Rights Bill Wins Passage After Rugged House Battle

By HUGH LEACH

The Federal Action Party has denied any connection with the passage of the civil rights bill by the House, saying that the party was "too far left" to have any influence on the legislation.

The party said that it was "too far left" to influence the legislation and that it did not support the bill. The party was formed in 1963 and is considered to be a radical group.

The bill, which passed the House by a margin of 276-145, is expected to be signed into law by President Johnson.

Students Tougher On Peers Than Dean's Office—Fuzak

Students are tougher on their peers than they are on the dean's office, according to John A. Fuzak, dean of students at the university.

"I have been here a long time and I have seen a lot of cases," Fuzak said. "And I can tell you that students are more tough on their peers than on the dean's office."

Fuzak said that the students are more likely to appeal to the dean's office when they are dissatisfied with a ruling, whereas they are more likely to challenge their peers when they disagree with a decision.

"The students are more likely to go to the dean's office when they feel they have been treated unfairly," Fuzak said. "But when they disagree with a decision made by their peers, they are more likely to challenge it."
Neville Ideal for Provost

The announcement Friday that Howard F. Neville is now provost of the University is hardly a surprise. He has been acting provost for over two months, since the death of Clifford E. Erickson. In his overview of the case, U. M., Neville has proven himself quite capable of handling any task given him, and the students have waited in high expectation for delay in his appointment is the fact that he is, at 37, the youngest provost in the University’s history.

He was general business in-structure when he came here in 1952, and within four years was the director of continuing education. He was still serving in this capacity when he was named provost at the time of Mr. Erick-son’s death. Neville’s rapid pro-gress in the University is an indica-tion of his abilities.

Neville promises to do a fine job in one of the highest-adminis-trative positions in the University. We wish him luck in his newly-of-ficial duties.

Judiciary Needs Scrutiny

Any investigation of student judiciary and University regulations must be conducted so that the campus knows what is going on.

If the dean of students organizes a fact-finding committee to evaluate rules and judicial procedures, the committee should carry out its duties under public scrutiny.

Continuous reports on the committee’s activities, as well as the conclusions should be released until its job is finished.

This does not mean that every committee member should be open to the press or that the name of every student who appears before the committee should be made public.

Facts gathered in the course of investigation should be re-leased. If 90 per cent of the stu-dents in a survey favor relaxed drink regulations, the entire student community should know about it. If students tell the committee that they do not like the Ju-diciary, every other MSU student has a right to know what he said. Therefore, any investigation of the judiciary, every other MSU student has a right to know what he said.

If a student tells the committee that he does not like the Ju-diciary, he must carry out his words.

Regardless of any answers reached by the proposed fact-finding committee, students have a right to know on what evi-dence the conclusions are based.

Kennedy Naming Appropriate

We are not sure whether University officials were completely satisfied with their decisions. However, the suggestions regarding the proposal to name the International Center after the late John F. Kennedy. This proposal was defeated Fri-day by the Board of Trustees.

Perhaps JFK memorials are no longer appropriate or significant. Although we are inclined to think this one would be.

It would be hard to prove, however, that the Harry R. Scates Board of Trustees is reconsidering the original proposal, as the only obviously superseded suggest-ion that can be made at this time.

Stem Action Is Required

Student Judiciary can set an example of student protest against a selfish minority when it recommends action against a rival who outguns from a library book to add to her term paper, quick and resistant action by fellow students in the interest of contempt for University property and rights of other students will be forced.

Although suspension would be unnecessary, student body and the University must crack down on thieves to maintain even the present quality of the library.

What Makes Sammy Run?

Teen-age boys are amazing. The same ones who are too tired to walk two blocks to school fight for the chance to run 100 yards on a football field.

Glenn In Congress

There seems to lie inside the minds of most citizens that John Glenn is a colored college student. Yes, there seems to be a great deal of shock in the minds of many老百姓 who fail to realize that the Glenn who recently left the Air Force is the same Glenn who left the Air Force. But much has happened to the Glenn who left the Air Force.

He has been the object of much criticism and has been criticized on a number of occasions. His travels have been far from his home, but he has not given up the fight for civil rights. He has been a strong advocate of civil rights and has been active in the movement for equal rights for all Americans.

A good deal of good may have come out of the Glenn In Congress experience. He has been forced to learn a great deal about politics and the workings of the government. He has been forced to deal with people from all walks of life, and he has learned to be patient and understanding.

He has been forced to learn that not everyone is interested in the same things he is. He has been forced to learn that not everyone is willing to support his efforts. He has been forced to learn that not everyone is willing to listen.

But he has not given up the fight. He continues to work for the causes he believes in, and he continues to work for the people he represents.

City Area Happy To Have MSU

Editor’s Note: This is the last of a series on MSU and East Lansing.

Role between East Lansing and MSU are characterized as being generally good with occasional disagreements. "We have the same problems as any university town," said a local resident. "But we work together to solve them." The local resident said that the university and city work together to solve problems, such as parking, that affect both sides.

When MSU officials planned to operate bookstores at the new International Center, city leaders opposed the plan. "They wanted to control the bookstores," said a local resident. "But we worked together to find a solution that worked for both sides." The local resident said that the university and city worked together to find a solution that worked for both sides.

The university operated a bookstore to keep East Lansing bookstores in business. "It was a win-win situation," said a local resident. "We were able to keep bookstores in business, and the university was able to make money." The local resident said that the university and city worked together to find a solution that worked for both sides.

Rock ’n Roll Lags

To the Editor:

I was rather dismayed to read the June issue of Hi State News, BAP, Theft, Mistakes, which included a section on "Rock ’n Roll Lags." The article mentioned that "rock ’n roll has lost its popularity as a form of music."

I believe this statement to be incorrect. Rock ’n roll is a form of music that has been around for over 50 years and continues to be popular today. It is not unusual to find young people listening to rock ’n roll on their car stereos or in their bedrooms.

I would like to point out that the article mentioned that "rock ’n roll has lost its popularity as a form of music."

The American plan to bring peace between the Greek and Turkish communities in Cyprus with the condition that the U.S. peacekeeping force for Cyprus were rushed in from other parts closed. The United States, however, had adhered to the grounds that it would give the Soviet Union a chance to enter the war.

Heavy pressure to give the United States assurance that it would not give the Soviet Union a chance to enter the war would be the five numbers the band members won. Charles Schmitter has been coaching college fencers since 1935.

Schmitter has spent 26 of his 29 years at MSU as head coach.

A year ago, Charles Schmitter was such a man. A strict enf orcer of those rules, he knew that he was defeated, and no matter how often he won. A year later, he's sure to win more. A year from now, he may be defeated, but he knows that he's still got a great deal to learn.

Charles Schmitter has been coaching college fencers since 1935.

In the weeks to come, Spartan fans will forget all about the unfortunate defeat incident, but Schmitter probably won't.

He isn't the type of man who can forget a mistake, even when it is his fault.

Support from the student body and from his teammates might help him to forget.

Another ten or fifteen years, perhaps the NCAA crown would help even more.
