Charges Castro With Aggression

President Betancourt of Venezuela Tuesday night called for a naval and air blockade of Communist Cuba to prevent it from exporting arms and revolution.

Betancourt's call for hemispheric action against Premier Castro coincided with a decision in Washington by the Organization of American States to investigate Venezuela's charges of aggression. Earlier, Venezuela had claimed Cuba was the source of large quantities of arms and ammunition found on one of its beaches.

Reports of bombings throughout the Island nation also have brought speculation that a joint military invasion might be mounted by the hemisphere against Castro's government.

Betancourt's statement was that the island-thing could not be permitted to continue.

Trainmen Plan Legal Barrage

WASHINGTON - Five rail unions, representing thousands of members, plan an outpouring of newspaper and television advertisements attacking the Castro government's presence in Cuba.

The plan, announced Tuesday by the three largest of the five unions, is to be accompanied by a display of power by secretaries of the Castro government's presence in Cuba.

On Understanding Each Other

The plight of the foreign student, caught between the worlds of the new and the strange, is not unique. On the contrary, it epitomizes the world today. Lack of understanding and peer communication wreaks a humanity facing the possibility of annihilation.

The stranger in our midst is unhappy because he cannot understand our life. He is angry because he has been unable to communicate with us.

But likewise, when U.S. students do not understand each other, they grow frustrated and believe the other is all wrong. They attribute their problems to irreconcilable ways as the result of an odious conspiracy. “It is truly unfortunate,” they say, “but maybe someday those unfortunate souls will be able to see the light.”

So, too, is the attitude of many Americans that this eom planning foreigner is ungrateful. Doesn’t he realize what a good set-up we’ve got here?

And so it goes...around and around.

What we all forget is that we and our ways are not divinely prescribed. Our vitriol stems from the same thing that troubles our immigrant forebears, from the conference table, amid the language barrier that the diplomats also forget.

We must begin to appreciate the very slight possibility of every joy: we can often be very wrong. If we can see in ourselves, maybe we’ll see it in others and understand. And if we understand, maybe we’ll compromise a little here and there, and maybe a stranger friend will do likewise.

Johnson’s Status Quo Policy Gives Europeans Confidence

I don’t think there’s any chance of change in the status quo policy being adopted by the U.S. government initiatives will also be made.

In Geneva

Government spokesmen report a “favorable” decision for the United States at the meeting of the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty. The primary goal of the meeting is to discuss the treaty’s implementation and to work towards a comprehensive test ban treaty. The United States is known to have recently completed an underground nuclear test as part of its defense strategy.

In West Berlin

Major Dutch foreign expressionist philosopher of Noam Chomsky has been invited to speak at a West Berlin conference on the future of European culture. Chomsky has written extensively on the subject and is known for his critical views on American foreign policy.

In Paris

De Gaulle’s government has provided substantial financial assistance to the National Liberation Army of South Vietnam to fight against U.S. imperialism. This action is expected to further isolate France from the United States and other Western powers, as France is increasingly seen as a proponent of the non-aligned movement.

In London

The Prime Minister has announced that the United Kingdom will increase its defense spending by 10% over the next five years. This comes amidst growing tensions with the United States over nuclear disarmament and the role of the United Kingdom in NATO.

Letters To The Editor

Two Men For Peace

To the Editor:

Kennedy in death, as he was for life, a man of peace. He believed in national unity and the power of compromise.

Pesticides

To the Editor:

It is too bad we cannot get an objective appraisal of pesticides. The treatment of T. H. B. C. and W. D. Company, as well as others, is often presented as the truth, while our generation could and did identify with the wrong targets. The death of Dr. Rachel Carson will be remembered for years to come.

Be Different

To the Editor:

John Kennedy did us a great service when he called for a change in perspective. We can’t just be like Oswald, and a little more like Kennedy and the God he served so faithfully.

Michigan State News, East Lansing, Michigan

The dream of sharing, called coeducational, has been a major issue of the Roman Catholic Church. Pope Pius XII appeared to support progressive policies when he received the bishops at Rome in 1958, and when he substituted the rule that all diocesan bishops must preach to women, instead of only in their own dioceses.

Catholicism, as the Pope expressed it, is a religion of freedom, not a religious monopoly. The Church is open to all people of other countries,

Sharkey All-American

Migayanka Grid Captain; Lewis (Of Course) MVP

The registros which usually accompanies post-season honors in basketball was missing this year. Normally, the names of the most outstanding players make up the final team. The Michigan State tournament which was held last week was the only one in which every player was named. This year, however, the all-state team was named by a vote of the coaches of the state's high schools.

Sharkey played State last year, in a Wildcats 80-75 decision. State house hardcourt tonight at 8 p.m. Western opened its season by slicing Montana in a 65-62 game. Montana lost, with a 6-9 center Fred Thomann, who had 30 points, and back Roger Lopes for their spirited contribution to this game. Montana's defense was solid, and they held to the lead in the second game. Sharkey and Lewis scored 20 points each. State's defense was tough, but they were held to 42 points.

Ayres Asks New VP Measures
WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep.
William Ayres, Republican from Ohio, has introduced measures designed to be a part of the larger network of legislation dealing with presidential succession. One of the proposed constitutional amendments would authorize the President to appoint a vice president, in case the incumbent vice president be absent or unable to serve. Another proposal would provide for the Senate to choose a vice president if the post is vacant, as it was in 1960, when the Senate chose Lyndon B. Johnson assistant secretary of the treasury. A third proposal would authorize the Congress to designate the vice president if neither is available.
