It is too early at this time to begin making judgments on the relative worth of the five candidates vying for the AUSG presidency. But from observation of the campaign and from interviews with the candidates, at least one point is becoming painfully clear.

That is, that all of the candidates sound remarkably similar in their arguments and in their manner of presenting these opinions both in private and in public.

For instance, Candidate X has said AUSG must "gain back the respect that we've lost in the last two years." Candidate Y asked, "What is student government going to do to make something go to gain the respect of the student?"

Candidate A has another idea: "I believe the students know very well what it is they want, and the rest of the governing bodies."

He would improve communication between AUSG and the student body.

So would Candidate B, who said, "I'm primarily interested in seeing student government's image and the student government's image made better as soon as possible."

Candidate C echoes him, stressing the "conflict between student government and the student body," which can be alleviated by better sharing of ideas.

The five also agree on the importance of cooperation with the administration, on the need to work with other campus groups, on the threat of a growing campus populace to student government.

This would seem to indicate that there is no outstanding candidate from the standpoint of platform or conception of student government's purpose. Nor does any one of the candidates stand out as the clear favorite or leader. Even there they appear quite similarly qualified.

It is much too early to say which candidate will be the "winner," although, of course, not much so "Who is the best candidate" as it is "Who is the best campaign manager?"

If skill in rehashing the same stale opinion everyone else is making is all a candidate needs to win votes and even confidence, then every college must have a solid national campaign for the AUSG presidency. So far, no "winner" has emerged. But it's all a rush job and fact that it's all a rush job and it is all a candidate needs to make it is a tragedy. It is all that the student candidates have been characterized as the era in which no platform was possible for the student movement. Because the committee members were all men and the other governing bodies, they would have chosen another approach, would have taken another path. They would have chosen another approach, would have taken another path.

This fact makes the fact that the platform is not so much "Who is the better candidate" as it is "Who is the best campaign manager?"

AUSG may be a weak force, but the students are strong in numbers and in power. The student candidates have the best chance of winning the presidency if they can unite the student body by calling attention to the common goals of the student candidates.
MacArthur Interview Stirs Ire
Spies Blamed For Leaks

WASHINGTON — Retired Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who served in Korea 50 years ago, has been at the center of a story that has swirled around the White House in recent days. The story concerns his involvement in the Korean War, and whether he was responsible for the leak of classified information.

Friday April 10, 1964

MacArthur, who was awarded the Medal of Honor for his service in the Korean War, has denied that he was involved in any wrongdoing. He has also denied that he was responsible for the leak of classified information.

The story has been under investigation by the FBI and the Department of Justice, and has been the subject of intense speculation and debate.

Economic Uses Drop In Jobless

A recent study by the Bureau of Labor Statistics showed that the unemployment rate dropped in March, from 5.5% in February to 5.3%. This is the lowest unemployment rate in the United States since the start of the recession in 2008.

Economists have predicted that the unemployment rate will continue to decline in the coming months, as the economy recovers from the effects of the recession.

Reaction was slowly swelling up in the Michigan legislature Thursday to Gov. George Romney's congressional reapportionment proposal, but no major threat was evident. It was believed by most legislators that Governor'sartment would force them to work in the Michigan legislature to get the governor's plan accepted, with the understanding that if it was not accepted, there would probably not be an election for it.

In the meantime, the present districting law would continue to be in effect. The governor's proposal would be based on an increase in the population of Berrien County border.

Mr. Romney is already the target of several challenges, but no of them in Kalamazoo, a city that would be even the first district if the governor's plan is accepted by the legislature. After Saturday's matches, the Spartans will prepare to face

Notre Dame, Wayne State, and Western Michigan in non-conference duels before resuming league play against Michigan May 5.

Lewis won the event in '63.

Stan Washington, sophomore basketball star, is expected to add depth in the jump. Stan was Detroit high school champion in the event. The same trio will compete in the hop, skip and jump.

Dave Mutchler and Tom Herbert add a good one-two punch in the shot-put.

In high-jumping, McCoy and

Bill Berry both have cleared

6-6 and both should do well

this spring, according to Dittrich.

Pole-vaulting is the weak point of the team, but a trio of sophomores could develop into steady performers. The three prospects are Dick Cramer, Dan Smith and Dave Colby.

The Spartans compete in the Ohio and Penn Relays later this month. Their first home appearance will be May 2 against Ohio

State. May 9 they travel to Notre Dame to compete against the Fighting Irish.

May 16 the Spartans are host to the always tough Chicago Track

Club. The Big Ten meet will be at Evanston May 22 and 23, and the Spartans will be trying to win their first Big Ten championship in 13 years.
