To the Editor:

I am sure that Miss Blackstone and others like me who are trying to learn to live in the modern world do not have to spend their evenings in improving their moral character. Why not "open your eyes" and avoid the sins of commission, rather than ever-ready to seek out the lewd, perverted, or otherwise objectionable things? Let us all enter into a decision to stay away from the things that are being sold to us to make profits for a few people, that are certainly not in keeping with the standards of high moral living. I am certain that we all have the ability to avoid the sins we are accused of.

MSU Must Compete In Pay To Keep Top Faculty Here

By Bruce Fabricant

Editor's Note: This is the last of a series on faculty salaries.

When a professor at the University receives a pay raise, the faculty members usually wait to see what the administration offers other faculty members. The University's policy of competing with other agencies for top quality teachers is generally considered a positive move. However, when the University fails to provide adequate raises, it may discourage some faculty members from staying with the University.

Full professors at the University receive an average annual salary of $15,000. This is less than the average annual salary of $17,000 received by full professors at other institutions. The University has been criticized for not offering competitive salaries to its faculty members.

The University's failure to offer competitive salaries to its faculty members may discourage some faculty members from staying with the University. This may result in a loss of talented and experienced faculty members, which in turn may affect the University's ability to attract and retain top quality students.

Letters To Editor

Did You Run Out Of Transamulizers Again?

Will you send my daughter's letter to the Editor? She sent it by airmail to New York two weeks ago. I've written to her several times, but haven't received an answer. She's been there for about a month, and I'm worried about her safety.

Reaction To Brody Immorality Charge

To the Editor:

I was appalled to read about the charges brought against Dr. Brody. As a student of the University, I feel a strong sense of responsibility to speak out against what I consider to be a unfair and unjust action. I believe that the University has a duty to protect the rights of its students, and that it is the responsibility of the students to stand up against such attacks.

Students Defend Israel's Existence

By M. Edelson

Israel Klahrsky's "Point of View"-Israel's Name-Given

Relevance to the Existence of Jews in Palestine, is a report by Israel Klahrsky, a former member of the Jewish National Council in Mandatory Palestine. The report was written in 1938 and was published in the Jewish Daily Forward.

Klahrsky, who had been active in the Zionist movement, wrote in the report that the Jewish people have a right to live in a Jewish state, and that this right should be protected by the international community.

The report was influential in shaping the debate on the issue of Jewish statehood in the interwar period, and it is considered to be a key document in the history of the Zionist movement.
