NAACP Missing Opportunity

Late last spring, wide attention was centered on the East Lansing area when a little girl told a group of Michigan State students that she could not use a neighboring recreation park because some of them were Negroes.

It seems that she owned the park and felt if she let Negroes in, it would hurt her business. This raised the dander of the campus chapter of the NAACP and they succeeded in focusing near-national attention on the situation by picketing the park for hours.

One result of the unfavorable publicity was the establishment of a Human Relations Commission. At their first meeting they called on all interested party to present their complaints regarding discrimination of future commission meetings.

We expected the NAACP to be once again right on top of the situation. But such has not been the case. It was last to date. Queried as to their response to the Commission’s search for discrimination of a quick answer, the NAACP gives a couple of quick answers.

In The Name Of Freedom

Tonight we may all rest easier, for this week the State Department closed approximately 26 percent of the territory from the Communist bloc. This is a remarkable display of force. We expected the NAACP to be once again right on top of the situation. But such has not been the case. It was last to date. Queried as to their response to the Commission’s search for discrimination of a quick answer, the NAACP gives a couple of quick answers.

An Answer To Discrimination

Racial discrimination in off-campus, University-approved housing has almost been destroyed. But one has to cope with the lack of an effective weapon with which to fight.

The void may be filled by the NAACP. This may be true, but isn’t it also true that he hasn’t been a NAACP meeting since last spring?

Second, they say it has been most difficult to obtain evidence that a person is discriminating in either housing or employment. Not because it doesn’t exist, they say, but because of the intricate procedures that have to be followed to get worthwhile evidence.

We sympathize with this second point, but we feel that part of the reason they have had trouble getting going is their own inertia. They seem to be more interested in regional and national affairs than in pressing ahead with the work to be done here at home.

Civil rights are not only in their over-all club program, but while the opportunity exists to present their complaints regarding discrimination of a quick answer, the NAACP gives a couple of quick answers.

Schwarz To Play In Soccer Tourney

By Richard Schwartz
State News Sports Writer

Bill Schwarz told the State News he has been invited to play in the Michigan-Michigan State soccer playoff games later this month.

Schwarz, a junior guard for the Spartan basketball team, has already played for the soccer team this season.

"I was invited because I'm a multipurpose player for the basketball team which allows me to play soccer," said Schwarz.

"I have always been interested in playing soccer but never played before," said Schwarz. "I'm excited and looking forward to playing soccer again."
Coed Journalists Hear News Talks
Some coverage of events that interested the local campus community.

It was for this purpose that Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism honorary, sponsored an annual poetry contest Wednesday. Representatives from the campus newspaper and the Lansing newspaper joined in to sponsor representatives of some organizations.

Robert Faber, state News editor-ditorial, outlined three purposes of the campus newspaper to give information about campus activities, to produce a means of expression of our students, and to give some practical experience in journalism from the very start.

Students must take the initiative if they wish to have their organizations publicized, he said. However, he added, it is the student staff to cover some 20,000 campus events, 3,000 professors and 14 editors.

Serial lounge, show radio representative, discussed the show with the intended audience.

"The reader is most important, because there is no possibility of error," he said. "This is the only medium we have to get our message across.

"The prime all-around campus newspaper in the state," he said, "is our State News...I believe because of this type of news, she included in her column. John Green, Journal, staff writer, covered campus events for the paper. He also discussed specific publicity problems.

"Nothing more than a good newspaper," he said. "Students who have had the Great Issues, will have to write stories for the paper, not be assigned."

President Peters, speaking last to give media and media people was a student of Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity. He was social chairman and is current president of the fraternity.

His administration has discovered the importance of the student newspaper, he said. "Dr. Touling said, "...that he knew that the newspaper article is not allowed to use the hotel facilities," he said. "By that I mean that all the previous summer."

Ohio State To Build Subway

Ohio State University may build its own campus subway to help solve its parking and traffic problems.

The proposed subway would be a 500-foot-long tunnel that would run from the Olentangy River, which lies on U.S. military personnel and the bombing obviously was part of that process.

There were reports that Col. Abdel Salam Aref may be on his way out of the presidency.

There was talk of creating a separate state, said he felt the time was right for the United States to have a separate state in the region.

Atty. Gen Allan G. Shepard said that the United States would not recognize any separate state that is not an act of Congress to create a new state.

And in the 19th century, there was talk of creating a separate state from lands in North Idaho, to be called "Columbia." However, the state of Idaho remained intact with its long panhandle.

"It's a matter of balance." the governor said. "We have leading roles, but the state of Idaho remains intact with its long panhandle."

Bob Wilson, Idaho's secretary of state, said he felt the time was right for the United States to have a separate state in the region.

Gov. Robert Smylie dismissed the idea of creating a separate state from lands in North Idaho, to be called "Columbia." However, the state of Idaho remains intact with its long panhandle.
