Old, New Meet In Canary Islands

Editor's Note: This is the third article in the "Old, New Meet" series. It was written by Henry A. Shepherd, an MJI historian who is doing research on a planned book on the classification. He tells of the Canary Islands, where he is living and working.

Pepe Navas rented our ship, the MJA, as the evening of December 17, and all the children, including our own, were having a wonderful time playing. Outside, a magnificent yellow light shone brightly from the moon, the first full moon of the new year. It was the time of the old moon of the Kanaks, the time when it was light in the preparation of food and perhaps was the main article of commerce for the winter harvest.

Although it was very cold, a large crowd left the MJA for a visit to the beach. In the light of the moon, many women and men joined in the fun, dancing and singing in circles around the campfire. It was a beautiful scene, with the children playing and the adults enjoying the atmosphere. It was a wonderful way to celebrate the New Year.

In the meantime, the ship was being prepared for the next voyage. The crew was busy loading supplies, and the captain was checking the sails and the rigging. The MJA was ready for the next voyage, and the crew was excited about the possibilities.

The crew was also busy preparing the meals for the passengers. The cook was a master of his craft, and the food was always delicious. The passengers were happy and content, knowing that they were in good hands.

On the morning of December 20, the MJA left the port of Las Palmas, and the passengers were given a farewell party. There were music, dancing, and speeches, and everyone was sad to see the ship leave. But they knew that it was a necessary part of the voyage.

The MJA set sail, and the passengers were excited about the new adventures awaiting them. They were looking forward to the possibility of new experiences and new sights.

The voyage was a success, but it was not without its problems. There were storms, and the ship had to take shelter in several ports. But the crew was always able to find a way to continue the voyage, and the passengers were always happy to be able to continue their journey.

The voyage was finally over on December 30, and the MJA arrived at the port of Las Palmas. The passengers were happy to be home, and they were already planning their next voyage.

The MJA was a special ship, and the passengers were lucky to have been able to experience its journey. It was a voyage of adventure, of discovery, and of the unknown. And it was a voyage that they would always remember.
