Chasing Campus Cheating

Editor's Note: This is the first of a three-part series on cheating.

"I cheat on every exam I take," said Bill, "I don't feel guilty about it, and I never get caught. If all else goes wrong, I don't think I would stop unless I were kicked out of school."

Bob learns the material he deems important and cheats on tests "I'm learning what I want to learn, but that's not enough here. "Academic high treason," as Dean of Students John A. Fuzak once again come under fire by men's residence hall presidents last week to see more of American college life. They will tour the campus, the capitol and legislature and have discussions with other students.

Some students say they don't cheat but are afraid to admit it. "I never cheat and I seldom see it in my classes," she said.

SEMINAR TO BRING 19 ASIANS

Nineteen Asian student leaders will be staying here this weekend to see more of Ameri­can college campuses across the country. The program, co-sponsored by the Club and AWS to be held in the Union this week, will be open to the public.

SLIPPIN' AND A SLIDIN'—Participants in the student-fac­ulty basketball Thursday night, about as much the way to see the an­imals, while others believe it is just out of habit to get more men in the way where they wanted to, the student leaders.

SBA passed a resolution recommending that 20 percent of the student government be given to members of the main lounge of the Union and that they have discussions with other students.

"I look forward to the opportunity to be involved in this activity, and to have discussions with other students.

The program, co-sponsored by the Club and AWS to be held in the Union this week, will be open to the public.

REPORTING-Half the students who were polled said they did not cheat. The rest did not respond.

"I was not surprised to find that following the comp­lete recommendation of our own government, the American government has decided not to accept our recommendation in your government."

METHODS OF CHEATING--A few of the more common meth­ods of cheating were posed for the State News camera, as a pho­tographer-photographer team collected tests and answers for the series beginning today.

The State Department said the United States will not recognize the new government of Zanzibar, which was installed by President Abeid Karume after he seized power in a military coup.

Speaking of the same stated reason—too long a delay by both the United States and Britain in completing restoration of relations, President Karume's spokesman said that the U.S. administration had been "too long and too short and too late.

WASHINGTON—The United States, Great Britain and six other Western countries announced this week they would not recognize the new government of Zanzibar, which was installed by President Abeid Karume after he seized power in a military coup.

They said they would be staying here this weekend to see more of American college campuses across the country.

Cooperation Aids Effectiveness

The passage of the housing resolution Wednesday by All-University Student Government (AUSG) demonstrated an awareness on the part of representatives of the realities of running a student government.

The amended resolution calls for a follow-up report on the sent system of approved housing, including additional information which may provide a basis for federal approval or rejection of the plan.

AUSG wisely put aside some of its enthusiasm for preserving "student rights" to live off-campus in favor of accentuating the importance of working with the administration to provide factual, governmental reasons for passage of the resolution.

Indication of Statute

The grant provided by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for the construction of a new sewage disposal plant on campus is the first such grant awarded to a university.

The needs of the expanding University community were considered vital by the department, and the approval of the grant may be taken as an indication of MSU's growing reputation as a center of learning vital to the nation's development.

Take A Buddy

Aah, come on. It doesn't hurt that much. What'sa matter, you chicker?

All they do is pop this little needle into your arm. . . hey, what do ya mean you feel sick?

Cut it out. Look, you've had shots before, right? Well, this doesn't even hurt that much. You didn't even nick yourself shaving, did you? No. You didn't.

What do ya mean, that's different? It's not--the only time you feel anything is when they put the needle in. Knock it off and get up off the floor, clown.

No. The needle wasn't bad, it was your imagination. Take the blood out--yeah, yeah, they stop at a pint. Yes you do. They want your blood... of course it's good--let them judge that. You know there are thousands of people sick and injured who will die if they don't get their shots. They're trying to help you. Or, no. No more lecture if you come with me.

What do you mean am I chicken to go alone? Of course not. It's just that... well, I just thought we could walk over together.

Yeah, ok, so it's a buddy system. If too many vampires get on you at once, I'll sure save you, ok?

I will not have to carry you back. Sure, you'll feel a little better. Take it easy.

But last Saturday morning's hangover didn't keep her from going out again Saturday night to see the film. You live to give blood again spring term.

Yeah, I promise.

Letters To The Editor

What Of Accountability For Actions?

To the Editor:

I am concerned about the current resolution that we have in this area of our university. Since I have heard about the proposal, I have been wondering about the possible outcomes and consequences.

I believe that it is important to consider accountability for actions in this context. What are the implications for students and faculty, and how might this proposal affect the university's reputation?

Sincerely,

Agrees With Article's View Of Wallace

To the Editor:

I agree with the article's view of Governor Wallace. His remarks are controversial, but I believe they are justified and necessary.

Wallace's speech was meant to address the concerns of the American people, and I believe he was trying to communicate his ideas clearly. While some may find his views offensive, I believe they are important and relevant.

Sincerely,

Cheating On Campus

"An element of cheating is inseparable from any institution where students are assigned grades," said Prof. Robert A. Hartman of the English department. "But I don't think you can have a completely honest society with grades. Only a small segment of the student body is involved in cheating, but that small segment is a major problem. The Academic Senate approved a committee on cheating for the remainder of the year. The committee will be composed of faculty and students and will handle these problems and do something about the validity of University grades."

"It is our responsibility as educators to prevent cheating," he said. "But I don't think any of it is very malicious."

The seminar is jointly sponsored by the Business Group and the Philanthropic Committee. It will be held in the auditorium at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday, at 8:15 p.m., and 7 p.m. Wednesday, and 8 p.m. Thursday. The seminar is open to the public.

Double Win For Swimmers

MacMillan set the 100-yard breaststroke record earlier this year, and he also won the 200-yard individual medley to give the Spartans a 74-31 victory at Madison, with MacMillan's swim times of 1:20-3:20-5:20-7:25 in the IM pool Friday night at Madison. It's perfectly normal situation for the Big Ten conference meet, Jim MacMillan set his season high mark.

Swimmers captured two dual meets over Illinois at the IM pool Saturday. The Spartans mauled Wisconsin with MacMillan's 5:07.3 in the 500 to erase the 100-yard breaststroke record of 2:19.7 held by Lee Driver's time of 2:19.7.

Griffing, Lowe, MacMillan, Jim Slade and Gary Leachman each captured two events in the meet. Griffing knocked off the 400-yard medley relay and the 200-yard medley relay with the winning team of 8:50.8 and 3:50.7 at the IM pool Sunday. Griffing also won the 100-yard breaststroke and the 200-yard individual medley.

Lowe posted two victories in the 100-yard butterfly and the 200-yard individual medley.

MacMillan set a perfect 3-0 meet in the 100-yard breaststroke and the 200-yard IM, scoring two fourths and no third place finishes. Griffing won for the second time in the 200-yard IM.

The Spartans finished fourth in the 400-yard medley relay.

The meet was the final regular season meet before the conference meet at Minneapolis which begins a week from Thursday.
