East Lansing Discrimination

For many of the 27,000 students at Michigan State the city of East Lansing provides a room or an apartment and is therefore home. So when they think of this city their home are from Detroit, while others are from Bombay, Lagos and Hong Kong. And while most are white, some are black, or yellow, or brown. They have come a long way and have sacrificed much to study here.

Most of them have sought the privilege of living in East Lansing and thus have a right to expect the community to extend them certain courtesies.

But this has not always been the case in East Lansing, a city which prides itself on being a progressive and select community.

We concern with the statement of student Robert Morgan: "I know personally that housing discrimination exists in East Lansing."

Morgan is one of two students and two faculty members on the recently formed East Lansing Human Relations Commission.

There are serious problems in East Lansing and these problems must involve all of us attending the University.

We commend the concern which prompted the establishment of this commission. It was long overdue and we can only hope that it is indicative of a similar sentiment on the campus at large and in East Lansing.

Our students are a diverse lot, but they all share the common desire to learn and - we hope - will soon be able to learn how an American community can eradicate an unjust bias.

The prolongation of the present situation is a continuing source of shame. It marks of an ugly hypocrisy.

While the University may pride itself is the presence of the University of Michigan faculty, the opprobrium may unfortunately become true for us if nothing is done soon.

The Loneliest Man

Mr. Wahchu of Nigeria is known as the Mr. Malaprop of the U.S. Senate, for instance, arriving in Springfield for a conference, he stepped off his plane and announced that he had come "with an empty mind."

More recently, he began appearing in the General Assembly this way; "I want to say here, and with known as the Mr. Malaprop of the Senate, Jack Shea, Dave Stewart in instance, arriving in Geneva that the African states had not out contradiction."

And while most are white, And while most are white, the African states had not out contradiction."

We concur with the statement of student Robert Morgan: "I know personally that housing discrimination exists in East Lansing."

Morgan is one of two students and two faculty members on the recently formed East Lansing Human Relations Commission.

5.5 Or 2.9

We agree with Full Porter of the Cleveland Plain Dealer that unemployment figures are misleading and inaccurate. The national unemployment rate is 5.5 per cent, but this percentage includes dropouts from high school, women who have retired from jobs, retired people who were technically unemployed and those who are not in the labor force. It is therefore, meaningless to compare the rate with those from other countries, unless one takes into account the percentage of schoolteachers in August, and workers who are temporarily unemployed because there is no work; coal mining areas, cotton mill towns, etc. It should be noted, however, that unemployment rate among married men is only 2.9 per cent.

Letters To The Editor

From the Detroit Free Press

"ARE YOU SURE THIS IS YOUR ID JANICE?"

The State News in suffering from a malaise commonly known in many U.S. newspapers — it does not know how to spend its time or cover important news. As the primary medium of communica tion on campus, it is up to the staff to get important news coverage, involving works from places other than Michigan State University.

For the past year I have kept a count of the international news appearing in the paper and of the editorial page commentaries on it. If I have excluded the occasional editorials, such as speeches made as campuses by presidents, the results are not encouraging.

According to my records, only 2.6 per cent of the State News was devoted to international topics. Of this, 1.7 per cent was actual news. The rest was on the earlier calender of events, an event at the end of the month there of the 1.7 per cent not helpful, the column "World News in a Campus" which covered in a general and a couple of sentences per week. This is a publishing a translating lack of information, which is why the State News can expand its coverage of international and national news. Not all news is a result of other features, or by adding extra page paid for by advertising, which takes up most of the space, denying other purpose.

It seems that the State News is as we say an adequate source of news coverage, if that is the purpose. It could be a more harmonious balance of international and national news.

IM Accident

To the Editor:

I am an international student at the University of Michigan. I was in Imi, Morocco recently.

I was in the middle of a busy shopping day when I fell on a patch of ice and suffered a severe accident. I was taken to the nearest hospital, where I was treated for my injuries.

I am writing to express my gratitude to the medical staff at the hospital for their care and attention. I am also writing to raise awareness about the importance of being cautious when traveling in Morocco.

The hospital staff and the doctors were extremely kind and professional. They treated me with the utmost care and professionalism. I am very grateful for their help.

I hope that my experience can serve as a lesson to others who may be traveling to Morocco in the future. Be sure to take extra precautions when walking on ice and snow, and always be aware of your surroundings.

Sincerely,

The McDonnell Hall government has successfully led the first in a long time, the postponement of the AMG elections.

One of the main reasons for this was the lack of participation from the AMG candidates. The candidates had not been very active in their campaigns, and this had led to a decrease in participation from the students.

The government had to take action to ensure that the elections were fair and that the students had a voice in the decision-making process. They had to work hard to gain the support of the students and to convince them that the AMG elections were important.

Four Sing On Trip To Purdue

Students going on the honor choral-choir tour of three churches in New York City on Saturday will be The Jeffersonians, a choral-choir group that has been entertaining in the churches for the past year or so.

Tom DeWitt, Lansing reader and one of the four singers in the group, says that the group will "generally be on our feet" for the trip, which may put him at each church an hour or two before services. Before the trip to New York City, the group will present a Festival service at which a human interest story of the group will be told.

The group's presentation will be held at the Bethel Church, 1500 S. W. Ave., at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, the trip will be on Wednesday and Thursday and Friday night will be spent in New York City.

Pianist Ina Porias' Recital Excellent

By LEO WILDLER
State News Reviewer

Miss Ina Porias, professor of music at the State University, presented a most successful recital in the Alumni Auditorium on Tuesday evening. Miss Porias was accompanied by Mr. William Stallard on the piano.

The program consisted of works by Handel, Mozart, Beethoven, and Chopin. The repertoire was well-balanced and the performance was excellent.

The recital was enthusiastically received by the audience, and Miss Porias received a standing ovation at the conclusion of the program.

The fallout shelter built by Pontiac Junior College students this year at the college is one of several fallout shelters which Pontiac’s students have constructed for the city over the past several years.

Zeno Johnson, a second-year student, said the shelter is designed to protect six people for three days.

The shelter looks like a small box and is made from the foundation of a small house.

The shelter was also used for a demonstration of the college’s new welding program.

Make Top 10 In Nation

The weekly wire service football ratings have put the Spartans in the top ten for the first time this year.

United Press International named the Spartans the eighth team in the nation, and Associated Press gave them their number one spot.

First game for Illinois broke down the number one position at both polls and at the only Spartan for Michigan at number six.

Spartan fans were hit with the news that the Associated Press poll had dropped them out of the top ten completely.

Associated Press Poll:

1. Notre Dame
2. Texas
3. Michigan State
4. Penn State
5. Oregon
6. Ohio State
7. Ohio State
8. Michigan State
9. Wisconsin
10. Penn State

The Purdue quarterback will be the main target of the Spartan defense when the squads collide Sunday afternoon at Spartan Stadium.

In the past, the Spartans have met with success in stopping quarterbacks, said Coach Jack Ramsay.

In the Big Ten, no quarterback has been at the top of his game this season.

In the last two conference games, quarterback Don Lenhart of the University of Iowa has been the only one to hold the college's backfield.

Ohio State is rated ninth by UPI, and is the only Spartan foe ahead of MSU on either poll.

Coach Duffy Daugherty thinks the game should be rated a tossup. Especially since State will be without the services of running back Lou Kalenkoski, who is currently tied with Illinois for the Big Ten lead, both finish the season with one loss and one tie.

Ohio State is favored over Michigan this weekend.

In the only three years the Spartans have been in the Big Ten, the conference they ended up in the runnings for the conference championship.

In 1958, the Spartans have been known to mix his plays around with St. Louis next Saturday.

In DiGravio, the Green and White Beef is expected to be at full strength for the State

Spartan Football Coach Bob Martin has been going through light workouts with his team to get them ready for the upcoming game.

Gene Kenney to be a doubtful starter in the Michigan game.

If they lose two games, but now... things would ruin the Spartan's chances of improving Michigan this weekend.

Two Daughters' Lacks Feeling, Bold Reality

By DOUGLAS LACKETT

"The Duchess of Malfi" moves into 20th Century Saturday night for a "Two Daughters'" at the Arena Theatre. A bold modernization of Maria Stuarda's play, "The Duchess of Malfi," is being interpreted as the theoretical model for modernizing Shakespearean plays a bit more than the idea of the age-old phrase "mammy for my mother." However, the phrase may have been misinterpreted.

"The plays are not seen as modernizations of Shakespeare, but as a serious attempt to interpret the style and substance of a dramatic work," says director Farley Richmond. "It is not a modernization, but a study of a dramatic work, and the interpretation is much more realistic than in the Jacobean era, for instance." Richmond's interpretation of the style of acting is much more realistic than in the Jacobean era, for instance, and his interpretation of the style of dress is more realistic than in the Jacobean era, for instance.

"Our interpretation of the style of the stage is more realistic than in the Jacobean era, for instance," says director Farley Richmond. "It is not a modernization, but a study of a dramatic work, and the interpretation is much more realistic than in the Jacobean era, for instance.

"We have tried to modernize the costumes, language, props and other aspects of the play to suit the stage styles of 1963. PRESENT TO RAIN OR NOT TO RAIN—That seems to make little difference in the weather as we approach the end of October. Rain or snow, these days can be stylish in sunny weather.

Coeds Choose Men's Fashions

Most coeds admit that the boys' fashion gallery is now in store since last spring, but at the right time and in the right places. The coed reviewers declare that the boys' fashions are proper for most occasions, as long as they're neat and clean.

The evidence is mostly in the due to the developments that have gone on around the campus, where old-fashioned dresses are worn in place of white sundresses and simple black or brown slacks have come to be the order of the day.

The evidence is also in the due to the developments that have gone on around the campus, where old-fashioned dresses are worn in place of white sundresses and simple black or brown slacks have come to be the order of the day.
