Stresses Higher Education

Asks $21 Million School Aid Hike

BY JACKIE KORONA
State News Staff Writer

Gov. George Romney told the legislature Thursday in Lansing that he is recommending a $21 million budget increase for state aid to schools.

In a 40-minute speech, the governor outlined in a plainspoken manner what he termed 'the most critical aspects of a school aid bill that must be done in the next coming legislative session."

The proposed legislation, to be introduced during the next legislative session, includes a $12 million increase in state aid to public schools, a $2 million increase in support for equalization funds, and a $7 million increase in state support for higher education.

In his address, the governor outlined the history of state aid to schools in Michigan, which he said was "one of the most critical decisions ever made by the state during its entire history."

He said that the state aid system had been "a failure" and that it was "time to do something" about it.

The governor also outlined a number of other proposals, including a $10 million increase in state aid to schools for special education, a $5 million increase in state aid to schools for remedial education, and a $3 million increase in state aid to schools for vocational education.

The Phonograph may again be a place to people who want to see a film of the same generation's heart and soul. But for the following generation, for the visionaries and the realists, for the optimists and the pessimists, there are always the same words, the same music, the same visions. It is a place to see the world as it is, to see the world as it could be. It is a place to see the past, to see the future. It is a place to see the world as it is now and as it is to be. It is a place to see the world as it is and as it is to be. It is a place to see the world as it is and as it is to be.

Giant Cyclotron Magnet Assembled

Employers and thousands of students were estimated at $515,000, but unforeseen remodeling difficulties added some $2,500 worth of interest payments to the city hall and convention complex.

City Gains From Delay In Building

East Lansing could gain as much as $15,000 from a delay in construction of additional space in the city hall and convention center of a new public service center.

Wren last year approved $81,000 worth of construction funds for what could have been the largest and most important project in the city's history.

City hall extensions were estimated at $155,000, but unfilled remodeling difficulties caused the total to be $2,500.

For the delay in the city's second, and possibly last, major building project is being put into a general fund for city expenses next year.

Alternate plan to cut construction costs would be a proposal and result in a smaller building.

Olimen Grant $3,500

Hawking and other bright young students of the city are being selected to cut costs on the building project.

The grant, set to bring completion by June, will be required before it is put into action.

The building that will house the cyclotron is being assembled at the city's expense during the Christmas vacation period.

New Course Change System
Confuses Students, Faculty

By Linda Miller

The University system has initiated a new course change system, confusing both students and faculty. The system, which is designed to improve the efficiency of course changes, has been met with mixed reactions from the campus community.

One of the main concerns expressed by students is the lack of communication about the new system. Many students have reported that they were not notified about the changes and were caught off guard when they tried to add or drop courses.

Faculty members have also expressed frustration with the new system. Some have complained about the increased workload required to process course changes and the increased number of errors.

The new system, which was implemented last semester, has also been criticized for its complexity. Many students and faculty members have reported that the new system is confusing and difficult to navigate.

The university administration has defended the new system, citing the need for increased efficiency and reduced errors. However, many students and faculty members feel that the new system is not working as intended and that it needs to be revised.

 Faith On Campus
Gossip Hinders Everyone

By Linda Miller

Gossip is a common phenomenon on college campuses, and its impact on the university community cannot be ignored. In a recent survey, students and faculty members expressed their concerns about the negative effects of gossip.

One of the main concerns is the impact of gossip on the social and professional relationships of students and faculty. Gossip can create a toxic environment, where trust and respect are lacking.

The survey also revealed that students and faculty members are aware of the negative effects of gossip, but many are not sure how to deal with it. Some suggested interventions include training programs to educate people about the negative effects of gossip and the importance of building positive relationships.

The university administration has also taken steps to address the issue of gossip. A recent policy change requires students and faculty members to report cases of gossip that may be harmful to the community.

 Pope Paul Sees Holy Land, Asks Universal Brotherhood

By Linda Miller

Pope Paul VI has expressed his desire for a universal brotherhood in his recent visit to the Holy Land. In a speech given during his recent visit, the Pope called for an end to all forms of discrimination and violence.

The Pope's visit to the Holy Land was seen as a significant event, as it marked the first visit by a Pope to the region in nearly 1000 years. The visit was a symbol of the Pope's commitment to promoting peace and reconciliation.

During his visit, the Pope met with leaders of different religions and faiths, emphasizing the importance of mutual respect and understanding.

Hillevil Activities

If you find Hillevil fascinating, you may want to take a look at the activities of the political group, which will be focusing on the campus and city issues. The group has planned a series of events, including a rally and a debate, to discuss the important issues facing the community.

The Hillevil group will also be hosting a series of workshops and seminars, which will be open to all students and community members.

Edgewood United

By Linda Miller

Edgewood United, a political group, has been active on campus for several years. The group has been involved in a variety of activities, including organizing events and promoting community involvement.

One of the group's main goals is to promote social justice and equality, and they have been involved in several initiatives to address these issues.

The Edgewood United group is planning several events for the upcoming semester, including a series of workshops and a community service project. They are also organizing a series of fundraising events to support their initiatives.

First Presidential Above

By Linda Miller

The first presidential above was held last week in the Central Union. The event was attended by a large number of students and faculty members, who gathered to celebrate the inauguration of the new president.

A speech was given by the new president, who emphasized the importance of unity and collaboration in achieving the university's goals.

Following the speech, there were several social events, including a dinner and a reception.

University of Honor

To Honor 3 Farmers

By Linda Miller

The University of Michigan has decided to honor three farmers this year. The farmers, who have made significant contributions to agriculture, will be honored at a special ceremony.

The farmers to be honored are John Smith, a long-time farmer from Ann Arbor, and John Doe, a well-known farmer from Detroit. The third farmer to be honored is Mary Jones, a farmer from Jackson.

The ceremony will be held on campus, and the farmers will receive plaques and certificates as recognition of their contributions.

The University of Michigan has a long history of honoring farmers, and this year's ceremony is expected to be a special event.
