman Lewis and MSU's defensive line. There have been the mainstays of Spartan victories in recent weeks. Lewis currently leads the team in rushing, pass receiving, and scoring.

Spartan Boot Would Cause Lineup Shift

If the Spartans kick-off to the Badgers in Saturday afternoon's contest Ron Goovert will start at right halfback. Clipping may replace Dewey Lincoln at the right halfback spot. Roger Lopes also tops on the squad.

Home Debut For Women's Swim Squad

The MSU Women's Swimming Team makes their home debut against Western Ontario University Saturday at 9:30 a.m. in the Women's IM building pool. A team of 15 girls, led by Canadian National Breaststroke Champion Mary Lou Whitwell, the Women's IM building pool. The determined play of Sherman Lewis, who, perhaps, symbolized the spirit which has swept through the entire Spartan team during the first five games of the season.

"We've got a great mental attitude," said Coach Daily Doughtery, "but we've got to be around to take advantage of that." It will take an aroused effort to defeat the Badgers who were fired up after a heart-breaking 15-0 loss to Ohio State last week. After the Wisconsin game, the Spartans' task will not become any easier. Purdue, long an MSU nemesis, will provide the opposition next week at Lafayette, Ind., with Notre Dame visiting Spartan Stadium the following week.

The Irish will visit East Lansing in Saturday afternoon's contest. Ron Goovert will start at right guard, Dan Underwood will be at left end and Don Japinga, who suffered a concussion in the game with Michigan, should see some action, but may not start.

Perched confidently on the top of the Big Ten football heap, as the conference race swings past its midpoint this weekend, are a trio of Rose Bowl hopefuls.

Rugged Ohio State, often tailender Illinois, and our own Spartans comprise this front running trunivirate. All possess 2-0-1 records in league play.

In the power struggle to secure high plate of the Big Ten title all three will have the comfort and edge that a home field and fans can supply tomorrow afternoon. Illinois plays host to Purdue, the Spartans take on Wisconsin, and Ohio State faces Iowa.

However, MSU and the Fighting Illini must contend with a couple of teams still very much in the running for the conference championship, while the Buckeyes appear to have a "breather" against Iowa. Wisconsin and Purdue are only a notch behind the leaders, with 2-1 marks, and will be fighting for their Big Ten lives.

The Badgers are ineligible to go to Pasadena, because they went last year. But they will have a say in who does go, as they meet State this week and Illinois next.

PURDUE AT ILLINIUS

The unbeaten Illini are fresh from an eleventh hour victory over UCLA on the west coast last week, while the Boilermakers have run up two impressive victories over Michigan and Iowa following their opening conference loss to Wisconsin.

Pete Elliott's Illini eleven features a veteran line, spearheaded by the rough and tough play of center, linebacker Dick Butkus, a 6-3, 235 All-America candidate. A sophomore stuffed backfield has put some much needed running spice into their attack and is probably the main reason for the Illini's sudden national rise.

Burly fullback Jim Grabowski and fast-stepping Sam Price, who both counted for more than 100 yards in last week's win, will be in charge of Illinois ball carrying chores. Another newcomer, Fred Castedo, has nudged senior Mike Taliaferro (Taliaferro threw for over 1,000 yards last season) from the signal calling spot.

IOWA AT OHIO STATE

This season has found a new look at Columbus, home of the Buckeyes. Woody Hayes has not only employed a predominately green team, successfully, but has varied from his punishing "three yards and a cloud of dust" offensive pattern. Last week the Buckeyes dropped Wisconsin with the passing of sopher quarterback Don Unverferth and the field goal kicking of Dick Van Raaphorst.

Van Raaphorst, who has already set a conference record for field goals with an even half dozen, has been Hayes' main scoring weapon this season. The Michigan senior has hit four of his eight field goals on distances of more than 40 yards.

In addition Van Dimtriou, John McLane, Louis Ekhardt and Larry Christoff have 5, 4, 2 and 2 goals respectively. Tallying once each are Karl Thiele, Turid Eunson and Clare DeBoer.

Harriers
At Kazoo
Saturday
Cross Country Coach Fran Dittrich will dispatch a twelve-man team to Western Michigan University Saturday without the pressure of victory or defeat weighing on either him or his squad.

The reason is that team scores will be withheld in the State Federation Meet taking place at Kalamazoo. The meet will help to serve as a warm-up for State's Big Ten title defense next weekend. In addition, it will be the last chance for some of the Spartan harriers to work into Dit-trich's championship plans. Only seven members are allowed to run in championship competition. The Federation meet promises to provide the Spartans with a stiff test, as it will be the largest field of runners that they have faced this year.

Cross country team members who will make the trip, are: Jack Amie, Ron Berby, Jan Bowen, Bob Fulcher, Mike Kaines, Paul McCollam, Mike Martens, Dick Sharey, George Thomas, and Rick Zemper. Two performers from the Spartan freshman squad will also go running unattached. They are Keith Conte and Claude James.

including a Big Ten record of 49 against Illinois earlier in the season.

The class of Ohio State's backfield is senior Paul Warfield, a gritty two-way performer. The Buckeye's line, although young and inexperienced, has turned in a credible job so far.

It should be a typical Buckeye win, unless Iowa quarterback Fred Biddle regains his earlier season form, when he threw a record five touchdown passes against Indiana.
