City Will Extend Deadline

The East Lansing city council has set a deadline for the Off-Campus Anti-Tax Committee to appeal to the city assessor to extend the filing date for tax purposes. The deadline is March 1, and the committee has requested an extension of time. This extension will allow the committee to file their appeal in a timely manner.

New Inductor

Residents of the Albert and Charles Streets area were elected to be inductees into the university's new honor society. The inductees will be recognized at a special ceremony to be held later this month.

Weather

Spring is expected to arrive with a high in the mid-70s, according to the local weather forecast. The outlook for the week includes mostly sunny conditions with a chance of showers on Friday and Saturday.

Panama Willing to Talk

In the wake of recent tensions between Panama and the United States, the Panama government has expressed a willingness to engage in negotiations. This comes after months of diplomatic rows and a series of incidents that have strained relations between the two countries.

Farm Week Opens With Telfarmrial Appeal

The Farm Week event, which features a variety of agricultural exhibits and demonstrations, opened with a statement encouraging farmers to use technology to improve their operations. The event is expected to continue for the next few days, showcasing the latest advancements in food production.

K Has 'Feudal Psychology'

According to a recent article, K has been accused of having a "feudal psychology". The article suggests that K's actions are motivated by a desire to maintain control and that this attitude is prevalent among certain individuals in the university community.

Thieves’ Find Library A Pushover

The University library has attempted to eliminate, or at least to reduce, book thefts by students. Methods used to date have failed. Students can and do steal books. We did.

Some new methods, books, but magazines, newspapers, microfilms and documents are being used.

The library theft control methods, two state News staff members, all control points, including the exit turnstiles and guards, with 24 separate pieces of library property.

None of it was checked out. Students, as a rule, return it. It was returned personally to library director Richard Chapin. The library does not have an effective theft control system.

U.N. Lounge Reminds
50 Nationalities Of Home

A hearty welcome home, a place to drink familiar liquid refreshment, and a place to prove yourself as a regular globe-trotter.

This "place" is a room called the U.N. Lounge, located on the first floor of the Blodgett Building on Michigan State University's campus. It is a place where students from over 50 nationalities and nationalities in the world can come together to relax, share stories, and learn from each other.

The lounge is open every day from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m., offering a home away from home for students from around the world. It is a place where people can come to study, socialize, and take a break from the stresses of daily life.

The U.N. Lounge also hosts events and programs throughout the year, including cultural performances, lectures, and workshops. These events are open to all students and provide an opportunity to learn about different cultures and gain a deeper understanding of the world.

So, whether you're a student from another country or simply interested in learning about different cultures, the U.N. Lounge is a great place to visit. So, come on down and see for yourself what makes this place so special.

CAPtion
13 Men On A Court
By JEROME CAPLAN
State News Editor

Basketball is a contact sport. As players have grown, so has the on-court congestion. State coach Forbey Anderson thinks he has a solution to the rough, and often tumble, problem.

"It's not a new idea," the coach commented. "I tried a three-official experiment several years ago and it worked real well. There were only less fouls called and the game administration (time outs, etc.) was excellently handled. A three-official setup seems to me that there's always someone who sees what's happening. There's less likelihood of the officials being blocked from seeing the play," he added.

In today's fast pace game, the men in stripes often have trouble keeping up with the players, especially on fast breaks. "In their players' way," Anderson commented. "It would be pretty hard to convince the Big Ten administrators to pay an official.

Of course, Anderson realizes that the big drawback in having three officials is financial. "It would be pretty hard to convince the Big Ten administrators to pay another official, but I'd like to see it done," he said.

"Forbey" also realizes that another whistleblower, blow out the officials more time to watch a coach's actions. And four whistleblowers who can't sit still during a game could be disastrous.
