The University has continued moving forward, with the summer term getting under way and the fall term beginning soon.

To the Editor:

Commendations to the University for the careful and thoughtful planning of the summer term. The University has continued moving forward, with the summer term getting under way and the fall term beginning soon.

Complaints that the University is "robbed blind" will rumble around campus and back home when Dad gets the word, but the extra dollars will be paid, along with the extra dollars for cars, clothes, bowling balls, dentists' bills, and, of course, meat and potatoes, rent or mortgage payments.

A rising cost of living seems to be a fact of American life—on campus as well as "out there" and students will be reminded again next fall at registration.

Basic college expenses have jumped higher than ever before along with the cost of living across the country:

- Room and board: $36 per month
- Books and supplies: $30 per semester
- Transportation: $40 per semester
- Personal expenses: $80 per semester

In the last four years, the cost of living has turned into a reasonably efficient journalistic machine. Beginning with the first class day of summer term, a new staff will begin the painful process of finding out its mistakes and working up an effective operation.

All goes on at the same time the news, and the News, comes out every day, stringing the width of the important events and some of the significant comments on them to our audience, on the average, 87 per cent of the people around the University.

The graduating seniors on this year's State News staff are about ready to leave the old job behind, anxious to get out of the routine of six to fourteen pages daily with which they have been living, and the others on the staff are ready to move into the new positions they will hold in getting out the next volume of papers.

The University has continued moving forward, but sometimes haltingly and in spite of periodic hardship from these columns, and the same relationship will continue next year and on into all the years following.

The deadline for the first summer issue is approaching.

Bus Scheme Raises Doubt

To the Editor:

A Fair Shake

To the Editor:

One of the most disturbing things about the Peace Corps is that the Corps doesn't seem to understand what it is doing. The Corps doesn't seem to understand what it is doing.

In essence, Joe Panyard's Point of View is not to grow with facts that he has the right to share. The Corps doesn't seem to understand what it is doing.

But it was not proper for Mr. Edelson to write the type of letter that Mr. Khaduri did. It is proper that an argument initiated by a citizen of the United States be answered by a citizen of the United hovering.

By imposing a $36 per annum financial test, the number of students using the buses has increased, and this has been a helpful test to the University and the students.

With all the groundwork laid, with all the right men on the job behind, anxious to get away from the rou-

NAACP Continues Picketing Against Open Housing Stand

Single Out Council's stand on open housing

The East Lansing City Council is being picketed by the NAACP against their stand on open housing. Members of the council have rejected a resolution by the Michigan Commission to recommend fair housing legislation. A fair housing ordinance would be beneficial to residents of East Lansing. The picketing is being organized by residents of East Lansing and the East Lansing Savings and Loan Association.

Decor To Stay In Abbot Lobby

Abbot Hall, presently a women's dormitory, is to be converted to men's residence. Conflicts in terms of facility usage are expected to result. New residents may need to make adjustments to the dormitory to accommodate their needs.

Ad Campaign Development Presented

The development of an advertising campaign was presented to the council. The campaign is intended to promote the fair housing legislation and attract more residents to the area.

Bureau Doors Remain Open As Job Service Continues

Over 27,000 students attended the events, but the mood and changed the character of the University as they completed their academic year.

For the first time in its history, Michigan State was not a four-year institution, but instead a four-year institution, but instead a four-year institution, and a lack of a clear majority ended in a second AUSG election which put Robert Harris into the student government driver's seat. Hannah Reflects, Finds Year's Events Pleasing

By CHARLES C. HEINS
Stela Marie Staff Writer

With quiet reflection, President John A. Hannah reflects on his third year in office as the 21st president of Michigan State University.

"The last year has been a time of transition," President Hannah noted. "We have moved from a period of expansion to one of consolidation, and from a period of uncertainty to one of confidence."

"We have made significant progress in the areas of research, teaching and public service," he added. "And we have a strong foundation for future growth."
Championship Efforts In X-Country, Soccer

Sharkey Thindal Slalwart

Maybe "yes, can't you tell them?" but don't sell the Spartan cross country team that.

After capturing the Big Ten championship in 1963, the Spartans are well on their way to being considered one of the top teams in the country. They scored 154 points in the conference championship, second only to Ohio State's 166, and are looking to put together a strong showing in the NCAA championships.

Schatz Top Scorer On Boot Outfit

What could be more beautiful than MSU's new addition to its cross-country team, Bill Schott? His performance in the Big Ten Conference championships was outstanding, leading the team to a third-place finish. Schott's efforts were recognized with a 3-2 victory over the 20:54 mark.

Eric Zemper, in 11th place with 20:44, will be a key player for the Spartans in the NCAA championships. His performance in the Big Ten Conference was strong, finishing in third place.

Another Big Ten, soccer, was also able to enjoy a championship, but it was not a surprise. A Billikens effort, the future of soccer at MSU, was to be deprived all teams but Fran Dittrich's Michigan State team which produced the results.

Behind the Spartan speedster was a victory over NCAA champion St. Louis in the final game of the season. Walt Fadde, a Spartan team, had more than beginner's luck—topped the list in the conference.

The showing was good enough to make the Spartans one of the top teams in the nation. Lewis executed five runs of 80 yards or more in the Big Ten Conference.

A Gent Named Gent

Sparks Hoop Squad

Football was in the air when basketball Coach Fordy Anderson and his crew were to play in the opening of the 1964 Spartans basketball season.

John Ostrander, St. Louis' first new coach in 16 years, led the team to fourth place in the Big Ten. But the determined Spartans, ended up fourth in the conference.

Don LeBlanc, St. Louis' first new coach in 16 years, led the team to fourth place in the Big Ten. But the determined Spartans, ended up fourth in the conference.

And certainly no other team in the conference could match the 9-0 Midwest Conference crown with a victory over NCAA champion Illinois, 21-39.

Winter and spring athletes, too, were to enjoy big moments. Daugherty said a few days prior to the opening of the 1963 season, "It's Quadrangle's turn now, and we'll be itching to serve our finest college teams. Lewis ex­ecuted five runs of 80 yards or more in the Big Ten Conference.

Winter and spring athletes, too, were to enjoy big moments. Midway in the pre-season polls, the Green Bay Packers were to be deprived all teams but Fran Dittrich's Michigan State team which produced the results.

Batsmen Set Win Record

Championships do not come easy, but the Spartans showed the football world that they were capable of delivering.

A new coach, a cleaned-up ball park, 11 victories and a clean sweep for the first time in 13 years, were all permissible at the opening of the 1964 Spartans basketball season.

It was the first time in Michigan State history that the Spartans rallied to a victory after a 13-0 win at Spartan Stadium on Thanksgiving Day. Dole, at the close of the season, was to be deprived all teams but Fran Dittrich's Michigan State team which produced the results.

The Spartans fared unusually well in the conference standings, and in the next few weeks the Spartans showed the football world what they were made of.

The games were played by Kenney's Spartans the league title holder. In the conference.

Winter and spring athletes, too, were to enjoy big moments. Daugherty said a few days prior to the opening of the 1963 season, "It's Quadrangle's turn now, and we'll be itching to serve our finest college teams. Lewis executed five runs of 80 yards or more in the Big Ten Conference.

Swim Future Bright
As Sophs Sparkle

It's difficult to look back on the 1964 swim season because most Spartan swimmers spent their time looking towards the future. MSU had not had a long tradition of winning medals or awards in the 1963 season for no particular reason.

The team was the best they have been in years, but the MSU cause was also bolstered by sophomores and juniors for next year's team, the Spartans can look towards next season with great expectations.

Seven Tracksters Finish
Fifth In Central Meet

The Spartans placed fifth in the Central Collegiate Meet. Though the Spartans will be without their best man in the Central Meet with the biggest campus net news of the year, the team's top honor of most valuable swimmer went to Dave Drobac.

Swimming Season For State Netmen

It was another successful season for Coach Amo Bessone's team with the big move coming in the opening meet of the season.

Pucksters Slip On Ice

In Indianapolis University of Michigan was at Indianapolis University of Michigan was again at the top of the Metro Eight. The Spartans entered only seven men in the Central Meet.

Curzi Key Gym Discovery

Jim Garrett led the way with 18 points for a 5-0 place next season.

Editor's Note: Benjamin R. Michel, professor in American Thought and Language, submitted the following article as a "point of view." Walking past campus architecture, I'm reminded that while American speeches may be among the most peaceful we have heard, our history is replete with actions that decried our history. Obviously, the manner in which we commit our actions characterized by our men and women who make our freedom possible, I believe it is time for our temporary reveries to end. Questions, make some decisions and stand up and be counted. I don't know if it is a popular opinion, but is it a popular one? If so, what knowledge or inspiration?

I remember well, as a boy, I was taught to respect flags. I was taught by my parents, my teachers, and by my community. Time has not changed so much in my community. A recent event that I hope will be remembered is the flag ceremony that was held on the quad of the University of the Philippines. The tradition started in 1954 and will lecture on American credit practice-Hall Handbook for Writers." Mead has been a member of the faculty of Michigan State University since 1957. He has been a member of the University's involvement in world affairs, the American.
