Trustees Approve Recommendations To Ease Campus Driving Problems

Johnson Asks Nation To Fight Poverty, Bias

President Speaks To Excited Crowd

By GERRY RINKLEY

In a non-partisan graduation speech, President Lyndon B. Johnson attacked poverty, racial discrimination and the "brain drain" to Europe and the Soviet Union. The President also praised the nation's progress in science and technology, and he appealed for increased federal spending to help the poor.

The audience, consisting of students, faculty, and administrators, listened as Johnson spoke. The President's hour-long speech was punctuated by applause and cheers.

The President then took questions from the audience, and his responses were also met with enthusiastic applause.

In his speech, the President emphasized the importance of education and the need for more investment in education. He also called for increased federal spending on social welfare programs.

The President's speech was well-received by the audience, and it was clear that the President's message resonated with the attendees.

---

Provisions Include Staff, Student Fee

Ban Established For Cars Between 7 A.M.-6 P.M.

The Board of Trustees formally approved administration recommendations designed to alleviate parking and driving problems here.

To be implemented beginning fall term, one of the main provisions would ban student driving on campus between 7 a.m. and 6 p.m. The ban would affect all vehicles, including cars, trucks, and motorcycles.

President John A. Hannah has mandated that all vehicles be parked in motorized parking areas, and only the Board of Trustees has the authority to grant exceptions.

Parking Restrictions

The student driving ban will be included in the university's Student Parking Regulations, which are being reviewed by the administration.

Resident and commuter student parking lots will, however, be the same as before. Those parking in these areas will continue to receive permits, and the new restrictions will primarily affect off-campus parking.

The ban on student driving will be enforced beginning fall term. Violators will be subject to fines and other penalties.

---

Student Leaders Advise Committee

Student government on campus can only be as strong as the administration allows, a group of past and present student leaders told the All-University Student Government (AUSG) reorganization committee.

All seemed to feel that students should have more voice in policy making decisions, especially regarding matters of student life and campus affairs.

---

8 To Be Honored In June

Four distinguished alumni of the university will be honored at a banquet on June 8.

The banquet, which is held annually to recognize outstanding alumni, will be attended by faculty, staff, and distinguished visitors.

The honorees will be announced at a later date.

---

Student Fee

Students for 1970-71 for on-campus parking will be $10 per year. At the University, parking regulations are in effect; however, the fee is compulsory.

Parking and Student Fee

Visitors to campus will be able to park in metered or gated parking areas.

A car park in the center will be available for pedestrians and bicycles.

Parking is limited to student permit holders. Those without permits will be charged a fee.

---

Accommodations For Commuters

Accommodations for commuters, who are requested to report for work and classes at 7 a.m., will be made available.

Visitors are encouraged to report for work and classes at 7 a.m.

---

$6 Million Coad Dorm Approved By Trustees

The Michigan Board of Trustees has approved a $6 million coed dormitory for the university.

The new building will be located on the north side of campus and will provide more space for students.

The Board of Trustees was encouraged to take action by the recent increase in enrollment, which has led to a shortage of housing.

The new building will be constructed on land recently acquired by the university.

---

Photography

Photographs of on-campus and off-campus events will be taken by the university's photography department.

---

Weather

Fair and cooler today; high 70s, low 60s, with a 30% chance of showers in the afternoon.
The 21-day bricklayers strike has been settled, and local construction workers are now back on a full work schedule on campus construction projects.

Worse yet, the strike of the state's university employees is still going strong. The talks between the administration and the union are now back to the bargaining table after two sessions. The talks failed to provide for any sort of respect amongst the workers. The election will be an overall procedure. There was also a lack of clarity on the question of write-ins from the students. The student apathy. If students consider the candidates apathetic, and make intelligent judgments, Horizons '64 can be a success and a model for the future.

AUG—Right Direction

All University Government has now returned to the usual way of voting procedure. The action follows in the wake of a hectic, and in many ways, undesirable ordeal by the ballot. Such prompt action on the part of student Congress warranted strong approval and appreciation: it is the type of efficient and polite settlement which the campus sorely needed if AUG is to establish any sort of respect amongst the students.

Last month's student election clearly demonstrated the faults and sights in the old voting regulations. These failed to provide for a truly defined electorate and an adequate position of responsibility for the overall procedure. There was also a lack of clarity on the question of write-in ballots and an inflexible attitude to the unpredictable role of campaign tactics.

Now the rules of procedure for campus votes will be able to account for all forms of campaigning, and an election commissioner will personally explain to the members of student government the contest prior to any election.

The workers' 12-week-long increase was a compromise between the demands of the union and the contractor's offer, necessarily limited due to the University's inability to pay more than was originally agreed.

The dispute was settled outside the realm of University affairs, and we have no way of knowing whether the administration actually prompted the settlement. But fortunate for the University and the more than 2000 employees expected to live in the new dorms the strike is over, and facilities here can continue to expand at the campus' startlingly fast growth rate.

The strike was averted in time to allow the students to return to the dormitories and the Fee-Akers dormitory complex.

The strike was averted in time to allow the students to return to the dormitories and the Fee-Akers dormitory complex.

The election will be an overall procedure. There was also a lack of clarity on the question of write-ins from the students. The student apathy. If students consider the candidates apathetic, and make intelligent judgments, Horizons '64 can be a success and a model for the future.

AUG—Right Direction

All University Government has now returned to the usual way of voting procedure. The action follows in the wake of a hectic, and in many ways, undesirable ordeal by the ballot. Such prompt action on the part of student Congress warranted strong approval and appreciation: it is the type of efficient and polite settlement which the campus sorely needed if AUG is to establish any sort of respect amongst the students.

Last month's student election clearly demonstrated the faults and sights in the old voting regulations. These failed to provide for a truly defined electorate and an adequate position of responsibility for the overall procedure. There was also a lack of clarity on the question of write-in ballots and an inflexible attitude to the unpredictable role of campaign tactics.

Now the rules of procedure for campus votes will be able to account for all forms of campaigning, and an election commissioner will personally explain to the members of student government the contest prior to any election.

The workers' 12-week-long increase was a compromise between the demands of the union and the contractor's offer, necessarily limited due to the University's inability to pay more than was originally agreed.

The dispute was settled outside the realm of University affairs, and we have no way of knowing whether the administration actually prompted the settlement. But fortunate for the University and the more than 2000 employees expected to live in the new dorms the strike is over, and facilities here can continue to expand at the campus' startlingly fast growth rate.

The strike was averted in time to allow the students to return to the dormitories and the Fee-Akers dormitory complex.

The strike was averted in time to allow the students to return to the dormitories and the Fee-Akers dormitory complex.
Board Accepts Gifts, Grants Of $905 Million

Friday, May 25, 1964

Gibs and grants totaling $905,679,647 were accepted Friday by the Board of Trustees at its monthly meeting held at the Michigan Union in East Lansing.

The funds, donated by 136 members of the class, will be used to support a study of the physical and mental health of college freshmen, to support research on the means by which parasitic amoebae might have come into being, and to study the role of the heart in the circulatory system.

The funds, donated by 136 members of the class, will be used to support a study of the physical and mental health of college freshmen, to support research on the means by which parasitic amoebae might have come into being, and to study the role of the heart in the circulatory system.

The funds, donated by 136 members of the class, will be used to support a study of the physical and mental health of college freshmen, to support research on the means by which parasitic amoebae might have come into being, and to study the role of the heart in the circulatory system.

The funds, donated by 136 members of the class, will be used to support a study of the physical and mental health of college freshmen, to support research on the means by which parasitic amoebae might have come into being, and to study the role of the heart in the circulatory system.
ALL STUDENT WANT ADS MUST BE POSTED ADVANCE.

INTERNATIONAL COUNCIL TO COORDINATE CLUBS

A special meeting of the Board of Directors of the International Council has been called for this week to discuss the current activities and future plans of the organization. The meeting will be held at 10 a.m. on Wednesday, May 28, in the International Council office. All members are invited to attend.

GRADUATE STUDENT ORGANIZATION

The Graduate Student Organization will hold its monthly meeting on Thursday, May 29, at 7 p.m. in the Student Center. The guest speaker will be Dr. Richard Smith, who will discuss the impact of technology on modern society. All graduate students are encouraged to attend.

FOOTBALL TEAM

The football team will hold its final practice of the season on Friday, May 30, at 3 p.m. in the practice field. All members of the team are expected to attend.

EVENTS

The annual Spring Festival will be held on Saturday, May 31, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on the campus green. The festival will feature live music, food vendors, and a variety of activities for all ages. Admission is free.

THEATER

The university theater will present its final production of the season, "The Glass Menagerie," on Sunday, June 1, at 8 p.m. in the auditorium. Tickets are $10 for adults and $5 for students. Reservations are encouraged.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

All students are reminded to check their email for the latest updates on campus events and important information. The student newspaper, The Collegian, will publish a special issue on Wednesday, May 28, highlighting the upcoming events.
No excerpt provided.