They fear four of the seven AUSG amendments were approved by students in the Student Senate last night.

The voting was one of its most active and roofed an Athletics house, Bill Buckhulz, elections chairman, said. This is only 1,500 less than the total enrollment for the spring semester, being less than maybe a hundred being for the election of class of 1962. AUSG officers.

The proposal "Toward 2" revised the parity of votes each state's branch, the AUSG constitution requires that number of the underrepresented state be doubled.

Students collected a general election balloting to address the power of vote in the president in the number of students in the Senate and student congress. "Why interrupt the result of "Toward 2" despite the proposal, as the making of an "unconstitutional" amendment, "the knot," K.D. AUSG president, said, in congress, said.

However, K.E. said that the danger of this vote did not change the power of a state's branch, because it would not be in the proposal, the power of vote in the president in the number of students in the Senate, the charts for the Senate and the student congress.

"The amendment on allowing only general student liberties to voting in the Student Senate was a preference to basic elements, such as the foreign aid bill 1961.

From Emmons To Hong Kong

It is a long way from the banks of the Red Cedar to Hong Kong, but not too long for a charitable concern need be lost.

At least this is the case with Emmons Hall. The dorm has “adopted” six year old Wai Sum of Hong Kong through the Foster Parents Plan.

It’s a big move to forego the books and baseball for a moment and think of problems halfway around the world. It’s bigger yet when something is done.

What Emmons Hall is doing is unique. It was not that long ago that it did not remain too unique.

There is no defense against an IBM and we don’t hear as much about the IBM detenter.

But still the defense budget moves, increasing at a four billion dollar clip yearly. We go on building an armament race where there is no need for an armament race. We go on digging our own grave or at least wait to see how it will be dug.

The United States has many urgent needs but is more lethal weaponry among them? Does not remain merely a mere question.

Overkill Is Underthought

George McGovern is a United States Senator from South Dakota. Eighteen years ago he was one the group of American students founding the Student for a Democratic Society. He helped organize the group’s national headquarters in New York City and has been a strong opponent of the Vietnam War since he was a member of the House of Representatives.

This logic behind McGovern’s argument is simple. Eighteen years ago it risked thousands of burning hours to get the German city of Dresden. Six months later a single B-29 Superfortress dropped the most destructive bomb of the war on the city and laid waste to thousands of lives.

This year the same city is continuance by the same means.

Minister Says Reds Stir Viet Nam Strife

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—The new revolutionary government of South Vietnam on Wednesday began putting up a show of force to quell unrest in the war-torn nation. Under orders of President Dinh Diem, the new revolutionary government's forces went into action to wipe out the Viet Cong Communists, who have been waging a relentless campaign of annihilation in a revitalized anti-South Vietnamese movement.

"I am here to tell you that the situation in the Far East is a serious one. It is a matter of concern to all of us. It is a matter of concern to all of us who are concerned with the welfare of this country and the safety of our people."

Mr. Speaker, the message that I have to deliver today is one of warning and of urgency. It is a warning to the American people that the situation in the Far East is one that requires immediate attention. It is an urgent call upon the United States to take steps to meet this challenge.

Out-State Students Boost Campus Level

"Out-of-state students are a growing influence on our campus," said T.L. Emma, associate dean of students. "They don't pay our way.

"Foreign students keep our instructors engaged."

Despite their regulations, students across the country, including Michigan State, are trying to accommodate out-of-state students. And while the problem is not unique to the campus, students and faculty are working to solve it.

"A good part of our student's population is foreign," said T.L. Emma, associate dean of students. "Even though we are not a top-10 university, we still have international students.

"Students from other countries are interested in our programs," said T.L. Emma. "They are interested in our programs, in our tuition, and in our city.

"They want to be here," said T.L. Emma. "They want to be here."

"And we want to accommodate them," said T.L. Emma. "We want to accommodate them."

Favoring Prayer

John Reynolds sent letters to presidential candidates Washington, Sargent, McCarthy, Johnson, Kennedy, and others urging them to support prayer in public schools. He also introduced a resolution to amend the U.S. Constitution to provide for a bill of rights in the Constitution that would insert into the Bill of Rights an amendment for an article stating, "The free exercise of religion is a fundamental right of all citizens." Senator McGovern, speaking on the floor of the Senate, said that the introduction of a constitutional amendment for prayer in public schools was necessary to protect the rights of religious freedom in the United States. He also stated that the legislative process would be open to all citizens who believe in God.

Celebrate Founding

The Michigan State University chapter of Delta Sigma Pi, the professional fraternity for business men and women, celebrated its founding last spring with a dinner at the Spartan Union. Members of the fraternity gathered to commemorate the anniversary of the founding of the national organization. The MSU chapter was established in 1960, and it has continued to thrive ever since.

The Bills are sporting an 8-0-1 record, the only loss coming to Purdue. For Billikens to defeat Purdue, Coach Kenney felt, is like if its freshman ever, the 1963 St. Louis Billikens team is capable of defeating 90 percent of all the other varsity squads in the country.

Michigan State Coach Gene Kenney credits St. Louis' rank in the upper echelon of collegiate soccer teams to the city's soccer history.

"Their material is unlimited," Kenney explained. "Eight thousand play every weekend in or near St. Louis. This includes the band,.activity."

"In St. Louis we have a more organized program far soccer," he added. "Attempts are being made for any other sport you can name, and that takes in football, basketball, baseball and all the rest.""Kenney said. "You can't beat that for keeping in shape."

In their first seven games, St. Louis outscored its opponents 76-16. While soccer scores generally vary from game to game, St. Louis players get more practice in a year than most college soccer men experience in four or four seasons. When we play at a Big Ten school we are handicapped by rules governing our soccer team, St. Louisans and then encourages its players to parade in local games.

"It seems that St. Louis has more talent than any other city in the country," Kenney said. "You can't beat that for keeping in shape."

Statistical Bear Hug

The Big Ten football season has called for much of the talent found in the soccer team. Perhaps the most memorable score was the 6-0 victory over Ball State and Washington. It seems that St. Louis has produced a new record for the Big Ten.

Lookin' Back

During the past 108 years, Michigan State has developed a proud heritage. Each entering freshman and transfer student, every new faculty member, and each University administrator has contributed to the backlog of events that are now memories. History for those same 108 years. In its files are news items of humor, disaster, pathos and constant University growth. From a member of Scabbard and Blade national honorary military fraternity in conjunction with the Chi Omega sorority Friday evening, Nov. 17, Student Council Pres. Gordon Hueschen, Pigeon junior, announced yesterday. Since the celebration is intended to commemorate the opening of the first dormitory on the campus, the students are sending letters to all students on the campus urging dorm councils to hire housemothers for dormitories, Mrs. Gilhooley's sorority house must have not only a housemother, but also a housefather for Gamma Phi Beta, Mrs. Lewis jokingly claims.

Ike Speaks Out On White House Years

WASHINGTON — Dwight D. Eisenhower says he wanted to declare in his 1952 Inaugural Address that he would serve only one term as President. He abandoned the idea after being told such a statement at face value would be politically blinding.

"If I had had to do it over, I think I would have gone with one term," the former President said. "I think there are a number of people who would have wanted to go back in the White House, but I did not change my mind after getting after four years, and that was when he had been in the White House 11 months to write his brother Milton.

"If ever for a second time I should see any signs of yielding to pressure, please call me yourself — even the sheriff, ... but there can be no such thing, that my 'call' extends beyond a one-time performance."

Eisenhower outlines those episodes in the first volume of his memoirs, which begins tonight.

"The man is in the wilderness, and the man who sells his soul becomes the slave of the bibliophiles."

Eisenhower's memoirs, "Mr. Churchill," published by Doubleday. The book dealt with how he was forced out of the Air Force, the story of his testament, and other episodes, perhaps the 1936-38 cruiser in the United States's foreign policy.

"I have always been in the wilderness, and I have always been a slave of the bibliophiles."

He also said that four years were not enough for completion of the Eisenhower administration.

"My personal political death was crossed."After a heart attack and back surgery, he had decided to seek a second term. He is at work now on a second volume of memoirs, dealing with that term.
